Rural Reflections

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

The check-out ride

During last week's column, you and I were off to haul sugar beets right up until you decided to stay in bed. I hauled beets without you, but this week, I will not accept no for an answer - everyone has a "check-out" ride before they can haul by themselves and this week it's your turn. You drive as we're starting late and it's foggy outside.

There are no bankers' hours in the sugar beet field, our shift starts at three in the morning. I average about four hours of sleep during the beet harvest, which isn't so bad until you consider that 10 at night until two in the morning isn't exactly the "sweet spot" on the baseball bat of REM sleep. As we arrive at R and R Farms near Warren, the cold, night air reveals the result of limited sleep in that my internal temperature is reduced, which makes that cold air feel like a slap to my face instead of a caress.

Once we're in the truck, things should make a little more sense; boy meets truck, truck and boy meet sugar beet, all three join together and travel together to the sugar beet dump. However, this scenario is overshadowed not only by darkness but by fog and sometimes rain. Last weekend was so dark and dreary that the only landmark I could use on the road were the herds of deer making like kamikazes in the headlights of my semi. Peterson Farms worked nearby and kept a huge, self-contained, overhead light out in the field, which I sometimes used to judge the distance to the next intersection. In moments of impenetrable darkness, it's a beacon; in moments of sleep-deprived delirium, it's an unidentified flying object.

Getting loaded by the harvester is what worries most newbies to the harvest but it's quite simple. The relationship between the harvester and truck is like that of Siamese twins; you have to embrace one goal and work together to achieve it or someone could get hurt. Digging beets is the most basic, important part of harvest but takes the smallest amount of time. After a few minutes, we're off to the beet dump.

Tom Yutrzenka serves as the warden of the American Crystal Sugar beet dump north of Warren. He has gotten a little older, but he is living proof that just because the lion has a few gray hairs doesn't mean he's not a lion anymore. Yutrzenka used to holler at me as a kid during 4-H softball, and he still yells at times, but his loud benevolence is the motivation that keeps the Warren beet dump No. 1 in my mind. I use the prison reference because I've heard it said that in prison, you must be very considerate and respectful to avoid problems. I always try to follow this principle with those who work at the dump because they help me with the process of weighing the semi and trailer, and navigating 80,000 pounds of truck and beets onto the piler, dumping all that sweetness into the pile and still living to write my next column. I respect what they do and if you ride with me, you must also respect them.

That's it, your check-out ride is complete. I've taught you everything you know about harvesting the sugar beet from a trucker's point of view; however, I have not taught you everything I know. There is still much to learn; how to eat a single serving can of beans on the run, the best place to get coffee during harvest (that's easy - Cenex in Warren) and which radio stations make the night pass more quickly. Those subjects are an advanced sugar beet harvesting class and are best covered in another column, during another harvest, sometime in the future - maybe the class of 2008, we'll see.

Area school districts offer referendums

could be retained by the School District to be spent on capital improvement items.

The District is proposing to use the one-day bond referendum funds for a technology initiative program. It would include replacing aging teacher workstations and purchasing new technology equipment, such as Smart Boards and projection units.

If not approved, the $450,000 will be sent to the State and won't be available for improvements within the School District.

Only about 20 school districts in the state have the opportunity to retain local tax dollars through this state school construction program.

Kittson Central, School District 2171, has presented two capital facilities project referendums to voters. The first question to voters explains that the district is proposing to add elementary classrooms, a media center, multi-purpose gymnasium, locker rooms, boilers and equipment storage areas. The total amount is $5,145,000. The second question proposes that the district build a community room and auditorium. The total amount for this proposal is $945,000.

Dr. Bruce Jensen, superintendent, says he has had some questions about the tax impact of the proposals. On a house valued at $60,000, Jensen said the tax impact would be $61 for the first question and $12 for the second question, for a total of $73.

Three public information meetings have been scheduled. Each meeting will take place at 7 p.m. The first meeting will take place at the high school in Hallock on Oct. 22. The second meeting will take place at the elementary school in Kennedy on Oct. 23. The third meeting will take place at the church in Humbolt on Oct. 24.

Operating Referendums

Two school districts in the area - Goodridge and Red Lake Falls - are presenting operating referendums to voters.

In Red Lake Falls, School District 630, the Board of Education has approved a question that proposes to increase the per resident-pupil unit from $1,000 to $1,300. If approved, the existing levy, which was approved in 2003, will be revoked because it was for a five-year period, and the new six-year levy put in place.

The locally proposed referendum represents maintenance of programs currently in place and not funding for new spending or new projects and programs. Superintendent Joel Young noted that the per pupil increase of $300 does not mean individual taxes will increase by $300.

Goodridge School District 561 is renewing a 10-year levy of $98.46, which will bring in $5,000 from local levies, and $12,500 in state revenue for a total of $17,500. Goodridge also has an operating levy in place from 2003. That levy was for $1,750 per pupil unit, and it brings in $208,000 in state aid, and the local levy requirement is about $85,000. If approved, new levy will not bring in any new or additional revenue for new or additional programs. It will help maintain current programs.

Quin County Board, Advisory Committee to meet Oct. 15

The Quin County Board and Advisory Committee will meet Monday, Oct. 15 at 9 a.m. at the Newfolden Community Center.

Marshall Co. drops health insurance

beginning in 2008 and replace it with a contribution to each employee's cafeteria or Health Reimbursement Arrangement plan that the employee will be able to access under a tax-free process for personal choices for benefits in the amount of $900 per month for families and $600 per month for single payors.

Bring pointed out that the directors and supervisors also recommended automatic cost of living increases to the county's contribution to health insurance. The county accepted the plan without the provision for an automatic increase.

Peters said he realized later that that was unrealistic.

Questions

Taxpayers and relatives of employees have contacted The Times to express several concerns about the plan. Primarily, they are concerned that the offer applies to all employees regardless of whether or not they received health insurance from the county in the past. About half of the employees have received health insurance through a plan that a spouse has through a different employer. In essence, they point out, this amounts to a $7,200 per year salary increase for single employees, and a $10,800 per year salary increase for employees who have had the family plan.

Bring said many see this as a questionable insurance policy. "Why the buyout amounts are so high is the question being raised. Is this an insurance policy or a salary increase for some who are already covered? Insurance should be a benefit offered to employees, rather than a part of their salary. Another question is why we are giving a cash payout for a benefit plan rather than providing insurance."

Scott Peters, Marshall County treasurer and auditor, explained that insurance costs were high, but then the county received a rate increase after the county had set its levy, so the increase would have had to have been picked up by county employees. That spurred directors to begin looking at their options.

Marshall County had budgeted $915,000 for health insurance. If they had stayed with the co-op, insurance would have cost the county $928,000. Generally, there is a benefit to staying with a large number of employees with the same insurance, but Marshall County has had negative usage reports for four of the last five years. Faced with increasing costs, the county looked at several options. A request for a quote from another insurer was not received.

Marshall County is not alone in facing higher insurance costs.

While high, Marshall County doesn't pay the most for its insurance. Peters noted that Pennington County pays more, but it also has a better insurance policy.

According to officials with the Pennington County Auditor's Office, Pennington County pays $506 per single employee per month, and $1,021 per employee on a family plan. Next year's insurance rates are expected to increase 21 percent. Officials said the increase was due to a large number of claims. Next year's cost will be $612.50 per month per single employee, and $1,100 per employee opting for family insurance. But, Pennington County's deductible is $200. Marshall County's deductible was over $2,600.

When department heads decided to look at the issue, Peters said they decided that what they presented to the county board had to be the unanimous decision of the entire group. Peters said all of them wanted to try something different for employees. All of them expected it to be controversial.

The plan they agreed to calls for the county to contribute $600 to single plan payors, and $900 to family plan payors. There are about 100 county employees - 48 on single plans, and 52 on family health plans. Peters said this would cost $893,000, which is less than what the county budgeted, and far less than the $928,000 cost for the co-op plan.

The contribution, he explained, would go to the employee's cafeteria plan (a plan that allows employees to set aside pre-tax dollars for health related expenses not covered by insurance) or approved health savings plan. The important thing to remember, said Peters, is that the employee gets to determine how to spend that money.

Some individuals have expressed concern that employees not covered by previous county insurance plans may take a cash payment. Peters said an individual may take the money as a cash payment, but they are required to show that they are insured.

Peters said in the past, all the money paid for health insurance went to the health insurance companies and, for many people, was largely on unused benefit. Employees couldn't control how it was spent and for what. In addition, many of the benefits offered through the cafeteria plan were not covered by insurance, which amounted to another cost for employees. With this plan, employees may use the payment to cover insurance premium costs and/or cafeteria plan costs.

During their research, Peters said they came to the realization that insurance wasn't much of a benefit to employees anymore, and with the burden of increased costs being placed upon employees, some were looking for jobs that offered better insurance. He estimated that 10 percent of the workforce might look elsewhere for work if they could find a better health insurance plan at a new place of employment.

Not only could the county not afford the cost, he said, they couldn't afford to lose employees.

Peters said he hopes the public eventually realizes that this isn't a negative situation. The plan gives employees more flexibility, better coverage for their health insurance dollars, more control, and it costs the taxpayers less.

It's nothing new, either. Peters said the community of Big Stone has had a similar plan since 2002. Burnsville has a similar plan as does Ortonville School District. Many other communities have similar plans, as do some local businesses.

Big Stone County has had a program similar to that being proposed in Marshall County since 2002. The final straw for Big Stone came when the county received a 49 percent increase in employee health care costs. Committees, composed of staff and employees, came up with this proposal and it appears to be working well, said Sue Schultz, human resources director for Big Stone County.

Big Stone County has 62 employees receiving full-time benefits. Last year, Schultz said she conducted a survey to see if employees were interested in seeking quotes for insurance coverage. Only four of the 62 employees wanted the county to apply for health insurance quotes.

Dropping health insurance and offering a cash payment instead won't fix increasing insurance rates or high costs. Peters said Marshall County's response is a temporary response.

Peters said he looks forward to the public informational meeting on the subject. He's not surprised that's it's controversial, either. He said it should be controversial because it's an important issue.

Salmonella cases traced to Banquet brand pot pies

Six cases of salmonella infection in Minnesota residents have been linked to eating Banquet brand turkey or chicken pot pies, the Minnesota Department of Health said Wednesday. The finding prompted health and agriculture officials to warn consumers not to eat any Banquet brand pot pies. An investigation is ongoing.

Banquet brand pot pies are sold in the freezer section at grocery stores and other outlets throughout the country. Pot pies made at the same plant are also sold under a dozen store labels, but all carry a code number beginning with 5009. "Best if used by" dates for the implicated product aren't known at this time.

Three of the Minnesota cases occurred in adults and three in children. Five of the cases are from outstate Minnesota, and one is from the Twin Cities metro area. No one has been hospitalized.

The Minnesota cases are part of a much larger multi-state outbreak of salmonella infections. Since June, at least 135 confirmed cases have been identified from approximately 25 states. The six Minnesota cases were reported in September; interviews of these people by MDH epidemiologists led to the identification of Banquet pot pies as the source of the illnesses. The national investigation to determine the extent of the outbreak, production dates of contaminated product, and the source of contamination is ongoing.

Salmonella bacteria are widely distributed among animals and in the environment. Poultry is often contaminated, and other outbreaks have been traced to meat, unpasteurized milk and cheese, and produce. Salmonella in food can be killed by cooking thoroughly, but can survive undercooking or uneven cooking, as can happen in many microwave ovens.

Salmonella infections can cause diarrhea, fever, abdominal cramping, and vomiting. Symptoms usually last less than a week, but some individuals, particularly infants, the elderly, and those with compromised immune systems, are at increased risk for severe illness. Treatment with antibiotics is typically not recommended for most healthy patients. People who become ill with symptoms of salmonella should see their health care providers.

Consumers who have Banquet or other brands of pot pies with a code beginning with 5009 in their freezer should not eat them. The product should be thrown away or can be held but not consumed until the investigation is completed and additional recommendations on its safety are available.

More information on salmonella can be found on the MDH Web site (www.health.state.mn.us).

ConAgra, the manufacturer of the implicated pot pies, has given this phone number for consumer questions: 1-866-484-8671. More information may be found at www.conagrafoods.com. More information about the national outbreak can be found on the Centers for Disease Control Web site (www.cdc.gov).

Zemke to present "Life of an Orphan Train Rider" on Oct. 25

Ann Zemke, a gifted quilter and author, will present "Life of an Orphan Train Rider" on Thursday, Oct. 25 at 7 p.m. at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls. Her presentation is based on her grandmother's experience as one of the passengers on an "orphan train" to Minnesota. This event is open to the public. The cost is $5.

Marjorie Peterson survived a lifetime of seemingly insurmountable challenges, including being indentured by a family who took her off the orphan train in 1906. Zemke, her granddaughter, tells Peterson's heartwarming story using a one-of-a-kind quilt. Zemke has also written a biography of her grandmother's experiences titled, "They Named Me Marjorie."

The event is sponsored by the Thief River Falls Quilters Guild. For more information, call Glenice Johnson at 681-4472 or contact any member of the Guild.

Gamble on Nashville is paying off for Roseau native

given the chance to travel for two shows in Ohio with Matt Mason, a musician who gained national attention on the show "Nashville Star."

"I met a lot of people and made a lot of connections," Nelson said. "I was able to sit in with a few bands. That was a surprise to me – I didn't have any expectations to play, let alone travel."

The trip with Mason and his band turned into an audition of sorts and during the trip, Mason asked Nelson to join his band. Nelson agreed to join Mason's band, but she didn't finalize her decision to move until August.

Nelson still planned to take college courses online, but her decision to at least temporarily forgo traditional college, didn't sit well with some friends and family. Her parents, however, were among her biggest supporters. Her mother, Lori, said she didn't think Nelson could be "this close" to Nashville and not give it a try.

Nelson left Roseau on Sept. 11, last year and arrived in Nashville on Sept. 13, after a 23-hour drive in her 1996 Pontiac Grand Am GT, with her aunt Marlene Broten at her side. She had already made arrangements for an apartment prior to the move, so all that was left to do when she arrived was to find a gig.

"I was very blessed," Nelson said. "I got here on a Thursday night and on Friday night, I played a gig."

From that gig, she got another, to play with the Shane Thomas Band at Tootsie's. She played with the Shane Thomas Band through the first part of November and she continued to play with Mason's ban for a short time.

"That was a good base to start my career in Nashville," Nelson said. "Tootsie's is a good place to start – it's one of the hot spots in Nashville and definitely one of the legendary places in Nashville."

The law of the land for young country musicians in Nashville is to play as many gigs as possible. During the fall months, when Nelson wasn't playing with the Shane Thomas Band, she would find other gigs on pretty much a daily basis. If she wasn't playing a gig, she was watching other performers. She also started taking her correspondence classes through UND.

Nelson's first three months in Nashville were about as successful as a young musician could expect. The winter months, however, would present a different story. Tourism in Nashville drops with the winter temperature and bands start to make cuts.

"Fiddle is a big part of country music, but it is not essential and when cuts are made, the fiddle is the first to go," Nelson said. "I had to really trust the Lord. By the grace of God, because of the good start, I didn't have to get another job. Instead I could just focus on my school."

Nelson's patience payed off and in February, things started to pick up. She started playing regularly with multiple bands in downtown Nashville, at clubs like Legends Corner, Tootsie's, Second Fiddle on Broadway and Crossroads.

In the spring, Nelson met another aspiring country musician named Jason DeShaw. DeShaw, a Montana native, was looking for a fiddle player for his band. He heard Nelson play and he asked her to join his band.

With DeShaw's band, Nelson was able to perform in the CMT Fan Fair Music Festival. The annual event is billed by Country Music Television as "the largest country music party in the world. The annual event in Nashville, Tennessee, gives country music fans access to big stars, concerts, fan club parties, autograph booths, photo opportunities and more."

DeShaw's band performed several times during CMT's Fan Fair. It was a busy time, Nelson said, noting that it was the first time she really felt like she belonged with the other musicians.

"I was starting to realize my position with the other musicians and other musicians were starting to recognize me as a musician," Nelson said. "We were all trying to get gigs and trying to get recognized."

In July, Nelson began performing with John Carter at Nashville's Crossroads on Broadway. Nelson was interviewed by a reporter from the Los Angeles Times prior to one of her performances at the Crossroads. She also performed with Derek Hermon at the Wildhorse later that month.

In August, Nelson went on tour with DeShaw and his band. DeShaw had taken a performing break since the CMT Fan Fair and returned to Montana to record some music.

Nelson joined DeShaw in the other members of his band for a short tour in Canada. The band played for rodeo crowds in a small town near Edmonton and Calgary.

"The gigs payed really well," Nelson said. "There was a lot of traveling involved, but it was good to get off of Broadway for a while and see some different things."

Since her brief Canadian tour, Nelson has been on the road almost every weekend. She is now playing regular gigs with Damon Smith and the Beautiful Mistakes. She said out of all the artists she's worked with, Smith may have the best chance of making it in the country music business.

The group leaves on Thursday night and returns sometime on Sunday. The group has its own tour bus and has played gigs in Maryland, Georgia, Iowa, Wisconsin and of course, Tennessee.

On weekdays, Nelson still finds a gig wherever she can. When she can't find a gig, she goes out with friends for more of the Nashville experience.

"The options for restaurants here is amazing," Nelson said. "I still haven't hit all the great ones."

After one year in the country music business, Nelson says she still feels very blessed. She knows that her good fortune could change overnight, calling country music a "very fickle business."

"There's nothing I would rather be doing than playing music," Nelson said. "My goal with music is not only to support myself and enjoy doing that, but also to bring enjoyment to others."

Nelson was trained as a classical violin player from the age of 7 until she graduated from Roseau last year, so fiddle playing is still somewhat new to her and she is taking lessons every other week to learn how to better play bluegrass style music and improve her bowing styles. She also continues to take online correspondence classes through UND.

On Sept. 11, Nelson went with a friend to the Grand Ole Opray to commemorate her one-year anniversary of the day she moved from Roseau. "Hopefully someday I'll be able to play on that stage," she said.

From Nov. 1 through Dec. 3, Nelson will be joining Louro Sullivan on her USO Tour. The group will be playing in Hawaii, Singapore, Japan and Guam.

TRF snowplowing policies discussed

parking lots.

To ease the problems with plowing snow from those lots, Konickson suggested that the city should have calendar parking there.

For the municipal parking lot near Johnson Funeral Service, Public Works Director Ron Lindberg recommended that the parking lot should be split in half in terms of calendar parking. Three signs in the middle of the lot could direct motorists where to park during calendar parking, he said. For the other municipal parking lots, drivers could park on either the west or east sides of the parking lots during the particular times of calendar parking.

There have also been other complaints related to municipal parking lots. Mayor Steve "Beaver" Nordhagen said that he most often hears complaints that downtown parking lots don't get plowed as early as other parking lots.

Parks Buildings and Grounds Supervisor Curt Howe indicated that the area near Ralph Engelstad Arena is among the first areas from which he plows snow. Walkers arrive at the arena between 4:30 and 5 a.m.

Konickson said the Street Department begins plowing parking lots at 4 or 5 a.m.

Plowing snow from sidewalks

Snow also lands on sidewalks, and those sidewalks need to be shoveled or plowed. Currently, the Parks and Recreation Department plows snow from approximately 80 blocks of sidewalks in the city. Of that amount, about 57.5 blocks aren't located along city property. In 1985, City Council gave that department the responsibility of plowing snow from many of those sidewalks. Notably, the department plows the sidewalk on the north side of Eighth Street from Erl's Market east to the end of the sidewalk; the sidewalk on the north side of Third Street from the intersection with First Street to past the Third Street bridge; and various sidewalks along First Street.

By city ordinance, other city residents have 72 hours after a snow event to remove snow from sidewalks. If a city employee observes that a particular sidewalk hasn't been shoveled or if the city receives a complaint, the city can issue a citation to the property owner and/or city employees can remove the snow. If the latter happens, the property owner is assessed for the snow removal.

There's no rhyme or reason why the city is plowing some of these sidewalks, Nordhagen said.

Shoveling or plowing snow from both corners of a lot is the penalty of owning a corner lot, said council member Emery Lee.

If the city were to require all property owners to shovel their sidewalks, Lindberg foresees problems with sidewalks along Eighth Street and along the east side of Spruce Avenue from First to Gulf streets. "For residents to shovel it, I know you're going to have a lot of complaints," said Lindberg, who indicated the sidewalks for both of those roadways are up against the roadways. Sometimes, along Eighth Street, the Minnesota Department of Transportation may plow three or four times a day, leaving hard ice chunks on the sidewalks. In the past, affected Spruce Avenue residents complained about snow removal, leading the Parks and Recreation Department to clean the sidewalk on the east side of the avenue.

"People are going to complain no matter what we do," Nordhagen said.

Plowing snow from alleyways

Plowing snow from alleyways was also discussed. The Sanitation Department plows snow from the alleys whenever it is needed. "We try to coordinate that with the Street Department," Lindberg said.

Nordhagen asked Lindberg whether he thought plowing snow from alleyways or plowing snow from parking lots was more important.

Lindberg replied that business owners in the Central Business District want customers; garbage trucks need to get through alleyways; and if there's enough snow, residents will be inconvenienced.

There are a lot of garages along alleyways, said Nordhagen, who noted drivers can "get through a lot of snow."

If there were a lot of snow and cars had problems getting through the snow, the city would "definitely plow alleys before parking lots," Lindberg replied.

Excel Dairy expands

Excel Dairy experiences problems amid construction

by David Hill
Editor

Even from the beginning, the owners of Dairy Dozen, which operates Excel Dairy near Thief River Falls, made no secret of their desire to expand the dairy. At one point, Rick Millner, a partner in Excel Dairy, said he would like to see it operating with 3,300 cows. Excel Dairy has applied to operate the facility under a permit that allows 2,000 animal units.

Millner is now associated with Prairie Ridge Management in Veblen, S.D. The company was formed in January 2007 as the administrative arm of six dairy-producing facilities: MCC Dairy and Veblen East in Veblen; Lone Tree Dairy in Cottonwood; New Horizon Dairy in Hoffman; Five-Star Dairy in Milnor, N.D.; and, Excel Dairy in Thief River Falls. Millner could not be reached for comment.

Today, Excel Dairy is operating under a permit for 1,545 animal units. Construction has been underway throughout the summer and continues this fall. Howard Person, Pennington County Solid Waste Officer, said Excel Dairy has added a barn and is in the process of improving its lagoon system. Currently, the primary lagoon is being drained for inspection, repairs and improvements. He said they had planned on completing the construction by November, but they applied for a one-month extension.

The facility isn't ready to house 2,000 animal units. Person said there is considerable paperwork and

Excel Dairy in Thief River Falls is seeking a permit to increase the number of animal units allowed at the facility from 1,545 to 2,000, but it is experiencing some difficulties - the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency is investigating compliance issues, and neighbors are still upset over the smell.

Investigators seek help in collision

Fosston - "The Polk County Sheriff's Office is seeking the public's help in solving an unusual accident that happened in Fosston Tuesday, Oct. 9.

"It occurred around 12:25 a.m. Tuesday at the junction of County Road 6. When deputies and emergency personnel arrived, they found a 1996 Ford Taurus had been hit by a freight train and pushed three-tenths of a mile down the tracks.

"Upon further investigation, authorities discovered that no one was inside the car. A further search of the immediate area led deputies to conclude that it was unoccupied at the time of the accident. The vehicle was later reported stolen.

"If anyone has information that may be helpful in the case, he or she is asked to call the sheriff's office at either (218) 435-6611 or (218) 281-0431." - The 13 Towns of Fosston, Oct. 16, 2007, by Dan Kindall

Opera House is no longer an asset

Warren - "Warren's Opera House, a resource of the Warren Economic Development Authority for the past several years, was returned to direct control of the Warren City Council at the council meeting Oct. 9."

"In a Sept. 18 letter from Philip Thompson, WEDA chairman, a request was made for the City Council to take back direct responsibility for the Opera House and its associated expenses. Thompson said despite several efforts by the WEDA Board, it has not been able to find a suitable business use for the facility because the renovation costs have been found to be too high. He said costs for utilities, insurance and other upkeep have totalled about $8,000 to $9,000 per year, a burden for the economic development effort of the city." - Warren Sheaf, Oct. 17, 2007

Red Lake Falls - "J.A. Hughes Elementary School in Red Lake Falls is making some great improvements in technological advancements for learning.

"It has been given two grants from Hewlett-Packard and one from Best Buy, all to improve technology at the school.

"Hughes was featured in an article in a magazine produced by Hewlett-Packard in June. The article tells about what the grant has done for technology at Hughes."

The article can be accessed at http://h71028.www7.hp.com/ERC/downloads/4AA1-3649ENW.pdf.

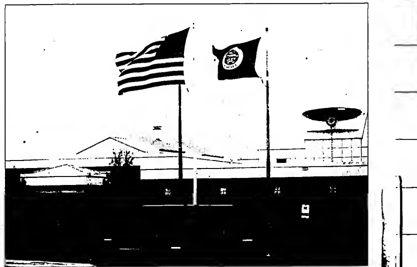
"Now, HP is collaborating with the George Lucas Educational Foundation to produce videos highlighting the work of schools involved in the HP Technology for Teaching grant program. Hughes and its Glacial Ridge National Wildlife Refuge project were selected to be featured."

The foundation's video team will visit Hughes this month to photograph and film the school's use of technology, as well as a field trip to Glacial Ridge NWR. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Oct. 17, 2007, by Denny Harmoning

Fate of aviation program considered

Discussion over its demise may be premature at this time

by David Hill
Editor



Because of declining enrollment and increasing costs, Northland Community and Technical College - Thief River Falls is considering whether to suspend its aviation maintenance technology program.

NCTC President Dr. Anne Temte informed the students and staff during a meeting this week at the school that they are considering closing the program. This doesn't mean that the program is being phased out immediately. Temte said the college must follow a process that includes discussion with the Academic Affairs and Standards Council. No final or formal announcement will be made until Nov. 1. At this time, however, the school is not accepting any new enrollments for the aviation maintenance and technology program.

The school is located at the college's campus at the Regional Airport in Thief River Falls. The program has been at the school since the 1970s, possibly longer. At one time annual enrollment exceeded 500 students. Currently, there are nine first-year students and 16 to 17 second-year

Will aviation campus close?

Students and staff at Northland Community and Technical College aviation campus learned this week that the college is considering whether or not to continue to offer the program.

Job description change for administrator recommended

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

The Thief River Falls Committee of the Whole will soon hear a recommendation to change the job description for the city administrator.

At its meeting Tuesday, an ad hoc committee decided to recommend that the city change the job description and related portions in the city code. If those changes are approved, all division leaders would report to the city administrator.

"It's a change, and there will be growing pains," said council member Glen Kajewski, who chairs the ad hoc committee.

The Committee of the Whole will hear about the recommendation at its meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 23 at 4:30 p.m. at City Hall.

If council members don't approve the recommendation, Kajewski said city code still needs to be changed in order to reflect how the city administrator position is functioning now.

The Committee of the Whole created the ad hoc committee in August. The ad hoc committee was created after employees in the Management, Administrative, Professional and Supervisory union asked that Point 1 of the 19 Points for Discussion be placed on an agenda for the Committee of the Whole. Point 1 said, "Division directors report to the city administrator." Thief River Falls City Council members created the 19 Points for Discussion. Jodie Torkelson currently holds the position of city administrator.

At a meeting a week ago, city employees raised their concerns about having city division leaders report to the city administrator. Ad hoc committee members spent 20 minutes of the 70-minute meeting Tuesday going over the past meeting's minutes and, in particular, the employees' comments even though they had responded to the comments a week earlier and the majority of those city employees weren't at the Oct. 16 meeting. Among the employees' comments was that it would be too much for one person to be responsible for reporting each division's information to the council.

At Tuesday's meeting, council member Odette Bendickson, who serves on the ad hoc committee, said the city would be served better if it changed the job description.

It would be more efficient for the council to go to one person, noted Kajewski, who added that the city's current system is "fairly efficient." However, he said the city could do better.

Kajewski indicated that, while on trips, he has witnessed how other cities conduct their business. He said

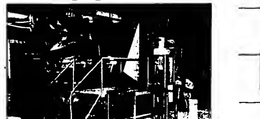
Manufacturer's Week in Minnesota

Forsbergs Inc. is a secret manufacturing giant

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Forsbergs Inc. is celebrating its 80th birthday this year. Seventy-five of those years have been spent in Thief River Falls, but the business itself remains a mystery to many in the Thief River Falls community.



"When people ask what you do, it's hard to explain," said Denny Bakke, Forsbergs Inc. president and 23-year Forsbergs employee, who purchased the company four years ago. "It's hard to explain exactly what we do."

Forsbergs Inc. has a customer list that includes thousands of businesses throughout the world, ranging from businesses like Quaker Oats, Malt-O-Meal and General Mills, to the Ford Motor Company.

So what does Forsbergs Inc. produce? The short answer is that Forsbergs has designed equipment that can separate and clean items like grain, separate various recyclable products and even remove plastic from pre-shredded automobiles.

Fred Forsberg started what is now known as Forsbergs Inc. in Dauphin, Manitoba, Canada in 1927. That year, he designed and built the Forsberg Fanning

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Mae Howes has some advice for the younger people out there – those people younger than 100.

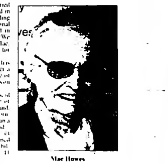
"It's love. That's the most important thing," said Mae, who attributes her longevity to "lots of loving and hard work."

"If you love anything, you can do anything," she said.

The Thief River Falls resident turned 100 on Oct. 10. She celebrated her birthday during an open house at the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Thief River Falls.

Mae was born Oct. 10, 1907, to John and Hilda Back in Argyle. She has three sisters (two of whom died in infancy) and five brothers. Her only living sibling, Leland Back, is 89 and resides in Viking.

Mae grew up in a home 11 miles east of Argyle. She walked two miles to a country school in sunny weather, rain and snow. She didn't say if she walked uphill both ways. Mae graduated from Argyle High School.



On May 1, 1930, Mae married Eugene Howes. The couple lived in several Minnesota cities, including Duluth, Grand Rapids, International Falls and Hibbing. They settled in Thief River Falls in 1968. "We moved only 15 times," joked Mae, who has lived in the same house for the past 39 years.

Over the past 100 years, Mae has had many happy memories. After a reporter asked her to name some of them, she replied, "Now, you got me."

After a brief moment, she said her most precious memories are of when her three children, Marland, Donald and Ilene, were born. "Cause what's more precious than a baby? You tell me that," Mae said.

Since that time, a number of other people have joined Mae's family. In addition to her children and their spouses, she has 11

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Today's recipes were found in a little Grand Forks Herald cookbook called "The Melting Pot, A Celebration of our Heritages," which is a compilation of ethnic recipes from our area.

No doubt, after seeing the ads for all of the church suppers, you are thinking about Swedish meatballs like I am. This one sounds a lot like the one my Aunt Verna used to make. It is from Ginny & Jim Bollman of Cokato and found in the Swedish section of the cookbook. It says Jim "whips up a triple batch" of these goodies to serve to their large, extended family. Good man:

SWEDISH MEATBALLS

1 pound ground beef
1/2 pound ground pork
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 cups crushed crackers
1 tablespoon parsley (optional)
1 teaspoon sage
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup oil
1/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cups boiling water
1 can Golden Mushroom soup

Mix beef, pork, onion, cracker crumbs, parsley, sage, salt, pepper, Worcestershire and milk well and form into balls. Brown in oil.

Remove from pan and put aside. Put flour, paprika, salt and pepper into pan and blend. Stir in 2 cups of boiling water and can of mushroom soup. Return meatballs to pan and simmer 30 minutes.

Here's that Scandinavian treat that no good Nordic can resist. Be sure to serve in little bowls - it's a rich one. It's from Verda Swonson of Karlstad, found in the Norwegian section of the cookbook:

(MICROWAVE) ROMMEGROT

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup half and half
1 cup milk

In casserole or micro-safe bowl, melt butter. Add flour and sugar and mix with fork or whisk until smooth. Add cream and milk, mixing smooth.

Heat in microwave for 4 to 5 minutes, stopping to stir occasionally. When mixture is thickened, remove from microwave and serve. Makes 3 or 4 servings. (Use any combination of milk and cream to equal 2 cups if you do not want it to be too rich.)

Here's one from a Thief River Falls resident. Bonnie Peterson says it is Aunt Ovetta's recipe and a family favorite. You know how good those spritz are and it's soon time to bake for Christmas. Better make this recipe ahead of time, just to check things out, you know:

BUTTER RICH SPRITZ

2 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup butter
1 1/4 cup powdered sugar

Sift together flour and salt. Cream butter and gradually add powdered sugar. Blend in yolks and extracts. Add dry ingredients gradually, mixing thoroughly. Put dough in cookie press and press onto cookie sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 6-8 minutes, just until golden.

I've got beets (about 8 of them - poor year) and I'm going to make borscht. The only recipe I can find in this cookbook is from Kris Wolff of East Grand Forks. It is, of course, in the Russian section, and it sure sounds good to me. Just think how many good things are in it, because it is truly an "end of garden" soup:

BORSCHT

1 1/2 cups diced or grated potatoes
2 cups diced or grated beets
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 cup sliced or grated carrots
1 cup 1 inch green beans
1 cup green peas
2 cups shredded cabbage
2 tablespoon parsley
1 tablespoon chopped dill leaves
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 quart tomatoes
1 stalk celery, sliced
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup chopped onions
1 tablespoon sugar
1 1/2 teaspoon chopped dill leaves
1 cup sour cream

Cover beets and potatoes with water. Add salt and vinegar. Boil. Add carrots, beans, peas and water to cover vegetables. Boil 15 minutes. Add shredded cabbage, parsley, dill, onion, salt, tomatoes, celery and pepper. Add more water if necessary. Boil 30 minutes.

Melt butter in fry pan and add onion and cook until tender but not brown. Add cooked onion, dill leaves and sugar to soup. Boil 10 minutes more. Remove from heat for 1/2 hour. Add a little soup to the sour cream, then return to soup pot and stir well. Place over low heat for a few minutes until heated through.

(The recipe was not really clear as to the last part, so I ad libbed. If I'm wrong, I hope somebody will tell me. Otherwise I'm going to try it as is. -SL)

Fire destroys Polk County home Monday

Fire destroyed a Polk County home late Monday afternoon. No injuries were reported; however, the family's cat is unaccounted for.

The fire occurred at the Elmer Miska home in Section 16 of Tabor Township. Miska evidently left his cooking unattended and went outside, said Warren Fire Chief Lonnie Stauffeneecker. Miska later noticed smoke coming out of the home. He went back inside and tried to put out the fire, but the smoke and flames forced him out of the home.

The Warren Fire Department was dispatched to the scene at 4:45 p.m. Monday and was on the scene for about five hours. The East Grand Forks Fire Department provided mutual aid.

Cottage cheese cats

I write my column at a 21-inch computer screen, which fits into our computer desk like a jet engine fits into a Chevy Vega. I should benefit from the extra screen space, but I only see what gets under, around or past our cats, Magoo and Twitch. They have learned, from years of association, that to sit in front of the computer screen is to access the world of dairy products.

Now, the cats aren't surfing the Internet to locate the finest in cottage cheese or yogurt. It's a much more simple process. I love yogurt and cottage cheese, especially cottage cheese so much so that I wonder if people are staring at me when I'm in the dairy section at Hugo's and wondering "yet again." I almost always eat my curds and whey in front of the computer and surf the net with the voracity of a nerd back from summer camp. I like my cottage cheese with pepper sprinkled on top, and my choice of yogurt is vanilla with granola sprinkles. (Sprinkles may be a kind description; I use quite a bit.) Both of these dairy superstars are filling and full of calcium and protein, and they just plain taste great. Great taste is where Magoo comes into the picture. Cats love milk and it's the base for cottage cheese and yogurt. I can eat a bowl of yogurt without attracting either Magoo or occasional dining partner Twitch until I'm near the bottom of the bowl. I have a habit of scraping the bottom of the bowl, which creates a keening - blackboard screech that apparently mimics a cat dinner bell. Magoo makes his overweight entrance, then sits in front of the computer screen and waits for me to finish. If Twitch shows up, the cats take turns licking the bowl for five seconds at a time until the bowl is pre-cleaned and ready for the dishwasher. If Magoo goes solo, he just buries his beautiful black head in the bowl, comes up frosted, gulps some air, then checks for encroachment by his brother, Twitch.

I love this little tradition; even if it means everything appears in bold cat-shaped relief on my computer screen. I love to "mother" the cats by wiping off their milk mustaches after they eat and helping them share what they find at the bottom of my yogurt bowl. The whole experience opens up a lot of warm feelings that mirror what a parent must feel; I won't feel silly when I tell you we love our cats. Pets offer so much to people; they are more than the stupid little clowns people make them out to be. If you take care of them properly, you learn the joy of embracing responsibilities in life. If you love them and are affectionate, you'll find that loyalty is something you earn and not something you demand. Unfortunately, animals also detect the bad in people as evidenced by cases of abuse, which teaches us to be careful of whom we trust to be near our loved ones, especially children who are as defenseless as our pets.

My relationship to animals has always been a learning experience, but like many friendships, it's good to keep things fresh; maybe next week, I'll give the cats a new reason to sit in front of the computer screen; you think they like Chinese food?

Dean Foods to host Business After Hours on Monday

To kick off Manufacturers and Technology Week, Dean Foods will host Business After Hours on Monday, Oct. 22 from 5 to 7 p.m. at its downtown Thief River Falls location. Plant tours will begin at 6 p.m. Stop by to enjoy refreshments, hors d'oeuvres, door prizes, and conversation.

A luncheon to honor local manufacturers will be held Wednesday, Oct. 24 at 12 p.m. at Digi-Key Corporation in Thief River Falls. Dan McElroy, commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development, will be the keynote speaker. RSVP to the Chamber of Commerce by calling (218) 681-3720 prior to 4:30 p.m., Monday Oct. 22.

Manufacturers and Technology Week activities are sponsored by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, DEED, Border State Bank, Jobs Inc., Northern State Bank, Unity Bank and Wells Fargo Bank.

The Teddy Bear Band comes to Plummer on Oct. 30

The Teddy Bear Band, a group of musicians who specialize in children's music with an emphasis on audience participation, is coming to the Red Lake County Central – Plummer gymnasium on Tuesday, Oct. 30 at 6:30 p.m. All families with young children up to second grade are invited to come and join this musical, fun-filled evening of entertainment. The cost is $5 per family. Children are asked to bring a teddy bear or stuffed animal with them that evening.

The Teddy Bear Band was started by an early childhood educator. The goal of its performance is to entertain, inspire and support children, families and educators. It wants to give children a musical experience in which they can participate.

This event is being sponsored by the Early Childhood Family Education programs in Oklee, Plummer and Red Lake Falls. For more information, contact Susan or Anita at (218) 796-5136 (RLCC – Oklee), JoyAnn or Margaret at (218) 435-4222 (RLCC – Plummer), or Margaret or Missy at (218) 253-2161 (Red Lake Falls).

Dedication ceremony set for Kory Kelly Walking Trail

The newly-named Kory Kelly Walking Trail will be dedicated next week in the Red Lake Wildlife Management Area. The dedication ceremony is scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 27. The ceremony will take place at the head of the trail 16 miles northeast of Fourtown.

Kelly, 38, Crookston, was grouse hunting Oct. 16, 2006, near this trail in the Red Lake WMA, when he became lost. A large search effort ensued, involving many agencies and volunteers. A search team found his body on April 27, 2007, more than 12 miles from his campsite. He lost his life to hypothermia. Kelly left behind two sons, Brady Langlois, 16, and Casey Kelly, 10, both of Crookston.

Everyone who helped with the search, knew him and/or enjoys hunting in this area is encouraged to come to this dedication. Coffee and cookies will be provided and people can bring their own lunches for the event.

Kory Kelly's family expresses its sincere gratitude for the amazing sacrifice from so many helpful people. His brother Brian Kelly said the family is honored by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources' dedication of this trail.

To get to the ceremony, travel a total of 12 miles north of Fourtown on these roads: County Road 44, Township Road 704 and Dick's Parkway Forest Road. Then travel four miles east on Moose River Forest Road.

Level 3 sex offender to be released again in TRF

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Thomas Lee Daniels

A Level 3 sex offender will again move back to Thief River Falls. It is anticipated that Thomas Lee Daniels, 20, will be released from prison Nov. 5 for the second time.

Daniels will move to a home along Douglas Avenue Northeast in rural Thief River Falls. (In cities the size of Thief River Falls and in cities smaller than Thief River Falls, the Minnesota Department of Corrections doesn't provide the specific addresses of homes where Level 3 sex offenders will live.) Daniels will live in the same home where he lived the first time he was released from prison, according to Thief River Falls Deputy Police Chief Craig Mattson. After discussions between the police department, Sheriff Mike Hruby and the DOC, it was decided there would be no community notification meeting. Instead, the community is being notified through the media.

On April 19, Daniels was initially released from prison and moved back to Thief River Falls. On May 9, he was taken into custody again. "He was returned to prison for three violations," said Shari Burt, DOC spokesperson. She emphasized that Daniels' violations were not new crimes, rather they were violations of his release.

The violations included that Daniels possessed a weapon (a knife); that he failed to comply with the rules of Phase I of his Intensive Supervised Release by failing to get his agent's permission; and that he failed to follow his agent's instructions. After a hearing, Daniels was sent back to prison for 180 days, Burt said. Daniels was given credit for the time he served in jail prior to the hearing. It is anticipated that he will be released from the Minnesota Correctional Facility – Rush City on Nov. 5.

Daniels was initially released from prison after serving time for a felony charge of third degree criminal sexual conduct in the city of Thief River Falls in 2005, according to Pennington County court documents. Daniels, who was then 18, had sex with a then-15-year-old girl at his former residence in the 1000 block of Longren Ave.

Daniels also served time for a furnishing alcohol to minors charge. He served that sentence concurrently with the criminal sexual conduct sentence. He was sent to prison after he violated the conditions of his probation for the sexual conduct charge by giving a ride to two teenage girls.

When he was 15, Daniels was also charged with indecent exposure in Polk County, according to information that his probation agent filed in Pennington County District Court. He was placed on probation and ordered to complete treatment. He has been discharged from that file. That case involved a then-8-year-old girl, according to a fact sheet that the DOC provided to police.

Prepare your septic system for winter

Now is the time to prepare and protect your septic system for the winter months. Septic systems may freeze due to many reasons. Identifying and correcting potential freezing problems now is easier than dealing with a frozen system in the middle of winter. Cold temperatures, lack of snow cover, and "use" issues can all contribute to a frozen system.

The following are some precautions and steps you can take to lessen the chance of freezing:

• Properly maintain your system year round, including pumping the system every two to five years.

• Place a loose layer (eight to 10 inches) of mulch (i.e. hay, straw, leaves) over the tank, pipes and drainfield to provide insulation. Also, allow grass to grow longer over the tank and drainfield to provide extra insulation during winter months and to hold in more snow.

• Irregular use of your system can be harmful. Use normal amounts of water; warm water is best. It's a good idea to spread the laundry schedule to a hot/warm load per day rather than doing five loads over the weekend.

• Do not add antifreeze to your system!

• Do not leave water running or dripping constantly. Running water could overload the system; dripping water could freeze in thin layers in your pipes.

• Fix all leaking plumbing and appliances.

• Keep vehicles (snowmobiles, all-terrain vehicles), people and pets off of the pipes and drainfield.

• Properly cover inspection pipes, manholes and risers to prevent cold air from entering the system.

For more information on septic system maintenance or if you experience any seeping, ponding or freezing, contact a septic system professional or the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District at (218) 683-7075.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

High food prices not necessarily due to high corn prices

Don't begrudge a farmer a spike in the price of corn. Corn prices have been stagnant for years. It seems the fashion, as of late, to blame high commodity prices for corn and ethanol production, for the high cost of food in our stores. Corn makes up only a small fraction of the foods we find in our grocery stores.

Minnesota Department of Agriculture Commissioner Gene Hugoson wrote in his June 2007 Commissioner's Column that when you have higher prices for a widely used commodity like corn, you're going to see higher prices in other products. "However, we need to keep in mind that when you go to the grocery store and pay $3 for a box of cereal, the corn used to make that cereal accounts for a very small percentage of the retail cost - less than a nickel's worth. The recent increase in corn prices cannot be used as an excuse for cereal prices or other food products going up more than a few cents."

So, what's the reason for the price increases? Hugoson points out that there's one thing that might have a more significant impact on the price of food than rising commodity prices - rising energy prices. "After all, gasoline and other forms of energy are used at nearly every step in the process of growing, processing and marketing food."

America is blessed with an abundant and relatively inexpensive food supply. In order to continue to maintain this benefit, it's important to conserve our resources and continue to fund research efforts that will help improve production techniques and reduce energy costs.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. Ag disaster informational meetings announced

The Kittson County Farm Service Agency will conduct three informational meetings on the 2005-07 Crop Disaster Program, Livestock Compensation Program and Livestock Indemnity Program.

Kelly Turgeon, FSA county executive director, will present information on the disaster programs at the following times and locations:

• On Oct. 31 – At 9 a.m. in the upstairs meeting room of the Kittson County Courthouse in Hallock, and at 2 p.m. at the American Legion Club in Lancaster; and

• On Nov. 1 – At 9 a.m. at the Karlstad Eagles Club.

All area crop and livestock producers are encouraged to attend these meetings.

Following a lengthy legislative process, President George W. Bush signed into law The U.S. Troop Readiness, Veterans' Care, Katrina Recovery, and Iraq Accountability Appropriations Act, 2007; part of the legislation included the Title IX Agricultural Assistance Act of 2007. The legislation included three agricultural disaster programs, which will be of benefit to area crop and livestock operations suffering losses as a result of natural disaster events in 2005-06.

The CDP provides assistance for quantity and quality losses for 2005, 2006 and 2007 crops planted or prevented from planting prior to Feb. 28, 2007. It only covers crop losses which were insured by Federal Crop Insurance or which had Non-Insured Assistance Program coverage. Crops not insured by FCIC or covered by NAP do not qualify for crop disaster assistance. Applicants can only request crop disaster benefits on one of the three crop years. The Kittson County FSA Office will conduct CDP signup by appointment. Call-in appointments will not be scheduled until after the informational meetings have been conducted. Producers attending the meeting will be able to schedule appointments at the meetings.

The LCP provides monetary assistance to eligible livestock owners, who suffered feed/grazing losses as a result of natural disaster in 2005 or 2006. The county must have received a disaster declaration to implement the program; Kittson County qualifies. Producers may elect to receive LCP in only one year. The county office can assist in year selection by running comparison reports for both years. Applicants will be required to provide the following information at the signup: cattle inventory for the applicable year(s), a listing of all owned and/or leased grazing acreages, along with cash lease documentation from the landowner, receipts or statements on supplemental feed purchases required as a result of grazing losses, and documentation on feed destroyed or lost as a result of the natural disaster. Individuals attending the meeting will be provided with a pre-application worksheet to prepare for submitting an LCP application, which will ease the process. Livestock producers are strongly encouraged to attend one of these informational meetings as the application process is detail oriented. The Kittson County FSA Office will conduct the LCP signup by appointment. Call-in appointments will not be scheduled until after the informational meetings have been conducted. Producers attending the meeting will be able to schedule appointments at the meetings.

The LIP provides monetary assistance to eligible livestock owners, who suffered livestock deaths as a result of a natural disaster, which must have occurred between Jan. 1, 2005, and before Feb. 27, 2007. The deaths resulting from anthrax may be eligible for assistance. Eligible livestock include adult/non-adult beef cattle, adult/non-adult dairy cattle, adult/non-adult buffalo or beefalo, sheep, goats, swine, equine, deer and poultry. Hunting, show, pleasure, rodeos stock, pets, consumption by owner, and roping livestock do not qualify. Proof of death loss will be required if verifiable records are not available. Third party certification may be accepted if all required information can be obtained and is determined acceptable by the local County Committee. The Kittson County FSA Office will conduct LIP signup by appointment. Call-in appointments will not be scheduled until after the informational meetings have been conducted. Producers attending the meeting will be able to schedule appointments at the meetings.

The FSA Office is currently preparing for the disaster programs' signup process. No deadlines for the programs have been announced. Anyone with questions regarding the disaster programs is encouraged to contact the Kittson County FSA Office.

Funds are available for brushland habitat improvement

In an effort to improve brushland habitat on private land in northwestern Minnesota, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources has partnered with the U.S. Department of Agriculture Natural Resources Conservation Service to provide funding to qualifying landowners for brushland management.

Approved landowners can receive both technical assistance and cost-share assistance from NRCS to improve their brushland habitat. In many cases, the DNR Wildlife Private Lands Program can also provide cost-share dollars. In other words, landowners can make improvements with minimal out-of-pocket expense.

So why the concern over brushland? "Native brushland habitats are an integral part of the northern forest ecosystem and are home to many unique or rare wildlife species, including sharp-tailed grouse, crane, sandhill woodcock, bobolink, American moose and elk, just to name a few," said Steve Cann, DNR private lands specialist. "The once common, open landscapes that provide wide horizons for these species have slowly disappeared in many places. As a result, populations have declined from historical levels."

The DNR has identified 77 brushland habitat priority areas that lie within seven counties in northwestern Minnesota (Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Pennington and Roseau). Eligible habitat management techniques for these areas include mechanical (winter shearing and rotary axe or mowing), prescribed fire, firebreak construction, herbicide application and hand cutting. Interested landowners in these areas may apply for USDA Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program funding through their local county NRCS district conservationist, or contact their local DNR area wildlife manager.

To learn more about NRCS cost-share programs, log onto www.mn.nrcs.usda.gov/programs or go to your local NRCS district office. Additional information about private land assistance programs is available at www.dnr.state.mn.us/privatelandsprogram/index.html.

Area businesses invited to National Quality Month breakfast at NCTC

In celebration of National Quality Month, the Center for Outreach and Innovation at Northland Community and Technical College, in collaboration with the American Society for Quality (ASQ), will host a "Kick Off to Quality" breakfast meeting at 7 a.m., Tuesday, Oct. 30, at the Swenson House in Thief River Falls. Breakfast is free of charge.

Ron Ray, vice president of operations at Arctic Cat Inc., will be the guest speaker. Attendees will learn how quality can play a role in improving and growing your business. Other highlights of the morning will include the sharing of quality success stories by the Center for Outreach and Innovation, and a presentation from area representatives on the benefits available to companies through the world-renowned professional society of ASQ.

Please RSVP by Oct. 24, by contacting Lisa Krause at (218) 686-8092 or lisa.krause@northlandcollege.edu

Mill, which separated and cleaned grain in a way that had never been seen before. Its efficiency soon led to orders from neighbors and eventually other communities, which wanted to utilize the same technology.

Forsberg's business relocated to Thief River Falls in 1932 and a manufacturing giant was born that decade, with the invention of the gravity separator. The company continued to evolve over the next 40-plus years to manufacture separating equipment for nearly all agricultural applications.

In 1976, the company moved to its current location, which includes the businesses' corporate offices, as well as the production, engineering and testing departments. The testing facility is a big part of the company's business, since all new designs and separating concepts are tested on-site first, before any manufacturing is done.

"We offer very few standard pieces of equipment," Bakke said. "All our orders are customized to the customers' needs."

Around the same time that the new facility was created, the recycling industry was born in the United States. Forsbergs started slow in the recycling business, but today, the recycling business accounts for more of the company's business each year. Bakke estimates that half of Forsberg's separating systems are sold to recycling companies.

The need for separators is not limited to the agriculture and recycling industries, as is evident by Forsbergs' recent completion of a test to remove plastic from shredded automobiles. The company working with Forsbergs for the test plans to use recycled plastic from automobiles to produce plastic railroad ties.

Like it does with all customers, Forsbergs first modifies or creates test equipment in its testing facility. In the case of the shredded automobiles, the separator took a row product of shredded automobile that included some wood or carpet material and plastic (most, but not all of the shredded steel was removed by a magnet) and produced a product that was all plastic.

"The plastic separator worked very well," Bakke said. "Now it is waiting for the customer to determine the feasibility."

Since its beginning 80 years ago, Forsbergs has evolved its products to meet the needs of several industries. Bakke said the business utilizes manufacturers representatives for most of its sales, but there are a few in-house accounts.

Forsbergs' largest account is currently Quaker Oats. Most of the cereal companies and nearly all of the oatmeal companies use Forsbergs equipment for separating and cleaning their raw product.

Forsbergs also has a large role in the popcorn and almond industries. Numerous popcorn companies utilize Forsberg products and Orville Redenbacher Popcorn gets cleaned on two pieces of Forsberg equipment.

Bakke said, the biggest single industry Forsbergs currently deals with is the almond industry in California, specifically Blue Diamond Almonds, the largest tree nut processing and marketing company in the world. Forsbergs also works with big name food industry clients include Hershey Chocolate and Uncle Ben's Rice.

On the recycling side of the business, glass, plastic, metal and tire separators are big sellers. Most of the separators are designed to handle material that is already ground or shredded to less than an inch, as the separators themselves aren't designed to do any shredding.

Forsbergs Inc., and other area manufacturers, will be recognized during a luncheon at Digi-Key Corp. in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, Oct. 24. MnDEED Commissioner Dan McElroy will be the luncheon's keynote speaker.

This is the main floor at Forsbergs Inc. in Thief River Falls. Forsbergs manufactures custom made separators that are purchased by clients throughout the world. Next week is Manufacturing and Technology Week. The event is designed to showcase Minnesota's diverse manufacturing and technology industries.

The "does" and don'ts of driving when encountering a deer

Deer-vehicle crashes are most likely to occur during the autumn months, the peak time for deer herd movement, according to the Minnesota departments of Public Safety and Natural Resources. During 2004–2006 in Minnesota, 13,214 deer-vehicle crashes resulted in 13 deaths and 1,449 injuries. White-tailed deer increase their daily movements during the fall mating season, which usually peaks in the first two weeks of November. Motorists should watch for deer during dawn and dusk — when most deer-vehicle crashes occur.

"The best safety advice is to belt up and don't 'veer for deer,'" said Cheri Marti, director of the DPS Office of Traffic Safety. "It's safer to hit a deer than to swerve into oncoming traffic or off the side of the road and risk hitting another vehicle or roadside object."

There have been two recent crashes in Minnesota as a result of motorists swerving to avoid a deer — both avoided serious injury. On Oct. 4 in Polk County on Hwy. 102, a vehicle swerved to avoid a deer, crossed the centerline and sideswiped an oncoming vehicle. On Oct. 5 on Hwy. 34 in Becker County a vehicle swerved to miss a deer and ran off of the road.

The DNR reports the state's deer herd is about 1.2 million. Officials say the deer-vehicle crash issue becomes more critical as traffic volume increases and development extends further into rural areas.

Officials noted that deer pose a high risk to motorcyclists. A motorcyclist's best response is to slow down quickly and swerve around the animal — if traffic allows. Riders are encouraged to wear helmets and other protective gear to prevent injury or death in a crash.

If motorists encounter a deer on the road, Marti said motorists should brake firmly and bring the vehicle to a controlled stop. Drivers should follow this safety information:

• Buckle up — In case of a crash, a seat belt is the best defense; motorcyclists should wear helmets.

• Drive at safe speeds — The posted speed limit is the speed limit.

• Slow down and prepare to stop as soon as you see a deer. It is safer to stop than to take evasive action.

• If you see one deer, watch for more — deer frequently move in groups.

• If you hit a deer, call 911 or the local law enforcement agency.

• It is illegal to take a deer without a permit. You must obtain a permit to tag a deer before it can be legally transported. All law enforcement officers can issue such a permit after a deer-vehicle crash.

Look for the "hot spots" to prevent home fires

A home fire-hazard inspection is one of the best fire safety measures anyone can undertake, according to State Fire Marshal Jerry Rosendahl.

"Everyone should install smoke alarms. We should all have escape plans because accidents happen, but ultimately, those are survival techniques. Most home fires are entirely preventable," Rosendahl said.

There were more than 6,900 structure fires in Minnesota last year; 72 percent of them were residential. About 90 percent of fire victims die where they feel safest – at home. And nearly every person whose home burns says, "I can't believe it happened to me."

It sometimes happens due to common situations that can be corrected before a fire starts. The State Fire Marshal Division provides a "Home Hazard Inspection Checklist" online for home and apartment dwellers as they look for potential problems.

The checklist begins where most home fires start – the kitchen. Tips include keeping the stovetop free of grease and clutter, keeping combustibles three feet from the stove, and unplugging small appliances when they're not in use. Check electrical cords, too, and replace them if they're frayed. And keep the space behind stoves and refrigerators clean. A bad electrical connection or a power surge can ignite those "dust bunnies."

Other home fire hazards commonly exist in furnace rooms, laundry rooms, around entertainment systems, and wherever paints or chemicals are stored. Fireplaces and candles have intrinsic dangers as open flames are a major cause of residential fires, and proper disposal of smoking materials is an issue, too.

"Fire prevention begins with awareness," said Rosendahl. "Like all behavior, fire safety is learned. Taking responsibility to learn it now will save lives and property later."

The checklist can be found at www.fire.state.mn.us. Click "Check it Out" and scan "For the Public."

TRF celebrates Manufactures & Technology Week

Manufacturing and Technology Week is designed to showcase Minnesota's diverse manufacturing and technology industries and to increase legislative and public awareness of the importance in providing high-wage, high-skilled jobs for our communities.

Did you know that almost one out of every seven jobs in the state is in the manufacturing industry and that this industry accounts for 17.9 percent of Minnesota's total wages? And in 2006, manufacturing produced $34.1 billion for the state economy and is the largest share - 16.0 percent - of our gross state product.

To begin Manufacturers and Technology Week, Dean Foods will be hosting a Business After Hours on Monday, Oct. 22, from 5 to 7 p.m. at their downtown location. Plant tours will begin at 6 p.m.

A luncheon to honor our local manufacturers will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 24, noon at Digi-Key Corporation in Thief River Falls. MnDEED Commissioner Dan McElray will be the keynote speaker. For further information or to register, contact the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce at 218-681-3720.

Manufacturers and Technology Week activities are sponsored by: the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, MnDEED, Border State Bank, Jobs Inc., Northern State Bank, Unity Bank and Wells Fargo Bank.

TRF school bus hits cow Tuesday night

No injuries were reported after a Thief River Falls School District bus hit a cow Tuesday night five miles west of Bagley.

At the time of the accident, the Thief River Falls boys and girls cross country team was riding on the bus. They were traveling from a meet in Bemidji to Thief River Falls.

At about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, the bus was traveling westbound on Highway 2, when a Chevy TrailBlazer in front of the bus hit the first cow. "Her lights went out, and the car went off to the side. Then all of a sudden, there was the cow and bam!" said Rick Karboviak, cross country coach, who was on the bus with the 10 athletes and the bus driver. The TrailBlazer driver wasn't injured in her accident.

The crash disabled the bus, which had to be towed from the scene. The radiator was leaking, said Karboviak, who noted the driver's side headlight wasn't functioning and that particular section of the bus was dented. At about 9 p.m. Tuesday, another Thief River Falls School District bus arrived to transport the team the remainder of the way to Thief River Falls.

The cows' owner told the sheriff's office that he didn't realize the two cows were loose, said Todd Spray, chief deputy with the Clearwater County Sheriff's Office. The Bagley Police Department provided assistance to the sheriff's office.

Richfield running back Warren Matthews (23) rushed for 245 yards on a busy 35-carry night, but he was stopped for no gain by the Thief River Falls defense on this first quarter carry during Wednesday's high school football game at Lowell T. Swenson Field. Ryan Dahl (66) was the primary tackler on the play. Zach Sorenson (21) and Kevin Fynboh (23) are also pictured. The Prowlers won 26-20 with a final-minute touchdown.

Prowlers edge Richfield 26-20...

Final-minute win for TRF

An 18-yard touchdown pass from Kasey Trontvet to Zach Sorenson with 37.6 seconds remaining gave Thief River Falls a 26-20 Wednesday night high school football win over visiting Richfield and a second straight 7-1 regular season finish.

The Prowlers faced a 20-12 deficit when Kevin Roth bolted through the middle on a 74-yard quarterback sneak with 9:07 left in the game.

But it took Thief River Falls just 65 seconds to tie it as Cody Conners, the other half of the Prowlers' rotating quarterback combination, directed a quick-strike three-play scoring series. He threw short to Chase Haviland, who then turned it into a 24-yard gain to the Richfield 41; went long to Haviland, who wrestled the ball away from a defender at the Spartans' 11; and then tossed a touchdown pass to Jordan Espeseth, whose dive caught the pylon on the left corner of the end zone.

That made it 20-18 and Conners completed his work when he rolled left and found Sorenson in the back of the end zone for the conversion and tie with 8:02 to play.

A Thief River Falls defense that gave up 477 yards and had been burned numerous times on third-and-long situations by the explosive Richfield offense, stood tall at the end by ending the Spartans' final three possessions with interceptions.

"We gave up some yards, but we made some plays at the end," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "We've been giving up those third down yards, but we're pretty resilient."

Those fourth quarter interceptions came from Lucas Dillon at the Thief River Falls 45 with 5:21 remaining; Trontvet at the 50-yard line with 2:16 left; and Thomas Loe at the Richfield 34 to ice the win with 11.1 seconds on the clock.

Trontvet followed his interception by quarterbacking the game-winning drive that featured a 27-yard pass to Andrew Rook and an 18-yard scoring toss to Sorenson on a third-and-14.

On the touchdown, Trontvet rolled right, then stopped and threw a lateral-type screen pass to Sorenson on the left side. The tight end followed his blockers through the Richfield defense to reach the corner of the end zone.

"That was a great high school football game," said Mumm. "There were a lot of momentum changes. We could have hung our heads a few times, but the kids never quit."

With his team coming off a 32-13 drubbing at the hands of Detroit Lakes the previous Friday, Mumm had reason to be concerned facing an athletic Richfield team that beat his club 26-6 a year ago. "We needed to play well and play with some enthusiasm," he said later. And that's just what the Prowlers did.

Thief River Falls scored first when Haviland weaved his way through the middle and broke into the open on a 38-yard run with 48.3 seconds left in the opening quarter.

That was it for scoring until the second half.

Richfield tied it on a 20-yard Roth pass over the middle to Renard Robinson with 7:54 remaining in the third quarter.

The Spartans went up 14-6 with 4:07 on the third quarter clock when Warren Matthews broke through the middle on a 93-yard touchdown run and then tacked on the conversion points himself. It was part of an impressive 35-carry, 245-yard rushing performance by the 180-pound senior.

A second Thief River Falls touchdown came on a 27-yard keeper by Trontvet off right tackle 1:39 into the final quarter. Another failed conversion left the Prowlers trailing 14-12.

Richfield appeared to gain the upper hand when Roth's breakaway made it 20-12, only to have the Prowlers respond immediately behind the Trontvet-Conners quarterback tandem. Together, they were 11-for-18 in the air for 162 yards and two touchdowns. Five different players caught passes.

"We beat a quality football team," said Mumm. "Our quarterbacks threw the ball and our receivers caught the ball."

In addition to the three interceptions, the 3-5 Spartans also lost a fumble (recovered by Sam Mattison) and had a touchdown erased due to a penalty call.

Sandahl headed to state

■ TRF junior extends her 2007 tennis season

Carli Sandahl is state tournament-bound. The Thief River Falls junior finished second in the singles portion of the Section 8A girls high school tennis tournament Wednesday at the Center Court Fitness Club in Grand Forks, N.D., to extend her 2007 post season run.

Sandal beat Steph Hendricks of New York Mills 6-1, 6-0 in the quarterfinals and got by Megan Lawrence of Park Rapids Area 6-0, 3-6, 6-3 in the semifinals to clinch a state tournament spot.

Roseau freshman Abby Ness defeated Sandahl 7-5, 6-2 in the finals. It was a rematch of the North Sub-Section 8A finals the previous week when Ness beat Sandal 6-2, 6-2.

The individual portion of the Class A state tournament will be played Oct. 26-27 at the Reed-

Blue Devils end 0-7 season with Tuesday defeat

A 39-6 Tuesday loss to Kittson County Central ended the 2007 high school football season for Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke.

Going 0-7 during the regular season kept the Blue Devils from earning a spot in the Section 8 Nine-Man playoffs, where only eight of the nine teams land post-season spots.

The highly-ranked Bearcats led at the quarter stops 14-0, 27-0 and 33-0.

"Kittson County Central manhandled us with their strength and speed," said Blue Devils coach John Wilebski.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke reached the end zone in the final quarter when Dillon Olson scored on a 21-yard run.

Brier Verbout netted 80 yards on 20 carries to lead the attack for the Blue Devils, who picked up 173 of their 198 yards of offense on the ground.

Tyler Foss and Olson led the Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke defense with 7 and 6 tackles, respectively.

It's the second winless season in the past three years for the Blue Devils, who were 2-6 in 2006.

"The boys played hard for the last game of the season," noted Wilebski. "It was a tough year for our seniors, who never gave up. A lot of kids got experience with all the injuries and ineligibilities we had this year."

Spuds sweep team, individuals titles at Bemidji Invitational

Moorhead boys and girls swept team and individual titles at the Bemidji Invitational high school cross country meet Tuesday on the Maple Lake Golf Course.

Tyler Iverson and Anna Lipetzky were the individual champions.

"Temps were cool and weather was damp and misty, but overall it was favorable conditions to run," reported Thief River Falls coach Rick Karboviak. "We had a few turns and twists on the ankles with some of our runners, which hampered our times a little. We were also missing some kids with illness and vacation, so our team chemistry wasn't quite as strong as it has been."

The Prowlers will wrap up the regular season by running in the Hawley/Ulen-Hitterdal Invitational Monday, then return to the same course in Hawley for the Section 8A meet Friday.

"The race on Monday will be a good mental preparation for us, with three days of focusing before we finish out the season," said Karboviak.

Rainy River linebacker Daniel Normington chased down Northland quarterback Gerald Anderson for a fourth quarter sack during Thursday's Minnesota Community College Conference football game at muddy Lowell T. Swenson Field. The Voyageurs won 22-20 in overtime.

Overtime loss is a mess in rain, mud

Wednesday, Northland's football playoff hopes received a boost when it was announced that MSCTC-Fergus Falls would have to forfeit an early-season overtime win against the Pioneers due to the use of an ineligible player. Thursday, an overtime loss to Rainy River dashed those post-season dreams. Don't look for this one to be reversed.

The Voyageurs' 22-20 victory assured them of a top-two Northern Division finish and a spot in the Minnesota Community College Conference state playoff semifinals. The same incentive was available to Northland. But with a final-week bye, the Pioneers' 2007 season ended at 6-3.

Horrible weather conditions made it a miserable late-afternoon showdown at Lowell T. Swenson Field. Wind-driven rain drenched and chilled the players while turning the field into a muddy mess. Ten fumbles and just three pass completions attested to the conditions.

The Pioneers took the biggest hit from the weatherman, according to Northland coach Guy Finstrom. "It took away our passing," he explained. "We throw the ball better than they do, but (quarterback Gerald) Anderson couldn't even grip the ball."

After playing to a 14-14 halftime tie, the teams slipped their way through a scoreless second half, forcing overtime to determine a winner. In college, teams start the extra session with the ball at the opponent's 25-yard line. First downs extend the series.

Northland won the coin toss and elected to play defense to start overtime. Rainy River picked up two first downs - the second coming when a third-and-12 Andy Devito pass from the 16 was caught by D'Andre Sherill at the 1-yard line. The Pioneers argued, unsuccessfully, that the receiver had pushed off on the play. Devito took the next snap into the end zone on a quarterback sneak.

On what proved to be the game-winning play, Larry Hall powered his way off left tackle for the two-point conversion.

The Pioneers also scored in overtime, thanks to a hard run by Jon Drees that netted 13 yards and produced a first down at the Rainy River 7. It was third down at the 1-yard line when Shamar Maddrey's dive made it 22-20.

On the conversion to keep the game going, Drees tried to go off left tackle - a favorite play by the Pioneers all season long - but Rainy River corner back Vander Thompkins III shot through and spilled the ball carrier short of the goal line.

"The kids played hard," offered Finstrom, who said a couple of calls that went against the Pioneers played a major role in the outcome. "That was the difference in the game."

Rainy River fumbles led to both Northland regulation time touchdowns. Stephen Lewis came up with a recovery at the Voyageurs' 5-yard line in the first quarter and Javaris Neal went through the middle on the next play for a 6-0 lead with 6:22 on the clock.

However, a 57-yard breakaway by Javier Ford on the first Rainy River snap after the Northland touchdown was followed by his 13-yard score off left tackle. A Hall conversion run put the visitors up 8-6 with 4:20 left in the first quarter.

Chris Hoskins recovered a Rainy River fumble at the Northland 33 with 2:43 to play in the first half and on the next play Dress broke arm tackles on a 67-yard touchdown run.

The opportunity to take a lead into the break disappeared, though, when the Pioneers lost the ball on a punt return. That led to a four-play, 25-yard touchdown series by the Voyageurs, who tied it on a 4-yard run by Ford with just 10.1 seconds remaining.

"We fumbled the ball a few times, and you can't have that," said Finstrom.

Wolverines win 3-0 match

Rebecca Polansky had 10 kills and Nicole Schulz was credited with 27 assists to lead Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke to a 25-11, 25-12, 25-20 Monday high school volleyball sweep over host Stephen-Argyle.

The win came after the Wolverines had lost three 3-0 decisions the previous week.

"It was fun to win," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Jean Schulz. "The girls served the ball well and our passing was good. We were able to set up the ball and get some good hits."

Adelle Prestebak served nine aces for the winners, who will take a 9-17 record into their regular season finale Monday against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo in Goodridge.

G/G-G Scoring

■ Kills - Rebecca Polansky 10, Adelle Prestebak 8, Brittney Forsberg 5.
■ Assists - Nicole Schulz 27.
■ Ace serves - Adelle Prestebak 9, Nicole Schulz 4.

Freeze extends win streak

Winner of 15 straight matches, Northern Freeze will finish its 2007 regular season high school volleyball schedule Monday at Roseau.

Latest Northern Freeze victim was East Grand Forks Sacred Heart. The Eagles lost a 25-11, 25-22, 25-6 Monday home court decision to the Marshall County Central/Tri-County cooperative.

The current Northern Freeze winning streak includes title-winning performances at the Thief River Falls Northern Lights Invitational and the Frostbite Invitational hosted by Badger/Greenbush-Middle River.

■ Ace serves - (SH) Molly Magner 5, Kelsey Gullicks 4; (SN) Morgan Kaiser 3, Darcy Roach 1.

Football Freeze splits final two starts for a 2-5 season

It was feast or famine for the Northern Freeze offense as the first-year high school football cooperative followed a 46-27 Friday (Oct. 12) win over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart with a 48-0 Tuesday setback at the hands of Stephen-Argyle.

The Marshall County Central/Tri-County combo finished the regular season 2-5.

Competition might have had something to do with the contrasting results. Stephen-Argyle, the four-time defending Nine-Man state champion, set a state record by winning its 61st straight game.

The Storm turned a 7-0 first quarter edge into a 35-0 halftime cushion and had a 42-0 lead through three quarters in a game played at Karlstad.

Northern Freeze had a season-high offensive output against Sacred Heart in East Grand Forks.

Matt Levenhagen rushed for 237 yards on 11 carries and had touchdown runs of 57, 19 and 52 yards, while Joey Peterson netted 135 yards on 9 carries and scored on runs of 59 and 5 yards.

Northern Freeze jumped out to a 20-7 first quarter lead and enjoyed a 34-13 halftime advantage. Rest of the scoring occurred in the final quarter.

students. It has the full-time equivalent of 35 students. There are three full-time faculty, one full-time office assistant and one and one-half custodians.

Jenny Untener, a 29-year-old aviation maintenance student from Maple Grove, said she doesn't have a lot of facts now, but has some big concerns about the announcement. She said they were told that students will be able to complete their program of study, but she's not sure the school has examined all of its options. She also has some concerns about testing.

The aviation maintenance technology program at the college is described as one of the nation's outstanding vocational technical programs. It offers Federal Aviation Administration approved training where students from around the world gain hands-on experience to learn the skills necessary to keep aircraft in the air. Program outcomes include successfully passing the FAA testing required of an airframe and power plant mechanic.

Temte said she's made no secret of the fact that like many of Minnesota's public colleges, NCTC is facing some hard decisions. "Increasing costs and declining revenue mandate a careful examination of all of the college's programs and services. One such program is the aviation mechanics technology program."

"It's definitely a sad day that we even have to consider suspending this program, said Temte. She encourages students to refocus their energy on their education. She said above all else, she said the college wants students to get a good education.

Untener already has a two-year degree and a four-year teaching degree. She's also one thesis away from a master's degree in space studies. She said she decided to focus her efforts on aviation maintenance because it's something she likes and because she believes demand for maintenance technicians will continue to grow.

Nobody questions whether the events of 9-11 had a significant impact on major airlines, it did. But, some believe the demand for maintenance technicians is poised to grow. In fact, NCTC released a statement to that effect last summer. That statement included an estimate by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics that said employment of aircraft mechanics is expected to increase about as fast as the average for all occupations through the year 2012. In 2002, the median hourly earnings of aircraft mechanics and service technicians were about $20.71. The median hourly earnings of avionics technicians were about $20.21.

The news release stated that the college graduated 38 airframe and powerplant mechanics last year, and every single one of them had opportunities to enter the workforce.

Tom Pflibsen, another second-year student at the school from Midland, Mich., said that all of the students feel like they are a part of the transportation industry, which is a huge part of the world. He said they also believe that demand for the occupation is growing tremendously. "All of us are guaranteed a job," he said. He added that it doesn't make sense to close the school now.

Pflibsen chose NCTC because he did some research and learned that it was one of the best schools in the nation. He also discovered that few other schools have as much equipment or provide the practical, hands-on experience that NCTC can provide. It's also relatively inexpensive. When he was looking at schools he said he even contacted the University of North Dakota, which is where he plans to transfer to once he completes his degree here, and they told him to go to NCTC first.

The school has worked closely with several companies and schools, which have recruited students and provided assistance to the school. The aviation program has a substantial number of airplanes - more than 20 in the hangar alone - a DC 9-10 aircraft docking unit donated in 1999, a DC-9 donated in 1997, and a Boeing 727-100 donated in 1992 by Northwest Airlines.

Temte said they will be looking at many issues including the disposition of the aircraft and the airport campus, which includes an 86,000 square-foot training area, which is mostly in a hangar.

Pflibsen said he hopes that they will try to keep the campus open. He said he believes he's getting a good education here. He suggested that the school contact alumni and their employers and see how they feel about the program. He said they may be able to provide assistance or guidance to help keep the program open. Students also want to take a more active role in helping to save this school, he added.

Pflibsen and other students have expressed that they have some concerns about testing. He said they've been told they will be able to take their tests, but worries that if the teachers are let go in May students will have to take their FAA practical tests elsewhere and at their own expense. He explained that two of the teachers at the school have authority to conduct the 10 to 20 hours of practical testing the students need to get their certificates. Pflibsen said he would feel more comfortable being tested by his instructors.

Job description change recommended

there was a mixture of the city administrator and division leaders relaying information at those council meetings. "It's still those subject experts reporting to the council and making recommendations," he said.

Bendickson said it needed to be clarified that department leaders and division leaders still need to be at council meetings to answer follow-up questions or to collaborate with the city administrator, if needed.

Apparently, there were no issues with the current division leaders that led to the recommendation to change the city administrator's job description. "All of the folks have done a fine job and have done what they need to," said Kajewski, who noted that the organizational structure is inefficient because each department leader or division leader has eight bosses – City Council.

If the council chooses to change the job description, division leaders will still be responsible to the council, Bendickson said.

As part of its discussion, the ad hoc committee looked at a proposed job description for the city administrator. Council member and ad hoc committee member Emery Lee noted that he created the job description and relied heavily on information from the League of Minnesota Cities.

"You kind of have the city administrator pointing to the folks removing snow, replacing ice. ... Those are the responsibilities of the Madelyns, Rons and Arlos of the world," said Kujewski in reference to Parks and Recreation Director Madelyn Vigen, Public Works Director Ron Lindberg and Utilities Director Arlo Rude.

A lengthy discussion ensued. It pertained to the wording of the description when it came to the supervision of division leaders. Committee members wanted to ensure that no one could interpret the job description to mean that the city administrotor supervised all city employees.

At one point in the discussion, Bendickson asked Northern Watch Reporter April Scheinoha to help the ad hoc committee with the wording. Scheinoha responded that she wasn't on the committee and was just an observer.

A short time later, Thief River Falls Radio News Director Key Teeters suggested that the ad hoc committee should talk to City Attorney Paul Ihle for direction on the job description and its wording "before discussing it in such a public place." At the same time, she said she wasn't suggesting that the ad hoc committee hold a secret meeting.

Later, Teeters indicated that the committee should be presenting a tweaked job description, not an "entirely different document."

The ad hoc committee will make its recommendation to change the city administrator's job description and related portions of the city code at the Committee of the Whole meeting Tuesday, Oct. 23.

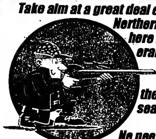
grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren. Mae's husband, Eugene, passed away in 1987.

Mae keeps herself busy by volunteering at Seventh-day Community Services two days a week. A fixture there, she operated Community Services for 25 years as a volunteer before cutting back her hours.

When not serving as a volunteer, Mae knits and crochets. Some of her wreaths and crocheted potholders were on sale Oct. 10 at the church's craft sale and bake sale. "I love crafts," said Mae, who also cooks and bakes.

The passage of time has led to some changes in Mae's life. She stopped driving in her 90s. Mae said she was told by her family that she couldn't drive. For her part, Ilene said Mae's family told Mae what could go wrong if she drave. "I still say they took it," Mae said.



Mae's friend Kenton Hicks serves as her chauffeur. "If it wasn't for him, I wouldn't get anywhere," said Mae, who still lives on her own.

Along with those changes, Mae wears at least one hearing aid and walks with a cane. "I'd rather not [use a cane], but they say, 'She's old. She's old,'" Mae said.

Even though other people may think she's old, Mae thinks it's wonderful that she has made it to the age of 100. The best part, she said, is that she can still get out of bed and work.

construction to be done before the operation receives a permit for 2,000 animal units (animal units are based on the weight of the animal). One of the requirements is an Environmental Assessment Worksheet. Person noted that Excel Dairy has been working on the EAW.

The smell from the facility has been a regular complaint.

Person said he hasn't received any complaints regarding the feedlot for the last three to four weeks.

Jeff Brouse, a neighbor who has opposed the facility ever since a company proposed reopening it, said last week that "it's a nightmare out there." He said the culverts under the new barn and the old barn are plugged, and the new barn is overflowing with manure. Right now, he said they are using rubber pipes to pump manure from the barns the lagoons, and a vacuum truck to clean out the mess in the barns. The smell, he said, is unbearable. "It's bad, really bad," he said.

Brouse has been in contact with the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency and he said they are investigating possible infractions regarding work they weren't supposed to do. He said a representative of MPCA was expected to visit the site this past week.

Mark Stewart of the MPCA said they "will be doing enforcement on this facility." He said there was very little he could say about the nature of the investigation or enforcement at this time. That information will become public after the enforcement action process is completed, but he couldn't provide a timeline for the process. Stewart said the company has been aware of the inspections and has always had a representative on-site when they were conducting inspections.

What's taking place now

The dairy is in the process of pumping its lagoon dry, explained Person. He added that when they run a hose in front of another individual's property, they are required to notify them of the pumping.

Brouse denies he ever received notice that they were planning to pump the lagoons.

Person said the waste is being pumped into the ground. He said the process involves pumping the waste through a six-inch hose to the field where a chisel plow with knives slices a six-inch deep trench into the ground where a hose squirts the waste into the ground. Following recommendations, he said there is minimal odor. He added that the soil is also tested after the process.

Person said he's looking forward to the completion of the construction project so that they can move forward with monitoring air quality. "There's just a lot of things you can't do when everything is under construction," he said.

Person said though, that it has to improve by spring. He said next spring, a continuous air-monitoring device that measures the amount of hydrogen sulfide in the air, will be installed at the facility. The dairy also will be able to use a chemical that should reduce the smell, and by then, a crust should also have formed over the three cells of the lagoons at the facility.

Brouse said he has a hard time believing that it'll get any better. The company talked about installing sate-of-the-art equipment, but the situation just isn't getting any better. After he heard that the manager resigned, Brouse said he wonders whether anyone knows what's going on out there.

Greenbush medical park plans progress

Greenbush - "LifeCare Medical Center in Roseau is continuing with plans for a new medical park in Greenbush. On Oct. 8, LCMC submitted an application to the Minnesota Department of Health with the hopes of being approved by the state to construct a new nursing home in Greenbush. LCMC should receive notice from MDH by the end of January concerning whether its application has been accepted.

"Pending state approval, LCMC plans to construct a medical park, which will include a new, modern nursing home in addition to a five-day-a-week primary care clinic, physical/occupational/ speech therapy, a Wellness Center, behavioral health services and assisted living apartments." The 50,000-square-foot complex is expected to cost $7.5 million - The Tribune of Greenbush, Oct. 24, 2007

Marvin Windows gives to recovery effort

Warroad - "Marvin Windows and Doors in Warroad and Grafton, N.D., has joined the relief efforts for tornado-ravaged Northwood, N.D.

"After learning that the Northwood tornado had leveled not only the town's structures but also its trees, Marvin Windows decided to combine its annual seedling donations to local schools with the tornado relief efforts. In conjunction with National Forest Products Week, Marvin Windows donated an additional 1,000 seedlings to the town of Northwood."

A Grafton plant employee "suggested that the workers do something to raise money for Northwood, one of Grafton's neighboring communities. After a fundraiser at the company cookout, and seeing the Northwood devastation first-hand, Plant Manager Hans Halverson suggested that the Grafton plant match its employees' donations.

"Continuing the fundraising, the Grafton plant hosted a barbecue with food donated by Welly's Supermarket. Associates donated their lunch breaks to serve food.

"By the end of Grafton's fundraising drive, $1,459 had been raised for Northwood." - The Pioneer of Warroad, Oct. 24, 2007

Mercil returns from Kazakhstan

Brooks - Leroy Mercil left Brooks in May to go to the Republic of Kazakhstan and train local Kazakh people how to run the Marflex Sprayer he sent there earlier this spring." It was an adventure for him since he doesn't know the Kazakh language. "Kazakhstan is located in central Asia with Russia to the north and Iran to the south.

"Mercil's trip was in relation to the sale of a farm sprayer, a Marflex Sprayer, that can spray large fields quickly and efficiently. He met a man at a farm show in Fargo, N.D., a year ago, who wanted to have a sprayer brought to Kazakhstan and someone to come and train his people on how to run and maintain the sprayer. He was impressed with Mercil's sprayer and asked if Mercil would come to his country to train people on the machine. Mercil accepted the invitation. The man Mercil met was a government official, who was the director of the prime minister's farm. The sprayer was shipped in early April." Red Lake Falls Gazette, Oct. 24, 2007, by Barbara Simal

While officials were announcing the suspension of the aviation program, aviation company recruiters like Angela Mengafas of ExpressJet were trying to convince students to apply for jobs with them.

Aviation program suspended

Demand for aviation mechanics continues to grow nationwide

by David Hill
Editor

Northland Community and Technical College Academic Affairs and Standards Council has decided to suspend the aviation maintenance and technology program for an indefinite period of time. The program, which is located at the Thief River Falls Regional Airport, has been in existence since the late 50s or early 60s, though some people say it got its start in the 40s. They also note that it has been supported by voters in numerous construction bonding referendums. Tuesday, the Academic Affairs and Standards Council decided to suspend the program for financial reasons.

Dr. Anne Temte said the decision whether or not to suspend the program had to be made quickly, because college-teacher contracts require notice be given to teachers by Nov. 1. That doesn't mean discussion about the future of the program will end.

Temte has cited increasing costs and declining enrollments as the primary factors for suspending the program. Currently, there are nine first-year students and 16 to 17 second-year students. The program has the full-time equivalent of 35 students. There are three full-time faculty, one full-time office assistant and one and one-half custodians.

Sources close to the college say programs at the college have been suspended before, only to come back stronger. No time limit was placed on this suspension, however. The suspension means that at least two teacher contract positions will be terminated, and no new students will be accepted.

Officials have been assuring students already enrolled in the program that they will be able to complete their training. Jeff Thomas, dean of academic affairs, said he had visited with FAA officials Wednesday morning and had been assured that there won't be any problem with FAA tests being administered to the students.

Even as officials began working out the details of the suspension and on contracts and arrangements to assure students that they will be able to complete their education and take tests, they were accepting corporate recruiters looking for mechanics.

Industry reports indicate a strong demand for mechanics. In the past six months, the NCTC aviation maintenance and technology program has been contacted by more than 40 companies interested in recruiting students.

Bovine TB found in another herd

The Minnesota Board of Animal Health announced Thursday that a heifer from a farm in Beltrami County tested positive for bovine tuberculosis. Minnesota has now detected bovine TB in eight beef herds in Roseau and Beltrami counties.

The Beltrami County beef cattle herd was quarantined last year after the TB investigation revealed the owner had purchased animals from a TB-infected farm. A whole-herd test was conducted and at that time, all animals tested negative. During the second, follow-up herd test conducted this fall, two animals tested suspect for bovine TB. Tissue samples were submitted to the National Veterinary Services Laboratory in Ames, Iowa, and a diagnosis of bovine TB was confirmed in a 12-month-old beef heifer on Tuesday. The second animal had a negative test.

The United States Department of Agriculture is coordinating the details of indemnification and depopulation. State and federal officials have already begun tracking the movement of animals into and out of this operation.

Dr. Bill Hartmann, BAH executive director and state veterinarian, said the new finding may be

TRF job description discussion gets testy

TRF committee recommends change to city administrator's job description

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

An undercurrent of tension permeated the Thief River Falls Committee of the Whole meeting Tuesday. At that time, the committee heard about a recommendation to change the city administrator's job description and an affiliated portion of the city code. If the proposal were approved, city division leaders would report to the city administrator. In addition, the city administrator would be responsible for the day-to-day operations of the city. The proposal also led to a discussion about the Committee of the Whole structure.

The Committee of the Whole took no action on the recommendation. City Council is scheduled to meet Tuesday, Nov. 6 at 5 p.m. at City Hall.

In August, the Committee of the Whole created an ad hoc committee to research the pros and cons of changing the job description. The ad hoc committee was created after employees in the Management, Administrative, Professional and Supervisory union asked that Point 1 of the 19 Points for Discussion be placed on an agenda for the Committee of the Whole. Point 1 said, "Division directors report to the city administrator." Thief River Falls City Council members created the 19 Points for Discussion.

On Oct. 16, the ad hoc committee decided to recommend that the council change the job description and related portions in the city code. That recommendation led to a lengthy discussion at the Committee of the Whole meeting Tuesday.

"If we're going to throw everything into one person's hands, why do we have wards?" asked council member Floyd Erickson. He indicated that the council was obligated to take care of the day-to-day operations of the city and was elected to be the voice of the taxpayers.

Erickson added, "I feel the department heads were hired to do their jobs."

The council sees a little piece of the day-to-day operations of the city, said council member Glen Kajewski, who noted department leaders see more of the day-to-day operations of the city than council members.

"For me, I don't see that there's a reason to change unless there's something broken," said Erickson, who noted that nothing was broken in reference to a change in the city administrator's job description.

Mayor Steve "Beaver" Nordhagen said that the council would be a policy board if the change took effect.

Erickson, who indicated he has been in office for 10 months, said there was nothing wrong with being a policy board. At the same time, he

Area altar on display at Minn. History Center

A church altar constructed in Marshall County is now on display at the Minnesota History Center in St. Paul. The altar is part of an exhibit celebrating 150 years of Minnesota's statehood. Minnesota will celebrate its sesquicentennial on May 11, 2008.

In 1930, John Franzman Sr. created the altar for the Bethel Evangelical Lutheran Church in Grygla. The Bethel altar was replaced in 1938 with a more elaborate altar, and the altar on display in the MN150 exhibit was sold to First Lutheran Church in Goodridge. The altar was later used in Faith Lutheran Church in Goodridge. This summer, Faith Lutheran Church returned the altar to the Franzman family. The family then donated it to the Minnesota Historical Society.

The altar was the first of at least four church altars that Franzman would construct for churches in the Grygla and Goodridge areas. Two of the altars are still in use, and another altar is on display at Settler's Square in Warren. He also constructed pulpits, baptismal fonts and kneeling rails for three of the four churches. All of the items were constructed between 1930 and 1938.

Franzman was born in 1866 in Lemberg, Austria (now known as Lvov, Ukraine). Franzman, who was orphaned at a young age, "had a keen interest in woodcarving and wood-related activities," according to an article in the Nov. 22, [illegible] edition of the Warren Sheaf. The [illegible] year old was "apprenticed to a carpenter shop with a cabinetmaker. Many years later, he married Katrina. They eventually moved to Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada where Franzman worked as a [illegible] gardener since there were no jobs for cabinetmakers. They later lived in Crystal, N.D., where he worked as a farmer even though he had never been on a farm before that time. In 1897, they homesteaded land in Espelie Township, Marshall County. Franzman continued working as a farmer. The couple raised five children - three daughters and two sons.

In 1930, Bethel Lutheran Church was constructed, and Franzman offered to build the altar. "He converted a chicken coop into a

Pennington County Board extends nursing home lease

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The Pennington County Board of Commissioners verbally agreed to grant an extension to the county's lease of Oakland Park Nursing Home to Jim and Kathy Bircheim of Little Falls during Tuesday's County Board Meeting. The Bircheims have been leasing the nursing home and its land since March.

The Bircheims' lease was to expire Dec. 28, at which time the Bircheim's purchase of Oakland Park Nursing Home for $2 million would be finalized. According to an e-mail received Oct. 20 by Pennington County Attorney Alan Rogalla, the Bircheims were asking for the extension because they have not received financing for the purchase, renovation and new construction at Oakland Park.

The sale of Oakland Park Nursing Home was finalized during the Feb. 13 County Board meeting. A 10-month, $120,000 lease ($12,000 per month with an additional $1,000 going toward the purchase amount of $2 million) was also approved during that meeting.

The e-mail sent to Rogalla was read into record by Rogalla during the meeting. Written by Jim Bircheim, it states that the Bircheims [illegible] they could possibly make the Dec. 28 [illegible] just the purchase of the home, but the HUD (Housing and Urban Development) financing all in one package with renovation and construction would be the best for the Bircheims. He went on to ask if the County Board would consider extending the lease agreement six to nine months to allow time for the Bircheims to complete their plans and financing.

Ken Olson, Pennington County auditor, told commissioners that the Bircheims are up to date with all of their lease payments. He later added that any lease payments made during the extension would not count toward the $2 million purchase total.

Commissioner Bob Carlson asked what would happen if the board refused to grant an extension. "Isn't the contract binding?" he asked.

Rogalla responded that it is binding and reminded commissioners that the Bircheims feel they could make the Dec. 28 deadline for the purchase of the existing building.

Commissioner Charles Naplin said that he feels it is in the best interest of the county to approve an extension to make it easier for the Bircheims.

The Bircheims' request comes as they await HUD financing. Extending the lease to allow additional time would allow the county

Sherry LaCoursiere

I was telling someone about the Black River Lutheran Church cookbook the other day. The "collection of favorite recipes form the past" was published in 2006 as the church celebrated its 125th anniversary. Today's recipes are from that cookbook.

It'will soon be time for the venison to start coming in and here is an interesting recipe for a casserole that sounds like it would be a winner. Give it a try. I'm going to - where is my pounding tool though:

VENISON STEAK CASSEROLE
Ginny Kruse

2 pounds round venison steak
1/4 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 clove crushed garlic
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon oregano
3 medium potatoes, sliced
Carrots, sliced
Salt and pepper to taste
3 cups beef bouillon

Pound the round steak with mixture of flour, pepper, garlic, salt and oregano. Slice meat and brown. Place half of the meat, potatoes, carrots, salt and pepper in layers in casserole, and then repeat. Top with bouillon.

Bake at 350 degrees, covered, for 1 hour, then uncovered for 1/2 hour.

I think this salad would be very good with that venison dish, and you can make it the day before your dinner:

BEAN SALAD
Mrs. Oscar Mosbeck

1 can kidney beans, drained
1 can wax beans, drained
1/2 cup diced onion
1 can green beans, drained
1/2 cup diced green peppers
1 cup diced celery
2/3 cup cider vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup sugar
1/3 cup salad oil
1 teaspoon pepper

Mix all ingredients together lightly and refrigerate overnight.

If you aren't too fond of beans, this salad would be delicious with the casserole - make it ahead too:

COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD
Karen Van de Streek

1 package lime gelatin
1/3 cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cream, whipped
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
1 small carton cottage cheese
Walnuts and cherries, as desired

Mix gelatin, sugar and boiling water well, and chill until partly set.

Add crushed pineapple and cottage cheese and then mix gently with whipped cream. Add cherries and/or walnuts, if desired. (I would desire!) Chill well.

It's fall and time to make something using apples. These bars would be perfect for dessert for our fall meal:

APPLE BROWNIES
Mrs. Wilber Rhode

Brownies:
1/2 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
2 beaten eggs
2 cups flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup walnuts
4 cups finely chopped apples
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon nutmeg

Butter Sauce for Brownies
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup white sugar
Vanilla
1/4 cup cream
1/4 cup brown sugar

To make brownies, cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs, then flour, salt, soda and nutmeg. Blend in apples and nuts. Bake 35 to 40 minutes at 350 degrees.

Make butter sauce by combining all ingredients in saucepan. Bring to a boil and serve over brownies. (I would boil the sauce for at least a minute and then pour over the brownies in the pan. Perhaps Mrs. Rhode intends that the sauce be served over the brownie on the serving plate. Either way sounds good. If you know how to serve the sauce, let me know. Thanks, SL)

FMS orchestras to present concert Monday

The Franklin Middle School orchestras will present their Fall Orchestra Concert on Monday, Oct. 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln High School auditorium. Admission is $2, with proceeds going to support the orchestra program in Thief River Falls.

The FMS Sixth Grade Orchestra will start off the program by playing "Gargoyles," a song by Mark Spata, which features spiccato. Spiccato is a technique, which could be described as bouncing the bow. Orchestra members will also play "Joust" by Richard Meyer. "Joust" has medieval harmonies and a fast middle section to represent the ancient sport taking place as if you were there.

The FMS Eighth Grade Orchestra will play "Dia de los Muertos," a song written by Richard Meyer, to celebrate the "Day of the Dead" festival usually held in Mexico during this time of year. The orchestra will then combine with the FMS Seventh Grade Orchestra to play "Oxford Overture" by Elliot Del Borgo, and "Curse of the Rosin-Eating Zombies" by Richard Meyer. The "Curse" was written as a parody to the old science fiction "B" movies of the past, and features glissandos, screams and the sounds of zombies eating rosin.

Orchestra members include: Seventh and Eighth Orchestra – first violin: Alisha Mosloff, Marissa Lehrer, Evelyn Jesme, Michael Lam, Michael Hodny, Ashley Borchardt, Brenna Skallet, Crystal Amundson and McKayla Schindler; second violin: Tristan Fonfulik, Nathan Lindgren, David Szeto, Holden Nelson, Leandra Craigmile, Danae Karow, Sam Olson, Evan Northup and Brayden Drevlow; bass: Brett Drevlow; viola: Blake Widing, Glen Thaemke and Isabella Stromberg; and cello: Brienna Drevlow and Michael Hodny.

Sixth Grade Orchestra – first violin: Kyle Possai, Alex Finseth and Hunter Haubrich; second violin: Eric Molskness, Alexandra Dieken and Abby Thorpe; cello: Evan Beeson, Isaac Dvergsten and Garrett Byron; and viola: Rachel Schaeneeker.

Hamlin graduates from basic training

Army National Guard Pvt. Cassandra L. Hamlin has graduated from basic combat training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

During the nine weeks of training, the soldier studied the Army mission, history, tradition and core values, physical fitness, and received instruction and practice in basic combat skills, military weapons, chemical warfare and bayonet training, drill and ceremony, marching, rifle marksmanship, armed and unarmed combat, map reading, field tactics, military courtesy, military justice system, basic first aid, foot marches, and field training exercises.

She is the daughter of Susan Magnuson, and granddaughter of Betty Johnson, both of Warroad. Hamlin is a student at Warroad High School.

Logan Swanson, 10-year-old son of Jim and Karla Swanson of Thief River Falls, raced in the Branson USA National Motocross Oct. 11-14. Swanson made it to the finals in three separate classes.

Swanson competes in National Motocross event in Branson

Logan Swanson, 10, Thief River Falls, raced in the Branson USA National Motocross event in Missouri from Oct. 11-14, for the third straight year. Despite numerous obstacles and mishaps throughout the qualifying races, Swanson made it to the finals in three separate classes.

This year, there were over 1,600 entries, and only the top 28 riders in each of the 43 classes qualified for the finals. The final events for Logan proved to be quite a challenge, racing against the fastest riders in the nation. Despite running in the top 10 throughout much of each race, minor mishaps resulted in final finishes outside the coveted top 10 positions. According to Logan, the experience was, "Awesome," and he looks forward to returning again next year.

This national level race concluded the 2007 racing season in which Logan competed in 77 races throughout Minnesota and North Dakota, 66 of which resulted in top five finishes. Logan had 51 podium finishes this year, with 12 wins, 26-second, and 13-third place finishes. In the DMC Motorsports circuit, he ended the season with second place in overall points in both the 65cc age 10-11 class and the 85cc age 7-11 class. In the North Dakota motocross circuit, he ended the season with third place overall in points in both the 65cc age 10-11 class and the 85cc age 7-11 class (Logan wasn't able to make it to 100 percent of the races, which were all counted towards year-end points).

Logan Swanson's complete racing profile can be viewed at http://sponsorhouse.loopd.com/members/logans/Default.aspx

Swanson was sponsored this year by the national companies of Monster Energy Drink, Bridgestone, Scott Goggles, MotorEx Oil, Renthal, Made2Race gear, Rinken Mods, Powerband Racing Suspensions, Rims Plus and SixSixOne gear. Logan was also sponsored by Revolutions Power Sports out of Grand Forks, N.D., being their designated youth Kawasaki Team Green rider. Local (and very appreciated) sponsors include Genereux Realty, Budget Electronics, Pennington Stores, Paint and Glass Interiors, Big John's Muffler and Sales, Leisureland RV and Swanson Flooring Installation.

Logan is the son of Jim and Karla Swanson of Thief River Falls, and is in the fifth grade at Challenger Elementary School.

Lost Bay Habitat Drive closes Oct. 31

The Lost Bay Habitat Drive and Maakstad Hiking Trail at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge will close Wednesday, Oct. 31 and will remain closed until spring 2008. Visitors may continue to observe wildlife during the winter months along Marshall County Road 7 (290th Street Northeast), which bisects the southern portion of the refuge, and along other roads bordering the refuge.

Some resident wildlife species that can be observed, heard, or signs of their presence during the winter months are mouse; deer; otter; fisher; gray wolves; common ravens; black-billed magpies; downy, hairy and pileated woodpeckers; white-breasted nuthatches; ruffed grouse and several other species of birds and mammals, which remain active during the winter months.

Refuge staff hopes that the public was able to observe and hear some wildlife species in the various natural habitats along Lost Bay Habitat Drive and Maakstad Hiking Trail.

To find out what bird species have been seen weekly in northwest Minnesota, listen to the weekly Northwest Minnesota Birding Report by calling the Detroit Lakes Regional Chamber of Commerce at 1-800-433-1888. If you have observed birds that you would like to report for the week, call the Detroit Lakes Chamber of Commerce at 1-800-542-3992 by Thursday afternoons. Include the county where the birds were observed, and your name and phone number in case you need to be called about the sighting.

Grant Nelson

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

(This is part one of a Halloween farce; please enjoy and don't panic, because it's all fiction. I don't want to start an incident like the "War of the Worlds" radio broadcast did in 1938. Also, no rota beeter drivers were harmed in this production.)

Sugar beet farmers in the Red River Valley planned for an anxious harvest. They feared the loss of profits this year when they were forced to leave 10 percent of their crop in the field due to an anticipated large harvest. Hindsight shows they should have been satisfied with that fear, because there was something far worse in the sky than out in those fertile fields.

Sugar beet harvest is an intense period of long hours, which often border on boredom and fatigue. Most participants in this yearly ritual have come to accept the toll it takes on mind and body. Funny stories exist of truck drivers and harvest operators' sleep-deprived hallucinations and their reactions to hallucinogenic images of deer or even people suddenly appearing in their headlights. It would be the sort of delirium that would seem like a fond memory after the real-life nightmare about to unfold.

It started out quite simply when someone broadcast an unusual transmission on the citizens band radios that most vehicles carry during the harvest. Someone reported lights in the sky near Warren. Our reporter was even able to hear panic in her voice (yes, women even drive sugar beet trucks). Most harvesters thought it was a joke and laughed it off. Tall tales have long been spun between truck drivers and the men in the field as a way to pass time. It really wasn't a surprise that lights in the sky would join the tapestry of baloney broadcast on the public airwaves.

Ryan Swanson slept in the cab of his tractor. Ryan operated the rota beeter, which is used to defoliate sugar beets prior to harvest. He was well ahead of the harvester and so Ryan slept. We can guess that Ryan heard the transmission about lights in the sky; and it's also safe to assume he laughed, then went back to sleep. Ryan was quick with a laugh and had a friendly, open manner. Even at 3 a.m., he probably met whatever walked up to his tractor with a smile. Ryan probably thought the creature even needed a little help.

Grant Nelson started driving sugar beet truck nearly 50 pounds and 16 years ago. He used to talk a lot on the radio, but now mostly just listens. Grant believes in Unidentified Flying Objects, or rather, he believes sighting of a U.F.O. qualifies you as an idiot (Gosh, he's honest). Grant heard the citizens band radio transmission about the lights and was torn between longing for a time prior to women truck drivers and looking to the sky for the alleged light. He thought that if only everyone who saw a U.F.O. would actually report it, then all of them could be rounded up and put into an "idiot sanitarium."

Ryan was one of the younger guys on the harvest crew for R and R Farms, which is located just southwest of Warren. As one of the youngest, he bore the brunt of practical jokes that bordered on the sadistic. Grant recalls that during the early harvest of 2004, Grant woke Ryan from a deep sleep at the door of his tractor bright and early at 2:30 a.m. This wouldn't have been so shocking, except Grant had been wearing a Monica Lewinsky mask with 70s-style disco glasses. Swanson awoke, screamed, and ran from the relative safety of the tractor into the dark, where it was easier for "Monica" in disco glasses to continue the pursuit. So, Ryan was used to late night visits to his tractor and that, along with the fact he was sleeping behind the wheel of the tractor, may have been why the light from the sky sought him out also.

Joe Pierce and Mike Rosendahl were the prodigals. They left home a few years back, blazed their way through college, found jobs, then came back just in time to become the third generation of R and R Farms. When Mike was younger, he had become caught in a sticky trap placed in a truck, panicked and almost lost a limb in his efforts to gain release from the trap. Grant had mostly saved Mike from himself, although Mike would always need a special left shoe from that day on. Joey had grown up at harvest without loss, but had gained a strange sense of humor, as evidenced by his placement of Domino's Pizza delivery signs on cars that sat parked in the field at night during harvest. This particular evening, Joe thought it would be funny to place a Domino's sign on Swanson's tractor while he slept. Joe was standing on the roof of the monster tractor when he looked down and noticed something different about Ryan - he wasn't sleeping, and he wasn't Ryan, either.

The second transmission Grant heard on the radio that night wasn't as amusing as the first. Joe Pierce sounded shaken. He said something was wrong with Ryan Swanson and he needed help.

Grant had gone to school to be a first responder, but that knowledge had been crowded out as he acquired a near-encyclopedic knowledge of microbrew beer (mostly pilsners and ales). Nelson hoped that if Ryan was hurt, he would be able to help.

The radio crackled again that Joey needed some help with Ryan. Truckers mashed down accelerators and tractor drivers pulled up their implements and headed for the tractor and rota beeter in the south corner of the field near the Farley Town Hall southwest of Warren.

That woman truck driver on the radio earlier that night was correct: it was a light from the sky. It wasn't a U.F.O.; however, it was a diversion. That light diverted attention from a base of operations, which was just west of Argyle. The aliens, who created that bright light, had monitored the Earth for years. They had seen France and its people defeated and even evicted from their own country many times, so Argyle seemed a likely candidate for attack. (They apparently had never played them in football, so an Argyle abduction had been planned).

Unfortunately for the aliens, a recent immigrant, Darrel Nelson, was at work in a field near Argyle that night. Darrel was Norwegian, Swede and half Bohemian, and had never been evicted from his country. The first abduction attempt during the sugar beet harvest of 2006 was of an ancestral mutt who didn't want to leave. Darrel owned a repair shop and had been called out in the night to fix a harvester, but he left the correct wrench back at the shop. He did have what he referred to as his "good hammer" with him. Yeah, the first alien abduction of the 2006 sugar beet harvest was foiled not by cold germs, nuclear weapons or technology. It was foiled by a mechanic and his "good hammer."

Erskine man indicted for robbing credit union

A Erskine man was indicted Oct. 16 by a federal grand jury with one count of armed bank robbery in connection with the holdup of a Moorhead credit union.

According to court documents, David Joseph Dornbach, 46, used a knife to take $7,689 from the Affinity Plus Credit Union on Aug. 20. He entered the bank and told a bank employee that he was interested in opening an account. During a conversation, Dornbach allegedly reached over the employee's desk while holding a knife and demanded money.

The employee gave Dornbach the cash, and he fled. He was arrested later that day in a hotel room in Fargo, N.D.

If convicted, Dornbach faces a potential maximum penalty of 25 years in prison. All sentences are determined by a federal district court judge. This case is the result of an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Moorhead Police Department.

The Green Thumb Garden Club of Warroad had the most new members in 2007. It was honored Oct. 6 during the 13th District Horticultural Society's "Home for the Harvest" event. Gardeners gather in Roseau "Home for the Harvest" was the theme of the day as gardeners gathered Oct. 6 in Roseau.

Pam Bettin, a master gardener from Thief River Falls, was the first speaker. She demonstrated how to make a sandcast birdbath using large leaves. Stepping stones can be made the same way. Bettin showed the actual construction process and gave various ideas for painting or finishing the cement work.

David W. Nelson, a former Warroad resident, was the afternoon speaker. Nelson is an independent Bio-Ag consultant from Doran. He spoke on soil, start to finish. Soil fertility is based on the base saturation, the soil pH, adding for deficiencies, adjusting for excesses and the long-term health of the soil. Weeds can be an indicator of what is out of balance in the soil. As a mineral, calcium is just as important in the soil as nitrogen, phosphorous and potash, which is normally sold in fertilizers. Calcium and magnesium are needed to help control the tightness in the soil. A crop of thistles may indicate a calcium shortage or a calcium and sulfur shortage. Weeds also take off with potassium. It is important to try to achieve a balance in the soil and to maintain microbial life. Sulfur is needed by plants to make proteins. Copper helps fight fungal diseases. Zinc helps to regulate the moisture in the soil. To help control aphids, spray one pound of sugar for 5,000 square feet or one gallon of blackstrap molasses. Nelson got the gardeners thinking about their soils and looking at their plans to see the indicators of minerals that are out of balance. Soil also should have 30 earthworms and 5 percent of humus per square foot.

Sherry Johnson of Roseau had displays on garden art. Jeans of Perham had garden accessories, and Bettin had a display of various sandcast leaves and birdbaths.

The annual meeting of the 13th District Horticultural Society was held. Sue Fugleberg, president of the NaChur Garden Club, welcomed everyone. A moment of silence was observed in memory of Elmer Rooker of the Viking Town and County Garden Club. Lori Peppel, treasurer, explained and handed out the new membership lists. It was suggested that the group add any other lilies to the horticultural show. The North Star Garden Club of Baudette is temporarily disbanding. The 2008 horticulture show will be hosted by the NaChur and Northern Bloomers garden clubs of Roseau.

The spring workshop will be hosted by the Gro-Rite Garden Club of Badger, and the fall workshop will be hosted by the Moccasin Garden Club of Thief River Falls. An award was given to the garden club that got the most new members in 2007. With eight new members, Green Thumb Garden Club of Warroad received the award.

The election of officers was held. Elected to two-year terms were: treasurer – Donna Kompelien of Roseau and the NaChur Garden Club, and president – Beattie Mickelson of Goodridge and the Moccasin Garden Club. Other district officers who have one more year left of their terms are vice president – Rita Soine of Thief River Falls and the Nature Belles Garden Club, and secretary – Sunny Wilmer of Warroad and the Green Thumb Garden Club.

Garden club members shared various youth project ideas they have done in their areas. The day also included a country store of items donated by garden club members, door prizes, noon lunch and afternoon tea served by the host club, NaChur Garden Club of Roseau.

Minnesota Health Department reports human rabies death

Minnesota's second case of human rabies in seven years has prompted state health officials to remind Minnesota residents to seek immediate medical attention if they have had contact with a bat. A man in his 40s who was exposed to a bat in north-central Minnesota in mid-August died Saturday, Oct. 20, the Minnesota Department of Health reported Oct. 23.

MDH officials believe the man was infected with the rabies virus after being bitten by a bat sometime in mid-August, although he reportedly felt a "needle-prick," he didn't believe he was bitten because no blood was drawn. He did not seek medical care immediately following the incident.

The diagnosis of rabies was confirmed Thursday, Oct. 18, based on testing done by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta.

MDH is working with several health care facilities, where the man was given care, to evaluate whether any health care workers may have been exposed to his saliva and whether they need prophylaxis to prevent rabies infection.

Rabies in humans is rare in the U.S., with only one to three cases reported each year. The CDC confirmed three human cases in 2006.

Only four other cases have been reported in Minnesota during the past century. Previous cases occurred in 1917, 1964, 1975 and 2000; all were fatal.

"Two deaths in seven years is too many," said Ruth Lynfield, state epidemiologist and medical director for infectious disease at MDH. "What is most saddening about these deaths is that they could have been prevented with prompt medical attention following exposure."

The number of rabies-related human deaths in the U.S. has declined from more than 100 annually in the early 1900s to one to three per year more recently. Modern day prophylaxis has proven nearly 100 percent effective at preventing the disease. However, treatment must be started before symptoms of rabies appear; once a person develops symptoms, the illness is almost always fatal.

This most recent Minnesota case underscores the importance of seeking prompt medical attention if you are bitten by or may have been exposed to an animal that could be infected with rabies, according to MDH officials.

Bat exposures pose a special problem because bat bites are difficult to see and may not be noticed. If you have any physical contact with a bat, the bat should be captured and tested for rabies and medical advice should be sought. Additionally, if a bat is found in a room with an unattended child, a sleeping person or anyone who cannot reliably communicate what happened, the bat should be captured and tested for rabies. Most recent cases of rabies in humans in the U.S. have been due to bat bites that were not recognized or reported.

People who may have been exposed to the rabies virus are given an injection of rabies immune globulin, and five doses of rabies vaccine, given over a one-month period. Treatment is unnecessary if the suspect animal can be captured, tested and found to be free of the virus. In the case of dogs, cats or ferrets, treatment can often be avoided if the animal is held for observation and remains healthy for 10 days following the bite.

Dr. Joni Scheftel, state public health veterinarian, also reminds people that they should get their household pets immunized against rabies. Rabies shots are available for dogs, cats and ferrets.

People with concerns about possible exposure to rabies, or questions about the disease, can call MDH at (651) 201-5414.

Don't let Halloween become a tragic nightmare; be safe

The scariest trick of all is real. Don't let Halloween become u tragic nightmare; follow safety tips und common sense.

Halloween falls on a school day this year. That might reduce the number of children on city streets, but during this exciting children's holiday, children will be going from neighbor to neighbor, and probably not paying much attention to what's going on around them. Motorists need to be cautious, especially on Halloween.

Safety experts ulso ask that trick-or-treaters be accompanied by an adult or travel in a group. And, children should be told not to eat any unwrapped cundy or treats until they return home where their parents cun see them.

Parents and children cun also help by remembering to be cautious, cross streets at corners and crosswalks, and wear clothing that motorists can see and that children can see through.

Homeowners can help by making sure that sidewalks or walking lanes ure clear of obstructions.

Numerous local and area organizations sponsor safe events for Halloween. If civic and community organizations support u Halloween party for children in your community, please consider sending your child to the event.

We recognize the Importance of manufacturers

Manufacturers in northwest Minnesota were recognized and honored during a luncheon at Digi-Key in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, Oct. 24.

Of all the interesting information about the impact of manufacturing in Minnesota that was shared at the meeting, the most interesting was the fact that in northwest Minnesota, 26 percent of all jobs are in manufacturing. That's compared to only 14 percent statewide.

I had never thought of northwest Minnesota as a manufacturing capital. Thousands of residents, of course, are employed by manufacturers in northwest Minnesota. We all recognize that, but do we ever really stop to think about how many manufacturers there are or the impact they have on our economy?

Employment in manufacturing increased in Minnesota by 3 percent between 2000 and 2006, while in the rest of the state it dropped by 13 percent. That's a huge difference and it means that finding manufacturing jobs, which typically offer higher paying jobs, are better here than in many other parts of the state. Manufacturing has the largest payroll of any business sector in Minnesota - 17.9 percent of the overall wages paid are in the manufacturing industry.

Rep. Dave Olin wondered why manufacturing is such a big part of our economy in northwest Minnesota. Olin said he thinks that a lot of it has to do with the creative thinkers that live in this district - creative thinkers who took an idea from paper to production.

Manufacturing is very important to the future of Minnesota and northwest Minnesota. We need to continue to nourish inquisitive minds, and to continue to provide opportunities for entrepreneurs. Minnesota Commissioner of the Department of Energy and Economic Development, Dan McElroy, encouraged residents and individuals with a passion for the industry to share their enthusiasm for manufacturing with children. Let them know that it's fun and rewarding. Their future and our future are tied together.

This week, we recognize the value and importance of manufacturing, the role it plays in our economy, and the future opportunities it provides.

To the Editor,

Regarding Marshall County health insurance, I am not a county employee, but I feel for the county employees who no longer have health insurance. It is my understanding that the county employees who were receiving health insurance will now be paid an estimated $900 per month for a family plan after they show proof that they have health insurance elsewhere. It is also my understanding that those who were not carried under the county's health insurance will be given the same dollar amount.

Were the employees who did not have health insurance through the county, receiving the same dollar amount that the county was paying for the insured employees? They weren't, so why should they get that money now? From what I have heard, it is $7,200 to $10,800 per year. Wow! Sign me up!

Previously, we were shown that with this decision the county will save approximately $36,000, and that as a taxpayer, I should feel grateful that we have someone looking out for our best interests, but I do not feel that way at all. We all live in small communities and know virtually everyone. If someone gets hurt or is hospitalized, we all feel the pain that the family is feeling.

I have health insurance through my employer and I pay a low monthly premium. It was my choice when I became employed to take this insurance. It was also my choice at my last place of employment, where I paid a much larger monthly premium. I was looking out for my family and wasn't expecting to get a pay raise if I chose not to accept health insurance.

If I were a county employee and I knowingly received a pay raise because my spouse carried the health insurance, or if I felt I did not need health insurance, I would walk pretty sheepishly around my community. You can't compensate people who knowingly made the decision to get their health insurance somewhere else. It is not morally or ethically right.

I have also heard that the money will be put in a "flex plan." The name "flex plan" has been changed by the IRS to "Cafeteria Plan" and it cannot be used for long term health insurance. In most instances, it has a yearly cap that usually does not exceed $5,000 and has to be used for medical reasons only. Thus, participants and employers are able to take advantage of pre-tax dollars.

I feel that whomever proposed the idea to stop the county health insurance, should step back and put themselves in the shoes of a family that does not have a lot of money and one that will struggle just to make the monthly premium for their health insurance when the premium goes up. Will the county employees who need health insurance be compensated for the increases every year? And if so, will the employees who do not need health insurance be given that same increase? It seems to me that we are robbing Peter to pay Paul, and as I recall, that didn't turn out very well.

If the county employs a little over 100 people and about 30 percent of those employees had health insurance through their spouses, we are paying approximately $324,000 per year to those employees because they made the "choice" to get coverage through a spouse or to not get coverage at all. So now, we are telling those employees, "Good job! Here's your raise for having your spouse carry your health insurance," or "Good job" for thinking you don't need health insurance. I have no doubt that all of the county employees work hard and are deserving of a pay increase, but because one family needs insurance through the county, does that mean that family is not deserving of a pay increase?

This cannot be a long-term solution, so I am anxious to hear what the county has planned for the future. One thing is for sure. Car sales are going to go up in the area and doctor visits will be going down. Families are not going to go to the doctor because they will be paying "out of pocket" if their children, husband or wife had an existing condition. Because now, these families have riders on their new health plans that exclude pre-existing conditions.

Is this what we want in our county? Do we want to see some families struggle while those that are employed at the same place are buying a new vehicle or bragging about their raise? This pay raise was not based on whether or not an employee had a master's degree or had been employed by the county for 20 to 30 years or showed that he or she has an extremely hard work ethic. From my experience, these are usually the deciding factors when an employee receives a raise other than the cost of living. If we weren't paying the non-insured employees before, why are we paying them now?

I wrote this based on what I have read and heard. These are my personal thoughts and views.

Sincerely
Shelly Helm-Guzek

Flex fuel outlet not available in Pennington County

To the Editor:

With an ever increasing number of vehicles being able to use flex fuels (E-85), it seems strange that in an area which depends heavily upon agriculture, and the agriculture economy, that there is no filling station outlet that offers that product. Having recently purchased a flex fuel car, and my son, more recently, purchasing a pickup that also can use E-85, I searched the Internet and found that Minnesota led the nation with over 300 filling stations where a person can make that purchase. The Web site indicated there was one outlet in Thief River Falls, however, my son found it no longer provides that service. Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Polk and Clearwater counties, and most surrounding counties, have at least one outlet where a person can buy E-85. Sadly, Red Lake County also showed no stations selling it. In the Twin Cities metro area, several counties use E-85 in their county fleet of vehicles.

According to the Web site, Cenex stations led the way in handling E-85, and other chains such as Super America and Holiday as well. As I work in East Grand Forks, I purchase my E-85 for 2.099 there, with that station's cheapest grade of regular gas selling for 2.799. That's quite a difference. I was told by the car dealership that E-85 may result in a decrease of gas mileage. I put on many miles for my job and find very little difference, where I may notice some change is a slight decrease in power, when I need to accelerate rapidly ... but that is very slight.

I do not use E-85 exclusively but probably every third fill. The $0.70 difference per gallon these days definitely is worth it. Support agriculture, demand E-85 from your outlet.

Agassiz NWR opens for firearm deer hunting Nov. 3

The 2007 deer hunting firearm season at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge will be held Nov. 3-11 in accordance with Minnesota Department of Natural Resources regulations and federal regulations.

Antlerless Area 203 (Zone 2), consists of Agassiz NWR, and the Elm Lake, Eckvoll and Mud Lac wildlife management areas. This is the second consecutive year that Area 203 is a lottery deer permit area. This area is open for bucks only unless a hunter received a lottery either-sex permit through the state application process. This lottery permit authorizes a hunter to shoot any sex and age of deer. Due to a change in the regulations, All-Season Deer License purchasers hunting in a lottery area have to hunt bucks only unless they applied for and received an either-sex permit. Whether they were successful or not successful in the drawing, All-Season Deer License purchasers can only shoot one deer in a lottery area. In 2006, All Season Deer License purchasers could shoot two deer in a lottery area. In 2007, there were 138 applicants for the 50 either-sex permits in Area 203.

The change to a lottery permit in Area 203 in 2006 and 2007 reflects the decreasing deer population estimates and decrease in harvest over the past three years. The February winter deer survey estimated 1,250 deer for Area 203 or 11.5 deer per square mile, the same as in 2006. This is below the refuge's management objective level of 15 to 20 deer per square mile during the winter count. The 2006 and 2007 estimates are down from the 2005 estimate of 1,600 deer and the 2004 estimate of 1,900. Even though the winter deer population has remained stable the past two years, this is the third consecutive year the deer harvest has decreased in Area 203 in spite of mild winters which usually keep deer numbers at fairly high levels. With an estimated 450 fawns produced in 2007 added onto the winter deer population, the 2007 pre-hunt or fall population is estimated to be 1,700 or 15.7 deer per square mile.

Agassiz NWR is open to pre-season scouting Friday, Nov. 2, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. with gates closing at 3:30 p.m. Hunters are reminded that construction of, or hunting from, permanently constructed tree stands is illegal. Portable stands are legal and can be placed at any height but cannot be put up and left overnight to preempt a hunting area.

During the hunting season, the refuge is open to hunters at 5:30 a.m. and closes as soon as possible after legal shooting hours. As in the past, gates will be opened for some refuge roads at 5:30 a.m. for hunter access. All other refuge roads, trails and dikes will be restricted to foot traffic, bicycles and non-motorized carrying devices for transporting hunters and deer. Wheeled non-motorized game retrieval carts are NOT authorized in the Wilderness Area. Non-motorized watercraft may be used on ditches and pools. The use of snowmobiles; three-, four- and six-wheelers; trail bikes; and other off-road motorized vehicles is prohibited on the refuge.

The entire refuge will be open to deer hunting, except for two closed areas around Headquarters and Maintenance Center. These areas are posted with "Closed Area" signs and are clearly marked on refuge hunting leaflets. Entrance into these areas is not permitted. If a wounded deer travels into a closed area, refuge personnel or a conservation officer must be contacted before the deer can be pursued.

The average deer harvest for the past 10 years is 110. Last year, a total of 108 deer were harvested during the regular firearm season in Area 203 listed as follows: 70 bucks, 24 does and 14 fawns. Deer harvest in 2005 was 163. Deer taken in Permit Area 203 must be registered in Zone 2. There is no check station at Refuge Headquarters.

This year, walking conditions should be about the same as 2006 as the annual rainfall has resulted in lower water levels and many dry impoundments and ditches. During a normal year, most ditches have five inches to eight inches of water. Check ice conditions before attempting to cross any water areas.

Hunter safety is always of special concern. Be sure your target is a deer and that there are no hunters in the line of fire. The potential for hypothermia and heart attack also exists. First aid rescue equipment is on hand at Refuge Headquarters. Contact refuge personnel at Headquarters if assistance is needed. All hunting accidents on Agassiz NWR must be reported immediately at Headquarters.

Disabled hunters with a DNR permit may shoot from their stationary vehicles on open refuge roads or in parking areas as long as they are not shooting towards other hunters, vehicles or down the road. Any hunter permanently or temporarily physically challenged who wants to use the accessible deer hunting platform on the east side of the refuge, needs to contact refuge personnel prior to or during the deer season to reserve the platform.

Deer hunting regulation signs with a map of Antlerless Area 203 are placed at several locations on the refuge. Deer hunting brochures are also available at the office, the Headquarters kiosk and at the west and east kiosks along County Road 7. No camping is permitted on the refuge. However, adjacent state wildlife management areas offer free primitive camp sites in several locations and are marked with camping permitted signs.

Have a safe and enjoyable hunt. Any questions about deer hunting on the refuge can be answered by calling (218) 449-4115, extensions 203, 204 or 0, or stop in at the refuge office. Refuge staff would like to see and either take or receive a picture of any large or unusual deer shot on the refuge.

Logan and Vigstol earn degrees from Bemidji State

Daphne Logan of Middle River and Lori Vigstol of Red Lake Falls graduated from Bemidji State University at the conclusion of the 2007 Summer Sessions. Logan received a bachelor of fine arts degree, with honors, in creative and professional writing; while Vigstol received a bachelor of science degree in nursing degree.

Logan and Vigstol were among a group of 117 students who completed undergraduate degree requirements at BSU during the summer sessions.

NRCS announces EQIP ranking period

The Environmental Quality Incentives Program is a voluntary program that was reauthorized during the 2002 Farm Bill. The Natural Resources Conservation Service accepts applications for the EQIP program continuously throughout the year. Once a year, it collects all the applications that it has on file and ranks them environmentally based on the practices for which each producer is applying. All applications received prior to Nov. 30, 2007, will be ranked and considered for 2008 funding through EQIP.

The funding can be quite competitive. The program offers contracts with terms that range from one year after practice implementation to ten years. Contracts offer incentive payments and cost-share to reduce soil erosion, improve ground and surface water quality, and improve soil, plant and animal health. The program offers incentives on practices such as no till, mulch till, nutrient management, prescribed grazing, pest management, cover crop, conservation crop rotation, and many others. EQIP also offers payments on windbreak/shelterbelt establishment or renovation, fences, pipelines, tanks, pasture/hayland plantings, field borders, agricultural waste systems and many others.

EQIP can help people prepare for the future. To find out more about EQIP in Minnesota, call NRCS offices in Warren at (218) 745-4351, ext. 3; in Red Lake Falls at (218) 253-2181, ext. 3; or in Thief River Falls at (218) 681-6600. The program application doesn't bind applicants to a contract; it just shows NRCS that applicants are interested.

Oakhill Salers recognized for superior cows

Oakhill Salers of Red Lake Falls has been awarded the Golden Dam and Silver Dam awards from the American Salers Association.

One of its dams, Nels Alpha Oakette 130L, won the Golden Dam Award. One of its dams, Nels Dixie Oakette 716G, won the Silver Dam Award.

The ASA Golden Dam Program is different from other breed programs since the criteria to become a superior dam are more stringent. The ASA Golden and Silver Dam Program recognizes Salers breeders' top producing cows within a herd based on the number of calves weaned per cow exposed and on the weaning weight of calves, which defines efficiency. Cows can be recognized from herds in harsh environments with lower weaning weights to herds with excess nutritional resources and high weaning weights because the list is based on within herd performance.

The classifications to become a superior dam are more stringent than other breeds as each one of the dam's calves must have a ratio above average. To become a Golden Dam, cows must meet tough criteria in order to be selected. Golden Dams must be 75 percent Salers, have had a calf before they are 2.3 years of age, calve within a 395-day calving interval, and each of the dam's calves must have a had a weaning ratio greater than 105. These are the top quality, most efficient cows in a herd.

The Silver Dams recognized must meet the same criteria as the Golden Dams but are allowed to have weaned calves that have a weaning ratio greater than 100.

This year, 230 elite Salers dams were recognized on the ASA Superior Dam listing. The number of dams increases yearly, which shows the Salers breeder's commitment to producing good quality cattle.

carpenter's shop before he began. The work was time consuming, involving much intricate design. He drew his own designs. Special kinds of wood had to be ordered. All cutting, fitting, pressing and polishing had to be done with hand tools. Much inlay work was done. After people saw the beauty of the finished altar, he was asked to make others," the Sheaf article said. Eight years later, Franzman died of cancer at the age of 72.

Franzman's first church altar is one of many exhibits displayed to help tell the story about Minnesota since statehood began May 11, 1858. The MN150 Exhibit was created from more than 2,700 nominations. The church altar is part of an exhibit on Lutheranism.

The altar is currently on display at the Minnesota History Center, 345 Kellogg Blvd. W., St. Paul. Center hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday holidays, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesdays through Saturdays, and 12 to 5 p.m. Sundays. For more information, go to www.mnhs.org.

to collect an additional $72,000 for six months or $108,000 over nine months.

Commissioner Darryl Tveitbakk made a motion calling for a written six-month extension to the County's lease agreement with the Birchems. Naplin seconded the motion.

During discussion, Carlson again questioned the reasoning behind granting an extension.

Naplin again responded that it is in the best interest of both parties, the Birchems and the County, to allow this extension.

Backing Naplin's response, Commissioner Don Jensen said the Board could deny the extension. "We could call this thing in right now," Jensen said. "But then we run the risk of having our nursing home back."

Carlson then stated that he hoped that the county's reasoning for granting an extension would be clear in the local media. "I hope it's clear in The Times why we are granting this extension."

The motion was unanimously carried.

Thief River Falls 43-8 Section 8AAA football playoff winner over EGF...

Prowlers move on to semifinals

When General Douglas McCarther was forced from the Philippines in the early stages of World War II, he vowed, "I shall return." He did as the Supreme Commander of the victorious Allied Forces in the Southwest Pacific Area. While it's not known for certain it Thief River Falls head high school football coach Jeff Mumm made the same promise after his team lost it's final game at Prowler Field – a 35-21 Section 8AAAA playoff quarterfinal setback at the hands of Sartell on Oct. 26, 1999 – he, too, had a triumphant return Tuesday with a 43-8 thumping of East Grand Forks to open the 2007 Section 8AAA playoffs.

Thief River Falls home games were moved to the Multi-Events Center in 2000. But after back-to-back high school and college games last week ground Lowell T. Swenson Field into a muddy mess, officials decided to move the Prowlers and Green Wave across town to a site that has been maintained for Thief River Falls junior varsity and freshman games.

While a bit spartan and a little on the dark side in spots, the facility offered a dry surface, solid footing and a cozy setting with fans just feet away from the playing field.

Mumm, the Prowlers' coach since 1985, and his team didn't mind the change of venue. "It's a good feeling to be back at Prowler Field," he said. "The kids were excited to be playing here. They wanted to know if they could wear retro jerseys."

The match-up between the 7-1 top-seeded Prowlers and the 0-8 No. 8-seeded Green Wave reflected those numbers. With a 36-0 halftime cushion, Thief River Falls coaches spent the second half trying to make sure every player got some game time.

"People sometimes question why we carry all of our sophomores on the varsity roster," noted Mumm. "This is why. It's a great experience for them to get into a playoff game. And they get those extra weeks of practice."

Chase Haviland opened the scoring gates when he hobbed and weaved his way off left tackle 33 yards and a touchdown with 5:28 remaining in the first quarter. He backed into the end zone on the conversion for an 8-0 lead.

A 46-yard Jordan Espeseth punt return had a 15-yard East Grand Forks penalty tacked on the end of the run, allowing the Prowlers to begin their next offensive series at the Green Wave 15. A 12-yard run by Haviland and a 3-yard dive by fullback Tyson Sorvig made it 12-0 with 2:49 on the first quarter clock.

A 7-play, 86-yard scoring drive featured a 39-yard breakaway touchdown run by Thomas Loe and an Andrew Rook kick–for a 23-0 spread 1:44 into the second quarter.

Espeseth's 16-yard punt return to the East Grand Forks 24 was followed three plays later by a 19-yard touchdown run by Haviland, who bounced outside the Green Wave defense with 6:11 left in the half.

Another East Grand Forks punting situation again became an immediate Thief River Falls scoring threat when Casey Gajeski chased down a high snap and became a thrower instead of a kicker. The incompletion gave the Prowlers the ball at the Green Wave 16. Sorvig went in standing up off right tackle from 9 yards out and Rook added the kick for the 36-0 difference with 4:13 to play.

That was the last time the Thief River Falls starting backfield was on the field.

While the Prowlers were scoring those five touchdowns and rushing for 221 yards, the Green Wave first half offense failed to cross midfield. The visitors mustered just 30 yards in those first 24 minutes, and only six of those came on the ground.

"We took care of business," said Mumm. "We did what we needed to do. We didn't want them to hang around. They've been close in their last couple games, and we didn't want that to happen tonight."

Haviland finished with 105 yards on 10 carries.

With their top three quarterbacks out of picture, the Green Wave offense relied heavily on running back Eric Barrera, who had a 27-carry, 132-yard rushing performance. He carried four straight times for 51 yards on an East Grand Forks touchdown drive that ended with a 9-yard run on a dive by Cody Grabow with 8:37 left in the game.

TRF hosts Park Rapids Area at Prowler Field

Park Rapids Area will be at Thief River Falls and Roseau visits Perham tonight (Saturday) in the Section 8AAA high school football playoff semifinals. Both games have 7 p.m. kickoffs.

The No. 1-seeded Prowlers are 8-1. The No. 4-seeded Panthers are 7-2. They did not meet during the regular season.

Park Rapids Area began the year with wins over Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton 18-8, Warroad 12-0, Roseau 24-14, East Grand Forks 28-7 and Crookston 35-13 before losing to West Central Area 8-6 and Perham 10-8. The Panthers finished the regular season with a 43-7 win over Wadena-Deer Creek and shut out Crookston 38-0 in the Section 8AAA quarterfinals Tuesday.

Due to the conditions at Lowell T. Swenson Field, the Thief River Falls vs. Park Rapids Area game will be played at Prowler Field, site of Thief River Falls' 43-8 Tuesday quarterfinal win over Crookston.

■ Championship Friday, Nov. 2 - semifinal winners, 8 p.m., Alerus Center.

Wolverines end 2007 regular season with win for 10-17 record

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke took a 10-17 record into Section 8A tournament play thanks to a final-night 3-1 win over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

The Wolverines won the Monday match played in Goodridge 22-25, 25-18, 25-23, 25-17.

"This was a good way to end regular season play," said winning coach Jean Schulz.

Rebecca Polansky had 18 kills and Nicole Schulz had 34 assists for the Wolverines.

Scoring

■ Kills - (G/G-G) Rebecca Polansky 18, Kayla Tharaldson 10, Adelle Prestebak 7; (W-A-O) Jessica Aakre 14, Merissa Gomowicz 8.

Jill Rewertz hits 1,000-assist mark

Red Lake County Central senior setter Jill Rewertz passed the 1,000 mark in career assists Tuesday in the Mustangs' regular season-ending 3-1 high school volleyball win over host over Clearbrook-Gonvick.

Rewertz, who finished the night with 25 assists, hit the career milestone in Game 2 as the Mustangs overcame the Bears 17-25, 25-18, 25-19, 25-12

Benefitting from Rewertz' passes, Brianna Spong (12), Kayla Pelletier (12) and Faith Kruchowski (10) all reached double figures in kills.

"The girls came out slow, having 11 days off without a match," reported Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "But they played much better during Games 2, 3 and 4."

The Mustangs took a 13-14 record into post-season play.

RLCC Scoring

■ Kills - Brianna Spong 12, Kayla Pelletier 12, Faith Kruchowski 10

■ Assists - Jill Rewertz 25.

Three Prowlers skate with Jets

from Tim Erickson

It all started a few short years back when the Fargo-Moorhead Jets of the North American Hockey League sniped Robby Philipp who had just helped lead Thief River Falls to the Section 8A title in his senior season.

Philipp has played in over 65 games, amassed 47 points (14 goals, 33 assists) since joining the Jets' Junior A program in 2006. The numbers will only increase due to the hard work and effort that hits the ice day after day.

Through the first 13 games of the 2006-08 season, Philipp leads the team in scoring with 15 points (6 goals, 9 assists).

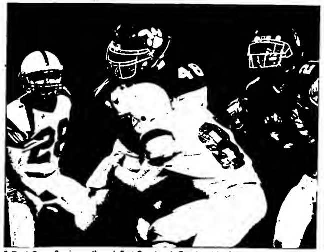
Joining Philipp on the Jets' roster this year was former Prowler teammates Michael Benedict and Cody Bottem.

"It's like old time hockey with friends here at the Coliseum," Philipp commented.

Benedict came to the Jets as an addition to their defense as they try to defend their NAHL Central Division title. After wrapping up his senior year when he collected 21 points (10 goals, 11 assists) in 23 games. He comes to the Jets with hopes of playing college hockey.

The opportunity to skate with former teammates excites Benedict. "We played together all the way through school and the comfort level continues here with the Jets as you can always rely on them," he said. "Coming back from an injury last year, Bottem was everything expected and more, getting a hat trick in the section semifinals."

So far Benedict has appeared in seven games adding one assist while carrying a -1 figure in the plus-minus category.



Bottem completes the Jets' "Three Thiefs." Although a broken collar bone played limited him to only eight games last winter, he still provided the Prowlers with 15 points (5 goals, 10 assists).

"It's nice to be playing at 100 percent because I get to contribute on a regular basis with the Jets," said Bottem. "It seems like the old days again playing with Benny and Philipp from our home town," he added with a smile.

Jets assistant coach Aaron Kinslow is a Bottem fan. "Just imagine if he would have been healthy for the whole season," he offered.

While playing in 10 games this season Bottem has three points (1 goal, 2 assists) with a +3 in the plus-minus figures.

"It's not by design to have three kids from the same school," said Jets head coach Chad Johnson. "We've had success with Thief River Falls in the past and the northern Minnesota area has great character kids," he said.

Fullback Tyson Sorvig ran through East Grand Forks tacklers on a 9-yard second quarter touchdown run that was part Thief River Falls' 43-8 Section 8AAA high school football playoff game win Tuesday night. Cody Waslow (28) and Jake Burris (88) of the Green Wave are part of the play, along with the Prowlers' Zach Sorenson Football players come in all shapes and sizes, as shown here when Thief River Falls lined up for the national anthem prior to the start of Tuesday's Section 8AAA playoff game against East Grand Forks. Sam Mattison, a 5-2, 145-pound running back/defensive back was standing between Ryan Dahl, a 6-4, 330-pound offensive/defensive lineman, and Kasey Trontvet, a 6-3, 190-pound quarterback/defensive back. All three are seniors.

Deer feeding ban continues for Northwest Minnesota

Feeding of deer and elk continues to be prohibited throughout much of northwestern Minnesota as the state remains vigilant about ensuring the health of these herds and agricultural livestock.

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources enacted the ban in November 2006 to comply with a new state law restricting deer and elk feeding within 15 miles of any cattle farm infected with bovine tuberculosis (TB). To make the ban enforceable, specific reference points were established to create an identifiable boundary.

"The ban was a prudent action and its continuation makes sense as well," said Lou Cornicelli, DNR big game program coordinator.

In Michigan, which is the only other state with bovine TB in its wild deer herd, natural resource agency staff has provided compelling evidence that the disease can be maintained in wild deer through supplemental feeding.

The Minnesota ban makes it illegal to place or have food that is capable of attracting wild deer and elk. People who feed birds or small mammals must do so in a manner that precludes access to deer and elk or place the food at least six feet above ground level. Food placed as a result of normal agricultural practices is generally exempted from this rule. But cattle operators are advised to take steps that minimize contact between deer and cattle.

To date, about 2,000 deer have been tested for bovine TB. Thirteen positives have been confirmed. All 13 positives have been found from the core bovine TB area in northwestern Minnesota.

For the map of the area in northwestern Minnesota, where deer and elk feeding is banned, visit the DNR Web site at http://files.dnr.state.mn.us/outdoor_activities/hunting/deer/bovine-tb/feeding-ban.pdf.

Deer hunters urged to buy their license early to avoid rush

With more than 475,000 firearms deer hunters in the state, the DNR is encouraging hunters to purchase their licenses early to avoid long lines and any system issues associated with the high sales volume.

The 2007 Minnesota firearms deer season begins on Saturday, Nov. 3.

Deer licenses are available at approximately 1,800 license agents statewide or by phone at 1-888-MN-LICENSE (665-4236). There is a $3.50 convenience fee for telephone service.

Hunters who purchase licenses by phone will receive their deer tags by mail, which can take three to five days.

Staff members from the DNR Information Center and License Center will work extended hours to handle additional phone calls from deer hunters. Phone lines will be open on Friday, Nov. 2, until 6:30 p.m., and Saturday, Nov. 3, from 8 a.m. to noon.

The DNR Information Center phone number is toll-free 1-888-MINNDNR (646-6367).

Unbuckled motorists cited during Safe & Sober campaign

Deputies with the Beltrami County Sheriff's Office, along with officers from the Bemidji and Blackduck police departments, participated in a statewide Safe & Sober seat belt Click It or Ticket enforcement campaign Oct. 12-21.

During that time, 123 vehicles were stopped. Of that amount, individuals in 56 of those vehicles received citations for not wearing seat belts, individuals in four of the vehicles received citations for allowing an unrestrained child, and drivers of 28 of those vehicles were cited for speeding. Various other citations and warnings were also issued. The Minnesota Department of Public Safety coordinated the efforts of more than 400 agencies to increase seat belt use and prevent fatal and injury crashes.

Officers also conducted nighttime patrols of seat belt use – a challenging but necessary enforcement tactic as 30 percent of Minnesotans killed between 9 p.m. and 3 a.m. were belted, compared to 60 percent during daylight hours.

A majority of Minnesotans buckle up – around 83 percent. Still, of the 2,344 vehicle occupants killed in crashes in 2002-06, more than half (1,214) were not wearing seat belts. DPS estimates around half of those killed would have survived if they had been buckled up.

Smithsonian exhibit to visit Roseau Co. Historical Society

The Smithsonian Institute is bringing its travelling exhibit, "Key Ingredients: America by Food" to the Roseau County Historical Society Nov. 7 through Dec. 15, Monday through Friday, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Roseau County Museum, 121 Center Street E, Suite 101, Roseau.

The exhibit is open to the public, and admission is free. The exhibit is overseen by Roseau County Historical Society Curator Charleen Haugen.

"Key Ingredients: America by Food" explores the connections between Americans and the foods they produce, prepare, preserve, and present at the table – a provocative and thoughtful look at the historical, regional, and social traditions that merge in everyday meals and celebrations. A complimentary exhibit, "Key Ingredients: Roseau County by Food" examines areas of agriculture, festivals, and many facets of food in Roseau County, including the Hartz Grocery Store chain, the dairy industry, the Wilmers' honey business and the many changes in agriculture.

Through a selection of artifacts, photographs, and illustrations, both "Key Ingredients" exhibits examine the evolution of the American and Roseau County kitchen and how agriculture and food industries have responded to the technological innovations that have enabled Americans to choose an ever-widening variety of frozen, prepared and fresh foods. "Key Ingredients" also looks beyond the home to restaurants, diners and celebrations that help build a sense of community through food.

Many special coordinating events are planned over the next few months. The grand opening will be held on Friday, Nov. 9, from 7 to 9 p.m. Visit the museum Web site at www.roseaucohistoricalsociety.org for a complete list of upcoming events. "Key Ingredients: America by Food" is sponsored by the Minnesota Humanities Center and the Minnesota Historical Society.

GENERAL MANAGER
Due to the retirement of the current General Manager, the Board of Directors of Red Lake Electric Cooperative (RLEC) seeks qualified candidates for this position. RLEC is a member-owned electric cooperative with 21 employees serving over 5,000 meters in northwestern Minnesota. The distribution system has 2,559 miles of line and is primarily overhead construction. RLEC has an excellent record of quality service, low rates and good member relations.
The Board seeks candidates with at least five years management or supervisory experience within electric utility field, preferably the rural electric program. Experience in electric utility finance, system operations, member relations, or engineering is desired. A four-year college degree in engineering, business, or accounting is preferred, but consideration will be given to candidates with extensive electric utility experience. Candidates must have leadership experience in civic and/or community organizations.
RLEC offers an excellent benefit package, with salary commensurate with qualifications and experience. Please send a resume, three professional references, and a five-year salary history by December 1, 2007 to the board president: Kelly Lundeen, 33747 120th St SE, Trail, MN 56684.

TRF job description discussion gets testy

alluded to his satisfaction with the division leaders. "I trust those guys."

One council member referred to a simplified chain of command if the proposal were approved. "We're going in eight different directions," said council member Odette Bendickson. She noted that if the change were approved, the eight council members would have one person to deal with and the division leaders would have one person to deal with.

Former Thief River Falls City Council members voiced their concerns about the proposal. "You are making a drastic change," said Ken Murphy, who served on the council for 10 years.

"I hope you won't act on this," said Dave Carlson, who served on the council for 14 years. He added that he didn't think the dialogue at Tuesday's Committee of the Whole meeting would've happened with the proposed system.

Carlson also asked about the use of the word "direction" for a possible amendment to the city code regarding the city administrator position. In particular, the proposed amended ordinance reads, "The council may supervise and direct the heads of all divisions and departments through the city administrator."

City Attorney Paul Ihle said that particular section of the amended ordinance went back to the time when Carlson was in office. He noted that he believed it occurred when the city brought in consultants.

The "wording sounds a little closer to a city manager," Carlson said. "You have that ordinance written to have her to direct department heads."

Nordhagen asked Carlson to refer to the position, not to Jodie Torkelson.

"Jodie's in the position now," Carlson replied.

(There has been no indication that Torkelson is planning to leave her job.)

The proposal also drew questions. "If you go to this type of format, do you still want us to go to council meetings? How do we communicate with you? ... Somebody must have a vision for how this will work. I have yet to hear it," said Public Works Director Ron Lindberg.

"I would like to see all department heads at all council meetings," replied Nordhagen. He likened the proposed change to how Arctic Cat's chief executive officer oversees that company. Nordhagen noted the city administrator would see everything that is going on in the city, but that person wouldn't be an expert on particular city topics.

"We're not trying to eliminate what you're doing," Nordhagen said to Lindberg. "We're trying to make it better."

The ad hoc committee researched other Minnesota cities and their ways of handling the city administrator's position. The city administrators get together with the division leaders and department leaders to get ready for City Council meetings, said Bendickson, a member of the ad hoc committee. In some cities, the city administrator provides reports to the council, and in other cities, the division leaders provide the reports. Bendickson said she believed that, in all of those cities, the division leaders still attend the council meetings.

Murphy wasn't convinced that the city needed to change the job description. "The main argument that some members of the council have put forth, seems to be, that everyone else is doing it, so we should do it, too. Now, if that had come out of the mouths of your children, you would have told them that was ridiculous," he said.

Frustration

During the course of the conversations about the proposal at an ad hoc committee meeting and at Tuesday's Committee of the Whole meeting, some city employees and some council members voiced their displeasure about the council's lack of goals.

Community Development Director Mike Moore said he could choose to set goals for himself or he could choose not to. "I actually thought this was silly," said Moore, who noted the situation could change if the council chose to change the city administrator's job description or if it chose not to.

Moore added that the council is "trying to micromanage departments." He indicated that the council has accomplished some things "but, more likely, created a great deal of frustration."

Nordhagen asked him what the council has accomplished.

"Damn little, to tell you the truth," Moore responded.

Apparently, Moore isn't the only city employee who is frustrated. "We've seen frustration for years," said LeAnn Engelstad, who handles the city's payroll and whose boss is the city administrator.

Indicating that she has nothing to gain or lose if the council changes the city administrator's job description, Engelstad added, "Councils come, councils go, but you'd have that person there."

Process criticized

Dale Wennberg, former Thief River Falls mayor and current city employee, leveled criticism at the ad hoc committee and the process leading up to the recommendation to change the job description. The MAPS group was told that it could have two division leaders and two department leaders providing input to the ad hoc committee, noted Wennberg, who referred to the Sept. 27 meeting of the ad hoc committee.

While Wennberg was talking, Kajewski interrupted him. Wennberg interjected, "I'm talking here."

The ad hoc committee wasn't given any names of MAPS employees, said Kajewski, who chaired that committee.

The MAPS group was told that nothing would happen at the next ad hoc committee meeting, Wennberg said.

"I don't think we said nothing would happen," Kajewski said.

"That isn't what I remember," Wennberg replied.

(Seven city employees attended the Oct. 9 meeting of the ad hoc committee. They attended the meeting unannounced. When asked by Kajewski, some of the employees provided their input. Utilities Director Arlo Rude was the only city division leader at the Oct. 16 meeting of the ad hoc committee. Engelstad took the minutes of all the meetings of the ad hoc committee.)

Earlier in the Committee of the Whole meeting, Kajewski indicated that the ad hoc committee met four times. "We've spent enough time on this issue already. Committee members felt good with that recommendation," he said.

Committee of the Whole structure

The Committee of the Whole structure drew some criticism as well. Carlson called that structure a fiasco. "I don't think this system's working at all," he said.

Later, Carlson backed off on the use of "fiasco," calling it a tool that the city could occasionally use.

Kajewski, who served on the council when it operated with individual committees, said the city didn't deal with long-range planning at that time. He said he'd like to see the city combine the Committee of the Whole structure with "a couple of committees."

In January, the council approved the Committee of the Whole Structure. In the past, it operated with individual committees. The council meets twice a month as the Committee of the Whole, which has been described as a working session for the eight council members.

Nordhagen said he had hoped that the Committee of the Whole would provide more information to the public. However, he referred to some problems. "I agree with Mike [Moore]. I don't have any idea what we've accomplished in the last 10 months. It's a little frustrating," Nordhagen said.

Council member Emery Lee noted a positive outcome resulted from changing the committee structure. "I find that I have knowledge of everything that is going on," said Lee, who admitted that he wasn't a council member while there were individual committees.

Council member Elvera Cullen served on the council at the time of the individual committees. She said it "probably was not the best idea" to go to the Committee of the Whole structure when there were four new council members. She said the new council members didn't get an idea of how the individual committees worked.

Bendickson spoke about her frustration with the council. She said the council is spending "so much time putting out fires," and that the council was working on "little things that we shouldn't be dealing with." From what Bendickson said, it was unclear whether her frustration was borne out of the Committee of the Whole structure or was a part of the city dynamic prior to that change.

When it came to the "fires" comment that Bendickson made, Cullen said she wasn't sure what Bendickson was referring to.

"I just feel we're being reactive rather than proactive," replied Bendickson, who referred to the switch to city-provided firewood in the Thief River Falls Tourist Park.

The council's next meeting is Nov. 6 at 5 p.m. at City Hall.

explained by the way bovine TB spreads and develops. "Bovine TB is caused by slow growing bacteria with a long incubation period. That is why it is so important to test high-risk herds twice," said Hartmann. "Due to the nature of the disease and the way in which it spreads by direct animal-to-animal contact, we need to be sure that we have found and eliminated all of the disease. Finding another positive herd will reset our timeline for regaining status, but for the sake of Minnesota's cattle industry, we cannot leave a single infected herd undiscovered."

In addition to traces and area testing, the state is conducting TB testing in cattle herds statewide. This statewide TB surveillance began prior to the discovery of this infected herd and is expected to be completed by the end of the year. So far, the state has tested approximately 1,200 herds, with a goal of 1,500. Thus far, all statewide surveillance herds have tested negative for bovine TB.

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources plans to continue testing hunter-harvested white-tailed deer in the affected area of northwest Minnesota this fall. More than 2,000 deer have been tested in this area since 2005 and 13 deer have tested positive for the disease. All TB-positive deer were found in a small, localized area within five miles of Skime. The DNR plans to collect additional samples this fall during the November firearm-hunting season.

"It's critical that hunters participate in this effort by voluntarily allowing their deer to be sampled," said Michelle Carstensen, DNR wildlife health program coordinator. "DNR is committed to fully cooperating with the Board of Animal Health and USDA in efforts to regain Minnesota's TB-free status as soon as possible."

Due to preventative measures taken by the beef and dairy industries and animal health officials, cattle infected with bovine TB pose little risk to human health. The United States has actively pursued a bovine TB eradication program since 1917, which includes food safety initiatives, such as milk pasteurization, and specific examinations of internal organs for TB at the time of slaughter.

All cattle that enter the food supply are inspected at harvest by inspectors who are trained to recognize and report any animals with symptoms of TB and other diseases. It is this inspection process that led to the discovery of the first infected herd in Minnesota.

For more information, call the BAH Bovine TB Hotline at 1-877-MN TB FREE (668-2373). Additional details on the state's TB investigation, the disease and the BAH are available at www.bah.state.mn.us.

Wednesday, Angela Mangafas of ExpressJet, spoke to a classroom of students to encourage them to apply for jobs at ExpressJet. ExpressJet is the largest operator of regional carriers. It has over 8,000 employees and operates 274 aircraft with branded service. At one time, the company was known as Continental Express and is still linked to Continental Express. Currently, ExpressJet has 25 job openings, but Mangafas said it seems like the company is constantly hiring mechanics. The current pay scale for mechanics at ExpressJet ranges from $13.10 per hour for the first year to $25.15 per hour for the eighth year, plus benefits.

Wednesday afternoon, college officials said they were expecting a representative from Elliott Aviation of Moline, Ill., to visit the campus.

Students are unhappy about the suspension and have vowed to continue to fight for the school. They have also said that the school has failed to advertise or recruit for what has been widely acknowledged as one of the best aviation schools in the country.

Thomas said he anticipates that there will be a lot more conversation about the future of the program.

Tri-County students lend a hand to Northwood students

Karlstad - "At the Oct. 23 school board meeting, Superintendent Ron Ruud proudly reported that the Tri-County kids, following a plan set by the teachers, enthusiastically raised funds to be used for the purchase of classroom supplies and books for the classroom libraries for the school in Northwood, N.D." Northwood was devastated by a tornado on Aug. 26. Ruud said that the high school kids raised $97.62 and the elementary school kids raised $179.60. - North Star News of Karlstad, Nov. 1, 2007, by Ardis Hanson

RLC Historical Society receives funds for commemoration

Red Lake Falls - "At the Oct. 23, Red Lake County Board meeting, members of the Red Lake County Historical Society gave an update on their plans for next year in hopes of receiving more funds from the county budget.

"Next year marks the sesquicentennial (150 years) of statehood for Minnesota. Many celebrations and events will be held throughout the state, including a 145-year commemoration of the Old Crossing Treaty.

"Every year, RLCHS and the Association of the French of the North host an event commemorating the Old Crossing Treaty. In 2008, they hope to have an even bigger celebration due to the sesquicentennial.

"AFRAN applied for the legacy grant, which is a grant awarded by the state for sesquicentennial celebrations. They were accepted and received $5,000.

"However, this was a bit shy of what the historical society was expecting and needed for its plans for the commemoration, so they asked the commissioners to increase their budget by $8,000. The commissioners voted and agreed to give the society the funds." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Oct. 31, 2007, by Destiny Harmoning

For the love of Shanoah Mooney

Greenbush - "One hundred sixteen participants signed up for the Buddy Walk in Greenbush on Oct. 28.

"Sponsored by the Greenbush Women of Today, the Buddy Walk is centered around 9-year-old Shanoah Mooney, daughter of Greenbush residents Danny and Joni Mooney. Shanoah has Down syndrome."

"This was the third year that the event was held ... Between $2,000 and $2,500 in donations was generated. A portion of the monies is designated to go to the National Down Syndrome Society. The remainder is distributed between various local schools to be used to further educate others about those with disabilities. The purchase of another piece of equipment for one of Shanoah's favorite places, Shanoah Park, may also be possible. Shanoah Park is located directly across from the Mooney home." - The Tribune of Greenbush, Oct. 31, 2007, by Mavis Gonshorowski

Aviation students challenge decision

Students say questions remain unanswered

by David Hill
Editor

What information did you have when you made this decision?

Northland Community and Technical College Aviation Maintenance and Technology students have a lot of questions about the suspension of the aviation program and believe the public needs to know what's taking place at their school. They also believe that school officials need to be held accountable.

Last week, college officials announced that they were suspending the aviation program. At one time, over 500 students enrolled in the program. This year, however, there were less than 30 students enrolled in the two-year program that has been a part of the college community in Thief River Falls for nearly 50 years. College officials said the program costs too much to operate for so few and suspended the program. Officials also released a "Fact Sheet," which they believe answers questions students and the public might have about their decision. (Appeared in the Oct. 31 edition of The Times.)

Students claim the fact sheet raises more questions than it answers. In some instances, they said the information contained in the fact sheet is misleading.

Jennie Untener said she wants to see the breakdown on the $600,000 per year program cost. There are only three teachers at the school, she added. How could the program cost that much? she asks. If the $600,000 total also includes operating and maintenance at the airport campus, she said, the cost should be divided up between the three other programs at the school, not just aviation.

The fact sheet also states that NCTC plans to retain the services of an independent consultant with expertise in the aviation industry to develop recommendations on how the NCTC program might be redesigned to meet emerging opportunities in the aviation industry.

Untener asks why they didn't do that a year ago. For that matter, why haven't they spent any money on recruiting students? Untener, staff and several other students have been providing tours and visiting schools on their own. With two and one-half months left to the year for recruiting, they had successfully recruited five students interested in starting school in the spring, which is a dramatic change from the past three years. They also noted that there were 70 hits on the school's Web site from students interested in the program.

Nathan Regan of Crookston, said he didn't even know that the program existed until he started searching for schools on his own.

Mark Zietkiewicz of Bismarck, N.D., said most first-year students at the college found out about the school while searching for schools on the Internet, or heard about it from a relative.

"It's such a good program," said Regan, "why not advertise it?"

Untener and Tom Pflibsen of Midland, Mich., agreed that this was the low point for enrollment this year, and that had they (the administration) given the program one more year, enrollment probably would have started to climb.

"That's part of the problem," said Pflibsen, "the administration didn't provide any funds to advertise the program and didn't set any goals."

The fact sheet also identifies the need to replace aging instructional equipment as another rationale for suspending the program. Students point out that they work on engines that are past their life expectancy for flying, but that doesn't mean that they aren't still used in the industry. In fact, similar equipment is still in use in planes today.

Untener added that teachers

Paneks named award finalists for conservation

Outstanding Conservationists Awards Program

The Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts (MASWCD) has named Larry and Laurie Panek of Silverton Township, Pennington County as one of eight area finalists in the 2007 Outstanding Conservationists Award Program.

The Paneks will be recognized at a Dec. 4 luncheon at MASWCD's 71st Annual Convention in Rochester. The awards program recognizes farm families, individuals, conservation organizations and other groups for their accomplishments in implementing conservation practices, and improving Minnesota's natural resources.

Of the eight finalists, one will be announced as the State's Outstanding Conservationist of the Year.

"We are proud of Larry and Laurie for what they have done in conserving our natural resources in our area," said Linda Hanson, Board Chair of the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District, which nominated the Paneks for the award. "It's great to be able to recognize the work they have done locally. They have provided a wonderful example for us by implementing the first NRCS approved rotational grazing system in Pennington County. Over 6,000 feet of multi-row farmstead and field windbreaks have been installed on the Panek farm for energy conservation and wind erosion protection."

LHS to shake the rafters again

Lincoln H.S. Choir plans trips to Minneapolis and New York

Committed, goal setters, and visionary thinkers are the perfect words to describe the members of the Lincoln High School Choral program. Because of these characteristics, these choir members have had big doors open up for them over the past few years. Each choir has set higher standards for the next choir and this year's choir is definitely reaping some major benefits from the 2006-07 choir program.

Last May's "Shakin' The Rafters" concerts offered the 165 choir members opportunities to work with professional musicians from the Minneapolis area and to dive into the musical styles including gospels, spirituals, and jazz music. The choir members took all of the music to a new level by understanding the history behind the music, which then enabled them to perform it at the highest level possible. Darcy Reese, the choir director, believes that this is the best way to truly have a well rounded choral education. "It's more than just singing the notes. There is history behind each of the pieces and it's crucial that each student has the opportunity to understand that history and to express it in the music."

Bringing in musicians that know their history and that live and breath the music on nearly a daily basis is key to the success of the choral curriculum.

"Shakin' the Rafters" opened some major doors for this year's choral program at Lincoln High School. The first door opened into an experience that is giving 75 Concert Choir members the opportunity to perform three performances in Minneapolis Jan. 6, 2008, with Robert Robinson and members of the Twin Cities Gospel Choir. Robert, known as the Pavoratti of gospel music, was blown away by the 2007 choir thus making it possible for the 2008 choir to do some performing with him in Minneapolis his hometown. The musical agenda for Jan. 6 includes two performances at Park Avenue Methodist church, one performance at a Presbyterian church (Robert's church) and the final solo performance of just the choir at the St. Paul Cathedral. This will be the choir's second performance at the cathedral.

Robert, his family and choir members will not only be rehearsing and performing with the Lincoln High

Glenice Johnson is Minn. service award recipient

Thief River Falls resident Glenice Johnson, a Regional Extension educator, was recognized as the Distinguished Service Award recipient for Minnesota at the National Extension Association of Family Consumer Science Annual Conference. The conference was held in September in St. Paul.

"It certainly was a real honor," Johnson said.

Johnson is also the lead team member for Extension's "Financial Security in Later Life" program, a series of worksite educational workshops on preparing for retirement years. The team presented its research and community program efforts at one of the national conference sessions. Johnson and her team developed the workshop "Organizing Your Important Papers" for this series, and it also received a national award in the Educational Curriculum Package category.

"I was especially excited about that one," said Johnson, who referred to the workshop as her baby. The workshop was initially presented as a Study Group lesson in northwest Minnesota and eventually grew to be used statewide. Now, it's been used nationally.

Glenice Johnson

Johnson's area of expertise is Family Resource Management, and she presents workshops, news articles and radio tips on many family financial topics throughout northwestern Minnesota. Her office is located in the Extension Regional Center, Crookston.

Johnson's 4? year career includes county, regional and state Extension work, international experience and 20 years as campus faculty. She has received local, state, regional and national level recognition.

Johnson is a Roseau native. She is the daughter of Gladys Ringland of Roseau.

Crime prevention coordinators recognized

While the Roseau County Prevention Coalition has only been in existence for a little over a year, the RCPC coordinators efforts have already been recognized at the statewide level. At the Minnesota Crime Prevention Association conference held in Duluth earlier this month, Tammie Doebler and Brenda Arntzen were named Crime Prevention Team of the Year.

"We were shocked," said Doebler. "There were so many deserving people at this conference. As they were giving the credentials of the Crime Prevention Team of the Year recipients, I was not aware that a prevention coalition was being recognized. Then when it turned out to be us, I couldn't believe it."

According to Roseau County Coordinator Trish Hanson, the RCPC's primary objective is to work with countywide stakeholders in creating, promoting and sustaining an effective and efficient ... tobacco and other drug prevention strategy. This includes ... to increase local control of prevention services, promoting ... laboration and coordination ... including ... RCPC funds ...

... ber of other community based prevention programs, such as Teen Journey, Project Northland, Problem Solving and Fitness Mentoring. The RCPC is funded through a grant from the Department of Human Services Chemical Health Division.

Doebler and Victim Advocate ... attended the Minnesota Crime Prevention Association conference with Warroad Police Chief Bob Gulsback, who nominated Arntzen and Doebler for the award. ...

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacourse@mncable.net

Colder weather means hearty dishes that will stick to the ribs. Try one of these this week.

Make yummy bites to have with dinner or as a special treat. Make a bunch right now and put in the freezer for the holidays:

ALMOND CHEDDAR APPETIZERS
1 cup mayonnaise
2 teaspoons Worcestershire
1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
1 medium onion, chopped
3/4 cup slivered almonds, chopped
6 bacon strips, cooked and crumbled
1 loaf (1 pound) French bread

Combine mayonnaise and Worcestershire. Stir in cheese, onion, almonds and bacon.

Cut bread into 1/2 inch slices and spread with cheese mixture. Cut slices in half and place on greased baking sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 8-10 minutes until bubbly. Makes 4 dozen.

To freeze, place in single layer on baking sheet and freeze for 1 hour. Place in airtight container for up to 2 months. To use, place frozen breads on greased baking sheet and bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes, until bubbly.

Use a can of ravioli to make this nourishing soup. It's easy as can be and will certainly brighten up a dreary day:

BEEF RAVIOLI SOUP
1 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 cup sliced carrots
2 tablespoons oil
4 cups beef broth
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon crushed red pepper flakes
1 (15 ounce) can beef ravioli
1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
Grated Parmesan cheese

In large kettle, sauté celery, onion and carrots in oil for 3 minutes. Add broth and seasonings and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, about 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender.

Stir in ravioli and heat through. Garnish with parsley and Parmesan. Serves 4 to 6 people.

Here's just the salad to top off tonight's meal - hearty and healthy:

BEAN TOSSED SALAD
1/2 head lettuce, torn up
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup ranch-style beans, rinsed and drained well
1/2 medium tomato, chopped
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 to 1 cup tortilla or corn chips
1/3 cup Catalina salad dressing (or your own favorite)

In salad bowl, combine lettuce, cheese, beans, tomato, onion and green pepper. Just before serving, add chips and salad dressing. Toss. Serves 8.

Why not have a seasonal pudding all year round? You'll love this one to top of tonight's meal. (It would be especially good with that pumpkin you cooked after Halloween.):

PUMPKIN PUDDING
1 1/2 cups cold milk
1 cup whipping cream, divided
1 small package instant vanilla pudding mix
1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
1 cup canned or cooked pumpkin

In a bowl, combine milk, 1/2 cup cream, pudding mix and pie spice. Whisk until thick and smooth, about 2 minutes. Stir in pumpkin. Spoon into dessert dishes.

Whip remaining cream and place a dollop on each serving. Sprinkle with more pie spice and serve with gingersnaps too.

Change your clocks, change your batteries

At 2 a.m. Sunday, Americans turn their clocks back one hour and say goodbye to Daylight-saving Time. After that, darkness comes earlier, Minnesota nights grow colder and, statistically, the risk of residential fires increases.

State Fire Marshal Jerry Rosendahl reminds Minnesotans that when they roll back their clocks, it's also time to perform a simple, lifesaving task: Installing fresh batteries in home smoke alarms.

"Smoke alarms provide an early warning and increase the probability of safe escape but only if they work," Rosendahl said. He reports that about 90 percent of Americans have smoke alarms in their homes, but about one-third of the alarms don't work due to dead or missing batteries.

In 2006, 43 percent of Minnesota fire deaths took place in homes without working smoke alarms and 48 percent occurred in December, January and February. Most home fire fatalities happen during the night, when residents are asleep.

The average escape time in a residential fire is about two minutes, according to Rosendahl. While many smoke detectors retail for less than $10, people continue to behave as if a home fire won't happen to them. "That's a major error," he said. "And when it does happen, that alarm with working batteries may be your last hope of survival."

For the greatest protection, install a smoke alarm outside each bedroom and on every level of your home and have an escape plan if an alarm sounds. Test your alarms once a month to ensure that they're working properly and never "borrow" smoke alarm batteries for another use.

For more information on residential fire safety, go to www.winterweather.state.mn.us and select "Winter Fire Safety."

Consider donating venison to help feed the hungry

Comparatively, Minnesota does well when it comes to poverty: It has the fourth lowest population in poverty, childhood poverty and food insecurity. It has the second lowest number of elderly in poverty. It ranks 11th lowest in unemployment and 10th lowest in low food security. (2005 figures) Despite low unemployment, participation in federal programs, such as the food stamp program, continue to climb - over 206,000 as of Oct. 2006, according to The Almanac of Hunger and Poverty in Minnesota, 2007. Hunters can help.

In 2007, the Legislature funded a program that facilitates the donation of harvested deer to food shelves. Hunters need only have their deer processed at a Minnesota Department of Agriculture-registered meat processing plant that has agreed to participate in the program. According to the DNR Web site, there are three in our area: Newfolden Town and Country Meats, the Oklee Locker, and Custom Cuts Processing Inc. in Greenbush. Make sure you handle the deer properly - field dressed and the hide intact. It must be free of visible decomposition or contamination, and properly identified with a Minnesota DNR registration tag. There is no cost to the hunter and processors will be reimbursed $70 for each deer they send to the food shelf.

The Legislature approved a one-time appropriation for the program, and increased the cost of non-resident hunting licenses by $5. Next year, the cost of the bonus permit will increase by $1.

North Country Food Bank Inc. serves 21 counties in Minnesota. Last year, it reported over 37,000 people at poverty and below. Many of these people could benefit from deer meat you harvested. If you are interested in finding out more information about the program, check the DNR Web site, or the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association, Betty Wilkens, 320-679-1607 or 1-800-450-3337, ext. 12.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Aviation students challenge decision

always have a "wish list," but that doesn't mean they'll always get what they want.

And as far as equipment, everyone agrees that the hands-on experiences provided by this college far outstrip the capabilities or opportunities available at any other school in the nation.

The college has assured currently enrolled students that they will have the opportunity to complete the program.

Zietkiewicz, a first-year student looking at another year, wondered how the college will accommodate students - will it be in a corner at the main campus away from the equipment that makes this program so valuable; and, whether he'll receive the same quality education the other aviation students received. "Will they still offer a class I need for one student?"

Zietkiewicz and the others anticipate that the school will soon begin declaring some of the equipment they use as surplus property and start selling it to other schools or programs as fast as they can.

Untener and the other students resent the use of the word "emotional" to describe students' objection to the suspension of the program. Untener said the administration seems to be using the term to undermine student concerns and to support their own agenda. "We're doing fine," said Untener, "we just have a lot of questions."

Pflibsen was a little upset about statements that seem to challenge the relevance of the program to opportunities in the industry. Pflibsen said any student with a degree can work almost anywhere - from aviation companies to Disney World, which likes aviation students because of their knowledge of hydraulics.

Students are also upset about a statement in the fact sheet that seems to question the value of the program because it trains students who don't stay in northwest Minnesota.

Pflibsen and Untener said that if all programs were held to that standard, most of them would be suspended.

"Why is that a bad thing?" Untener asked. "How many other students stay in the community?"

Pflibsen noted that they come here, rent rooms, buy groceries and support the economy.

Untener asked what would happen if they applied that standard to programs at the University of North Dakota?

At this point, the differences between what the students see and hear from administration seem significant. Because of the differences, this conflict shows no sign of dying down. Students say they just want their questions answered.

Middle River/Thief Lake LAH Program to host medication management session

The Middle River/Thief Lake Living at Home program will host medication management sessions at the Spruce Valley Community Center on Tuesday, Nov. 13. The sessions begin at 8 a.m. and are open to all area seniors.

Participants will learn about drug interactions, appropriate doses, potential cost savings and more, from a pharmacist with this Senior Medication Management project. Appointments for one-on-one medication management consultations should be made in advance. For further details, call Joey or Cindy at 218-222-4466.

Diabetes support group to hear about nutrition, portion sizes

How much you eat has as much effect on the diabetes meal plan as what you eat. Candy Keller, registered dietitian, will present information on nutrition recommendations and how to determine portion sizes at the Diabetes Support Group Thursday, Nov. 8, at 7 p.m., in the Education Room at First Care Medical Services in Fosston. The difficult holiday season is coming up. Candy will help participants plan their strategy in advance.

The information presented at the Support Group meetings is helpful for clients that are newly diagnosed with diabetes, as well as those who have been managing the disease for years. Families are also welcome at the meetings because complete understanding of diabetes by the client and family improves the chances considerably of heading off complications.

Uncontrolled or inadequately controlled diabetes may lead to blindness, loss of hearing, heart and kidney disease, strokes, cataracts, nerve damage, paralysis of the intestinal tract or gangrene, requiring amputation of limbs and eventually causing death.

Call Ruby Sistad at 218-435-7610 or Candy Keller at 218-435-7656 for more information.

RiverView Clinic, RLF offering extended hours during flu season

In anticipation of the upcoming flu season, RiverView Clinic in Red Lake Falls will begin offering extended hours two days a week. The clinic will be open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The new schedule took effect on Nov. 1. Rural Reflections

Grant Nelson

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

(This is part two of our Halloween farce. Last week, the aliens had arrived but had been temporarily stopped by my brother Darrel, and his good hammer, somewhere near Argyle.)

Leaving Argyle, the failed alien abductor followed its own diversionary light to its end near Warren. The aliens had already tried an abduction of a deputy years back near the town of Stephen, but the aliens had little patience with his boring stories of traffic tickets he'd written (man, I can sympathize) and returned him to his squad car. The aliens were confident in their superior technology and that was their one failing, arrogance. They knew they could plop down their cigar-shaped craft, pick and choose from whatever Earth-beast they found and still be home for supper, or rather with supper. Now, they had already been foiled once by the bohunk mechanic and his "big hammer," so they wanted something for sure this time. They found little Ryan Swanson, who wasn't doing anything, but counting up all that money he was making while asleep in that monster tractor out in the southern corner of a sugar beet field near Farley Town Hall at three in the morning.

I can't tell you what happened to Ryan at three that morning because I don't know. I can tell you what happened about five minutes after three in the southern corner of that beet field near Warren. Trucks and tractors aligned themselves in a haphazard circle around the tractor in which Ryan slept, and occasionally worked. The scene was a one of confusion; Joe Pierce was attempting to pull Ryan from the cab of the tractor; the new guy that no one knew stood clasping his hands and wishing he was somewhere else, as he had only taken the trucking job for a little extra money, and to find a few more people "under him" for his phone card pyramid scheme.

The first to arrive to help had been Alden Filipi. Alden was pragmatic and hard-working. He was also the first to find out that aliens not only enjoyed diversions, they like to create traps. The incident at the tractor in the southwest corner was not only to abduct one sleeping tractor operator, it was to abduct the whole crew. The aliens had not only taken what they wanted of Ryan Swanson; now they had a whole supermarket of earthlings from which to pick.

Alden was dispatched and stored beside his own tractor for safekeeping. One scrawny alien stood guard at the storage site while the others waited for more earthling delicacies. One by one, rescuers were converted to abductees and "earthlings currently in cold storage."

Grant Nelson was proud to tell people that his brother was Darrel Nelson. He waited when people said "oh, and what about your other brother Darrel?" which was in reference to the famous line from "Newhart." Grant showed his bohunk side more than Darrel, and was also only a few generations from being an immigrant. Grant had been waiting to dump his load of beets when he heard Joe Pierce call for help. Grant backed off from the ramp at the beet dump and while doing so, the step on his truck caught on the piler mechanism and tore open his fuel tank. Most tales tell of people leaving a trail of bread crumbs, but Grant left a trail of Roadmaster number #2 as he sped to help. Grant made a call to his brother Darrel to meet him in the field to fix the leaking fuel tank.

The scene when Grant arrived seemed peaceful and serene. He thought that perhaps all of the screaming was just a practical joke and that the crew had gone home because it was too cold to harvest. The tractors and trucks were all in one place with apparently no one around, so he surmised, the boys must have shut it down for the night. Grant operated the box lift on his truck, stepped down through the puddle of diesel fuel at the bottom of the truck steps, and thought how grateful he was that it was all a joke and everything was OK. Darrel and his dog, Buzzy, arrived just then to repair the fuel tank, good hammer in hand and ready to go to work. Grant grabbed his long-handled scraper to clean the truck box and stepped down from the cab, ready to go to work.

The Nelson boys' work should have been fairly simple: fix the fuel tank and clean the truck box. Darrel and Buzzy walked up to Grant and were about to say hello to each other when destiny arrived. They surprised the first alien (or they surprised each other), and Grant learned what Darrel knew, that while these aliens were technologically quite advanced, their fight or flight instincts had long ago left them. The scraper he used was meant for hard ice or frozen soil, so it was over-qualified for alien flesh. Grant's fight or flight instinct was still intact as was his "good scraper," which was not subject to alien technology. The Nelsons hammered and scraped their way through waves of aliens while Darrel's dog, Buzzy, chased alien squirrels brought to undermine the native squirrel population. Aliens "in cold-storage" soon started to outnumber "arrogant alie's waiting to trap unwary humans" by five to one.

In the end, all turned out OK. The aliens realized the United States was already over run with illegal aliens and soon there would be nothing to steal, so they flew home. The cold-storage humans had only been lobotomized and so would probably be even more effective as harvest truck drivers and tractor operators. Poor Ryan Swanson was so traumatized that he could never relate to humans again, so he now works for the Postal Service. Darrel and Buzzy went home to Argyle repairing the world instead of saving it. As for Grant, well, he survived that night and had to go back to day shifts at

RLCC Elementary hits home run again on MCA tests

Students and staff at Red Lake County Central Elementary School in Plummer recently took time out of their busy schedules to celebrate their success on the 2007 Minnesota Comprehensive Assessments – Series II – in reading and math.

"We are very proud of our students and their performance on last spring's MCAs but even more proud of our teachers and staff for their efforts in preparing our students," said RLCC Principal Randy Pederson.

Pederson noted that the Legislature eliminated the "star" system on the school report card last year. According to his calculations using the previous year's formula, he shared that RLCC Elementary School would have been designated as a five-star school in both reading and math, the highest rating a school could receive under the old system.

At the conclusion of the celebration, students who had exceeded the standards in reading and/or math were recognized and applauded for their efforts. Students receive one of four letters, depending on how they performed against the standards: D – did not meet standards, P – partially met standards, M – met standards, and E – exceeded standards. "We thought of it like an honor roll and wanted to recognize those students who exceeded the standards," Pederson said. "I am so proud of our staff."

Pederson noted how remarkable the school's accomplishments were. He indicated that 80 percent of RLCC Elementary School students who took the tests last year were eligible for free or reduced lunches and/or special education. Despite those numbers, 92 percent of the students were proficient in reading and 85 percent were proficient in math.

The students who were recognized for their achievements on the MCA-II tests included:

Sen. Stumpf urges hunters to check regulations handbook before heading into the field

As the firearms deer season gets underway, State Senator LeRoy Stumpf (DFL-Plummer) is reminding hunters to review the 2007 Minnesota Hunting and Trapping Regulations Handbook for hunting law changes this year.

The change generating the most questions this year affects deer baiting rules. Under law, it is illegal to hunt deer with the aid of bait. But new language in the law this year specifically allows people to hunt on their own property provided they have not participated in, been involved with, or agreed to feeding wildlife on adjacent land that is owned by another person.

Illegal deer baiting is among the top three deer hunting violations in the state.

The intent of this year's change is to give protection to hunters who are hunting legally on land next to areas where deer are being fed. According to DNR enforcement officials, the situation had sometimes pitted neighbor against neighbor in recent years, when legal hunters were told they were hunting in baited locations due to the fact their neighbors were feeding deer. On the other hand, those on adjacent property who were legally feeding deer were sometimes reluctant to stop the feeding because they enjoyed watching the wildlife. Lawful hunting opportunities were being lost because landowners were restricted from taking deer on their own property even though they weren't involved with the feeding or baiting of deer on adjacent land.

"The law change is aimed at clearing up the confusion," Stumpf said. "Before heading into the field, hunters are urged to review the law, which appears on Page 72 of the DNR's 2007 Hunting and Trapping Regulations Handbook."

According to Stumpf, other hunting law changes this year include:

- A provision allowing crossbows to be used to take deer during the regular firearms deer season, but hunters must use a firearms license. Crossbows are still illegal (with exceptions) during the archery season.
- A measure allowing novice hunters with an "apprentice" license to hunt without a hunter safety certificate as long as they are with a hunter who has one. The intent is to give novice hunters some experience in the field with safety-certified hunters.
- A reduction in the draw weight for bows to take big game from 40 pounds to 30 pounds, making it easier for hunters with disabilities and youth hunters.
- A venison donation program to fund the processing of deer for food shelves.
- A ban on the use of night vision goggles while hunting
- A requirement that the DNR prepare a walk-in hunting access plan, along with recommendations for its implementation. The report is due Jan. 15, 2008.

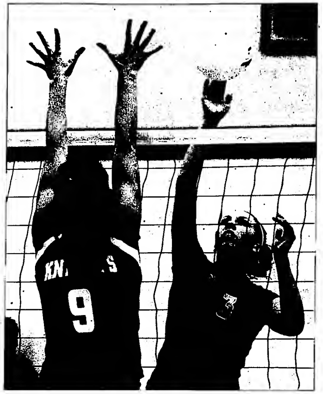
Freeze will play Bears for 8A title

A state tournament berth will be on the line tonight (Saturday) when Northern Freeze and Lake of the Woods meet in the Section 8A high school volleyball tournament finals. Match time at the University of Minnesota-Crookston is 7 p.m.

The championship draw was determined Thursday at UMC when Northern Freeze beat Kittson County Central in the Section 8A West final and Lake of the Woods defeated Mahnomen for the Section 8A East title. Both won by 3-1 margins.

Lake of the Woods opened the night with a 25-17, 25-8, 23-25, 25-17 win.

Northern Freeze stumbled out of the gate but regrouped for a 23-25, 25-17, 25-12, 25-15 victory.



Strong net play by the Bearcats' Whitney Langen and Haylie Holmgren gave her team problems at the start, but between-game adjustments helped turned the tide, according to Northern Freeze coach Missy Thompson. "The girls came together after that first game and played really well," she said. "Alycia Dahl stepped up and played a great second game. She was the key, and the rest of them followed."

Dahl recorded 14 kills and Sasha Magner had 11 for the winners. Molly Magner and Chelsey Davidson shared the setting duties, picking up 19 and 13 assists, respectively.

Northern Freeze served 24 aces in the match, with Dahl getting 10 of them and Molly Magner 8.

"We served really well," confirmed Thompson. "They (Bearcats) had a tough time setting up their Cats, Freeze win 3-2 Section 8A West semi matches...

Marathon night of volleyball

High school volleyball fans got their fill of the sport Tuesday with a pair of five-game Section 8A West semifinal matches at Northland Community and Technical College that stretched over four hours.

When the bump-set-spikes, blocks, digs, aces, cheering, celebrating and crying finally ended, season-extended victories belonged to Kittson County Central and Northern Freeze. Red Lake County Central and Climax/Fisher, meanwhile, were left to think about the near-misses and what-might-have-beens.

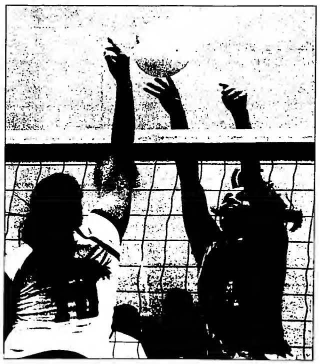
The Bearcats started the wildly exciting doubleheader with a 25-9, 23-25, 25-22, 23-25, 17-15 victory over the Mustangs.

Northern Freeze followed with a 25-11, 18-25, 25-19, 18-25, 15-11 decision against the Knights.

– Bears vs. Mustangs –

With just one senior on the floor, Red Lake County Central had a bit of stage fright at the outset, resulting in the 25-9 Game 1 loss to Kittson County Central.

"Nerves," said Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "We've got young kids and they were nervous at the start."



With a game under their belt, the Mustangs' play improved when they returned to the court. But they were in danger of falling behind 2-0 when a Whitney Langen block made it 23-20.

Red Lake County Central rallied, however, on a kill and an ace by Hannah Vettleson, a hitting error by Kittson County Central, then two more Vettleson aces for the 25-23 come-from-behind Game 2 win.

"We told them they had to play hard when Langen was serving," said Bray. "She was eating us up at the net."

Game 3 was tied at 22-22 before passes."

It was the 27th win in 30 starts this fall for the Freeze, a first-time Section 8A finalist.

"It's exciting," noted Thompson. "Both communities (Newfolden, Karlstad) are congratulating the girls and wishing them good luck."

Lake of the Woods won back-to-back Section 8AA titles in 2005 and 2006 before being reclassified to Class A this year.

In a Sept. 18 regular season meeting at Karlstad, Northern Freeze beat Lake of the Woods 3-1.

The Freeze-Bears winner will face the Section 1A champion, either Wabasha-Kellogg or Bethlehem Academy, in the Class A state tournament quarterfinals Thursday, Nov. 8, at the Xcel Energy Center in St. Paul.

Class A state tournament championship and consolation semifinals will be Friday, Nov. 9. Finals are Saturday, Nov. 10.

the Bearcats scored on a free-ball hit by Leah Schwenzfeier, a block-beating kill by Haylie Holmgren and an ace served by Dana Blomquist.

Despite three straight late-game Red Lake County Central service errors that pulled Kittson County Central within 24-23, the Mustangs tied the match at 2-2, with the final point coming off a hitting error by the Bearcats.

The tie-breaker to 15 was knotted at 12, 13, 14 and 15 points.

A booming Kayla Pelletier mid-court kill had given the Mustangs a 15-14 edge, but their 12th service error of the match tied it again at 15-15.

"Our serving was bad," acknowledged Bray.

Langen closed it out with back-to-back kills, beating a double-block for the final point.

Langen (25) and Holmgren (22) combined for 47 kills. It was a 49-assist night for Blomquist, the Bearcats' setter. Vettleson and Brianna Spong led the Mustangs with 10 and 9 kills, respectively.

"It was a great match," said Bray. "The girls played their hearts out. They didn't quit. They could have given up after the first game, but they didn't. They hung in there."

Belying their No. 8 seed in a 12-team field, the Bearcats were coming off a 3-1 quarterfinal win over top-seed Win-E-Mac

The No. 5-seeded Mustangs finished the year at 15-15, overall. "We did better than we thought we would, being so young," offered Bray.

– Freeze vs. Knights –

Momentum was a missing ingredient in the doubleheader nightcap.

Northern Freeze breezed to a 25-11 Game 1 win, only to fall behind 22-11 in a Game 2 loss.

A 25-19 third game Northern Freeze victory was followed by a 25-18 match-tying Game 4 win by Climax/Fisher.

Starting with a 5-1 lead, Northern Freeze held the upper hand most of the way in the tie-breaker. Climax/Fisher went ahead briefly at 7-6 when a communication mix-up produced an easy point and a quick time-out call by Freeze coach Missy Thompson.

Her message must have been received. The winners never trailed after breaking a 9-9 tie.

Molly Magner's kill down the line made it 13-9, and after being hit by a penalty point, Sasha Magner's spike found a hole in the middle of the Knights' defense to put Northern Freeze at match-point.

It ended with first the Freeze, then the Knights hitting long.

Alycia Dahl and Sasha Magner led the Freeze with 13 and 9 kills, respectively. Chelsey Davidson served eight aces for the winners.

"Alycia had some key kills in the fifth game that really gave the girls the confidence to finish the match," pointed out Thompson. "Chelsey Davidson had a great serving night, and so did Kinzie Magner. Kinzie also had a great defensive night, along with Sasha Magner. She (Kinzie Magner) is a quiet, but solid force."

Engeland (14) and Stephanie Wagner (12) combined on 26 kills for the No. 3-seeded Knights.

The win improved the No. 2-seeded Freeze to 26-3.

"It was a mentally-draining match," admitted Thompson, whose team had been battling illness and struggled at times against a strong opponent. "We really didn't pass all that well on serve receive, and our setters had a tough time getting the sets to the hitters," she explained. "We also had a tough time defending their quick offense offense. We hadn't played a team like that since we faced Warroad, and that was the first game of the season. They ran the quicks and slides, and it took our blockers out of the match."

KCC vs. RLCC

ATTITUDE By Charles Swinson

"The longer I live, the more I realize the impact of attitude on life. Attitude, to me, is more important than facts. It is more important than the past, than education, than money, than circumstances, than failures, than successes, than what other people think or say or do. It is more important than appearance, giftedness or skill. It will make or break a Company ... a Church ... a Home, the attitude we will embrace for that day. We cannot change the inevitable. The only thing we can do is play on the one string we have, and that is our attitude ... I am convinced that life is 10% what happens to me, and 90% how I react to it. And so it is with you ... we are in charge of our Attitudes."

For many years, through generations of railroaders at Thief River Falls , sons and grandsons have developed an attitude concerning their safety and the safety of others. The culture of safety is part of the fabric of our employees' lives and they willingly accept their roles to ensure that all, who come to work, go home to their families and loved ones. Well done!

WIC clinics scheduled in Nov.

The Women, Infants and Children's Supplemental Nutrition Education Program (WIC) is being held during the month of November.

Infants, children up to the age of 5, and women who are pregnant or breast-feeding may be eligible for the program. WIC Quin County is very interested in enrolling pregnant women in the program. It feels that prenatal nutrition is a vital part of producing a healthy baby. It is important to apply for WIC early during pregnancy. No proof of pregnancy is required.

All potential clients must write or call the WIC Program to schedule an appointment. The following is the schedule of WIC Clinics for the month of November:

• Tuesday, Nov. 6, at the Newfolden Community Center.
• Wednesday, Nov. 7 at the Kittson County Courthouse in Hallock.
• Wednesday, Nov. 7 and Thursday, Nov. 8 at the Warroad Community Center.
• Thursday, Nov. 8, at the Red Lake Falls Community Center.
• Friday, Nov. 9 at the Grygla Civic Center.

The United States Senate has unanimously approved a bill that continues funding of the Essential Air Service program, which was set to expire on Nov. 16.

According to the office of Sen. Norm Coleman, the extension would maintain the program until the end of the next fiscal year (Oct. 1, 2008). If Congress is able to pass an FAA reauthorization bill, the bill will likely include a longer term extension of EAS.

The passage of the EAS funding bill provides some certainty to the service provided to Thief River Falls.

Mesaba, through Northwest Airlines, provides 13 flights a week, two flights daily and one on Sunday. Ron Lindberg, public works director, said a two-year service agreement was approved last June or July. He said he thought that agreement calls for service to continue through 2009. EAS program payments to Mesaba is based upon the number of flights they actually provide.

Thief River Falls and Hibbing are the last two airports in the state in the EAS program.

UCare to hold informational meetings in area in November

DNR to test deer for bovine tuberculosis in NW Minnesota

Once again, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will test hunter-harvested deer for bovine tuberculosis (TB) in northwest Minnesota, where the disease was first detected in cattle and wild deer in 2005. Recently, the Minnesota Board of Animal Health announced the detection of another TB-positive cattle herd near Grygla, which is the eighth infected herd found to date. The DNR has sampled over 2,000 deer in this area of the state and has found 13 deer infected with the disease. All were located in a small geographic area near Skime.

"The announcement of another bovine TB-infected cattle herd last week is a constant reminder that we need to remain diligent in our attempts to rid both our domestic cattle herds and wild deer of this disease," commented Dr. Michelle Carstensen, DNR Wildlife Health Program coordinator. "The DNR will continue surveillance efforts this fall. We want to remind hunters that they need to register their deer, and we encourage them to have their deer tested for the disease."

DNR staff, along with trained University of Minnesota veterinary students, will be sampling hunter-harvested deer for bovine TB at the following deer registration stations during the firearms season:

• Skime Store, Skime: Nov. 3-12
• Riverfront Station, Wannaska: Nov. 3-12
• Grygla Co-op, Grygla: Nov. 3-12
• Fourtown Store, Fourtown: Nov. 3-12
• D & G Pro Station, Hayes Lake: Nov. 3-5 and 10-12
• Denny's Outdoor Sports, Roseau: Nov. 3-5 and 10-12
• Cenex C Store, Roseau: Nov. 3-5 and 10-12
• Holiday Station, Warroad: Nov. 3-5 and 10-12
• OJ's Salol Store, Salol: Nov. 3-5 and 10-12
• Farmer's Union Oil, Goodridge: Nov. 5 and 12

"It is voluntary for hunters to allow us to test their deer for bovine TB," said Carstensen, "but we will be relying heavily on hunter cooperation to help us manage this disease in the local deer herd." Hunters that participate in the disease testing will be given a cooperator's patch and have their name entered in a gun raffle for firearms donated by the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association.

Bovine TB is a bacterial disease that can cause lesions to develop in the lungs and chest cavity. This bacterium is not typically associated with muscle tissue; however, the DNR recommends hunters follow proper field dressing techniques (wear disposable rubber gloves and avoid cutting yourself) and cook venison to 165°F to kill all bacteria.

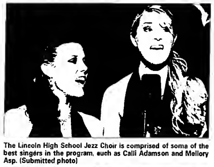
With the nomination, several reference letters were needed from leaders within the county. Harren and Roseau County Attorney Lisa Hanson were happy to write letters of support for the nomination. Harren wrote, "What Ms. Arntzen and Ms. Doehler have achieved in the past 14 months is nothing short of miraculous. They have successfully implemented every program and strategy that they set out to achieve and were able to not only get the key players of prevention efforts in the community to serve on the coalition but to actively engage them in transformative prevention efforts in their circles of influence. This would include school administration, law enforcement, the County Attorney's Office, the County Board of Commissioners, local business, media, and youth themselves."



"Our goal is to get our community working together to keep our youth drug and alcohol free," said Arntzen. "We are grateful to be recognized with this award but even more grateful that people believe in this program and believe in the youth of our county."

LHS to shake the rafters again

(Continued from Page 1) School Concert Choir that weekend, but they will also be cooking for the choir. A huge soul food dinner will be prepared for the singers after the 11 a.m. Presbyterian service. The singers can't wait to see Robert and crew again and to perform with them.

The biggest door that swung open for the singers is a very unique performance opportunity that 75 Concert Choir and Jazz Choir members will have June 20, 2008 in New York City. Because of past choirs performing in the Big Apple and being so respected by the groups that booked them in venues, such as Carnegie Hall, St. John The Divine, and St. Patrick's Cathedral, the choir has now been invited to perform at a venue in Manhattan called Jazz at Lincoln Center. This is a huge honor for the choir. The best news of all is that they will not simply be performing just a few selections ... they will be performing the entire "Shakin The Rafters II" show. Their show is Friday, June 20, at 8 p.m., and already they are working on what the show will look like and how exciting it needs to be for the audience. All guest artists from the May 2007 show will be back on stage at Lincoln High School and New York City with the choir members. This is the second tour that the artists have taken part in with the choir. The artists and choir members performed in Virginia and Washington, D.C., in 2006 when they performed the "Woven Voices, Woven Threads" show. Reese states that, "It never ceases to amaze me how thrilled these professional artists are to work with my singers. I am so proud of these young people."

The choir is looking for individuals or businesses to help sponsor the professional guest artists. If any readers would like to get information on how to help support this experience for the singers please contact Reese as soon as possible at Lincoln High School at 218-681-7432 #192. The students can't wait to bring this show to the stage in Thief River Falls next May. Tickets for the May 18-19, 2008 show will go on sale in March. Don't miss the first Lincoln High School choir concert of the year on Dec. 10, 2007. Tickets will go on sale mid November at Kezar Music.

Daylight-saving time ends on Sunday, Nov. 4

The U.S. Department of Transportation has issued a reminder that daylight-saving time will end at 2:00 a.m. on Sunday, Nov. 4, one week later than in recent years.

Prior to this year, daylight-saving time has been observed from the first Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. As a result of legislation enacted by Congress in 2005, beginning this year daylight-saving time begins the second Sunday of March and ends the first Sunday of November.

When daylight-saving time ends, clocks will be set back one hour, providing an additional hour of daylight in the morning.

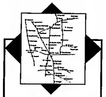
In a Home WITHOUT Working Smoke Detectors

DO YOU HAVE A SMOKE DETECTOR? IS IT WORKING?

Change Your Clocks in the Spring and Fall.
Change Your Smoke Detector Batteries Too!

The Thief River Falls Fire Department is working with the Peters family and other area fire departments to remind every household to install, test and use smoke detectors properly. Test your smoke detectors monthly. Be sure everyone in your home knows the sound of the smoke alarm.

- Install working smoke detectors on every floor of your home (including the basement) and inside or near every sleeping area.
- Test your smoke detectors (use the test button) once a month.
- Replace batteries twice a year (spring and fall when you change your clocks is a good time to remember to do this. Now that you've changed your clocks, make sure you change the smoke detector batteries)
- Never "borrow" the battery from your smoke detector.
- Replace any smoke detector that's more than 10 years old.
- Have a fire escape plan and practice it.
- Choose a safe meeting place if you must leave your home, and make sure everyone knows where to go during an emergency.



For more information on smoke detectors, carbon monoxide detectors, or other fire safety issues in the home, visit our website at visitthiefriverfalls.com and click on the City Government link to find the Fire Department site.

Let's all work together to get this important message out to everyone. We can help avoid another tragedy like the one that happened in Oklee. We will never get over this as a family, we will never forget, but we have to live with it. Thank you to all who helped us with this tragedy.

A memorial lest we forget the commitment made by veterans

Fosston - "'In Webster's dictionary, the formal definition of the word 'name' is a 'title by which something or someone is known.' To take this further, a name can sum up a person's identity and character. It can also remind us of an event pressed into the annals of history, exuding an emotional response.

"Veteran's Memorial in Fosston has become a place of names. One hundred fifty-eight are etched in a stone walkway leading to the main portion of the memorial. Another 15 names are written on stones and marked by trees. What makes it more impressionable is the realization that these trees mark a life given for the sake of our freedom." - The 13 Towns of Fosston, Nov. 6, 2007, by Dan Kindall

Memorial is dedicated to Warren firefighter on November 2

Warren - "Members of the Warren Volunteer Fire Department have erected a statue of a fireman at the Fire Hall as a memorial to a fellow volunteer firefighter, who died as a result of accident injuries two years ago.

"Present for the brief dedication of the memorial for Mark Loeslie of Warren were his widow, Stacy; children, Grace and Markson; parents, Ronald and Carol Loeslie of rural Warren; and Warren Fire Chief Lonnie Stauffenecker.

"Loeslie died Sept. 29, 2005, at the age of 37. He had been injured five days earlier in an all-terrain vehicle accident. A Warren native and graduate of Warren High School, he returned to farm with his parents after completing his college studies. He resided in Warren and was a volunteer firefighter with the fire department for several years." - Warren Sheaf, Nov. 7, 2007

Unicel's national StandUp! program comes to Lafayette

Red Lake Falls - "Shanterra McBride, a national cyber bullying expert from Washington, D.C., and Bob Torres came to Lafayette High School in Red Lake Falls on Nov. 1, representing the Unicel StandUp! program, to do a presentation on cyber bullying for seventh and eighth grade students.

"The Unicel StandUp! program is designed to educate communities about cyber bullying and teach middle school students across the country about using technology responsibly.

"According to a recent national poll conducted by law enforcement officers, one in three teens and one in six preteens are victims of some form of cyber bullying. Students have double the chance of being bullied online than face-to-face.

"So what is cyber bullying? It is using technology, such as cell phones and the Internet, to humiliate another person. Common types of cyber bullying come from Web sites, blogs, chatrooms, instant messaging, e-mail, and cell phone text and photo messaging." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Nov. 7, 2007, by Destiny Harmoning

"I thought doctors automatically diagnosed it and gave an individual a pill and then his or her Lyme disease was all fixed in a couple of weeks."

Rhonda Lofberg, owner of House of Heir in Thief River Falls, wants to remind everyone that the tick season isn't over. After years of struggling with many different illnesses and health-related problems, she learned that she had Lyme disease.

Tick season isn't over

Rhonda Lofberg shares her struggle with Lyme disease

A few years ago, Rhonda Lofberg of Thief River Falls knew very little about Lyme disease. Today, she's so familiar with it she wants to share her knowledge and experience with this disease. She wants to share her story because she wants to educate and empower area citizens. She's not put off by suggestions that this is the wrong time of year. Ticks aren't only active in the spring. They're active in the summer and fall, too. The American Lyme Disease Foundation says the longer the temperature stays above 35 F, the greater the risk for deer tick contact and Lyme disease.

In a statement released by the Minnesota Department of Health in May of 2005, a total of 1,023 Lyme disease cases were reported in Minnesota in 2004, surpassing the previous high number of 867 cases in 2002.

During 2003 through 2005, CDC received reports of 64,382 Lyme disease cases from 46 states and the District of Columbia; 93 percent of cases occurred among residents of the 10 reference states.

Lofberg, whose diagnosis came years after her initial contact, notes that about 200,000 cases are misdiagnosed every year.

When she hears, "Oh, but you look good," her stomach grows tight, and she secretly fights the urge to scream, "No! Not this again!"

Welcome to her world of invisible chronic illness.

"This world is a hard place to live," said Lofberg. In this world, a person feels no one could ever understand how hard it is to live life this way. "It's a world," Lofberg says, "that only someone living with Lyme disease understands."

For Lofberg, understanding begins with understanding that her body always hurts somewhere, and fatigue is an inadequate word for what she feels.

Like many people, when public information about Lyme disease was being distributed, Lofberg only heard the words "Lyme disease," and "stay away from wood ticks." She said she really didn't comprehend what this meant. "I thought doctors automatically diagnosed it and gave an individual a pill and then his or her Lyme disease was all fixed in a couple of weeks."

Lofberg is not a doctor, and stresses that anyone with similar symptoms should consult a medical doctor.

According to the Lyme Disease Association, "When Lyme is diagnosed and treated properly and quickly, most individuals recover fast. Untreated, or inadequately treated, Lyme disease can cause serious lifelong health problems, sometimes leading to disabilities. People with persistent Lyme disease often experience unrelenting, debilitating fatigue, cognitive problems, neurological damage, arthritis, heart damage, vision and hearing deficits or psychiatric problems."

That's what happened to Lofberg. Her journey began about five years ago in September 2002.

Early signs of Lyme disease include the typical "bullseye rash," but Lofberg said she didn't know this is what a Lyme disease tick bite looked like. Lofberg said according to the International Lyme and Associated Diseases Society, if a bullseye rash is present this leads to an automatic diagnosis of Lyme disease. Back in 2002, she did see a few different doctors, and her bite did look just like the classical "bullseye" bite. The rings of white and red areas on her skin were measured. It was even hot and oozing. But Lofberg said she didn't realize what she was looking at. Doctors prescribed antibiotics, which she said, wasn't the correct treatment at this point. When she came back, the rash was even larger and she wasn't given anymore antibiotics, but she was given a decongestant.

Lofberg wants to share her information and start an advocacy group. Lofberg said she can be reached at (218) 689-7353.

Early symptoms of Lyme disease, which are similar to many other illnesses, include: fevers, sore feet, joint pain, swelling in knees, fingers, toes, hips and shoulders, a stiff neck, sore throat, nausea, chills and headaches. One symptom often referred to is a bullseye rash, but Lofberg said that only 40 percent of people ever have a bullseye rash.

Lofberg said she has experienced all of these symptoms, and they started just months after the tick bite. Initially, she said she thought she had the flu. She said she was told she had a viral infection that needed to run its course. In the next couple of years, the pain in her joints became very intense, leaving her stiff and sore.

She said she was still doing some jogging and walking, but her hard workouts had come to an end. Eventually, she said the pain in her feet became very severe - like sharp knives through both of them, and she was having low-grade fevers. It was also about that time she started having severe sinus infections, more shoulder and neck pain, which affected her work. She had stiffness, rigidity, firmness, and an inflexible range of motion in her neck and shoulders.

When she went to a doctor, she said she was diagnosed with arthritis of the neck. Then, her gallbladder started to give her problems and she had it removed. She then had a constant, severe jabbing pain under her rib cage for a year, followed by numbness down her legs and in her shoulders and hands.

"I believe it was nerve related ...

Preventing tick-borne disease

Avoid tick habitats during the peak time of year (generally mid May through mid July).

Use a good tick repellent:

- Carefully use insect repellents and other chemicals on your body, clothes or property according to instructions on the container.
- Products containing permethrin - which are used on clothing - are especially recommended for people who will be spending an extended period of time in possible tick habitat.
- Standard DEET-based products are another option.
- Use a product containing no more than 30 percent DEET for adults and no more than 10 percent for children.

Wear clothes that will help shield you from ticks.

- Long-sleeved shirts and long pants.
- Tuck your pants into the top of your socks or boots to create a "tick barrier."
- It may be easier to spot ticks if you are wearing light colored clothes.

Check frequently for ticks and remove them promptly.

- Ticks must remain attached for one to two days before they can transmit Lyme disease.
- Some research suggests that Human Anaplasmosis may be transmitted more quickly.
- Check the hairline and behind the ears and points of clothing constriction.

If you live in an area with deer ticks:

- Keep your lawn mowed short.
- Remove leaves and clear the brush around your house and at the edges of the yard.
- Keep children's play-sets or swing-sets in a sunny and dry area of the yard.

Tick Removal

If you find a tick on yourself, remove the tick promptly.

- If possible, use a pair of tweezers to grasp the tick by the head
- Grasp the tick close to the skin
- Pull the tick outward slowly, gently, and steadily
- Do not squeeze the tick
- Use an antiseptic on the bite
- Avoid folk remedies like Vaseline*, nail polish remover or burning matches - they are not a safe or effective way to remove ticks

Levy elections bring out voters

Levies approved in three school districts

Three of the four school districts in the region received good news from voters Tuesday. Red Lake School District 630, Kittson County Central School District 2171, Roseau School District 682, and Goodridge School District 561 all referred levy requests to voters. Red Lake School District 630 experienced a close defeat on an operating levy, and Kittson County School District voters approved one capital improvement levy and defeated another, but the others received good news.

When votes were counted, voters in the Red Lake Falls School District turned down an operating levy referendum 206 to 202 - four votes. The question presented to voters proposed to increase the per resident-pupil unit from $1,000 to $1,300. If approved, the existing levy, which was approved in 2003, would have been revoked because it was for a five-year period. The new levy would have been for six years. Funds from the referendum would have supported the maintenance of current programs.

Kittson County School District voters approved one of two proposed questions. The first question, which was narrowly approved by voters 438 to 431, proposed to add elementary classrooms, a media center, multi-purpose gymnasium, locker rooms, boilers and equipment storage areas. The total levy would help raise $5,145,000 for the project. The second question, which was defeated 512 to 352, proposed that the District build a community room and auditorium.

Voters in Goodridge School District 561 resoundingly supported an operating levy referendum by a vote of 75 to 8. The referendum proposed to increase the per pupil revenue for the district by $98.46 per pupil unit. With a similar vote of confidence, voters approved a much larger levy referendum in 2003. That levy referendum was for $1,750 per pupil unit.

Voters in Roseau School District 682 resoundingly supported a referendum to use a one-day bond referendum for a technology initiative program. Funds from the one-day bond would be used to replace aging teacher workstations and purchase new technology equipment, such as Smart Boards and projection units. Roseau is one of 20 School Districts in the state that can take advantage of one-day bond referendums.

TRF leaders have new boss

On a split vote, council approves change

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

City of Thief River Falls department leaders and division leaders are now reporting to the city administrator. The city administrator is also now responsible for the day-to-day operations of the city. At its meeting Tuesday, the Thief River Falls City Council approved those changes.

Motions related to the changes passed by a vote of 5-3. Council members Elvera Cullen, Floyd Erickson and Ken Schmalz voted in opposition to the motions to change the city administrator's job description and affiliated portions of the city code.

The decision came after a failed motion to take the matter off of the council's agenda. The motion failed by a vote of 3-5. Mayor Steve "Beaver" Nordhagen and council members Glen Kajewski, Emery Lee, Odette Bendickson and Conrad Holten voted in opposition.

That motion resulted from a letter sent by Management, Administrative, Professional and Supervisory union employees. The employees asked that the matter "be temporarily removed from the City Council agenda for the Nov. 6, 2007, meeting." They indicated that they were asked to appoint two division directors and two department leaders to meet with the ad hoc committee discussing the city administrator's job description. "We were specifically told at that meeting that we would not be asked for our input at that next meeting," wrote the employees, who noted that the ad hoc committee was talking about having a League of Minnesota Cities representative talk to the committee at the next meeting.

"In any case, at the next committee meeting, those in attendance were asked if they had anything to say," the employees continued. They indicated that they felt the off-the-cuff remarks, which were given without any preparation, weren't the same as what they "thought would be a real discussion about a serious structure change."

The MAPS employees were given an opportunity to speak at every ad hoc committee meeting, said Lee, a member of that committee.

Nordhagen voiced his dissatisfaction about the timing of the letter. "The timing of the letter, to me, was frustrating," said Nordhagen, who noted he received the letter Nov. 3.

Kick'n Up Kountry in TRF on Labor Day

Comedy act signed for Labor Day event

Kickn' Up Kountry will be returning to the Pennington County Fairgrounds for a performance-filled Labor Day weekend on Aug. 29, 30 and 31, 2008. Event organizer Ardell Larson announced on Monday, Nov. 5, that negotiations with the Pennington County Fair Association had been successfully concluded and that Kickn' Up Kountry would be at the fairgrounds in Thief River Falls again.

Tickets for the event can already be purchased online at www.kicknupkountry.com. Larson said that because of the long negotiation process, she decided to extend the Early Bird Special until the end of November, and the Extra Early Bird Sponsor Package until Dec. 31. These packages provide discount ticket prices.

In the past, a comedy act has been a part of the festival. Last year, there wasn't a comedy act, but Larson has decided to add a comedy act to the 2008 lineup. Larson announced she has signed Memories of Mayberry, a two person comedy act that brings the characters of Barney and Gomer back to the stage and crowd. Gomer and Barney, along with their Mayberry Squad car, travel all over the country entertaining folks and spreading that good ol' Mayberry fun.

Ardell Larson

Larson said she has received quite a few inquiries about what other acts she plans to sign for next year, but she's staying mum on the subject for now. She said she'll reveal that news at a major press conference at a local business later this year. She did say she has had so many requests to bring back Neal McCoy and Mustang Sally that she is planning to bring those two acts back.

Hopes, Dreams and Smiles will again be a part of the event. Hopes, Dreams and Smiles is a nonprofit foundation that helps children with life threatening illness.

Larson said it all began in 2004, the first year of the Kick'n Up Kountry music festival in Hallock. During that event, David Wells called about tickets for the show. He asked what entertainers were coming and Larson read off the list, and when she got to the name of Neal McCoy, he said, "you have got to be

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Easy meals are the name of the game this week. These are not only easy, but delicious. The family will love them.

You can't get easier than this quick and hearty soup and it serves a big bunch of people, too:

BEAN SOUP IN A MINUTE
2 (11 ounce) cans bean and bacon soup, undiluted
1 soup can water
3 (15 ounce) cans great northern or navy beans, undrained
1 (15 ounce) can jalapeno pinto beans, undrained
1 medium onion, chopped very fine
1 teaspoon salt (or less - use as needed)
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder (be sure to use this - it adds that special zing)
1/4 teaspoon pepper

In large soup pot or Dutch oven, combine all ingredients. Simmer about 20 minutes and serve. Makes 3 quarts.

This simple salad will taste great with today's dishes - it'll be a favorite:

FALL FRUIT SALAD
2 bananas, sliced
1 apple, cored and cut into chunks
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 (11 ounce) can mandarin oranges, drained
1/2 cup raisins
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
4 tablespoons frozen whipped topping
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing

Toss banana and apple slices with orange juice. Drain any excess juice. Toss with all remaining ingredients. Chill. Recipe serves 6.

It's fair time at home on a cold day - these will be perfect with that bean soup:

CORN-DIPPED DOGS
3/4 cup yellow cornmeal
3/4 cup self rising flour*
1 egg, beaten
2/3 cup milk
10 small wooden sticks
10 hot dogs
Oil for deep frying

Combine cornmeal, flour and egg and mix well. Stir in milk to make a thick batter. Let stand 4 minutes.

Meanwhile, insert sticks in hot dogs. Heat oil to 375 degrees. Dip dogs on sticks in batter and then fry in oil until golden (5-6 minutes). Drain on paper towels.

*To make your own self-rising flour, place 1 teaspoon baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt in measuring cup. Add enough all-purpose flour to equal 3/4 cup.

If you aren't in the mood for hot dogs tonight, try these tasty treats. You can pick and choose what you put in them, depending on the leftovers in your fridge. They'll make a great meal or tasty treat while spending an evening at home:

TASTY ROLL-UPS
2 tablespoons salsa
1 or 2 jalapeno peppers, seeded
1 garlic clove
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 (16 ounce) can refried beans
1/2 teaspoon cumin
1 tablespoon chopped fresh cilantro, as desired
1 cup cubed cooked chicken
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese, divided
10-12 flour tortillas (6 inches)
Sour cream
More salsa

Mix salsa, jalapenos, garlic, onion, beans, cumin, cilantro, chicken and 1/2 cup of the cheese in food processor. Blend smooth.

Spread evenly over tortillas. Roll up and place seam side down in a greased 9x13 inch baking dish. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until heated through.

Sprinkle with remaining cheese and let stand until cheese melts. Serve with sour cream and/or salsa.

Dessert can be so easy - the kids will love to make it and so will you. You can have any flavor you like and even mix and match. Make this one ahead of time too:

ICE CREAM PUDDING
1 small package instant pudding mix, any flavor
1 cup cold milk
2 cups softened ice cream, any flavor

Beat pudding mix and milk on low for 1 minute. Fold in ice cream until smooth. Spoon into dishes and chill for 1 hour (or freeze slightly for something entirely different).

Nominations are being accepted for NW Minnesota Women's Hall of Fame

Nominations will be accepted until Dec. 1, 2007, for women to be considered for induction into the Northwest Minnesota Women's Hall of Fame. Nominees, who may be living or deceased, must demonstrate a connection to the area of northwest Minnesota that includes the counties of Beltrami, Cass, Clearwater, Hubbard, Kittson, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau.

A selection board will review the nominees based on the person's significant contribution to art, athletics, business, government, philanthropy, humanities, science or education. In particular, the nominee's achievements and contributions must be of enduring and lasting value to society, significant groups within the region, or to the progress and freedom of women.

In addition to the individual's name and contributions, the nomination should include the person's accomplishments, biographical data, educational background and awards. Additional items such as evidence of a lasting legacy, including the nominee's impact in the region, news articles or publications written either by or about the nominee, and letters of support are strongly encouraged.

Previous inductees include: Marilyn Heltzer, Bemidji; Neen Lillquist, Laporte; Dr. Kathleen Annette, Bemidji; Susan Mills, Crookston; Olga Peterson, Clearbrook; Velma Oakland, Red Lake Falls; Nancy Burggraf, Roseau; Esther Fieldman, Park Rapids; Paula W. Bruss Bauck, Roseau; Moe Barness, Bagley; Dr. Mary Chapman Ghostley, Puposky; Anne M. Dunn, Cass Lake; Margaret Marvin, Warroad; Esther Burnett Horne, Waubun; Gretchen Urnes Beito, Thief River Falls; Ruth Edevold, Bagley; Coya Knutson, Oklee; Helen Gill, Bemidji; and Hazel Wahlberg, Roseau.

Individuals and groups wishing to recommend outstanding women for this award may read about these inductees and download application materials online at www.nwmf.org/wfund_whf.php. Contact Lisa Peterson, Northwest Minnesota Foundation, at 218-759-2057 or 800-659-7859 with questions.

Aron L. Leas graduates from basic training

Army National Guard Pvt. Amn L. Leas has graduated from basic military training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C., to be a member of the Army National Guard or Reserve Split-option Program.

The program allows students between their junior and senior years of high school to attend National Guard or reserve weekend drills while still in school and pursue a military career specialty after they graduate from high school.

During the nine weeks of training, the soldier studied the Army mission, history, tradition and core values, physical fitness, and received instruction and practice in basic combat skills, military weapons, chemical warfare and bayonet training, drill and ceremony, marching, rifle marksmanship, armed and unarmed combat, map reading, field tactics, military courtesy, military justice system, basic first aid, foot marches, and field training exercises.

Leas is the daughter of Elaine Rue of Viking.

Life after Suicide

It is now three years since my son, Aric Alan Gerszewski took his life. He would be 20 now in college or starting his life.

Teen suicide is on the rise 2004 was marked as a real bad year. We have heard sayings like "Suicide is a selfless act". I beg to differ.

Everyone has a purpose that intertwines with people, projects and events like a complex web, it is beautiful. We all experience BUGS in our lives, hitting our web and we have the daunting task of fixing it or starting over. We make a difference, each time we learn and evolve.

I hear about cancer patients fighting for there lives and our Children and Loved ones are dying by there own hands. They are both medical problems that sometimes lead to death but I see it as it does not have to be.

Depression "Hurts" boy does it ever! And you want it to stop Now! The treatment is not pleasant but it works and you get to find out what you are about. And how to deal with those BUGS, they will always be there but you can repel them (so to speak) and get to the good stuff

Suicide affects the web of life around you in this way. Your pain affects the web. You opt out and the pain travels through the web of life to each life you have affected. Unlike accidental and illness deaths, suicide betrays our basic human existence to preserve life at all costs. The effect is not good

Your friends are the closest people to you next to your family. What could we do to help each other? Your death has changed the course of our lives. It is more than a side step. Our webs are ruined and we have to try to start over. The web I see today is misshapen and will always be a work in progress.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Veterans Day reminds us of our commitment

I miss Marilyn Winters. Since she passed away on July 12, I don't think we've received half as much news about our veterans at the American Legion Club and not nearly as much news about members of the American Legion Post Auxiliary. I miss Marilyn because she was always helpful, kind and courteous. Even when she wasn't feeling well she tried to brighten a room with a smile.

Marilyn and many other individuals in our community recognize and appreciate the commitment veterans made to this country. I suspect that people like Marilyn, and there are many, also believe that commitment didn't end when soldiers came home.

On Nov. 17, we recognize our veterans. In a broader sense, we recognize those people like Marilyn and the function and purpose of veteran clubs in our community.

Veteran clubs and organizations provide a place where men and women, who fought for us, can make their long journey back "through the darkness and despair of war to hope and peace." But people like Marilyn also recognize that the obligation and duty to country extends beyond the battlefield and dress uniforms to community. Because of people like Marilyn, veterans at veteran organizations continue their duty to country and community by supporting sports programs, college educations, community events and activities and the soldiers. On Nov. 17, we honor the brave men and women of our Armed Forces. We also honor the men and women who continue their commitment to their communities.

If you're a veteran, consider joining veteran organizations. Not only will members of these clubs help you find a way "through the darkness and despair of war to hope and peace," but they'll help you find hope and peace by extending your commitment and duty to community, which is definitely something worth fighting for.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

along with the migraines, which I never suffered prior. Needless to say, doctors had me try several different migraine pills and shots, but nothing seemed to be the correct fit for my symptoms. I woke up a few times so dizzy I could not drive my children to school," said Lofberg.

Eventually, she said she became sleep deprived. All of the problems led to exploratory surgery and the removal of her appendix "because it looked unhealthy."

Another year went by and more symptoms appeared. Just when she thought nothing else could go wrong, the right side of her face went numb down into her neck. She thought she had Bell's Palsy, but a doctor thought she was way too young to have that, and since she had had so many tests, he suggested she get more exercise and eat healthier. He also considered the possibility that she was overstressed from her job, which she said she has always enjoyed, and that she was perhaps depressed. She recalls that the discussion left her feeling belittled, hurt and upset and that no one was listening to her. She said she "felt lost in the huge world of technology."

In September of 2006, she saw her neurologist in Grand Forks, N.D., and was given a steroid pack to try to cut through the migraines, even though she didn't believe they were normal migraines. She said she always described the migraines as some sort of head pressure that never went away. Doctors, she said, tried different medications and a steroid pack. Within a week she was extremely ill and then hospitalized. Her heart rate dropped, and she was having heart pain and numbness down her left arm. The doctors moved her to the cardio floor where she would be continuously monitored. A team of six doctors tried to figure out what was going on. Yet again, she was told everything was fine except for a low level of potassium.

"I prayed to God to help me, guide me, and give me the strength to get through everyday he has given me. I am fortunate to have the strong spiritual beliefs I needed to do something for myself. I felt I had no more options at this point, medically." Lofberg also said her husband and two children, and her entire extended family have been very supportive.

But her experience led her to retreat from being sociable and outgoing to withdrawn. She was sad, hurt, frustrated, angry, confused and felt misunderstood and minimized. But she didn't give up.

This past summer she did what is called Quantum Biofeedback, which is a whole other topic. She said that it indicated she had stage four chronic Lyme disease. She was encouraged by what she went through and encourages others to contact QBF. The number is 689-4421. Because of all the tests she'd had in the past, however, it left her with mixed feelings of where she should go from there.

A few days later, she said her daughter researched Lyme disease on the Internet. She showed her a picture of a Lyme disease tick bite, and Rhonda said she knew instantly that's what she had. After that revelation, she started researching everything she could on Lyme disease and found that she had almost every symptom there was. "Now, I had to get the doctors to believe me without a positive test." She said she went to the doctors and explained what happened. The doctor did a regular Elisa test, which was sent to the Mayo Clinic. The results came back negative. She said she was heart broken, knowing she had the disease and yet unable to get proper treatment.

A short while later she ran into an old college friend who, after 12 years of suffering, had recently been diagnosed with Lyme disease. She gave her the name of IGeneX, Inc. out of Palo Alto, Calif. (1-800-832-3200, or www.igenex.com) She explained that the IGeneX Lab is one of the best labs in the nation for tick-borne disease research and diagnosis. They test all the DNA rings for Lyme disease, not just a few. She went back to her doctor and he signed off for the blood work.

While she was waiting for the results, which took two weeks, she was introduced to Tracie Schissel from the Minnesota Lyme Fighters Advocacy group out of Brainerd. She talked to her and explained the situations. "Most importantly, she believed me; and her support was tremendous. I could call her anytime and she would always listen to me," said Lofberg.

When her test results arrived, she was extremely nervous and anxious. They were "positive" by Igenex standards. She said this news brought forth in her an overwhelming surge of emotions and relief. Now, there was something to go on by doctors' standards. Now, she could get the correct treatment. It gave her new hope and faith.

Lofberg is now seeing a doctor that specializes in Lyme disease and has kept in contact with her local doctor. She realizes now that recovery will take a long time.

Rhonda hopes everyone will learn from her experience. "Lyme disease ticks do not care what age, nationality or socio-economic background you are; they invade your body and slowly begin to take you over." She wants to share her information and start an advocacy group. Lofberg said she can be reached at 689-7353.

Deer tick bites can leave a distinctive ring and rash on its victims as pictured above. While this may be an indicator of Lyme disease, other tests will be required.

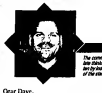
Deadline for FSA election ballots is Dec. 3

The Pennington County Farm Service Agency (FSA) Office would like to inform area producers that the FSA County committee elections began on Nov. 2, 2007. The deadline for eligible voters to return ballots to the FSA County Office is Dec. 3, 2007.

The 2007 FSA County Committee election in Pennington County is being held in Local Administrative Area 3, which includes the townships of Clover Leaf, Deer Park, Goodridge, Hickory, Highlanding, Kratka, Reiner and Star. The local producers on the ballot are Kelly Dahlen, Mike Hanson, Greg Hilgeman and Marlin Kotrba.



FSA County Committee members apply their knowledge and judgements to make decisions on disaster and conservation payments, producer appeals, employing FSA County Executive Directors, and other local issues. FSA County Committees operate within official regulations designed to carry out Federal laws.

To be an eligible voter, farmers must participate or cooperate in FSA Programs. A person who is not of legal voting age but supervises and conducts the farming operations of an entire farm, can also vote. Agricultural producers in each county submitted candidate names during the nomination period held last summer.

Eligible voters in Local Administrative Area 3 who do not receive ballots in the coming week can obtain ballots at their local FSA County Office. December 3, 2007, is the last day for voters to submit ballots in person to their local FSA County Office. Ballots returned by mail may be postmarked no later than December 3, 2007. Newly elected FSA County Committee members and alternates take office January 1, 2008.

Close to 8,000 FSA County Committee members meet monthly at more than 2,300 FSA County Offices nationwide. Each FSA County Committee consists of three to five members who serve three-year terms. Approximately one-third of the FSA County Committee seats are up for election annually.

For more information on the FSA County Committees and the FSA Programs producer should call the Pennington County FSA Office at (218) 681-1612 or visit www.fsa.usda.gov.

Dear Dave,

I'm writing you this letter at a very early hour so please disregard any sleepy thoughts that make their way through the grammar check on my computer. I have been working days, so I awake at 4:30 each morning, whether I work or not. I have told Lisa several times that I'm going to go into town on my days off and sit with the early risers and drink coffee at Pennington Main; sort of a window on my own future retirement.

We spoke this week on the phone and one thing struck me, it seems as though, more often than not, we share weather conditions. We used to talk about the weather and its effect on farming. Weather conditions in Carrington, N.D., used to arrive in about two weeks. It seems our growing and harvest seasons are almost the same, now. The combines roll in mid to late July and are shedded the day prior to the first blizzard. Dave, just a "heads up," the lady who was stocking the household cleaner aisle at Wal-Mart told me this week that her ankle was hurting so we should expect snow soon; please alert all of your loved ones and get the combines indoors.

We harvested this week and it was a pretty good crop. This is the first year I ever combined my "Canamaize" grazing corn and it worked pretty well. Canamaize is very low in lignin so the stalks are higher in quality than most so they are baled after harvest. I love the work at harvest as my neighbor, Paul Mossbeck, did the combining and Richard Anderson from Viking did the baling. I simply ride around on my four-wheeler and try to act like the pressure of harvest is just killing me. I feel like one of those Twin Cities deer hunters who have trail cams that send pictures to their cell phones, we're both just a little too removed from the situation to claim any real interest in the process.

It will soon be snowmobile season. At our farm, it is always snowmobile season. I have purchased several John Deere snowmobiles since last winter and estimate their total worth well in excess of $35! It's not the value, it's the memories as I am fond of saying. My most recent purchase is a 1976 John Deere Cyclone, which I purchased from Ted Yutrzenka in Argyle and is THE snowmobile I wanted when I was about 12. Recently, I built shelves in my shop so I can stack the Deere's two levels high, never has so much square footage been wasted on such a tail chasing exercise, but that is my way.

Thanks for the phone call on my birthday. It was nice that my family called me on my special day, but the day was also a cause for anxiety; I'm not sure how I will handle turning 30. It's a concern.

Tell the wife and kinder hello

Your little bro

Chamber committee celebrates American Education Week

Max Forman once said, "Teachers are people who start things they never see finished, and for which they never get thanks until it is too late."

On Nov. 11-17, 2007, the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce School/Business Partnership Committee will join millions of Americans nationwide in celebrating public schools during the National Education Association's 86th annual American Education Week.

At Tuesday's Thief River Falls City Council meeting, Mayor Steve "Beaver" Nordhagen signed a proclamation for American Education Week. The proclamation states that "public schools are the backbone of our democracy, providing young people with the tools they need to maintain our nation's precious values of freedom, civility and equality; and ... education employees, be they substitute educators, custodians, teachers, bus drivers or librarians, work tirelessly to serve our children and communities with care and professionalism."

The Chamber committee will show its appreciation by delivering goodies to each of the school's staff room. This activity will be part of a nationwide effort to draw attention to American Education Week's 2007 theme, "Great Public Schools: A Basic Right and Our Responsibility." The theme reflects the association's calling upon America to provide students with quality public schools, so they can grow, prosper and achieve in the 21st century.

Crop disaster sign up now underway

The Pennington County Farm Service Agency office wants to remind producers that the sign up for the Crop Disaster Program is underway at FSA offices. CDP reimburses insured producers for qualifying crop production losses to crops for either the 2005 or 2006 crop years, or for crops planted prior to Feb. 28, 2007. Losses must have occurred due to natural disasters.

To be eligible for CDP, farmers must have had the crop insured under Federal crop insurance coverage or Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program coverage for the year they are requesting benefits. Producers who incurred qualifying losses in 2005, 2006 or 2007, must choose only one year to receive benefits. Benefits are available for losses to multiple crops, if the losses occurred in the same crop year. Damages must be in excess of 35 percent for 2005, 2006 or 2007 crop losses of production.

The payment rate for CDP is 42 percent of the established commodity price for insured crops. Producers will have a choice of receiving payments for 2005, 2006 or 2007 crops, in an administrative county. Payments are limited to $80,000 per producer or entity.

FSA will conduct a separate sign up for the quality loss portion of the CDP at a later date.

Producers with questions concerning CDP should contact their local FSA County Office, the Pennington County FSA Office at 681-1612 ext. 2, or visit the FSA Web site at www.fsa.usda.gov.

Freeze lose state debut

Experience makes a difference. Bethlehem Academy swept Northern Freeze 25-18, 25-21, 25-19 Thursday in the opening round quarterfinals of the 2007 Class A state high school volleyball tournament at the Xcel Energy Center in St. Paul.

Bethlehem Academy is a team that has played in five straight state tournament championship matches. Northern Freeze is a first-time tournament entry.

The Cardinals from Fairbault took a 23-8 record into the Friday championship semifinals. It was the end of a 20-match winning streak for the Marshall County Central/Tri-County Northern Freeze cooperative, 28-4 heading into Friday's state consolation semifinals.

A kill by Alycia Dahl gave Northern Freeze a 4-3 Game 1 edge. But Bethlehem Academy led 10-6 on a kill by Laura Slinger; went up 15-9 on a kill by Holly Hafemeyer; had a 20-10 advantage off a Northern Freeze attack error; and closed it on a kill by Nicole Pothen.

The Cardinals led from start to finish in Game 2. A kill by Hafemeyer made it 5-1; a kill by Slinger produced a 10-6 lead; an ace serve by Pothen provided a 15-9 cushion; and a Freeze attack error created a 20-14 spread.

Northern Freeze made a late charge in the second game to get within 23-21 after a Bethlehem Academy attack error, but the Cardinals cut off the comeback with kills by KariAnne Nass and Hafemeyer.

The Freeze mounted a Game 3 challenge when a Sasha Magner kill put the Section 8A champions up 16-15. However, the Cardinals led 20-18 off a hitting error, grabbed control on back-to-back kills by Hafemeyer, then completed the sweep on a kill by Stephanie Meschke.

Dahl finished with a match-high 13 kills. Molly Magner (14) and Chelsey Davidson (12) combined for 26 assists. Hafemeyer led the Cardinals with 12 kills. Liz Schlobohm had 24 assists.

Northern Freeze had a 5-3 edge in service aces, but they also had more service errors, 7-4.

Pioneers beat Comets 71-57 in men's basketball...

Northland wins opener

Two men's basketball programs coming off national tournament runner-up performances a year ago, met Wednesday in Thief River Falls when Northland Community and Technical College opened its 2007-08 season at home against the Mayville (N.D.) State University junior varsity.

The Pioneers reached the finals of the 2007 NJCAA Division III national tournament. The Comets were national tournament finalists in NAIA Division III.

Northland beat the Mayville JV 71-57.

Eleven Pioneers put their names in the Game 1 scoring column, led by Tomas Loberg, a 6-9 sophomore from Grygla, with 12 points and Jeremy Sich, a 5-8 freshman from Thief River Falls, with 11. The Comets were led by 6-1 freshman Mike Pajor of Sioux Falls, S.D., with 20 points and 6-2 junior Bryce Laxdal of Edinburg, N.D., with 12.

It was a 36-26 Northland lead at halftime.

"It was about what I expected," said Northland coach Rick Nikunen in describing the Pioneers' opening night performance. "We looked good at times and not so good at other times. It's really hard getting into a comfortable rotation this early in the season."

Northland was 32-for-67 from the field (48 percent). Mayville went 16-for-52 (31 percent).

There was no home court edge in the foul department. Northland was 2-for-6 at the free throw line, where Mayville went 15-for-20.

"We committed a lot of fouls in the first half," pointed out Nikunen. "We had guys flying around out there."

The Pioneers beat the Comets on the boards 49-40, with Courtney VanBeest, a 6-5 forward from London, grabbing 12 rebounds.

Mayville topped the turnover charts 18-17.

Northland will take on another North Dakota foe Tuesday, Nov. 13, when the Pioneers' second start will be a road match-up with the Jamestown College junior varsity.

Scoring

	1	2	T
Mayville State JV	25	31	57
Northland	36	35	71

Mayville JV - Bryce Laxdal 12, Charlie Hill 3, Chanse Komik 2, Mike Pajor 20, Scott Abdal 3, Matt Lantz 4, Luke Christensen 5, Micah Berge 6.

Northland - Johnell Hallman 1, Matt Horosji 3, Zach Larson 7, Thomas Reokenski 7, Jeremy Sich 11, Johan Philmon 2, Travis Lage 9, Courtney VanBeest 8, Alex Smith 8, Marcus Gardnier 5, Tomas Loberg 12

Pioneers start with Canada opponents

■ Northland women's basketball

Sounds of Canada's national anthem will be floating through the hallways at Northland Community and Technical College Nov. 12 and 13 when the Pioneers open their 2007-08 women's basketball season with back-to-back games against Manitoba opponents.

Winnipeg Swoosh visit Monday. Providence College and Seminary will be in Thief River Falls Tuesday. Both games have 6 p.m. start times.

The first opponent is a junior women's club team in its fourth year of operation designed for players to compete in college-level basketball while completing post-secondary studies. The Swoosh features players ages 18-24 who typically attend the University of Winnipeg or University of Manitoba. They play in the Winnipeg Senior Women's Basketball League and also schedule games against college teams in Canada, North Dakota and Minnesota.

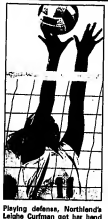
Providence is a member of Manitoba's Central Plains Athletic Association, along with Canadian Mennonite University, Red River College, St. Boniface College and Oak Hills College.

Northland is coming off a campaign in which the Pioneers, despite a 12-14 regular season record, advanced to the National Junior College Athletic Association Division III national tournament in New York.

Just two players return from the team that won the NJCAA Region 13B title: 5-11 forward Casey Engelstad from Thief River Falls and 5-9 forward/center Sara Rindahl from Goodridge. Engelstad averaged 13.2 points and 7.8 rebounds per game as a freshman; Rindahl averaged 6.4 points and 7.7 rebounds per contest.

"Our returning sophomores are doing a good job as team leaders," said Northland coach Guy Finstrom. "They've been there. They know what it takes and they have the intensity. They've been running the ball club."

There is a third sophomore on the roster in 6-2 Lake Region transfer Missy Hanks of Cass Lake.



What this year's squad has over last year's eight-player team is depth. Finstrom will start the season with 13 players.

Freshmen on the roster include 5-7 guard Shawna Rogalla, Thief River Falls; 6-0 forward/center Brooke Conely, Warren; 5-8 guard/forward Stephanie Klamar and 5-10 forward Justyne Larson, Grygla; 5-9 forward Sarah Passa, Drayton, N.D.; 5-4 guard Tresta Ralston, Fordville-Lankin, N.D.; 5-1 guard Kelsey Gust, Larimore, N.D.; 5-7 guard Alexandria Engelman, St. Croix Lutheran; 5-10

Playing defense, Northland's Leighe Curfman got her hand on the ball trying to come up with a block against Central Lakes in National Junior College Athletic Association Division III Region 13B tournament play Nov. 2. The host Raiders advanced to the NJCAA national tournament with a 3-0 sweep over the Pioneers. (Photo by Clint Wood, Brainerd Daily Dispatch).

Northland women will open season Monday forward Amanda Beck, Menahga; and 5-2 guard Keandria Cobbins, St. Paul Central.

"We've got depth," confirmed Finstrom. "We've got a lot of kids who can play."

With numbers, Finstrom will be able to run a fast break offense and employ full-court pressure defense – options that are not there with a bare-bones roster.

Hard work should carry the defense. The offense will have to prove itself. "I think our mid-range shooting will be improved," said Finstrom. "Our outside shooting is a question mark right now. But I think we'll be getting extra chances with our (strong) rebounding."

Last year's post-season success will likely mean additional attention this winter, acknowledged Finstrom. "We've got a bulls-eye on our back," he said. "Teams will be gunning for us. Practice has been going well. I think we'll be okay, but that depends on what everybody else has."

Northland was ranked No. 13 in the preseason NJCAA Division III national poll. Three Minnesota teams were ranked in the top ten, including No. 1 Anoka-Rasmey; No. 5. Itasca; and No. 9. Rochester.

The Pioneers will not begin Minnesota Community College Conference play until January.

Two people injured in broadside accident Monday

Two people were injured in a broadside accident north of Warroad on Monday evening.

Samuel W. Hunt, 18, and Melissa Olimb, 17, both of Warroad, were injured in the crash. They were taken to LifeCare Medical Center in Roseau. Hunt was treated and released, according to the Minnesota State Patrol report. A report on Olimb's status wasn't available from LifeCare Medical Center.

At the time of the accident, Hunt was driving a 1992 Buick Regal northbound on Highway 313. He attempted to turn west onto County Road 13, failing to yield to a southbound 1993 Ford driven by Joseph G. Lucca, 49, Roosevelt. Lucca's car then collided with the passenger side of Hunt's car. (The model of Lucca's car wasn't listed in the report.)

The report indicates that Hunt and Olimb weren't wearing their seat belts. It wasn't known whether Lucca was wearing his seat belt. Hunt's car was totalled. No damage was reported to Lucca's vehicle.

The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 6 p.m. Monday.

The congregation of the Evangelical Free Church, Thief River Falls, will officially dedicate its worship center on Sunday, Nov. 18. The community is invited to a free pancake breakfast that will be held from 8 to 10 a.m. at the church, and to the church service at 10:30 a.m. that will include the dedication of the worship center. Pastor Curtis Anderson, who served the congregation from 1977 to 1998, will be the guest speaker.

Evangelical Free Church dedication ceremony Nov. 18

Evangelical Free Church, Thief River Falls, will officially dedicate its new worship center during a ceremony at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, Nov. 18. Construction on the facility, which is located at 211 Arnold Ave. N., adjacent to the former Washington Elementary School, was completed this past year.

"We're really excited to have this wonderful facility," said Pastor Mel Sich. Sich noted that while it's an impressive structure from the outside, it's very beautiful inside. "We'd love to see it used to reach out to the community and teach the word of God."

The public is invited to attend the dedication ceremony, which starts at 10:30 a.m., and the free community pancake breakfast from 8 to 10 a.m. Sich said the public is welcome to attend the 10:30 a.m. dedication service. Pastor Curtis Anderson, who served the congregation from 1977 to 1998, will be the guest speaker. During the service, a slide show will chronicle the construction of the new worship center.

The Evangelical Free Church was established in 1900 and was initially known as the Scandinavian Evangelical Church. Their first church was located on Horace Avenue between First and Second Streets. The growth of the congregation in the early years was somewhat slow, but steady. In September 1952, the building and property were sold to the Salvation Army. A new building was erected in 1953 at the corner of Third Street and Kendall Avenue. As the congregation continued to grow, additional remodeling projects provided only temporary relief from overcrowded conditions. When studies indicated that remodeling and enlarging the building were no longer cost effective, a motion was passed in June 1992 to relocate and build. Several sites were being considered when the former Washington Elementary School building came up for sale. The building was purchased in 1995 for $525,000.

When the congregation moved into the former Washington Elementary School, it was with the intention that the congregation would someday build a worship center to complement the classroom facilities. In 2004, a financial campaign was embarked upon to raise at least $475,000 over a three-year period. The vision for the center included seating for just over 500 people with the ability to add over 200 temporary seats. The worship center would be for Sunday morning services, funerals, weddings, concerts and other special events.

Work on the worship center began with the Architectural firm Schoen Associates of Grand Forks, N.D., and Contractor Roers' Construction of Fargo, N.D. On Sept. 3, 2006, the congregation broke ground for the new worship center.

Langlands complete Marine Corps Marathon

Jim and Penny Langland and their son Matt Langland completed the Marine Corps Marathon on Oct. 28.

In its long history, the Marine Corps Marathon has not only made a name for itself in sheer size as the 4th largest U.S. Marathon and seventh in the world but stands as the largest marathon in the world that doesn't offer prize money, earning its nickname, "The People's Marathon."

The Langlands walked the course, completing it in 6:52:30 and 6:52:31.

The 26.2-mile course starts in Arlington, Va., and winds its way through the District of Columbia and past numerous monuments, thus another nickname - "Marathon of the Monuments" - before finishing at the Marine Corps War Memorial.

Winners of this year's race were Tamarat Ayalew, 31, Atlanta, Ga., in a time of 2:31:20, and Kristen Henehan, 28, Silver Spring, Md., in 2:51:14.

kidding. That is my daughter's favorite artist. She is 14 years old and has leukemia. If I buy tickets, do you think you could make it possible for her to meet him?"

Larson said she told him she'd write a letter to McCoy, which she did, and McCoy's road manager responded that of course he'd see her.

"When it came time to meet him, I walked beside her in the line and when I saw the joy, smiles and excitement I just brought to that girl for even one day or one weekend, I became determined to make this happen for more children with a life-threatening illness," said Larson.

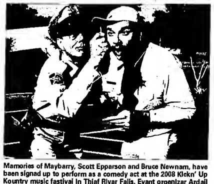
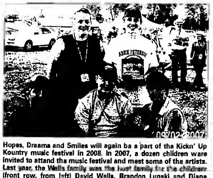
Larson continued to work toward establishing a nonprofit organization that would help raise funds for this part of the festival and put smiles son more children's faces. Last year, she accomplished that task when Northwest Minnesota Foundation, Bemidji, agreed to oversee and manage the fund.



David, Diane and Brittany Wells have again volunteered to be the host family for this part of the festival since it meant so much to Brittany that first year.

The first meeting of the advisory board for Hopes, Dreams and Smiles met on Oct. 17. Larson said that at that meeting it was decided to allow the child with the life-threatening illness, the parents and one sibling to attend the festival through the organization. Larson said the child with the life-threatening illness will receive a gift bag with lots of fun things to remember the weekend by, and the whole family will receive VIP tickets, an overnight stay at a motel, front row seats at the festival, an autograph and picture-taking session with the artists, and a limousine ride to and from the festival. The total estimated cost of this package is $2,000.



Members of the committee include Ardell Larson, Lake Bronson, Attorney Larry McDowell, Thief River Falls, Roger Thomas P.A., Thief River Falls, Glen Brazier, CEO of Mattracks, Greenbush, David, Diane and Brittany Wells of Larimore, N.D., and Beth Priddy, Detroit Lakes.

Larson said they will continue to work with area hospitals to select children who will enjoy this weekend. In the past, the committee has been working with MeritCare Hospital in Fargo, N.D., and Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D. This year, the committee decided to include Gillette's Children's Hospital and the Mayo Clinic. Twelve children were chosen to attend the festival last year, but due to being ill from their chemo treatments, only five were actually able to attend.

Larson said she received the sad news recently that Brandon Lunski, 19, who attended the event last year, had passed away. "Just 19 years old. I am so honored and pleased that I got to put a smile on his face and give him an enjoyable weekend while he was here. This makes me even more determined to make it possible for even more children with a life threatening illness to spend an enjoyable weekend at Kick'n Up Kountry next year," said Larson.

Memories of Mayberry, Scott Epparson and Bruce Newnam, have been signed up to perform as a comedy act at the 2008 Kickn' Up Kountry music festival in Thief River Falls. Event organizer Ardell Larson announced this week that the event will be held during the Labor Day weekend. (Submitted photo)

Ardell Larson, Kickn' Up Kountry music festival organizer, met three of the several children invited to attend the festival in Thief River Falls last year through the Hopes, Dreams and Smiles organization. Hopes, Dreams and Smiles provides children with life-threatening illnesses an opportunity to attend the festival and meet artists. Ardell is pictured with Annabel Jiran, Lance Rayner and Andrew Fullerton. The event will be in Thief River Falls again this year at the Pennington County Fairgrounds during the 2008 Labor Day weekend. Hopes, Dreams and Smiles will also be a part of the event. TRF leaders have new boss

The entire council began its discussion of the proposed changes at the Oct. 23 meeting of the Committee of the Whole.

Schmalz replied that the proposal was a big decision for the city. He suggested that the council give the MAPS employees as much input as they wanted. However, the motion, which was made by Cullen and seconded by Schmalz, failed.

In August, the Committee of the Whole created the ad hoc committee after MAPS employees asked that Point 1 of the 19 Points for Discussion be placed on an agenda for the Committee of the Whole. Point 1 said, "Division directors report to the city administrator." Thief River Falls City Council members created the 19 Points for Discussion. Jodie Torkelson is employed as the city administrator.

The ad hoc committee will meet at least one more time. At Tuesday's council meeting, Nordhagen asked that the committee look at other city job descriptions. Kajewski, committee chairperson, anticipated that the committee would look at those job descriptions in relationship to the change with the city administrator's job description. The ad hoc committee meeting is scheduled after the Committee of the Whole meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 13. The Committee of the Whole meeting is scheduled to begin at 4:30 p.m.

Regarding the city administrator's position, Lee said, "There seems to be a lot of confusion as to what we're proposing." He said that the ad hoc committee wasn't proposing to have a city manager but was clarifying the job description of the city administrator.

Lee referred to a 1994 study by David M. Griffith & Associates Ltd., which was hired to help the city when it changed the city clerk position to a city administrator position. Reading aloud from DMG's summary of major recommendations, Lee said that the city administrator is "usually the person signed to extricate the governing body from the mire of the nitty gritty." He added that the recommendation indicates that the council may assign the city administrator to supervise workers, do accounting, prepare reports, determine facts and execute council policies.

It's not proposed that the city administrator "direct people in day-to-day operations," said Lee, who noted it was proposed that the city administrator have the "power to enforce policies and guidelines."

Schmalz replied that DMG also recommended four city committees in addition to the city administrator. "What part of the study do we want to listen to?" he asked.

Nordhagen responded that some council members had concerns with the current committee structure.

In January, the council approved the Committee of the Whole structure. In the past, it operated with individual committees. The council meets twice a month as the Committee of the Whole, which has been described as a working session for the eight council members. At a July council meeting, Schmalz suggested that the council members should think about going back to individual committees. One of his reasons was that the council was "losing some communication" with staff members. Council members have yet to formally discuss the committee structure.

Nordhagen expected that the Committee of the Whole would discuss the committee structure at its Nov. 13 meeting.

Schmalz still had concerns regarding the current committee structure and the city administrator position. He said he thought that the committee structure should be addressed before changes to the city administrator position.

Erickson and Cullen didn't publicly state why they voted in opposition to the motions. At the Oct. 24 meeting of the Committee of the Whole, Erickson questioned the need for wards if everything was put into one person's hands.

The Committee of the Whole is scheduled to meet Tuesday, Nov. 13 at 4:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Homelessness in NW Minnesota

Area groups strive to eliminate homelessness in NW Minnesota

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Prior to taking a job at Options in Roseau, Janine Peters did not believe there was a homelessness problem in Roseau County.

"We have Polaris in Roseau and Marvin Windows in Warroad," Peters told her peers last week during a Northwest Continuum of Care (NWCoC) meeting. "I didn't believe that anyone could be homeless."

Peters, like many of her peers who work for human service agencies, quickly learned that there are homeless individuals in northwest Minnesota and they don't always fit the stereotype of a man or woman living in the street.

Thursday, Nov. 8, 26 representatives from area human service organizations met with John Pugleasa, coordinator, and Wendy Thompson, consultant, of the NWCoC to discuss ways to improve both the services that are available to homeless individuals in northwest Minnesota and the potential to offer additional services that could prevent additional people from becoming homeless. The meeting was part of a series that the NWCOC is holding throughout the region as it develops a 10-year plan, and it is part of a greater effort throughout Minnesota to eliminate homelessness.

The NWCoC's study is funded by a grant from the Bush Foundation (named for Archibald Granville Bush, former chairman of the executive committee of the 3M Company). Thompson described the study as finding out "What makes homelessness different in your region?"

Thompson said the state of Minnesota is broadening the definition of long-term homelessness, compared to the term chronic homelessness used by The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). HUD defines chronic homelessness as a single (not accompanied by spouse or children) being homeless for a year or longer currently, or four or more times in the past three years and with a serious or chronic disability. The current definition of long-term homelessness is "lacking a permanent place to live continuously for a year or more or at least four times in the last three years."

The broad goals of the northwest Minnesota plan are to end long-term homelessness in the 12-county northwest region and prevent future homelessness. Preliminary strategies presented to meet those goals include the creation of additional supportive housing and affordable housing opportunities, while preserving existing supportive and affordable housing; improvement in service coordination, availability and delivery; providing effective and coordinated outreach to the homeless community; build client

Kittson County reorganizes Economic Development Authority

Hallock - "In the past, Kittson County has supported city and county economic development authorities. A director was hired to work with the five active cities, and the county, on projects funded by each."

In 2003, the cities became responsible for their respective economic development. Since that time, the county has worked with Northwest Community Action for any county projects.

"Last month, Kittson County commissioners approved allowing Jody Horntvedt, Regional Extension educator, to meet with the new Kittson County Economic Development Authority. At the Nov. 6 board meeting, Commissioner Younggren described the success of the group's meeting with Horntvedt and the desire to continue meeting monthly as an EDA."

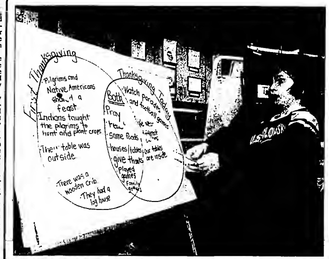
The EDA governing body will include Younggren of Hallock, Kittson County Commissioner Leon Olson of Lancaster, and community representatives Pat Stallock of the Lake Bronson area, Pete Kautzman of the Karlstad area, Shannon Mortenson of the Kennedy area, and Eric Younggren and Paul Blomquist of the Hallock area. - Kittson County Enterprise, Nov. 14, 2007, by Louise Money

Veterans Day honors those who served

Warren - "A staff member with the Minnesota National Guard unit that completed a lengthy deployment to Iraq this summer told a Veterans Day audience in Warren on Friday that they should be proud of the mostly youthful Guard members who served in a combat role during their assignment to the Iraqi War. 'They did an awesome job,' said Staff Sgt. Kevin Howard, main speaker for the Veterans Day program at Warren-Alvarado-Oslo High School.

"Howard, who is employed full-time as the readiness non-commissioned officer for Bravo Company of the 2-136th Combined Arms Brigade of the Minnesota National Guard, was the main speaker for the program sponsored by American Legion Post 27 and American Legion Auxiliary Unit 27." - Warren Sheaf, Nov. 14, 2007

Hunter's stew benefits Oklee Vets' Memorial



Oklee - "Wonderful smells of beef stew filled the air both inside and outside the Oklee Community Hall on Nov. 10 as a hunter's stew dinner was held to benefit the Oklee Veterans' Memorial. The meal, prepared by Grace and Shirley Dessellier, was served to 100 people and included homemade beef stew, buns and bars prepared by the Oklee American Legion Auxiliary. A freewill offering benefitted the memorial, which is under construction along Highway 222 in Oklee." - The Oklee Herald, Nov. 14, 2007

Trail dedicated to Kory Kelly

Fourtown - "A ceremony was held Oct. 27 to dedicate the Kory Kelly Walking Trail. The trail is located 12 miles north of Fourtown in the Red Lake Wildlife Management Area.

"Kelly was a hunter who lost his life to hypothermia in October 2006, when he became lost in the Red Lake WMA. A huge search effort was conducted with hundreds of volunteers, and state and local agencies." - Grygla Eagle, Nov. 14, 2007

Literacy

Colin Magnuson, a first grade student at Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls, points to an element of a Thanksgiving story his class read. Colin is demonstrating an aspect of the Literacy Collaborative curriculum - to engage students in talking and thinking about what they read.

Literacy Collaborative ...
Effort showing results

by David Hill
Editor

Kindergarten students at Challenger Elementary School are learning to read. Six years ago that wouldn't have happened, so the fact that they are marks a dramatic departure from the past, and a departure that Challenger Elementary School instructors are proud to claim.

At the Board of Education meeting for School District 564 on Tuesday, Nov. 13, Challenger Elementary School Principal Patrick Marolt, and Teachers Shari Daniels, Stacey Leake and Elizabeth Quick, gave a presentation on the Literacy Collaborative at Challenger Elementary School. Marolt explained that the Literacy Collaborative represents a shift in teaching methods rather than a program. It places coordinators directly in the elementary schools as teachers and coaches.

According to the Literacy Collaborative at Ohio State University where the method was developed, Literacy Collaborative® the method is defined as "a comprehensive school reform project designed to improve the reading, writing, and language skills of elementary children. The cornerstone of this project is dynamic, long-term professional development. School-based literacy coordinators are trained in research-based methods; provided with ongoing professional development as they continually implement research-based approaches in their own classrooms; and supported as they provide on-site training for the teachers in their schools. The goal of this comprehensive effort is to significantly raise the level of achievement for all students."

Funding for the Literacy Collaborative in Thief River Falls was provided mostly through several grants. Marolt thanked Denise Laymon, executive director of the Thief River Falls Education Foundation and the Foundation itself for helping find funding for the Collaborative.

Framework of the Literacy Collaborative in grades kindergarten through grade two include interactive reading aloud, shared reading, interactive writing, shared writing and writer's workshop.

Data on the Literacy Collaborative is just now to the point where it can be used to chart progress. The School District has only had the Literacy Collaborative for a few years. Data on kindergarten students in the spring of 2007 showed that 72.5 percent of the students were performing at or above the benchmark. The benchmark was level three, which means that students are reading.

Winds whip up six fires

No injuries reported after six fires reported in northwestern Minnesota

No injuries were reported after six fires were reported earlier this week in northwest Minnesota. Three of the fires burned a total of 8,000 acres in Kittson County.

Kittson County fires

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Forestry Division in Wannaska responded to three fires in Kittson County. The fires didn't cause any structural damage. The causes of the fires remain under investigation.

The fires occurred in Caribou, Poppleton and Pelan townships, according to Rick Olson, fire program forester. The Caribou Township fire was reported late Monday night. The Poppleton Township fire was reported at about 10 a.m. Tuesday, and the Pelan Township fire was reported at about 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Firefighters were on the scene of the fires for a total of about 24 hours. The Karlstad, Lake Bronson, Lancaster and Greenbush fire departments responded to one or all of the fires. DNR offices in Warroad and Grygla also responded. A helicopter and four-wheelers were also used to fight the fires.

Pennington County fires

The Thief River Falls Fire Department responded to a fire at 3:41 p.m. Tuesday in Norden Township. Garrett Reierson was burning, and the fire got away from him, according to the fire department. The fire burned 25 acres near the Pennington and Marshall County line. Firefighters were on the scene for about two hours.

The department also responded to a Dumpster fire at the Occupational Development Center at 12:45 a.m. Wednesday. It's not known what caused that fire. Wood chips and scraps were inside the Dumpster. Firefighters were on the scene for about an hour.

The St. Hilaire Fire Department responded to a grass fire at 1:15 a.m. Wednesday. The fire burned five acres six miles west of St. Hilaire, according to Fire Chief Steve Miller. The fire may have been caused by a spark from an outdoor stove at the home of Alan "Pete" and Val Mattison. Firefighters were on the scene of that fire for about an hour.

"Five Wishes" event planned for Nov. 26

First Care Medical Services Hospice and Home Care and Northland Community and Technical College Nursing Program will host the community event Five Wishes - America's Most Popular Living Will. The Five Wishes program will be offered on Monday, Nov. 26, 2007 at the NCTC Swenson House in Thief River Falls. Registration begins at 6:30 p.m.

Five Wishes is an is an easy-to-use legal document that lets adults of all ages plan how they want to be cared for in case they become seriously ill. Five Wishes is unique among other healthcare directives or living wills because it addresses medical, personal, emotional, and spiritual needs. Five Wishes was developed by the nonprofit organization Aging With Dignity and is now valid in 40 states including Minnesota. More information is available about Five Wishes at www.agingwithdignity.org.

A guest panel of professionals will be on hand to answer questions following an instructional video. Panelists include Dr. Michael Clark, DO, Dakota Clinic Family Practice and First Care Medical Services Hospice Medical Director; Audrey Hanson, RN, First Care Medical Services Hospice Nurse Case Manager; Alan Rogalla, Attorney at Law; and Mary Fran Zeller, Chaplain, Hospice of the Red River Valley.

"It is exciting to offer this valuable program in our community with such a qualified panel of guest speakers from diverse backgrounds," commented Kelly Rogalla who is coordinating the

Perfect Swing swings away

The Perfect Swing hopes to perfect many swings

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Just because the days have gotten shorter and the weather has cooled, doesn't mean summertime activities like golfing, softball and baseball have to end. Thanks to a new Thief River Falls business called The Perfect Swing, northwest Minnesota residents can swing a bat or golf club year-round.

The Perfect Swing, located behind Anytime Fitness and Legends Sporting in Greenwood Crossing, opened for business on Monday, Nov. 5. A grand opening is scheduled for today (Nov. 17).

The Perfect Swing includes five batting cages, a golf simulator and a pool table, and it is being marketed by its owner, Thomas Maker, as both a family fun venue and a way for serious athletes to improve their game in the off season.

"I want the community to benefit from this," Maker said. "One of my goals is to help the teams in this town get better."

Maker has already discussed the use of his facility for off season use by high school and college baseball and softball teams, but he stresses that his business is open to anyone, regardless of age or skill level.

The business is open 4 to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 4 to 11 p.m. on Fridays, noon to midnight on Saturdays and noon to 8 p.m. on Sundays.

Batting cages

The heart and soul of The Perfect Swing is its batting cages. Maker, a Los Angeles, Calif., native, played baseball throughout his high school years and he says that baseball remains one of his favorite sports.

Besides his personal [illegible] to America's pastime, Maker [illegible] there is a need for this type [illegible] ation center in Thief River [illegible] and he hopes his business can be an asset to the community.

Each of The Perfect Swing's five batting cages serves a different purpose. Two cages are set up for softball pitch simulation. One is set for fast pitch, with pitch speeds in the 50s and the other is set for slow pitch, with a realistic lob that can reach seven feet.

Likewise, the three baseball batting cages utilize different pitch speeds. Pitches in the slow cage top out in the mid 40s, pitches in the medium cage top out in the low 60s and pitches in the fast cage top out in the mid 70s. Pitch location varies in all batting cages.

Batting gloves are available and are recommended. Bats and helmets are provided and helmets are required. First-time participants [illegible] release form prior to [illegible]

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETINGS AND PUBLIC HEARINGS BEFORE THE MINNESOTA PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION REGARDING:

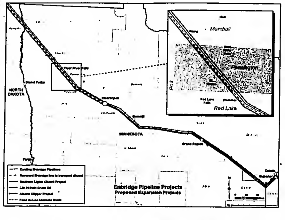
I.

CERTIFICATE OF NEED APPLICATIONS FOR THE LSr, ALBERTA CLIPPER AND SOUTHERN LIGHTS DILUENT PROJECTS
(PUC DOCKET NOs PL9/CN-07-464 and PL9-CN-07-465)

II.

APPLICATIONS FOR PIPELINE ROUTING PERMITS FOR THE LSr, ALBERTA CLIPPER AND SOUTHERN LIGHTS DILUENT PROJECTS
(PUC DOCKET NOs PL9/PPL-07-360 and PL95/PPL-07-361)



This notice concerns applications to the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission (PUC) by Enbridge Energy Limited Partnership and Enbridge Pipelines (Southern Lights) L.L.C. (Enbridge) for Certificates of Need (CON) and Pipeline Routing Permits (PRP) that will allow Enbridge to expand its existing crude oil pipeline system in Minnesota. This notice provides the dates, times and locations for scheduled public hearings and also provides a description of the issues to be considered at the public hearings and the procedural requirements for public hearings on large energy facilities. If you have an interest in these projects, please read this notice. Any questions may be directed to the appropriate contact person identified below.

This notice can be made available in alternative formats (i.e., large print or audio tape) by calling 651-201-2202 (Voice) or 800-627-3529 (TTY relay service).

ISSUES TO BE CONSIDERED

Certificate of Need (CON). The CON proceeding examines the size, type and timing of the projects to determine whether the proposed pipelines are needed and in the public interest. The PUC is authorized by Minn. Stat. 216B.243, subd. 2, to issue a CON if Enbridge can demonstrate that there is a need for the project.

Pipeline Routing Permit (PRP). The PRP proceeding determines the location of the pipelines. During this proceeding the impact that the proposed projects will have on humans and the environment and methods to minimize or mitigate those impacts, will be considered. A PRP designates both where the pipeline may be built and specifies conditions for right-of-way preparation, construction and right-of-way restoration. The PUC is authorized by Minn. Stat §216G.02 to designate routes where the pipeline may be built and issue PRPs.

OVERVIEW OF ENBRIDGE PIPELINE PROJECTS

Enbridge seeks authorization to build three petroleum pipelines, shown on the accompanying map. The proposed projects are intended to increase crude petroleum transportation capacity between the oil sands in Western Canada and Midwestern refineries, and are a part of Enbridge's system expansion plans in Canada and the U.S.

LSr Project (Dockes Nos. PL9/PPL-07-360): The LSr Project is an approximately 136 mile 20-inch outside diameter crude oil pipeline and associated facilities that will run from the Canadian border in North Dakota to an existing tank farm in Clearbrook, Minnesota. The Minnesota portion of this project is approximately 108 miles long, and is proposed to cross portions of Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk and Clearwater counties (see map), generally along its existing pipeline right-of-way. The LSr Project will be able to transport approximately 186,000 barrels of oil per day (bpd).

Alberta Clipper/Southern Lights Diluent Projects (Docket Nos. PL9/PPL-07-361): The Alberta Clipper Project is a 990-mile-long, 36-inch outside diameter crude oil pipeline between Hardisty, Alberta, Canada and Superior, Wisconsin, with approximately 285 miles of pipeline and associated facilities to be constructed in Minnesota, generally along Enbridge's existing pipeline right-of-way. The Alberta Clipper Project crosses 13 counties: from west to east, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Clearwater, Beltrami, Hubbard, Cass, Itasca, Aitkin, St. Louis and Carlton. This line will transport approximately 450,000 bpd of heavy crude oil from the Canadian oil sands to Midwest refineries. Enbridge plans to construct the Alberta Clipper Project in conjunction with the Southern Lights Diluent Project.

The Southern Lights Diluent Project is approximately 175 miles of new 20-inch outside diameter pipeline from Superior, Wisconsin to Enbridge's tank farm in Clearbrook, Minnesota, crossing Clearwater, Beltrami, Hubbard, Cass, Itasca, Aitkin, St. Louis and Carlton counties. Enbridge proposes to construct the Southern Lights Diluent Project generally along or adjacent to its existing pipeline right-of-way. When completed, this new pipeline will begin in the Chicago area and end at the Enbridge tank farm in Clearbrook, Minnesota. At Clearbrook, Enbridge will reverse the flow on one of its existing 18-inch liquid petroleum pipelines between Clearbrook, Minnesota and the Canadian border near Neche, North Dakota. The Southern Lights Diluent Project will allow Enbridge to transport a byproduct of the refining process from refineries in the Chicago area to the oil sands of Alberta, Canada, where it will be used to dilute the Canadian oil to enable it to flow through a pipeline.

ENBRIDGE'S PROPOSED PIPELINE ROUTE

Chapter 7852 of the Minnesota Rules requires the applicant to identify a preferred route. A route may have a variable width from the minimum required for the pipeline right-of-way (approximately 50-75 feet) up to 1.25 miles. Enbridge initially identified a proposed route of 75 feet generally to the south side of its existing pipelines. On October 10, 2007, Enbridge changed its original proposed route to a REVISED PROPOSED ROUTE of 500 feet in width, centered approximately 25 feet south of Enbridge's existing southernmost pipeline. The width of the revised proposed route represents the area in which Enbridge is requesting to place the pipelines, not the amount of land required to install the pipelines. Enbridge states it intends to use, follow or parallel its existing pipelines and rights-of-way where possible, deviating from its existing right-of-way only where necessary in congested areas and around pumping stations. Enbridge has identified a preliminary location alignment within the 500 foot wide route, which is subject to change throughout the permitting process.

Land and Right-Of-Way Requirements. These pipelines will be placed alongside of existing easements/right-of-way in most areas. When placed in this manner, the pipelines will require up to 75 feet of additional permanent right-of-way space next to Enbridge's existing pipelines. Temporary work space varying in width from 90 to 140 feet will be required in addition to the permanent easement to store excavated soil and pipe sections, move equipment and vehicles, and provide a safe work area to install the pipelines.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

The Honorable Eric L. Lipman, an Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) from the Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH) will hold public hearings on behalf of the PUC regarding the CON and PRP proceedings for the Enbridge Projects.

The hearings identified below will address need and routing issues for all projects for areas North and West of Clearbrook, Minnesota. Separate hearings will be held in the spring of 2008 for Alberta Clipper and Southern Lights Diluent Project Certificate of Need and Pipeline Routing Permit in the areas South and East of Clearbrook. Public notice of those hearings will be provided in advance of those hearing dates.

Any person who would like to comment on the need or proposed route for the pipeline, or propose a minor location change or alignment modification within Enbridge's REVISED 500 foot wide route will have the opportunity to present evidence, recommendations and comments to Judge Lipman at any of the scheduled hearings identified below.

COMBINED CON AND ROUTE HEARING SCHEDULE

COUNTY	CITY	MEETING LOCATION	DATE AND TIME
Kittson	Kennedy	VFW & Café 103 5th St. E	Tuesday, Nov. 27 10:00 a.m.
Marshall	Argyle	Argyle Community Center 701 Pacific Avenue	Tuesday, Nov. 27 5:00 p.m.
Red Lake	Oklee	Oklee Community Hall 2nd Ave. between fire hall and gas station (no physical address listed on building)	Wednesday, Nov. 28 10:00 a.m.
Pennington	Thief River Falls	Best Western Meeting Room 1060 Highway 32 South	Wednesday, Nov. 28 5:00 p.m.
Polk	Gully	Gully Community Center 120 S. Main St.	Thursday, Nov. 29 9:00 a.m.
Clearwater	Clearbrook	City Hall Band Room 200 Elm St. M.	Thursday, Nov. 29 5:00 p.m.

NOTE: Prior to the start of each public hearing the DOC staff will conduct a 5 to 10 minute public information meeting to provide a brief overview of the CON, PRP and the hearing processes, and to describe how the public may participate in each of them.

The hearing will continue until all persons have had the opportunity to present evidence and question witnesses. If needed, the hearing may be recessed and continued by the ALJ and additional hearing dates may be established by the ALJ in accordance with Minnesota Rules Parts 1405.1400 to 1405.2300.

CONDUCT OF HEARING

At the start of each hearing session, the ALJ will explain the procedural rules for the hearing, including the sequence for providing testimony and questioning witnesses. Members of the public will be allowed to participate without the necessity of intervening as a party. Representation by legal counsel is permitted but not required. Participation includes: a) offering direct testimony, b) offering testimony or other material in written form at or following the hearing, and c) questioning witnesses.

Any person who wishes to question a witness, but does not want to ask the questions, may submit questions in writing to the ALJ, who will then question the witness. Questions may be submitted during the hearing or may be sent to the ALJ in advance of the hearing. A transcript of the proceedings will also be available on request. For more information about participation as a member of the public, contact the PUC's or DOC's public advisor (see information below). Enbridge is the only party to the pipeline routing permit proceedings. Parties are required to prefile their direct written testimony. This direct written testimony will be available for review as described below.

The ALJ will conduct the public hearings in accordance with OAH procedural rules for the PUC's energy facility permitting process (Minnesota Rules Chapters 1400 and 1405). Copies of the rules are available for review at the places identified in the "Information Available for Review" section of this notice and will be available at the public meetings and hearings. Copies may also be obtained from the Department of Commerce as described below.

PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD DEADLINES

The public hearing record will remain open following the hearings until 4:30 p.m. on December 14, 2007 so as to allow additional written comments from the public.

INQUIRIES, PROJECT CONTACTS

Public advisors from the DOC and PUC staff have been appointed to assist and advise persons interested in taking part in the proceedings and will provide on request documents identified in this notice. However, the public advisors are not authorized to give legal advice. If you need an interpreter or need to make special arrangements to participate at the hearing, please contact the Administrative Law Judge at the address provided below. For more information, contact one of the persons listed below:

MINNESOTA LAWS AND RULES GOVERNING PIPELINES

All applicable statutes and rules are on the State of Minnesota website at: http://www.leg.state.mn.us/leg/statutes.asp.

Certificate of Need. Under Minn. Stat. §216B.243, subd. 2, a facility cannot be sited or constructed in Minnesota unless the PUC issues a Certificate of Need to the Applicant. The CON rules pertinent to this filing are Minnesota Rules, Parts 7853.0010 to 7853.0800.

Pipeline Routing Permit. Under Minn. Stat. §216G.02, the proposed pipeline facilities cannot be sited or constructed unless the PUC issues a Pipeline Routing Permit to the Applicant. The pipeline routing permit application is being reviewed pursuant to Minn. Rules, parts 7852.0800 to 47852.1900.

Eminent Domain. Enbridge will have the authority upon issuance of a Certificate of Need and a Pipeline Routing Permit under Minnesota laws (Minn. Stat. 117.48) to use eminent domain to acquire the right-of-way necessary to construct and operate the proposed pipelines and associated facilities.

Agricultural Mitigation Plan. Minnesota Statute Section 216E, Subd. 3 (b) gives the Department of Agriculture the responsibility for development of the agricultural mitigation plan required for this project. The Department of Agriculture may participate and advise the PUC as to whether to grant a permit for the project and the best options for mitigating adverse impacts to agricultural lands if the permit is granted.

Enbridge has consulted with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources regarding state threatened and endangered species and will apply to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources for a License to Cross Public Waters. Enbridge will be consulting with, and applying to, the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) regarding Section 401 water quality certifications.

FEDERAL LAWS AND RULES GOVERNING PIPELINES

Enbridge has filed other required permit applications with the U.S. Department of State for Presidential Permit for Cross-Border Crossing, the United States Army Corps of Engineers for wetland and waterbody crossing permits, the U.S. Forest Service for an amended Special Use Permit. In addition, Enbridge is consulting with the Corps of Engineers and State and Tribal historic Preservation Officers regarding compliance with Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act, and with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the U.S. Forest Service regarding compliance with Section 7 of the Endangered Species Act.

Presidential Permit for Cross-Border Crossing. The proposed pipeline project falls under the jurisdiction of the U.S. Department of State (as designated by Executive Order) and explained on their website under the Energy Policy, Pipeline Permits, Non-Agricultural Commodities portion of the website (http://state.gov/e/eeb/c9982.htm).

Section 404 and Section 10 Authorization. The proposed projects are subject to jurisdiction by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers under section 404 of the Clean Water Act and Section 10 of the Rivers and Harbors Act. Additional information on these permit programs is available on the Corps of Engineers website (http://www.mvp.usace.army.mil/regulatory/).

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Today's recipes are from my new Thief River Falls Eagles Auxiliary cookbook. If you want one, too, get hold of an Eagle lady or guy. It's a good little cookbook.

Not in time for deer hunting, but how about for ice fishing or your New Year's Eve party:

PICKLED EGGS

Marilyn Schroeder

1 dozen eggs, boiled and peeled
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups vinegar
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
6 whole cloves
1 bay leaf
1 medium onion, sliced

Place eggs in gallon jar.

In saucepan, combine salt, vinegar, sugar, water, cloves and bay leaf and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Pour mixture to cover eggs completely. Put onion slices on top. Cover jar and refrigerate at least 2 weeks. (Marilyn says brine is re-usable and works for pigs' feet or hocks, too.)

Speaking of fishing carap, we mustn't forget about this dish:

HOMEMADE CHILI

Emil Vanyo

4 pounds good hamburger
2 (28 ounces each) cans stewed tomatoes
1 (15 ounce) can red kidney beans
1 (28 ounce) can of water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 medium onion, chopped or sliced
1 (28 ounce) can tomato soup
2 (15 ounces each) cans Great Northern beans
3 tablespoons chili powder
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
Dash of cayenne red pepper
Small amount of red, yellow and green peppers

In large skillet, fry hamburger until just done - don't overfry. Sauté onions and peppers.

Combine all ingredients with onions and peppers and simmer on medium heat for about 30-45 minutes, stirring often to the bottom so it doesn't scorch. Add more or less chili powder to taste. Recipe serves 15-20 people or more, Emil says.

I haven't tasted this bread, but I've had beer bread and it should be perfect with Emil's chili. This one isn't from the Eagle's cookbook:

BEER BREAD

3 cups self-rising flour*
3 tablespoons sugar
12 ounces room temperature beer, soft drink (not diet), or sparkling apple cider
3 tablespoons melted butter

Mix sugar into flour. Pour in beer, stirring quickly (beer is absorbed quickly into flour mixture). Leave mixture lumpy - do not overmix.

Pour into greased loaf pan or 3 mini loaf pans. Drizzle melted butter over top and bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes or until golden.

Variations: dried onion and shredded cheddar, cracked peppercorns and bacon bits, sun dried tomatoes and dried basil.

To make apple cinnamon bread, use sparkling cider or lemon-lime soda, replace 1/2 cup flour with whole wheat, add 1/4 cup molasses and use root beer for nice, dark bread.

If you add other ingredients, mix them into the flour. Once you add the beer, you will not be able to stir in apples or other fruit. Experiment with this recipe, using your imagination.

*To make self-rising flour, sift or whisk together 6 cups of flour, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 1 tablespoon salt. Store in airtight container for months.

Back to our Eagles cookbook, let's have a cool salad to cool off our tongues after that hot chile:

BUTTERMILK SALAD

Audrey Bergerson

2 cans mandarin oranges, drain juice into a saucepan
2 small or 1 large package orange gelatin
2 cups buttermilk
8 ounces whipped topping, thawed
Miniature marshmallows if desired

Bring juice from oranges to a boil. Add gelatin and mix well. Cool to lukewarm. Add oranges and buttermilk and then fold in whipped topping and marshmallows, if desired. Pour into mold or pan and chill.

Seasons Chonge

Take a drive in the country und you're sure to see farmers ditching their fields. There is no surer sign of fall than a tractor and scraper cutting lines in the dirt around a laser trailer. I believe that farmers would continue to ditch for all of eternity if it weren't for winter, perhaps to the point where they would fill in the ditch after they'd cleaned, so they had something to do like "Cool Hand Luke" did in the movie of the same name. Fall means work to most industrious Minnesotans but let's take o look at my favorite change of seasons.

This had been a most peculiar fall, with o few heavy rain storms followed by warm temps and little frost until recently. It's been a lot to bear for me as I love to get my fall work done but count on winter to put a stop to the busy work I perform to fill time prior to snowfall. Endless summer is the fantasy of many a young man but that could change to a wish for endless fall after one Indian summer spent in northwest Minnesota. The season has been a blessing; farmers spread fertilizer now instead of spring for tax benefits and to remove one planting headache, late crops of corn and sunflowers were harvested without the need for extensive drying, and deer hunters didn't have to worry about heat in the two bedroom, starter homes that pass for deer stands out in the woods.

Foll gets your attention when it marks what quarter your life is entering; it's the last season prior to winter and the season no one has even lived to explain to those of us who frolic in the summer and complain at the start of autumn. If the average person can live to the age of 80, then logically we enter a new season every 20 years. I am fairly fresh from the summer and new to the fall game. I know others who have seen each season to its near completeness and hope for them the comfort of a well-lived life and a fall that brings good memories and comfort.

King Richard spoke of the "winter of our discontent" in Shakespeare's play then finished his thought by (sarcastically) "making it a glorious summer" by his own hand. I guess if fall causes you worry about winter's encroachment or the end of your own life, then you should remember that fall is nothing more than opportunity; opportunity to make next season's harvest better, opportunity to change your life in meaningful ways before it's too late, and an opportunity to get that last job done before snow makes the task impossible.

Perhaps the third season really isn't any more dramatic or meaningful than the turning of the leaves or a need to tune up the snow blower, however, it may have more importance than we think, which makes it fair notice to prepare far more for winter (in all its forms) than we could even imagine. Whether you're laying the groundwork for good harvest or a good life, it's important to know that winter will soon be here. In any event, let's just enjoy the weather we have, and hope for o long, lovely and forgiving fall.

Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society conducts food drive

With the holiday season approaching, the Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society at Northland Community and Technical College is conducting its annual Fall Food Drive.

Phi Theta Kappa will be collecting nonperishable food items to donate to the local food shelf during the month of November. Nonperishable food items can be dropped off at several drop points within the College: the Learning Center, Student Services, the front desk, and the Nursing Department.

Best Western
For many years, the Best Western has been serving the community with our full service restaurant, Sumi's Cafe. In the interest of serving our hotel guests better, the Best Western is offering our overnight guests a complimentary continental breakfast. Also, the hotel is about to undergo a remodeling process to enhance our hotel and banquet rooms. The Best Western will no longer be operating a full service restaurant, but will continue concentrating on the following great services: Banquets, Catering, Dinner Parties and Private Meetings. We feel our banquet and catering facilities are among the finest in Northwestern Minnesota. We plan to continue enhancing our food services in this area to best serve the community. Thank you for all of the past support and for allowing us to serve you and we hope to serve your banquet and catering needs in the future.
Warmest regards,

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Counting our blessings in November

Many people are counting their blessings. This week, they may count warm weather among those blessings. It is winter in northwestern Minnesota. In a typical year, we would have already encountered winter driving conditions - wet, ice-covered, snow-packed roads.

One of the first years that I lived in northwestern Minnesota, I came around a snow-packed corner on an October day and slid into a curb, which caused some damage to a wheel on my car. I'm sure many of you can repeat similar stories, stories of accidents that are probably much more severe, so the dry roads are a blessing. Not everyone will be happy, though. I'm sure the snowmobile and ice-fishing enthusiasts aren't exactly happy. It has been like that for several years now. But for the last three or so years, I can't remember a year in northwestern Minnesota when fishermen didn't start setting up ice houses on the river the day after Thanksgiving.

Well, some of us are counting our blessings with this warm spell, but while counting those blessings, it might be a good idea to remember what it's like to drive on ice and snow - you know it's coming.

Minnesota Department of Public Safety is reminding the public that winter is coming. They declared the week of Nov. 12-16 as Winter Hazard Week and sent out all kinds of reminders. Everyone should be cautious about traveling in extreme winter weather. Start thinking winter. That means planning before you travel, keep your vehicle in good operating condition, put a survival kit in your vehicle, keep your cell phone with you, check the weather forecasts, road reports and storm warnings, use the accelerator and brakes slowly to maintain control, clean frost and snow off all windows, use your headlamps and increase the distance between you and the vehicle in front of you.

Now is the time to prepare for winter driving conditions - not when you're traveling down the road in a snowstorm.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Local women attend American Agri-Women meeting in St. Paul

Penn-Mar-Red Agri-Women represented Minnesota Agri-Women at the 32nd convention of American Agri-Women on Nov. 8-11 in St. Paul.

Minnesota Agri-Women President Deb Whalen of Dklee, Minnesota Agri-Women Treasurer Jennifer Novak of Fertile, American Agri-Women Dairy Chairperson Norma Hanson of Goodridge, 2006 Red River Valley Farm Woman of the Year candidate Mary Reierson of Thief River Falls, and American Agri-Women's Grains Chairperson Arlene Novak of St. Hilaire, met with other women involved in farming, ranching and agribusiness from throughout the United States, and, for the first time, women in agriculture from several provinces in Canada. The Canadian women talked with American Agri-Women members in a "mini-summit" panel discussion of issues affecting agriculture in both countries, including trade, immigration as it applies to farm labor, and the Canadian health care system.

Minnesota Agriculture Commissioner Gene Hugoson welcomed the women Thursday evening, and Minnesota Lt. Gov. Carol Molnau provided welcoming remarks Friday morning. Minnesota Sen. Amy Klobuchar, spoke at the Saturday noon luncheon. Other dignitaries speaking at the convention were Carol House, United States Department of Agriculture National Agricultural Statistics deputy administrator; Robin Kinney, newly-appointed assistant commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture; and Nancy Pellet, chairperson of the board and chief executive officer of the Farm Credit Administration.

While at the convention, the Penn-Mar-Red Agri-Women delegates participated in workshops and discussions on major issues, such as the Clean Water Act, Farm Bill, renewable energy, maintaining farm businesses, and the importance of the 2007 agriculture census.

In recognizing that it is necessary to continually re-focus the direction that American Agri-Women are taking, as stated in the convention theme, "Redefining Agriculture: Advancing in New Directions," this year's delegates also approved their new plan of action. They will concentrate on three purposes: consumer understanding of agricultural people and issues, networking with each other, and leadership development.

For more information on the Agri-Women organization, contact Deb Whalen, Minnesota Agri-Women president, at (218) 796-5379 or visit www.americanagriwomen.org.

State's first culture-confirmed influenza case matches vaccine

Minnesota has recorded its first culture-confirmed case of influenza for the 2007-08 season in a 44-year-old woman from Dakota County. The woman's illness was caused by the B/Shanghai-like strain of the virus, the Minnesota Department of Health reported Nov. 8. The woman's virus is a good match for this year's vaccine, health officials said. The specimen was submitted by the University of Minnesota Medical Center, Fairview.

While there have been reports of influenza cases around the state already this year, this announcement marks the official start of flu season in Minnesota. It's also a reminder that it's time to seek influenza vaccination, if you haven't already.

"Identifying influenza in the laboratory helps us know which strains are circulating and tells us how well this year's vaccine will protect people from influenza and its complications," said Kristen Ehresmann, section chief for immunizations at MDH. "Those who get influenza vaccination in November and December, and even into January, should be fully protected against influenza when the season peaks," she said.

Widespread influenza activity in Minnesota usually peaks in February, but cases can occur as late as May. Flu season may be off to a slightly earlier start than usual this year; the first flu case historically has been confirmed most often in late November or early December. "So now is a good time to get immunized," Ehresmann said.

Influenza vaccination is important for anyone who wants to avoid influenza – regardless of age or health status, health officials said. A flu vaccine also may help you avoid giving influenza to others during the upcoming holiday season.

Health officials strongly recommend that people who are most at risk for complications from influenza get an annual flu shot. Those most at risk include:

- People 50 years of age and older
- People with chronic illnesses
- Children 6 months to 5 years of age
- Residents of nursing homes or other chronic care facilities
- Children under 6 months of age cannot receive flu vaccine, so household contacts should be vaccinated to protect the very young.

In addition, flu shots are strongly recommended for health care workers in order to help protect those most susceptible to influenza.

Ehresmann noted that not only should people who are in the high risk groups get immunized but also people who have regular contact with those in high risk groups. "People in these groups can end up in the hospital – or even die – if they get the flu," she said.

Each year in the U.S., an average of 36,000 people die and more than 200,000 people are hospitalized due to influenza. In Minnesota, hundreds of people, young and old, are hospitalized each year due to complications of influenza. It is one of the leading causes of death for people 65 and older, but children under 5 have high rates of hospitalization also.

"Influenza is clearly a disease that can have serious consequences," Ehresmann said. "The best way to protect yourself and your loved ones is to get vaccinated."

More information on who is most at risk for complications from influenza and who should seek influenza vaccination can be found on the MDH Web site (www.mdhflu.com). This site also has a listing of public flu vaccination clinics. To find the influenza vaccination clinic nearest you, go to www.mdhflu.com and click on "Find a flu shot clinic."

Shipments of vaccine from the manufacturers to providers appear to be arriving smoothly and on time this season, Ehresmann said.

The symptoms of influenza, which tend to come on suddenly, can include a sore throat, coughing, fever, headache, muscle aches and fatigue. People who become severely ill with influenza-like symptoms should see a physician. Influenza is caused by a virus, and antibiotics are not effective against it.

During flu season, it is important for everyone, including those who have and haven't received flu vaccinations, to do their part to avoid spreading influenza by following these guidelines:

- Do your best to stay healthy. Get plenty of rest, physical activity and healthy eating.
- Stay home from school or work if you have a respiratory infection. Avoid exposing yourself to others who are sick with flu-like illness.
- Cover your nose and mouth with a tissue whenever you cough or sneeze, then throw the tissue away. If you don't have a tissue, cough or sneeze into your sleeve.
- Clean surfaces you touch frequently, such as doorknobs, water faucets, refrigerator handles and telephones.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water, or with an alcohol based, waterless hand sanitizer.

TRF man sentenced for criminal sexual conduct charge

A Thief River Falls man was sentenced Tuesday in Pennington County District Court on a criminal sexual conduct charge.

Michael Kenneth Holmgren, 36, pled guilty to second degree criminal sexual conduct. He received a stayed sentence of 90 months in prison, according to the Pennington County Attorney's Office. As a condition of that sentence, he was ordered to serve one year in jail. Holmgren received credit for time served. He was ordered to serve supervised probation for 0 to 25 years. Holmgren was ordered to register as a sex offender. He was ordered to have no contact with his victim. Holmgren was ordered to receive outpatient sex offender treatment and follow all recommendations. He was ordered to undergo 50 hours of outpatient chemical dependency treatment. He was ordered to supply a DNA sample. Holmgren was ordered to not use alcohol or drugs. He was ordered to not enter businesses whose primary business is the sale of alcohol. Holmgren was ordered to undergo random tests and to submit to random searches. He was ordered to pay $282 in fees and fines, as well as any restitution.

The charge stemmed from an incident that was reported to police at about 4 a.m. April 4. Northwest Medical Center staff reported that they were treating an alleged criminal sexual conduct victim.

According to the criminal complaint and the police report, a Thief River Falls woman told the officer that her ex-boyfriend had stayed April 3 at her home along Kendall Avenue. She said the two of them have had an on-again, off-again relationship and that Holmgren has been "assaultive" toward her in the past, but she didn't contact law enforcement.

At about 11 p.m. April 3, Holmgren began arguing with the woman, who insisted that he leave. Holmgren left but returned at about 12 a.m., according to the criminal complaint. Concerned about her safety, the woman first denied him entrance into her home but eventually allowed him inside after he promised her there would be no sex. Once inside, he raped her, beat her and threatened her with more violence if she told anyone.

The victim said that, during the incident, Holmgren accused her of lying about what she did on the weekend of March 31. He looked through her garbage. Holmgren then stood up, grabbed her by the hair and arm, and dragged her down a hallway.

After Holmgren raped her, she told him that she would call the cops. Enraged, he began hitting her. At some point, he hit her in the face and broke her eyeglasses. Holmgren then attempted to cover up his crime by hitting himself on the head twice with a candlestick lamp. He told her that if she reported the incident to police, he would say she hit him while he was sleeping. The woman tried to crawl to get her cell phone. Holmgren grabbed the cell phone and snapped it in half. He then began punching her in the face, causing the woman's eyes to swell shut. The criminal complaint indicates that he told her, "Well, I might as well kill you now since I'm going to prison anyway."

The victim realized she needed medical attention. She bargained with him, telling him that she wouldn't press charges and wouldn't tell anyone what happened if he brought her to the hospital. Holmgren took her to NWMC. On the way to the hospital, the woman left the vehicle door slightly open in the event she needed to jump out and get away.

At NWMC, x-rays determined the woman had a fractured left orbital cheekbone. She was referred to Altru Hospital for a possible surgery.

Holmgren was arrested and held on a $500,000 surety bond. He was sentenced Tuesday.

Johnson to pitch for Bison

Wednesday weather in northwest Minnesota featured a bone-chilling wind and snow flurries. But that didn't stop Spencer Johnson from thinking baseball. That's because the Lincoln High School senior used the first day of the National Collegiate Athletic Association early signing period to put his signature on a letter of intent to attend North Dakota State University in Fargo and play baseball for the Bison next year.

A left-handed pitcher, Johnson had also been the recruiting target of Minnesota State University Mankato and the University of North Dakota.

"I'm excited about signing," said Johnson after completing the documents during a media session that morning in the LHS gym. "It's been my dream."

Johnson, who plays first base when he's not on the mound, was 5-2, with one save and a 1.81 earned-run average as a junior last spring when he struck out 78 batters in 48 innings. That followed a 2006 sophomore season when he was 4-3 with a 1.91 ERA.

Those numbers were duplicated during the 2007 summer American Legion baseball season when he went 8-1, earned a 1.65 ERA and struck out 91 batters in 51 innings.

"The (NDSU) coaches liked my stats," smiled Johnson.

He is a two-time All-Great North Conference pick.

Johnson said the decision to sign with NDSU was sealed by the fact the Bison will be a full-fledged Division I baseball program in the spring of 2009 after five years of NCAA reclassification status following their move from Division II – something that Division II Mankato and Division I-bound North Dakota couldn't offer.

The fact that first-year NDSU coach Tod Brown was a left-handed pitcher at Arizona State University also factored into Johnson's college choice. Brown comes to the Bison after seven years as an assistant coach at Bowling Green.

"Spencer is a left-handed pitcher, and we're in need of pitching," said Brown via a telephone conversion after receiving Johnson's faxed letter of intent. "He's a strike-thrower and a great competitor. He put up good numbers, and that shows us he can come in and do the job."

Working closely with Johnson at NDSU will be Steve Montgomery, who is in his fourth year as the school's pitching coach. He holds the same position with the Fargo-Moorhead RedHawks, a member of the independent professional Northern League.

When he joins the Bison, Johnson will be the Prowlers' first NCAA Division I baseball player since Scott Sabo pitched in the early 1980's for the University of Wisconsin, where he also played hockey.

Johnson will also give the Prowlers a half-dozen Division I athletes next year, joining Aaron Bendickson, a hockey player at Wisconsin; Michael Famey, a hockey player at North Dakota; Andrew BlackLance, a football player at Northern Iowa; Alex Yaggie, a football player at North Dakota State; and Paul Sjoberg, a golfer at Villanova.

"I'm proud of Spencer, and I know his teammates are excited for him, too," said Thief River Falls head high school baseball coach Shane Zutz. "It shows how far our baseball program has come."

Johnson is a premier pitcher, explained Zutz, because he's a left-hander who can throw hard, change speeds and throw strikes.

NDSU was 16-31 as an NCAA Division I independent last spring. Starting in 2008, the Bison will play in The Summit League, along with the South Dakota State University Jackrabbits, Oral Roberts (Tulsa, Okla.) University Golden Eagles, Southern Utah Thunderhawks, Western Illinois Leathernecks, Oakland (Rochester, Mich.) University Grizzlies, Century (Shreveport, La.) College Gentlemen, University of Missouri-Kansas City Kangaroos, Indiana University-Purdue University Fort Wayne Mastodons and Indiana University Purdue University Indianapolis Jaguars.

Brown, who signed seven pitchers and two infielders Wednesday, said Johnson will have the opportunity to show his stuff when he arrives on campus. "We've got a few seniors on our pitching staff this year," he mentioned. "We'll need some people to step in when they leave. It will be a prime opportunity for Spencer and some of our other recruits to come in and pitch for us."

Johnson also plays hockey and is one of the Prowlers' captains this winter.

High school hockey vs. Bemidji...

TRF girls make home debut at 'Huck' today

Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center and not the Ralph Engelstad Arena will be the site of the 2007-08 home opener today (Saturday) for the Thief River Falls girls high school hockey team. Bemidji will be the opponent for the 3 p.m. game. A one-time scheduling conflict bumped the Prowlers out of what has been their home for the past four years.

The Prowlers began the year Tuesday in East Grand Forks, where they lost a 3-1 Section 8A decision.

Thief River Falls spotted East Grand Forks a 1-0 lead on a goal by Leah Jensen with just 2:09 left in the first period, tied it on a Mauri Gonsorowski power play goal at 11:05 of the second period, but fell behind again just 32 seconds later when Jensen picked up her second goal of the night.

"We started very strong in the first period, but were unable to capitalize on our chances," reported Thief River Falls coach Corey Poole.

Nikki Heaser added an East Grand Forks insurance goal at 6:20 of the third period.

Thief River Falls goalie Jade Gothberg finished with 19 saves. East Grand Forks netminder Ashley Pavlish stopped 14 shots.

"As far as quality chances, I feel we had the upper hand," said Poole. "The East Grand Forks goalie did a nice job of keeping the puck out of the net. She was the difference."

Poole starts his second year on the Thief River Falls bench with a young squad. The only seniors are Gonsorowski, who had four goals, 10 assists and 14 points on last year's 9-16 team, Molly Peterson who had five goals and five assists for 10 points, Kim Duchscher, who had a single assist, and Gothberg, who was 3-8 with a 3.56 goals-against average and 88.2 save percentage while splitting goaltending duties a year ago.

"We are a very young team up front, with a majority of our players only seeing limited varsity time last year," explained Poole. "I feel once we learn our positions and understand the game better, we will see dramatic improvements."

The roster also includes juniors Abe Dorn, Britney Schwab, Kendra Pederson and Ashley Mykelbust, along with sophomores Haleigh Stegeman, Megan Malwitz, Paige Bruggeman, Cait Sorvig, Maddy Aandal and Raina Pederson.

Pioneers' second game vs. N.D. foe nets another win

Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team erased a five-point halftime deficit by out-scoring the Jamestown College junior varsity 51-38 over the final 20 minutes as the Pioneers won an 82-74 Tuesday night match-up at the Jamestown Civic Center.

The Jimmies led 36-31 at halftime.

"First half was a struggle," acknowledged Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "It was a long bus ride, we ran into foul trouble and I tried to play everybody. Second half things settled down for us. We got into a regular rotation and things went pretty well."

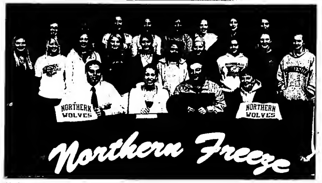
It was the second straight game against a North Dakota school to start the 2007-08 season for the Pioneers, and their second win. They beat the Mayville State University junior varsity 71-57 in their home debut the previous week.

Travis Lage scored 20 points, Tomas Loberg 14 and Jeremy Sich 13 for the Pioneers, who shot 51 percent from the field (29/57), but struggled through a 48 percent 17-for-35 night at the free throw line.

Four Jamestown scorers hit double figures, led by Josh Muellner with 16 points. The Jimmies shot only 38 percent from the floor (26/68). They were 14-for-18 at the free throw attempts.

"They're a really good team," pointed out Nikunen. "We faced a lot of the same people we saw last year as freshmen, and they added a couple of juniors."

A 40-33 Jamestown rebound advantage was countered by the Jimmies' 22-14 high figure in the turnover department.



Northland plays at Minnesota Community College Conference rival MSCTC-Fergus Falls today (Saturday) and will be back in North Dakota Tuesday to play NDSCS in Wahpeton.

Alycia Dahl was surrounded by coaches, administrators and Northern Freeze teammates during a ceremony in Newfolden that celebrated the Marshall County Central senior's NCAA national letter of intent signing to attend Northern State University in Aberdeen, S.D., next year and play basketball for the Wolves. At the table were, from left, Marshall County Central activities director/principal Tony Greene, Dahl, current Northern Freeze girls head basketball coach Tom Mjelde and former Freeze head coach and current Tri-County activities director Jenna Hjalseth.

Alycia Dahl signs with Wolves

Alycia Dahl is going to take her game to South Dakota. The Marshall County Central senior signed a national letter of intent Wednesday to attend Northern State University and play basketball for the Wolves beginning in 2008-09.

A National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II school located in Aberdeen, Northern State is a member of the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference, along with Bemidji State University, Concordia University-St. Paul, University of Mary (Bismarck, N.D), Minnesota State University Moorhead, Southwest Minnesota State University (Marshall), Upper Iowa University, Wayne State (Neb.) University, Winona State University and University of Minnesota, Crookston. Joining the NSIC in 2008-09 will be Augustana (S.D.) College, St. Cloud State University, Minnesota State University Mankato and University of Minnesota Duluth.

Dahl said she was impressed with the NSU campus, facilities, coaching staff and the members of the basketball team she met during her visit. When a scholarship was offered, she accepted.

A multi-sport athlete who helped lead the Marshall County Central/Tri-County Northern Freeze cooperative to the Minnesota Class A state volleyball tournament for the first time this fall and plays softball in the spring, Dahl said there was never really any debate which sport she would play in college. "It was always basketball," she noted. "I never really looked at volleyball."

Dahl averaged 20.6 points, 7 rebounds and 3.1 assists per game as a junior last winter when she joined the 1,000-Point Club. She is a two-time All-North Border Conference selection.

Tom Mjelde, who coached Dahl early in her career and returned to the head coaching ranks a year ago, appreciates what she brings to the basketball floor. "We brought her up to the varsity as an eighth grader, and I knew at that point she was going to be a special player," he said. "She's a good ball-handler, good rebounder and good shooter – just a good, all-around basketball player."

A solid work ethic, explained Mjelde, molded Dahl into a college-caliber player. "She always worked hard at the things she had to do to be a better player," he said. "She did whatever it took to get better. As a coach, you're fortunate to have the opportunity to coach a player like her."

Curt Fredrickson is currently in his 29th year as the Northern State head coach. He began the season with 632 career wins – the second winningest active NCAA Division II women's basketball coach, and one of just four Division II coaches to surpass the 600-win figure.

Under Fredrickson, Northern State made five appearances in the NAIA national tournament, winning national titles in 1992 and 1994. The Wolves moved up to NCAA Division II for the 1995-096 season and have made four post-season appearances at that level.

Northern State went 20-9 last year and finished third in the NSIC at 12-6. The Wolves were picked to finish third again this winter in a preseason coaches' poll.

Fredrickson, looking to replace the five seniors on this year's roster, announced that he had signed ten players Wednesday – the first day of the NCAA early signing period. Dahl was the only area recruit to sign with the Wolves.

"This group is going to be fun to watch in the future," said Fredrickson after receiving the faxed signatures from his recruits. "This is an outstanding group of athletes. The majority of those players were very good at either volleyball, tennis or soccer to go along with their basketball talents."

The Northern State women's basketball team ranked third in the nation in average Division II attendance last year with a figure of 2,402 fans per game.

TRF has six football all-conference picks

Six Thief River Falls players have been named to the 2007 All-North Country Conference high school football team.

Prowlers earning all-conference honors announced this week were Chase Haviland, a 5-9, 175-pound senior running back/linebacker; Ryan Dahl, a 6-3, 320-pound senior offensive tackle; Aaron Langan, a 5-9, 175-pound senior running back/defensive back; Tyson Sorvig, a 6-3, 240-pound senior fullback/defensive tackle; Travis Peralta, a 5-9, 190-pound junior linebacker; and Zach Sorenson, a 6-2, 210-pound junior tight end/defensive end.

Another half-dozen Prowlers on the all-conference honorable mention list were senior running back/defensive back Thomas Loe, senior defensive back Kasey Trontvet, senior offensive lineman Billy Mattison, senior defensive back Jordan Espeseth, junior offensive lineman Nick Olson and junior offensive lineman Ben Tharstad.

Four Prowlers are skating with NAHL Junior A clubs

Corey Horien, Robby Philipp, Cody Bottem and Michael Benedict are Thief River Falls skaters playing in the North American Hockey League this season.

Philipp is a second-year performer with the Fargo-Moorhead Jets, where he has been joined by Bottem and Benedict, a pair of rookies.

Horien is a first-year Junior A player for the Fairbanks Ice Dogs in Alaska.

The Jets play in the NAHL Central Division, along with the Mason City (Iowa) Outlaws, Springfield (Ill.) Jr. Blues, Bismarck (N.D.) Bobcats, Southern Minnesota Express from Owatonna and the Alexandria (Minn.) Blizzard.

Horien's Ice Dogs, along with two other Alaska teams – the Kenai River Brown Bears from Soldotna and the Alaska Avalanche of Wasilla – are in the NAHL Southern Division, along with the Wichita Falls (Texas) Wildcats, Topeka (Kansas) Roadrunners and Texas Tornado.

Pioneers crush Providence

In the 1994 movie Forrest Gump, eating a box of chocolates was likened to life: you never know what you're going to get. The same can be said when you schedule the women's basketball team from Providence College and Theological Seminary out of Manitoba.

A regular on the Northland Community and Technical College schedule, Providence has put solid teams on the floor at times, and, as was the case Tuesday, the Canadians have also been less than-competitive. A year after losing a 62-58 game to the Freeman, the Pioneers overwhelmed the visitors 112-36.

A night after opening the 2007-08 season by holding off the senior amateur Winnipeg Swoosh 81-74, Northland dominated the four-year school from Otterburne.

Both teams were consistent. Northland scored 54-point first half points and had a 58-point second half. Providence scored 18 points in both 20-minute sessions.

It was the first time in six years Northland cracked the 100-point mark. The 76-point spread was the widest margin of victory for the Pioneers since an 85-point 107-22 win over Canadian Mennonite University during the 2001-02 season. And it was the most points the Pioneers have scored since a 117-35 romp over that same Mennonite squad to complete a home-and-home series during the year in which Northland enjoyed a 28-3 national tournament runner-up campaign.

All 11 players on the Northland roster put their names in the scoring column and seven of them hit double figures. Stephanie Klamar led the way with 20 points; Tresta Ralston netted 16, Sarah Passa and Brooke Conely both had 11, Sara Rindahl, Kelsey Gust and Casey Engelstad scored 10 each.

Dana Riccio, a 5-6 senior guard-forward, led Providence with 12 points.

Northland was 17-for-23 at the free throw line. Providence went 16-for-26.

After back-to-back home games to start the year, the Guy Enstrom-coached Pioneers go on the road to play MSCTC-Fergus Falls today (Saturday) and North Dakota State College of Science in Wahpeton Tuesday.

Homelessness in NW Minn.

capacity for self-support; and building community awareness about homelessness.

Pugleasa and Thompson presented two sets of research findings that describe the homeless population in northwest Minnesota. The first findings were compiled by Wilder Research through a survey on Oct. 26, 2006. The Wilder Findings state that 198 people in northwestern Minnesota were using a temporary housing program (sheltered). Of those 198 people, 81 were children with parents. 16 were unaccompanied youth under the age of 18, and 52 met the definition of long-term homeless.

The Wilder Research Findings also state that there were 12 people interviewed who stated that they were unsheltered. None of those 12 were with children and nine of the 12 met the definition for long-term homeless. The study also noted that the count for unsheltered homeless may have been under-counted, as it is difficult to locate homeless individuals in rural areas.

A third category in the Wilder Research Findings describes 45 individuals as finding informal arrangements for shelter that evening. Twenty-seven were children with parents, seven were unaccompanied youth under the age of 18 and 15 met the definition for long-term homelessness.

A second set of research findings called the CoC Point-In-Time Homeless Population and Sub-Population Survey were also presented. This study was completed Jan. 25, 2007 and lists 72 persons in northwest Minnesota who found shelter in emergency housing, 38 of whom were persons in households with children; 163 persons were living in transitional housing, 106 with children; with 34 of those living in sheltered conditions categorized as chronic homeless.

The CoC survey also found that 31 people were living without shelter, with eight of the 31 in households with children.

Pennington County Commissioner Bob Carlson asked Pugleasa and Thompson if the information was available on the number of homeless individuals who were alcoholic or addicted to drugs.

Thompson said that information is available, but it wasn't included for the purpose of the meeting.

"We don't want to lead you one direction or the other," Pugleasa added.

Carlson later asked if a county-by-county breakdown of the area's homeless population was available. He told the group that he didn't feel there was a big homelessness problem in Pennington County.

Peters explained to Carlson and the rest of the group that she had a similar opinion when she first started working at Options in Roseau. With the big industries like Polaris and Marvin Windows and Doors in Roseau County, Peters said she found herself questioning how anyone could be homeless.

Pugleasa said that homelessness isn't always a man living on the street – "it's hidden."

"It's really that hidden homeless population that we are trying to get to," Thompson added.

The first question posed to participants was: "What services do we need more of?"

"We have no shelter in our county," Peters answered, adding that agencies in Roseau County have to use Northwest Community Action for shelter and even then, its the use of a hotel room. She said that social services in Roseau County does not currently address housing issues.

The possible creation of money responsibility classes was also mentioned as a possible service. The consensus among the participants was that many cases of homelessness or near homelessness can be prevented with better knowledge of how to manage money. Classes should be geared toward high school or even middle school age groups to be most effective, said one participant.

Another area of concern is for ex-convicted felons to find housing. Most landlords choose not to rent to convicted felons and many employers shy away from employing convicted felons. Compounding the problem, in some cases, is the fact that criminals are often released into the county in which they served their sentence, even if they never lived in that county before.

"We provide them with food and a bed, then when their time is done, we release them and they have nothing," said Cynthia Pic, Tri-Valley Opportunity Council. "What are we encouraging them to do?"

"Most people don't realize that when you're convicted of a felony at age 21, that it can keep you out of senior housing at age 65," said Robert Klaven, multi-family housing specialist with the United States Department of Agriculture.

Traditional and accessible transportation also remain a concern among area agencies. Many forms of public transportation do not run on weekends, or they may have a limited schedule.

Phil Wold of the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council said that transportation costs and heating costs will soon be too high for many low income families. He said electricity is often turned off in the summer time for residents who are behind on their bill paying. Then in the winter, the heat is turned back on.

"It's a vicious cycle," Wold said. "I don't know how the low income families are going to make it."

Some ideas for solutions to the homeless problem that were discussed include coming up with more housing options for ex-offenders; better community awareness about homelessness and the working poor; better involvement from employers; better education on money management; and renter education that is taught in the same manner as home buying education classes.

The NWCoC is one of six greater Minnesota continuum of care organizations and one of 13 operating statewide. It serves communities in Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties; and Red Lake, White Earth and Leech Lake Indian Reservations.

Following the local input meetings, the NWCoC hopes will complete working group meetings and write additional research in November and December. From there, the NWCoC will create a draft of its 10-year plan, with revisions to be completed by the end of January 2008. The 10-year plan could be presented to county boards as early as March 2008.

Thanksgiving provides an opportunity to review family health history

Your family health history might be able to predict—and possibly help prevent—future health problems. For example, if you have a history of diabetes in your family, you may be able to minimize the risk of getting the disease by eating right, keeping your weight down and getting regular physical activity. The same is true of other diseases, such as cardiovascular disease and cancer.

There's no better time than the Thanksgiving holiday to review your family health history with loved ones. In fact, the U.S. surgeon general has designated Thanksgiving as Family History Day, a day to map out a family history of chronic diseases or diagnosed health problems.

In the November 2004 issue of Mortality and Morbidity Weekly Report, it was reported that 96 percent of the public agreed that family health history is important. Yet, only 30 percent of the same group actually collected a family history.

"With such a strong connection between genetic history and increased risk for chronic disease, we want to encourage more Minnesotans to review their family history," said Minnesota Commissioner of Health Dr. Sanne Magnan. "Thanksgiving provides a great opportunity for creating a family health history because families are already gathering to give thanks for the good things in their lives, including good health. They can help ensure future good health by taking a little time to review their family history."

You can compile a family history by asking relatives a number of questions about medical conditions. Questions include:

- With what major diseases has the family been diagnosed?
- Who was diagnosed? At what age?
- Was treatment successful?

Take this information to your medical appointments, so you can talk with your health care providers about ways to prevent or reduce the risks of the medical conditions identified in your family.

Many medical organizations, public health offices, government agencies, and research centers are developing tools to collect, and standardize the collection of, family health information.

A collection tool widely used by the public is the surgeon general's "My Family Portrait," which is available online in both English and Spanish. A downloadable form is also available in Portuguese, Chinese, Polish and French. "My Family Portrait" makes it easy to compile your family history and share it with your health care professionals as well as with your family members. You can get the online version at https://familyhistory.hhs.gov/. A ready-to-print version is available in English, Spanish and other languages at www.hhs.gov/familyhistory/order.html.

Finding peace of mind through practical Five Wishes document

by Paul Malley
Aging with Dignity's President
(Reprinted by permission from Aging with Dignity.)

Few things touch my heart more than someone describing a personal experience of caring for a loved one in the last days of his or her life. I consider it a great gift when people share these experiences with me.

Carrying out the mission of Aging with Dignity has given me the opportunity to speak with thousands of people about advance care planning. Their stories have a common theme: the end of life is an intensely personal, emotional, and spiritual experience for everyone – the person who is dying, their caregivers, family members and other loved ones.

While speaking at a conference in New England recently, I had the great privilege of meeting Mary. She told me about the remarkable last days of her husband, Bob, who had died the year before after a serious stroke left him in a coma. A few months before his stroke, Bob filled out an advance directive called "Five Wishes," which spoke for him and helped guide his care when he could no longer make his own decisions.

Through Five Wishes, Bob told his family and the doctors that he did not want to be kept alive artificially through life support treatment – so Mary and her sons did not have to guess when they were called on to make that decision. He described the kind of environment that he wanted to be in – music playing, people praying for him, his favorite scripture verses read aloud, clergy visiting, and his loved ones surrounding him. During his 28-day coma, his Five Wishes was kept at his bedside, and his doctors, nurses and family referred to it constantly.

"It was so helpful to know the little things that would make him comfortable," Mary said. From the smallest requests to making medical decisions on his behalf, his family had the peace of mind that they were fulfilling Bob's wishes to the letter.

One of Bob's wishes was that members of his family "make peace with each other if possible." After seeing this in writing, Bob's two sons, estranged from each other for five years, reconciled and continue to be close friends today. Through tears, Mary told me how grateful she was to her husband for making his wishes known. Bob died with great dignity and his instructions to his family brought peace and healing at the time of his death.

When I speak about advance care planning I often ask people: "If you were very sick and near the end of your life, what would be most important to you? Regardless of the type of group – seniors, baby boomers, college students, health care providers, attorneys, employees, grandparents, parents, or adult children – these are the responses I hear most often:

- To be surrounded by family and loved ones
- To be in their own home, if possible
- To avoid pain
- To have people praying for or with them
- To express love and forgiveness to others
- To receive love and forgiveness in return

These responses make it clear why the Five Wishes approach to advance care planning has proven so popular and effective. When making plans in case of a serious illness, people consistently say they want to talk about these personal and spiritual issues. That is why the Five Wishes document puts these issues, along with important considerations regarding life support treatment and the appointment of a health care agent, into one easy-to-use document.

Modern science has produced wonderful, life-sustaining advancements in medical technology. Yet, for many people, science has artificially prolonged the dying process. Understandably, some people fear that they will become an object on a "healthcare conveyor belt."

More than 5 million Americans have turned to Five Wishes to make sure their preferences are known and respected. In addition to individuals asking for the document for themselves and their family, more than 8,000 organizations (hospitals, hospices, places of worship, employers, physicians, attorneys, long term care facilities and others) distribute Five Wishes in all 50 states. These organizations see Five Wishes as a meaningful, effective and easy-to-understand approach to advance care planning.

Five Wishes allows adults of all ages to plan the care they want if a serious illness occurs. It helps people make clear their wishes about:

1. Which person they want to make health care decisions for them when they can't make decisions themselves
2. The kind of medical treatment they want and don't want
3. How comfortable they want to be
4. How they want people to treat them
5. What they want their loved ones to know

Five Wishes makes it possible for people to put their wishes in their own words. An individual may, for example, specify how they define "life support treatment," which can mean different things to different people, depending on beliefs and preferences. In addition to medical concerns, Five Wishes addresses personal, emotional and spiritual needs. Wishes three, four and five address matters of the heart and soul – love, forgiveness, comfort, relationships, and spirituality. All together this presents a wonderful opportunity to introduce spirituality and discussion of values.

After speaking to thousands of people and presenting Five Wishes to diverse groups across the country from New York to Honolulu in the past few years, it is clear to me that discussions about advance care planning must include more than just the medical issues. As advocates for dignified care at the end of life, we must continually ask the question: What is most important to you at the end of life? The responses consistently include matters of the heart and soul. Therefore, it makes sense for advance care planning – both the document and the conversation – to include these matters as well.

Paul Malley is president of Aging with Dignity, a national nonprofit organization with a mission to help people plan and receive the care they want at the end of life.

Literacy Collaborative

Marolt said "that's incredible!" In the past, he said, kindergarten students were not expected to read, but expectations have increased substantially.

Data on first grade students also showed substantial improvements. The benchmark for students in first grade was also higher than the standard.

Writing is also part of the Literacy Collaborative. Julie Kragness, one of the teachers/coaches, said teachers use interactive writing to help students learn how to think like a writer when it comes to the "construction" of a writing piece. (How to get ideas and make the idea interesting for the reader.) They also use it to help children with the conventions of writing (spelling, spacing, punctuation). We call it "sharing the pen." The teacher fills in what the child is not yet able to do on their own.

In summary, more students are reading at or above grade level at the end of the year than at the beginning, and that there is a significant increase in the number of students reading at or above grade level compared to the 2005-06 school year.

Teachers are enthusiastic about the Literacy Collaborative, and would like to see it used throughout the school and eventually in the middle school.

AgCountry Farm Credit Services to award scholarships

AgCountry Farm Credit Services will award 24 $1,000 scholarships to high school seniors from eastern North Dakota and northwest and west-central Minnesota who plan to enroll in college next fall.

Applicants must be from a farming/ranching family or plan to pursue a career in farming or some other aspect of agriculture. Twelve scholarships will be given away to Minnesota residents in Becker, Beltrami, Big Stone, Clay, Clearwater, Douglas, Grant, Hubbard, Kittson, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Ottertail, Pennington, Polk, Pope, Red Lake, Roseau, Stevens, Todd, Traverse, Wadena or Wilkin counties. Twelve scholarships will be awarded to North Dakota residents in Barnes, Cass, Cavalier, Dickey, Grand Forks, Griggs, LaMoure, Nelson, Pembina, Ramsey, Ransom, Richland, Sargent, Steele, Stutsman, Towner, Traill or Walsh counties.

Selection is based on academic record, personal attributes, vocational promise, leadership and financial need. The deadline for applications is March 1, 2008, and recipients will be announced in early April. Students may obtain scholarship application forms from their high school counselor, by calling any AgCountry Farm Credit Services office, or from AgCountry's Web site (www.agcountry.com).

Cheryl Kuznia takes a shot using the P3ProSwing golf simulator at The Perfect Swing. The Perfect Swing is open seven days a week ,and its golf simulator and batting cages are intended to help athletes improve their game, while also providing a recreational opportunity.

batting cage rates for students and non-students. The student rate is offered to anyone who is attending college or is high school-age or younger. Maker added that it doesn't matter what school the student is attending.

Student rates are $3.25 for a bucket of 30 balls: $10 for 15 minutes: $19 for 30 minutes: $30 for an hour: and $100 for four hours in the form of punch card with 16 15-minute punches. The punch card information is also stored electronically, so lost cards can be replaced.

Adult batting cage rates are slightly higher than student rates. They are $3.75 for 30 balls: $11 for 15 minutes: $21 for 30 minutes: $35 for an hour and $120 for four hours.

Golf simulator

The Perfect Swing utilizes both the P3ProSwing and Tiger Woods '06 golf programs for its golf simulator.

The P3ProSwing golf simulator is a golf simulator that can monitor club angle and location of where the club face contacts the ball, swing path, club speed, toe and heel pressure and many other features that would help the serious golfer improve his or her game. The P3ProSwing simulator is set at the Highlands National, a 7,393-yard, 18-hole, par 72 championship golf course, with four tee boxes for each hole.

The P3ProSwing also includes a driving range, putting green, a practice mode that will allow the user to select to take shots from anywhere on the course and traditional 18-hole course play.

For the golfer who dreams of golfing on some of the pristine courses throughout the world, there is another option. The golf simulator also uses Tiger Woods '06, which is set at many of the most well known golf courses, but it does not include any swing analysis. The Tiger Woods simulator could also be used for a winter golf league that Maker says is currently in the works.

Clubs are available for use at the Perfect Swing golf simulator. Golfers can also choose to bring their own clubs, but sensors will need to be attached to allow the clubs to work with the simulators.

The Perfect Swing Golf Simulator is available for $25 per hour for one individual and $20 per person per hour for two to four individuals. Maker recommends calling ahead to schedule a tee time. Besides cash, The Perfect Swing also accepts payment by check or credit/debit card.

Scholarship program

In addition to his offerings to the area athletic community, Maker is starting The Perfect Swing Scholarship program. Maker is currently seeking contributions for the scholarship program. Each business or individual that makes a contribution will receive free advertising inside the batting cages.

Maker is working with the Thief River Falls Education Foundation for the scholarship's implementation. He hopes to raise $6,000 to start the scholarship fund, which will award two scholarships annually to a college-bound baseball player and college-bound softball player.

Coaches will determine the scholarship recipients. The ideal candidates are hard working baseball or softball players who are team leaders and set a good example with their work ethic. The only eligibility requirements are that the candidate participated in baseball or softball in high school and they plan to attend college – there is no requirement to continue playing in college.

NCTC Music Dept. presents Musica Antiqua

A special treat awaits those who attend the Northland College Music Department's "Musica Antiqua" at 7 p.m. on Dec. 6 and 7, in the Gunderson Commons. The Northland Chamber Choir, Adult Vocal Group, Recorder Consort, and a Brass Ensemble have prepared several period pieces from the Renaissance. Guests will also be delighted by theatrical entertainment about the era.

The evening begins with a fanfare and a flourish harkening back to the "simpler" days of the Renaissance period (1400-1600). This is not a typical madrigal dinner, however. The choirs will be performing in costume from the perspective of the lower and middle class from the age - no royalty here, except for our highly esteemed guests. The Gunderson Commons will also be decorated for the period and for the holiday season.

The guests will also be treated to a light dinner, catered by Taher Catering. Individual loaves of bread, barley soup, seasoned chicken legs, toasted stuffed brown rolls, gingerbread, fruit cream tarts and curd cheese pastries, the traditional wassail, and Byzantine People's Wine (non-alcoholic) will adorn the feasting tables.

Please attend this light and fun event. This is a wonderful opportunity for those small companies looking to do something nice for their employees. Tickets are $15 and are available at Kezar Music in Thief River Falls through Nov. 30. Large parties should contact Linda Samuelson directly for arrangements by calling 681-0733.

Individuals with a disability who need a reasonable accommodation to participate in this event are to contact Dean Dalen at (218) 681-0835 or 1-800-959-6282, or TTY (218) 681-0990 at the Thief River Falls campus.

Thank You...

Scott and I can not express the appreciation we feel after the loss of our home to fire. The gratitude is overwhelming to each and everyone of you for your donations, help with the cleanup and words of encouragement. We can not begin to thank each of you individually but just know that what you have done for us will never be forgotten. We want to give a special thanks to the Middle River Fire Department, without their help we would have lost our garage as well. We watched as they tried to save our home, giving one hundred and ten percent, only to be defeated in the end. We feel so fortunate to have such great volunteers in our community.

We would also like to thank our children for their strength and support. Also for the special effort in finding my wedding ring. A special thank you goes to the Thief Lake Ladies Aid for the Pancake benefit and to Donavan Rud, the bands Ramblin Fever, The Bieto Family, The Woodpicks and the Night Riders for the turkey benefit at the American Legion. Only in a small community would this kind of support take place. We would like to thank Harold Brandon, Merton, Marvin, Paul and Von Hutchinson for helping move our new home into place. They donated man power and the use of equipment. Also my co workers at Digi-Key for their continued support and to Schenkey Inc. for the use of their equipment.

All we can do is give you all a big hug and let you know how much you mean to us. The world is filled with great people, for proof just look in the mirror.

Aviation Program

Former school instructors upset

by David Hill
Editor

By now, the news of the suspension of the aviation program at Northland Community and Technical College has reached most of the college's former alumni and teachers. Three former instructors have contributed some interesting viewpoints to the discussion.

Carl Reed

Carl Reed, Thief River Falls wasn't surprised when NCTC decided to suspend the aviation program. The aviation program has experienced drastic fluctuations in enrollment over the years. He said he remembers one year when enrollment at the school was so low that instructors closed the school down for a week or two. The four instructors then divided up a map of the state and each took a quarter. They then traveled across the state visiting with high school counselors. Reed said wherever they went, counselors told them that they didn't know the aviation school even existed.

Enrollment bounced back up quickly, Reed said. "We had students from all over the place."

At one time, enrollment in the aviation program neared 500 students.

Reed worked at the AVTI aviation school as an A & P instructor between 1969 and 1991. During his 22 years as an instructor, he saw and experienced a lot of things, but never did he lose faith that they were doing a good job at the school. In fact, he said, they were often told they were the best in the nation.

Reed said the school is still considered one of the best in the nation, but an education involves a lot more paperwork. In his days, he said the education involved mostly hands-on work. Students took apart engines and put them back together and then got to see if they would operate in a test cell. Students even took apart planes and helicopters, re-built them and got to see them take-off from the runway. The students really took pride in that, he said. He said he wonders if there's an engine out there today that runs, or whether the students are even allowed to make them run. Having test cells and up-to-date testing equipment is expensive.

Reed said he hasn't been involved with the school since he retired, so he can't really comment on a lot of things. He said he wasn't surprised the program was suspended, but he doesn't want to see it closed.

He said he always felt that the community supported the school and that students received a good education. At the time, he added, the state wouldn't give the school credit for training a student if the student didn't go into aviation. He said he always felt that was wrong, because the education they received prepared them for many jobs.

Many students did go to work for the airline companies. He recalls that one started his own aviation business after his initial employment with a pipeline company. That individual became a multi-millionaire. He recalls another student who designed a spray outfit for airplanes, and another who worked for a non-destructive test company in Minneapolis. Over the years, many of the students went to California and southwestern states where they could fly year-round. Reed said he understands the attraction.

But, he added, the students also were prepared to work in many different fields. He said he recalls a tractor company sending a representative to the school to recruit students because they had a good education.

No, he said, the fact that very few students set up shop and stayed here never bothered him. Reed said whether they stayed here or not, the school had a big impact on the community, and the students received a good education.

When asked whether he thought politics had something to do with the suspension of the aviation school, Reed responded, "very definitely."

Walt Osborn

"This is a great loss to the community," said Walt Osborn, St. Hilaire.

Osborn was an instructor at the aviation school for 23 years. He retired a year ago.

Hallock City Council appoints mayor

Hallock - The Hallock City Council passed a resolution that appointed Paul Clay as mayor on Nov. 15. Clay succeeds Mayor Kim Turner, who died Nov. 11 in a traffic accident.

"Turner's term as mayor was set to expire Dec. 31, 2008, meaning that the mayoral position will be up for election next November." - Kittson County Enterprise, Nov. 21, 2007, by Louise Money

Dedication held for new jail and Social Services Center

Roseau - "On Wednesday, a dedication ceremony was held for the new Roseau County Social Services building and the new Roseau County Jail in the sally port (garage) at the new jail."

"Jack Swanson, chairman of the Roseau County Board, explained that after the Minnesota Department of Corrections condemned the older jail, effective this past July, the board then had two options – build a new jail or transport the prisoners."

"The new jail has 26 cells, 52 beds, nine classifications, and will accommodate male and female inmates." - Roseau Times-Region, Nov. 17, 2007

Red Lake County Board receives update on housing buyout

Red Lake Falls - "Judy Bruggeman went to the Red Lake County Board meeting Nov. 13 to report on the housing buyout program. She said that just about all of the houses in jeopardy of sliding into the Clearwater River have been purchased, and the program still has some money left in it for the one person who hasn't made the decision to move. He still has time for his buyout, but it seems he can't make a decision. All of the other properties have been settled. Work is being done to vacate those properties, and that will take some time."

"The sale of the houses will be done probably this spring, and the money will go back into the program. That money will be used for the demolition of what is left on the land. There will probably be some money left over, and that money will go back to the state." - The Oklee Herald, Nov. 21, 2007

Commissioners support opposition to Clean Water Restoration Act

Red Lake Falls - "At the Red Lake County commissioners' meeting Nov. 13, the commissioners agreed to support the Minnesota Rural Counties Caucus' decision to request that the Association of Minnesota Counties support the National Association of Counties' opposition to Rep. Jim Oberstar's Clean Water Restoration Act of 2007.

"This is an amendment to the Clean Water Act, which would clarify the jurisdiction of the federal government by changing the term 'navigable waters' to 'waters of the United States'." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Nov. 21, 2007, by Dennis Harmoning

Brandon family counts its many blessings

Fires don't extinguish faith and hope

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Someone was looking out for the Brandon family on Sept. 20.

Cindy Brandon credits her late son, Cody, who died in 2002. "And his partner up there," her husband, Scott, quickly added.

On Sept. 20, Cindy and her future daughter-in-law, Meggan, prepared to leave their rural Middle River home to go out to lunch. Cindy had taken the day off from work because it would've been Cody's birthday. Before they left, Cindy let Cody's dog, Killer, outside to go to the bathroom. Since Killer was afraid of another dog, Killer didn't like being outside. On that day, however, "she absolutely wouldn't come back in," Cindy said. Some of Cindy's other dogs went with Cindy and Meggan.

Two hours later, Cindy and Meggan returned home. Cindy opened the door to the house. At that moment, a large puff of smoke came out. Cindy tried to make her way upstairs. She couldn't see very far, and the railing was hot. Cindy walked out of the place she called home for 25 years. Meggan called 911.

Volunteer Middle River firefighters soon arrived at the scene. There were hardly any flames, Scott said.

The house was air tight, and the fire was looking for oxygen, said Cindy, who noted paper items curled due to the fire. She was told that the fire should've ignited when she opened up the door.

There were other things that the Brandons couldn't believe. Glass from a china hutch fell out and melted into the carpet. The patio door bulged. Paint had dripped from a frame that contained an oil painting of Cody. A cloth dripped stripes of red, orange and other colors, embedding them into Scott and Cindy's white oven. The cloth had been hanging from the oven's handle.

There were other peculiarities. A large hurricane kerosene lamp was unscathed. "[Cindy's] toothbrush was still white, for God's sake," Scott said.

"It was just so weird," Cindy said.

The firefighters went through the home, looking for hot spots. They told the Brandons that the home would continue to be warm since their home had sheetrock walls. The fire was caused by a faulty electrical outlet. "The whole upper level was completely melted," Scott said.

The upper level of the home would have to be gutted. Scott and Cindy contacted a carpenter and an electrician to work on the home. In the meantime, the Brandons, their family members and their friends began moving items out of the home.

All of the women grabbed pictures. The men grabbed the shotguns. "We could've stayed out there

Counting their blessings

This cement 300-pound angel was damaged in the latter of two fires at the Scott and Cindy Brandon home in rural Middle River. Another 300-pound cement angel crumbled.

Scott and Cindy Brandon, along with their son Michael and future daughter-in-law Meggan (both not pictured), have a lot to be thankful for. Their home was damaged in a fire. Later, the fire reignited, and their home was destroyed. Behind the Brandons is a tree that was also burned in the fire.

Guard benefits being processed by Pentagon

According to the office of Sen. Norm Coleman, the Army has resolved the eligibility of more than 600 Minnesota National Guard soldiers for full education benefits through the Army Board for Correction of Military Records.

To date, 930 of the 1,162 soldiers affected have applied to have their eligibility adjusted or declined the benefits. So far, 616 have been approved, and the pending ones are expected to be as well, Capt. Allan Hetteen, education officer for the Minnesota National Guard, said in an interview recently. He added that none have been turned down to date, and that very few have declined their benefits, although he didn't have an exact number.

Upon returning from Iraq this year, nearly half of the soldiers of the 1st Brigade Combat Team of the 34th Infantry Division - one of the longest serving U.S. military units in Iraq - discovered they weren't eligible for full education benefits under the GI Bill. For some members of the "Red Bulls," just one day of service prevented them from being eligible for the full package, although all were eligible for some money.

That led to a flurry of activity, with members of the Minnesota congressional delegation pressing Pentagon officials and even President Bush for a fix, as well as introducing legislation to resolve the issue favorably toward the soldiers.

"The bottom line is that this situation is being taken care of," said Sen. Coleman, who provided an update of the situation on a conference call this week. "There will not be a need for legislation. I'm very pleased about that."

Hetteen said that the Army Board has been taking about a week to resolve a case after the board submits it on a soldier's behalf.

"Things are moving along, and it's been relatively quick, and we're pleased with the turnaround that the Army Board for Correction of Military Records has been able to do," he said.

NCTC conducts open house and dedication Nov. 28

Northland Community and Technical College - Thief River Falls invites the public to an open house and dedication ceremony from 2 to 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 28.

A $2.1 million capital bonding project at the Thief River Falls campus, which included a new WorkForce Center addition and remodeled space for nursing and management programs, has been completed. In addition to the funding for the capital bonding project, the college was also awarded a special Minnesota State Colleges and Universities initiative funds of $500,000 to renovate areas for the automated systems technology program, which has components in welding, robotics, and electronics. This program was developed and designed in partnership with area manufacturing firms to meet their workforce needs into the future. The campus cafeteria also experienced a face-lift to enhance student activity.

The dedication ceremony will take place in the Gunderson Commons at 2 p.m. followed by a ribbon cutting ceremony at the newly constructed WorkForce Center. Guest speakers will include Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, Bill Breyfogle, director of construction and support services, Minnesota State Colleges and Universities, and Rick Trontvet, director of human resources, Digi-Key Corporation.

Following the ceremonies, there will be a farewell reception for Dr. Shari Olson, vice president of administrative services and planning, in the Gunderson Commons from approximately 2:45 to 4 p.m. Dr. Olson has been appointed president of Eastern Wyoming College (EWC) in Torrington, Wyo. She will begin her term as president on Dec. 15.

Tours will be conducted for the public from 2 to 4 p.m. The WorkForce Center will provide demos of resources available in the resource room to assist area job seekers and employers with employment needs. The nursing department will be conducting a free blood pressure clinic, and the welding and electronics technology departments will have a robot demonstration.

President Anne Temte encourages everyone to stop by during the open house and join them for tours and refreshments.

"Ban the Bug" campaign begins in Minnesota

Minnesota Department of Health, the Minnesota Coalition for Adult Immunization and other organizations will conduct their annual "Ban the Bug" campaign from Nov. 26 to Dec. 2. The campaign, which coincides with the Centers for Disease Control's National Influenza Vaccination Week, will provide numerous opportunities for Minnesotans across the state to receive their vaccinations.

HOLY ROCK
RELEASES PROPHETIC WORD FOR THE AMERICAN DOLLAR
"In God We Trust"
Look at you, looking all green and stuff. O. We know you pay the bills and you buy a lot of cool stuff. But we do all the work to get you.
I hear that you like to talk, bringing all your bribes and corruption with you, trying to get us to deny our God.
In fact, if it wasn't for this loud speaker, you probably wouldn't hear us right now.
The Bible says, the love of money is the root of all evil. And that you produce weeds of greed and jealousy that spreads like cancer. You got people at Round Up scratching their heads, wondering on how to kill you.
You turn people into Scrooges & Robin Hoods, making them go crazy.
I don't know if you have noticed lately, but the Canada's dollar is catching up to you. We were just wondering if you were just going to sit around and do nothing.
Look, we know you're only six inches tall. Get over it. You got potential, you can do a lot of good, if you're in the right hands.
America knows how unstable you are. But, It's a good thing for us that you've got "In God We Trust" on your back.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere – [illegible]

Since I completely spaced out on Thanksgiving recipes last week, I'll give you some really good ideas for ways to use your leftovers from the turkey day. You should be ready for some of those ideas about now.

Use some of your turkey and that leftover broccoli in this dish. You can even flavor the dish with a little gravy and a few scallions or other goodies from your veggie tray too. Be inventive. The dish will be even better that way:

TURKEY BROCCOLI SPAGHETTI
- 1 1/2 cups cooked turkey, cubed
- 8 ounces spaghetti (one-half package)
- 1 cup fresh broccoli, cut into small florets
- 1 can condensed cream of chicken soup, undiluted
- 3/4 cup water (little less)
- One-half pound processed cheese, cubed (Velveeta)
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper

Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Place broccoli florets in drainer and drain spaghetti over the broccoli to cook it crisp-tender (if you don't like it so uncooked, go ahead and use the micro and a little water for a minute or two)

Place soup in medium pan and add water. Stir in cheese and cook and stir until cheese is melted. Add turkey, broccoli and pepper and heat through. Stir in spaghetti and mix well.

Pour into greased 8 inch square baking dish. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 30-40 minutes until heated and bubbly.

Did you have a lovely veggie platter on Thursday? Bet you have a few leftovers from that in the fridge. Try this soup and add some leftover turkey to it too. Here again, use your imagination and the ingredients in your fridge:

CREAM OF VEGETABLE SOUP
- 1 medium onion (little green onions are fine)
- 3/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup flour
- 4 cups turkey or chicken broth (homemade turkey broth is best - cool and remove fat from top)
- 2 cups whole milk
- 2 cups half and half (or evaporated milk)
- 1 teaspoon dried basil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 5 cups chopped leftover vegetables (broccoli, celery, carrots, cauliflower, green beans, corn, peas, water chestnuts, potatoes, pimentos, tomatoes, green and/or red peppers, etc)

Cook any raw vegetables until crisp-tender - not too long.

In large soup pot or Dutch oven, saute onion in butter until tender. Add flour and cook and stir until bubbly.

Gradually add chicken broth. Cook and stir until thickened, about 5 minutes. Stir in milk, cream, basil, salt, pepper and garlic powder. Add vegetables and cook very gently (no boiling - it will curdle if you do boil it) until heated through. Recipe makes about 3 quarts.

If you still have a few of those candied sweet potatoes, you can make a batch of these tasty muffins to serve with your soup. They will give your meal a little extra zing:

SWEET POTATO MUFFINS
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1 cup sugar (for muffin batter)
- 1 more tablespoon sugar (for topping)
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 3 teaspoons grated orange peel
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground ginger
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, beaten with a fork
- 1 cup cold sweet potatoes, mashed
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine flour, sugar, baking powder, orange peel, ginger, soda and salt.

Combine eggs and sweet potatoes and stir into dry ingredients with fork, just until moistened. Fill muffin cups two-thirds full.

For topping, combine cinnamon and the teaspoonful of sugar. Sprinkle over muffins. Bake at 400 degrees for 18-22 minutes, or until toothpick comes out clean. Cool 5 minutes before removing from pan. Make 1 dozen muffins.

Did you make too much cranberry sauce? Don't throw it out - use it to make these delicious "leftover" bars:

AFTER THANKSGIVING CRANBERRY BARS
- 1 1/2 cups butter, softened, divided
- 1 1/2 cups packed brown sugar, divided
- 3 1/2 cups old fashioned oats, divided
- 1 cup flour
- 2 cups cranberry sauce (whole berry, if possible)
- 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts or pecans

Cream 1 cup of butter and 1 cup brown sugar. Stir in 2 1/2 cups of the oats and the flour. Press into greased 9x13 inch baking pan. Spread with all of the cranberry sauce.

In micro-save bowl, melt remaining butter. Stir in pecans and remaining brown sugar and oats. Sprinkle over cranberries in pan.

Bake at 375 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool before cutting.

One injured in accident in Warroad

Leland R. Brondt, 79, Roseau, was taken to Roseau Hospital by Warroad Ambulance for examination following a two-vehicle accident on Highway 11 in Warroad, Wednesday, Nov. 21.

Minnesota State Patrol responded to a report of an accident at Lake Street on Highway 11 in Warroad at 4:30 p.m. on Nov. 21. According to the accident report, Brandt was driving a 2000 Ford Windstar van west on Highway 11 when the vehicle struck the rear of a 1989 Chevy pickup driven by Tony D. Huerd, 49, Warroad. The State Patrol report states that Brandt had a non-life threatening injury and was taken to the hospital. Huerd had no apparent injury. Damage to the vehicles was described as moderate.

The Roseau County Sheriff's Department provided assistance.

In Loving Memory of Fern Hesse

It was one year ago that God took you home to heaven. We miss you so much! We miss being able to call you for advice, for help with a recipe, or to share exciting news. We miss being able to stop in for coffee just to talk. You were always such a great listener. Through your patient, caring, and selfless ways, you made us each feel special in our own way. We miss your cute smile, sweet personality, and your sense of humor.

When we lose someone we love and admire so much, we lose much that cannot be replaced. But we are also left with much to cherish – memories, wisdom, and an example that can inspire us to offer love to those who remain in our lives. A dear one's love, after all, is never lost if it is passed on…that is the "Circle of Love".

Until we are together again… With Love & Honor, The family of Fern Hesse

Video games: a social activity

A new poll is describing online video or computer gaming as a social activity.

Never thought of video or computer gaming as a social activity. Whenever the subject came up the image I conjured up was that of a teenager hunched over a computer console. He (typically male) was locked in an electronic battle between the forces of good and evil ... or just blowing everything up. A new AP-AOL poll reports that it's a social activity, too. No, I don't think they meant that people like blowing things up together. I don't know, maybe they do. In any event, the story reports that men more than women (45 percent vs. 35 percent) play computer or video games. However, a social aspect of their play is emerging. According to the AP-AOL Games poll, males are more likely to play computer or video games with other people (32 percent vs. 23 percent), while more women than men say they prefer to play computer or video games by themselves (69 percent vs. 59 percent). One-in-four men who play online have formed ongoing friendships or relationships from playing online games with strangers (24 percent vs. 13 percent of women).

If you're looking for an excuse to play your child's Xbox, PlayStation or Wii, this may be it. An AP story appearing in the Nov. 12 edition of the Grand Forks Herald described situations in which parents joined in the play with their children and developed bonds with their children. Sadly, it was pointed out that three in four parents don't participate in games with their children.

Wait. Who paid for this poll and who's contributing comments to these stories? Maybe we can find it in a conclusion of the findings: "The findings continue to affirm that gaming is a social experience that hits all spectrums of consumers - males, females, young and old," said Ralph Rivera, vice president and general manager, AOL Games.

Aha!

Get outside and get some fresh air.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Tips and free brochures to help minimize the threat of holiday fires

There are many causes for celebration during the winter holiday months, but it's also the time of the year when the threat of home fires increases dramatically. Nearly one third of all residential fires occur during the winter, according to the National Fire Protection Association, resulting in billions of dollars in property damage, as well as thousands of injuries and deaths. Fires can originate from many sources: too many holiday lights plugged into an outlet, portable heating devices, or roaring fireplaces. However, there are precautions that homeowners can take to keep the home fires burning safely.

The use of alternative heating devices is a significant source of many winter fires. "Fire departments and organizations such as the American Red Cross are at their busiest during the winter," said Mike Convery, vice president and chief claim officer for MetLife Auto & Home. "Alternative heating devices, such as a space heater or wood stove, can be attractive cost-saving alternatives, but they increase the likelihood of a home fire occurring, if used improperly."

Holiday candles are also one of the leading causes of fires. In fact, the greatest number of home candle fires happened during celebrations such as Christmas, Hanukkah, and Kwanzaa. Many fires occur when holiday decorations, such as centerpieces, come into contact with a lit candle, which is why it's important to consider fire safety when using candles as part of holiday decorating.

"The fact is, many fires are preventable, if the proper precautions are taken," said Convery. "To help avoid a tragedy, it's important to review the basics of fire safety. It only takes a few minutes and it could save a life."

Fireplace and Wood Stove Safety Tips

- Keep a tight-fitting screen on your fireplace and obtain a professional inspection annually before use. You should also have your chimney cleaned on a regular basis to remove any debris.
- If you have a wood-burning stove, make sure there is ample clearance between the stove and any combustible materials. Burn only dry, well-seasoned wood, and dispose of the ashes in a closed metal container outside the house. Do not burn trash in the stove - this can start a chimney fire. Never let a wood fire burn unattended or overnight.
- With any type of heater, such as an electric space heater or portable kerosene heater, use common sense. Always keep the heater away from flammables and - although it may be tempting, especially in snow-prone areas, never accelerate the drying of clothes by packing them on top of the heater. Think twice, and use a drying rack instead. Have heaters serviced per the manufacturer's instructions.

Holiday Fire Prevention Tips

- Deep-frying turkey during the holidays is becoming an American tradition, but be warned: there is the risk of severe injury and property damage from using gas-fired turkey fryers. Fryers can easily tip over, spilling up to five gallons of hot oil, and if partially frozen turkey is dumped into the fryer, the oil could spill over and cause an explosion. Units without automatic thermostat controls can heat the oil to the point of combustion.
- When it comes to seasonal decorations, there are many ways for your to go "up in smoke" - literally. If you celebrate the season with a live Christmas tree, select one that is fresh and water it regularly. Keep it away from heat sources and exits. If you have an artificial tree, make sure it's flame resistant.
- Never leave a lit Hanukkah Menorah or a Kwanzaa Kinara unattended. Have a candle snuffer and an appropriate fire extinguisher nearby.
- Never burn a discarded Christmas tree, wreath, or branches in your fireplace. A Christmas tree can be very oily and may damage your chimney. More important, dry trees burn hot and fast, and often release sparks. Just one spark could ignite a carpet or window coverings.
- With plenty of electric lights and decorations set to illuminate the holidays, it's important to remember not to overload wall outlets and extension cords. Use the power strip where you can.

For additional information on fire safety, MetLife Auto & Home is offering free fire safety materials, including a coloring and activity book entitled "Learn About Fire Safety with the PEANUTS Gang" and a fire safety brochure entitled "About ... Fire Safety." They are available by calling 1-800-638-5433 (MET-LIFE).

Temperance Society sets up phone number

The Marshall County Temperance Society met on Tuesday, Nov. 20 at the New Hope Lutheran Church in Newfolden. The group has set up a toll free number. It is to be used by those who wish to visit on the phone or in person. The goal is to help those with drinking concerns who wish spiritual guidance and direction. The telephone number is 500-730-4289. The caller will be referred to someone who will try to help.

Hibbert to race at AMSOIL Duluth National Monster Energy/Arctic Cat's Tucker Hibbert is geared up to start his snocross season at the World PowerSports Association Snowmobile Tour's opening race this weekend in Duluth.

Last year, hibbert made his return to the WPSA Snowmobile Tour at the AMSOIL Duluth National after a three-year hiatus racing motorcycles. Although he didn't have a remarkable run, finishing 11th and fifth respectively, he quickly made up for it by dominating races the remainder of the season. After Duluth, he won four of the six pro finals he entered and the gold medal at ESPN's Winter X Games.

Hibbert proved last year that he's still the man to beat and says he's confident Monster Energy/Arctic Cat has what it takes for a solid performance this weekend in Duluth.

"Similar to last year, Arctic Cat has given me the opportunity to put together my own team and and to run the entire operation. I have a lot more responsibility than the average racer, hut have the advantage of knowing every aspect of my team. Monster Energy/Arctic Cat's goal for Duluth is to get through this weekend without any major problems, dial in the new sleds and win some races. Luckily, I was able to spend a week in British Columbia with my Dad, riding and testing the new sled. I think the extra seat time will give me an edge on my competition, but Duluth is always such an unpredictable race. I have a lot of motivation and know Monster Energy/Arctic Cat has what it takes for a successful weekend of racing."

Public Television Memories

I recently discovered that the "Sesame Street" children's show was about to be released on DVD. News like this makes me yearn for the sweet memories of Sesame Street, and all of Public Broadcasting's children's programming from my youth.

I think one of the major reasons I liked Sesame Street was the cast, which was made up of a high percentage of "Muppets." The Muppets were puppets created by the late Jim Henson. The Muppets were also featured in the television series, "The Muppet Show," which then leapt to the silver screen in "The Muppet Movie." I can still sing much of "The Rainbow Connection," which Kermit sang to Miss Piggy and in "The Muppet Movie." I actually found myself tearing up this morning while I hummed it quietly in front of my desk. I had a fair amount of emotion invested in the Muppet characters and felt they were a talented group; I still believe Garrison Keillor of "Prairie Home Companion" fame got most of his stage presence and style from little Kermit the Frog who was the fictional announcer and director of "The Muppet Show."

"Sesame Street" taught morals, good conduct and acted as a sort of prep school for grade school children. I loved the show and was surprised that some of its content is now considered to be "out of touch," and not deemed fit for today's children. These are the same kids left morally numb by violent video games, and who believe that Santa was born to save the world. Now they're being told not to watch yesterday's re-runs of this great, educational show? I think a little trip down Sesame Street would be just fine.

"The Electric Company" was absolute fun. I mean it doesn't get much better with a superior actor like Morgan Freeman playing character parts. He doesn't even narrate each part he plays (unlike the Shawshank Redemption, March of the Penguins, etc.) On "The Electric Company" there were vampires, who helped you learn to spell, and the content was more mature - it was like a psychedelic romp through grade school that taught as it entertained; it's too bad the influence of the 60s "hippy" mentality made it past music and the Electric Company, because they did a real service in those two capacities, unlike their forays into societal change and politics. As a young man, I loved to take a snowmobile ride into Viking to watch my friends practice basketball then home for this young person's, educational version of "Laugh In."

I never watched any of these programs at an age when I was supposed to. I only discovered "Mister Rogers Neighborhood" when I was about 13. Fred Rogers' relaxed demeanor was a nice contrast to the increased expectations of junior high school and was a good way for me to unwind. The show was very positive, although I believe the one disservice it performed was in broadcasting that everyone was special. I would agree that everyone is unique and that is a gift from God, but it's how you use that gift that makes you special. Parents heard this stuff and raised their children in such a way that today these same young adults expect everyone to recognize how "special" they are and become frustrated and disappointed at the unenlightened, who fail to recognize their undemonstrated distinction.

I do believe that Mister Rogers hit it right on the button when he told kids not to judge on looks alone and to be kind. I was about the age when I was increasingly more embarrassed to admit my Mister Rogers addiction when Eddy Murphy came along and parodied the show on Saturday Night Live. I simply grew into this much more adult parody of the show and left old Fred to the next generation or, considering how old I was, perhaps the next generations younger brother or sister.

I discovered Public Broadcasting late, but at the perfect time in my life; it had an effect on the rest of my life. I don't know what children's programming offers today but could it ever be better than a frog playing a banjo to impress a pig that, although a bit overweight, was kind of a diva? Never, I say.

Tharaldson signs letter of intent at NCTC

Coach Lisa Handley of Northland Community and Technical College has announced that Kayla Tharaldson of Goodridge has signed to play for the Pioneers volleyball team in the fall of 2008. She is the first player to sign to a NJCAA letter of intent for the 2008 season.

"Kayla is a six-foot hitter who puts up a very nice block," said Coach Handley. "I am trying to bring in bigger players for us next season. We need to have some tall attackers who can put up a strong block for us to reach our goals of getting to nationals. I am looking forward to coaching Kayla in the fall," said Handley.

Kayla is a senior at Goodridge-Grygla High School and plans on majoring in nursing at NCTC in Thief River Falls. She is the daughter of Kevin and Sheila Tharaldson of Goodridge.

2007 Prairie Grains Conference to be held Dec. 13

The 2007 Prairie Grains Conference is set for Thursday, Dec. 13 at the Alerus Center in Grand Forks, N.D. This one-day event focuses on professional production and marketing insight for small grain and soybean producers and in Minnesota and North Dakota.

The Prairie Grains Conference will spotlight a mix of production insight, crop rotation, and marketing information to help producers with this year's unique challenges. More than 456 people attended the conference last year, and this year's attendance is expected to exceed that number.

General session presentations will be held throughout the day, including:

- Dr. Leon Osborne, Meridian Environmental Technology – Will the Recent Warmer and Dryer Growing Conditions Continue in 2008?
- Andy Knutson, Conagra, Omaha, Neb. – Why are There Such Volatile and Extreme Basis Movements in our Grain Markets?
- Michael Doane, Monsanto – Growing Opportunities for New Biotech Traits
- William Wilson, agricultural economic professor at North Dakota State University – Commercialization of Biotech Wheat in the U.S.
- Michael Swanson, senior economist and agricultural economist with Wells Fargo Bank – Major Driving Forces Behind American Agriculture and the Major Challenges Ahead

Different research reporting sessions, along with educational breakout sessions, will give producers an opportunity to network with exhibitors and with each other.

Conference registration and a continental breakfast will begin at 6:30 a.m. on Thursday, Dec. 13. The day's first events are two research reporting sessions sponsored by the Minnesota Wheat Research and Promotion Council and the Minnesota Soybean Council, beginning at 7 a.m.

A complete listing of speakers and events can be found at www.smallgrains.org. The conference is free of charge for members of the MAWG, Minnesota Barley Growers Association, Northland Community and Technical College - Farm Business Management, and the MSGA. Admission is $20 for all others. Registration is requested, call 1-800-242-6118, extension 13 to reserve a ticket.

all night," Scott said.

But they wouldn't have had a place to put everything. The next day, a trailer was set to arrive to house their belongings while the upstairs was gutted. In the meantime, Scott, Cindy, Michael and Meggan would stay in Michael and Meggan's mobile home. Located across the yard from Scott and Cindy's home, Michael and Meggan's home was in the process of being readied at the time of the fire.

"We didn't really think anything would happen," Cindy said. But they grabbed the painting of Cody, a shotgun that belonged to Cody, and other items from the home.

The four of them then went over to Michael and Meggan's home. At about 2:30 a.m. Sept. 21, Cindy was suffering from a headache from the smoke and from the day's events. She couldn't sleep. "Scott was snoring so bad, so I couldn't take it anymore," she said.

Before she left the home, she told Meggan that she was going to her house. Taking a flashlight along, she walked across her yard and into her home. "All the windows were broke, and it just felt really warm," recalled Cindy, who went into Meggan and Michael's bathroom to get some Tylenol® PM.

Cindy walked back and got back into bed. "Meggan was screaming. The whole top floor was exploding," Cindy said.

The other home was on fire – again. They called 911. "For me, I had to be there as it died," Cindy said about the second fire that finally claimed her house. She and Scott had raised their children there. Scott couldn't watch it.

"You could almost hear the house crying," said Cindy. "It was a friend to us."

After the fire, one wall was left standing. The fire took Meggan's picture books and her wedding dress. It also took the clothes that she and Michael were saving for their baby, who is set to arrive in March. Cindy's large Christmas village and her 18 totes of Christmas decorations also went up in flames. Many material possessions were lost to the fire, but some items remained.

The volunteer firefighters were able to save the Brandons' garage, which was located within 10 feet of the house. "I don't know how they did it," Cindy said.

The firefighters also saved an oak tree, which stood near the home. Twenty-five years ago, Scott and Cindy put a pail in the tree to show where their house would stand. Now, the house was gone. The tree, though battered, still stands.

Two days later, an insurance investigator allowed the Brandons to start rummaging through the remnants of their home. Their kids began looking for Cindy's wedding ring. They found it in the rubble. Some diamonds in the ring had cracked, and the ring was blackened. "It was so unrecognizable," said Cindy. "It didn't look like a ring."

Luckily for Cindy, it was a white gold ring, enabling it to withstand the fire. "They figured the fire got over 1800 degrees because there was no copper left to investigate," said Cindy, who noted Diamonds & Designs in Thief River Falls was able to clean the ring so that Cindy would be able to wear it.

A picture of Camille Bruggeman, one of Cody's friends, also withstood the fire – albeit a little battered. A ceramic cat, which Cody had given to Cindy when he was 7 or 8, became so hot that it broke and then melted back together. A 300-pound cement boy angel crumbled, and another 300-pound cement boy angel sustained some damage. Both of the angels were temporarily at the Brandons' home until they could be returned to the cemetery where Cody is buried.

On the same day that the Brandons began looking through the rubble of their former home, their son Jamey called. He had found a mobile home for them. When Cindy saw a round countertop in the home, she was sold on it. She plans to spend time around that countertop with her grandchildren, who will total nine in March. She also knew Scott would enjoy the large kitchen.

"We've raised our six kids, and she's happy living in here, that's all that counts," Scott said.

Until their mobile home could be moved to the site of their former home, Scott and Cindy lived with Michael and Meggan in the latter couple's home.

While Scott, Cindy, Michael and Meggan coped with the loss of their belongings, northwest Minnesota, particularly the city of Middle River, was there for them. "This whole community wouldn't let us lay down and die," said Scott, who noted Middle River and the surrounding communities came in with droves of clothing for the family. Any extra clothing that the Brandons received, went to a Fargo, N.D., homeless shelter.

Each person had 35 pairs of underwear and nine toothbrushes, Cindy said. Purdy's Shoe Store in Thief River Falls provided them with new pairs of shoes. Many area churches donated quilts. Two benefits were held for the family. "It's hard to accept help when you're used to helping out," Scott said.

Scott's employer, Schenkey Inc., allowed the couple to use some of its gravel equipment.

Cindy's employer and coworkers have also been exceptional. For one week, not one day went by where she and her son didn't leave Digi-Key with a box of clothes or other things for their family. Some of Cindy's coworkers also threw a Tupperware shower for the Brandons.

And, of course, Scott and Cindy's family members and friends have been helping along the way.

"There's just so many great people," said Cindy. "They're wonderful."

"It's hard to thank everybody," said Scott, who noted he will find a way to thank everyone.

Scott and Cindy are thankful for the caring people in northwest Minnesota, and they want to be sure that others are prepared in the event their homes sustain a fire. Scott encouraged people to go through their insurance coverage every couple of years to make sure that they have enough insurance. Cindy urged people to make sure they have replacement insurance. She also encouraged people to record a video and/or pictures of their belongings. Store the video and/or picture CD in a safety deposit box, she said.

Scott and Cindy are thankful that they have insurance. They are also thankful that no one was injured or killed in the fire. Cindy said, "We still have each other and our kids."

Scott said, "We got the important stuff."

Former school instructors

the school has already been made, and feels that's too bad, because if they were able to recruit for aviation it would probably do just fine.

They haven't done much to help the aviation school along for the past few years, he said. Osborn said they asked administration to recruit for the aviation school several times but were told that unless they recruited for the entire school they couldn't recruit for one program. Even though the college is recognized as one of the best in the nation, Osborn said that there were many people, even people within the region, who didn't know the school existed.

Osborn understands some of the reasons for suspending the program at the school. "It's an expensive program, no doubt about it." And, he noted, the aviation industry, in general, has experienced a downturn. All aviation schools are in trouble, he added. But, he believes the school missed some opportunities to not recruit more aggressively when some of the other schools were in trouble.

He said he doesn't know what they could do to enhance the school or what they could do with that building if they closed it.

Osborn believes that students who attended the school got a good education. The requirements and paperwork involved has increased substantially, but students still got a good education. Forty-three different subjects, including sheet metal, welding and hydraulics, were taught at the school, so students were qualified for many different jobs. Recruiters came from many places, not just airline companies.

Osborn also thinks politics has played a big part in the decision to suspend the program.

He believes that in general, the school has given less attention to technical education programs. He also believes the aviation school and the other programs being suspended might not be the only programs in trouble. Osborn offered that because there are two automotive programs - one at East Grand Forks and another in Thief River Falls - that more than likely, the administration will decide to fold one program into the other, and the community that will come out on top will be East Grand Forks.

The college may have to start worrying, too. Osborn, who lives near St. Hilaire, said there are fewer and fewer students in rural areas. If the school is to survive, it will have to expand its recruiting efforts beyond the borders of the region.

David Dyrud

David Dyrud attended the aviation mechanics school in Thief River Falls between 1961 and October 1962. When he started, there were 13 people in his class and they sat in a circle of chairs in a hangar.

"I have a history and know how the school started and grew," said Dyrud, who now lives in St. Paul. Between 1970 and 1973, Dyrud also was an instructor at the school.

After he graduated from the school, he worked and then continued his education, eventually obtaining a master's degree in human resources development. During his career, he worked for Northwest Airlines until his retirement, and experienced the cyclical ups and downs of the industry.

In the interest of full disclosure, Dyrud also wanted to acknowledge that his son is an instructor at the school.

Dyrud said he has invested a great deal of his time and interest in the school during the past 20 years, so he has a personal desire to see it continue. He worked with the college putting a lot of time and effort into helping it grow. In fact, he worked closely with the director and president of the school to establish an internship and a relationship with a university in China, which lead to a sister college. The purpose was to ultimately partner with the University to help train and educate students and help stabilize enrollment. The industry, he said, does have its cyclical ups and downs.

Dyrud also believes the school overbuilt in the 90's, but added that it's the best equipped aviation school in the United States.

The root cause of problems at the aviation campus, he said, is due to combining the college and technical college. When that happened, he said, the focus shifted almost entirely to academics.

Dyrud said he'd like to see a priority be given to the technical side of the school.

Another reason he sees the school struggling has to do with politics. He noted that Winona quit its aviation program, and Duluth is trying to start one. Because of the political advantage that Duluth has, he said, Thief River Falls faces a great uphill climb. He also believes Minnesota State Colleges and Universities is not willing to fight that battle.

In his opinion, Thief River Falls is in much greater need of having a successful growing aviation mechanics school (than Duluth). If Thief River Falls does proper recruiting, he said, he believes there's no reason they cannot be successful. He estimated that they could have between 100 and 150 students every year and most could find jobs with no problem.

Dyrud doesn't know what they should do with the school or if there are other opportunities in the aviation field that could take its place. Dyrud said he sees other opportunities in the aviation field, but individuals need to have that basic A&P license before they begin exploring other fields. Dyrud said good research would do a better job at identifying those areas than what he could offer off the top of his head.

Cut your own Christmas tree At Rydell Refuge

Rydell National Wildlife Refuge will be open for the Christmas Tree Harvest Event on Saturday, Dec. 1 and Sunday, Dec. 2 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Bring a hand saw to cut your own tree. A few hand saws will be available for use at the refuge for those who do not have their own. Chain saws aren't allowed. Enjoy a cup of cocoa, cider, or coffee and a treat while you warm up in the refuge's Visitor Center. Trails will be open for those who want to enjoy a walk around the refuge.

Volunteers will be on hand in the Visitor Center to register those who wish to cut a tree and orient them to areas where trees may be cut. Volunteers will also be at the cutting sites to assist with tree removal and tie down. The reduction of the conifer stands is part of the management goals of the refuge. These stands will eventually be restored to native tallgrass prairie and/or native hardwood forest.

Donations received for the trees will go to the Friends of Rydell Refuge Association to further their mission of promoting a better understanding, appreciation and accessibility of the refuge for people of all ages and abilities. The FRRA works with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in promoting and interpreting the natural and cultural history of Rydell NWR and sponsors numerous programs at the Visitor Center.

During the winter season, the Visitor Center is generally open Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m., and Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. When snow conditions allow, the seven-mile trail system is groomed for cross-country skiing and is accessible for hiking and biking year-round from sunrise to sunset seven days a week, unless posted otherwise. A parking area is located outside the main gate for visitor's convenience.

To get to the refuge, travel three miles east of Mentor (or about three miles west of Erskine) on U.S Highway 2 and turn south on Polk County Road 210. Follow County Road 210 for two-and-a-half miles to the large entrance sign. You may also take Highway 59 to Polk County Road 41, turn west and follow the signs. For more information, you may call the refuge at 1-800-841-0172.

Representatives of Area Food Shelf to speak at Kiwanis Club meeting

The Thief River Falls Kiwanis Club invites all interested people to visit their weekly meetings, held in the Best Western each Tuesday at 6:30 a.m. (Meeting Room A, by the pool). The program on Nov. 27 will feature a presentation by representatives of the Area Food Shelf.

Dakota Clinic switches to MeritCare

by David Hill
Editor

Dakota Clinic employees in Thief River Falls will soon be MeritCare employees. The decision was announced this week, although it has been widely anticipated for more than a month.

The decision at Dakota Clinic in Thief River Falls had to wait for a decision by the board of directors at Dakota Clinic in Fargo, N.D., where members of that organization were discussing whether to merge with Essentia Health, an affiliation of the Benedictine Health System (BHS) and St. Mary's Duluth Clinic Health System (SMDC). On Tuesday, Nov. 27, stockholders of Dakota Clinic voted unanimously to approve a merger that will be effective Jan. 1. When that decision was announced, it put into motion events in Thief River Falls.

Basically, the convergence of Dakota Clinic - Thief River Falls and MeritCare Health Systems, means that employees of Dakota Clinic will be employees of MeritCare. Officials have been working out the details of a plan to bring about the convergence for months now.

After the announcement on Nov. 27 that Essentia and Dakota Clinic were merging, officials at Dakota Clinic in Thief River Falls announced their convergence with MeritCare. The clinic in Thief River Falls will be known as "MeritCare - Thief River Falls Southeast Clinic."

In an interview with Doug Vang, senior executive for MeritCare Regional Health Services, Vang said employees had been kept fully informed of the plans. And while they were asked to fill out job applications for MeritCare, he said once the decision was announced, there would be no job postings or interviews. Vang added that several other practical aspects of employment, such as payroll systems and benefit packages, also had to be worked out, but very little was expected to change. Employees would also be given credit for all their years of service.

At one time, Dakota Clinic was located on the Northwest Medical Center campus. During the 1990s, the physicians left the Northwest Medical Center campus and built their own clinic. In recent years, the relationship between the physicians at Dakota and officials at Northwest Medical Center has improved, and they had begun working much more closely than they had in the past. During that time, physicians witnessed and participated in discussions about the merger of Northwest Medical Center and MeritCare.

Olson explained that Dakota Clinic physicians appreciated the practical aspect of the merger between Northwest Medical Center and MeritCare. He said they liked what they saw and thought a fully integrated health system that essentially merged all of the operating aspects of a hospital and MeritCare in Thief River Falls would improve patient care.

Vang and the chief operating officer of Dakota Clinic, Dan Olson, said Dakota Clinic and MeritCare discovered they were on parallel

County Board hears of plans for biomass facility in area

Warren - "Proponents of a biomass facility in Marshall County presented their ideas for the project and a request for county support in some form at the meeting of the Marshall County Board of Commissioners Tuesday, Nov. 20.

"Appearing before the board were Roger Elliot and Ken Steiger. Elliot stated the building would use very little water, would not generate sewage and would not produce hazardous waste. He said the project could possibly provide positions for 20 to 24 employees. The facility would purchase all commodities locally but would sell produce elsewhere.

"Elliot of Evansville said their plan is to pelletize alfalfa hay, grass and straw from surrounding farms and sell the pellets as a fuel for external furnaces. He indicated they were trying for some sort of an arrangement with Central Boiler of Greenbush, which manufactures external furnaces.

"Elliot told the board he is considering a site at either Middle River or Newfolden because those cities would provide a location, are on a 10-ton route and a railroad, and can provide the other necessary resources to make the project successful. Elliot told the commissioners he is requesting any kind of support the board could provide, such as providing the land, consideration of a tax exemption under the state's Job Opportunity Building Zones program, or some other sort of funding assistance.

"County Auditor-Treasurer Scott Peters said Tuesday the county might be able to support a request for a JOBZ exemption, but he does not think the county board could do much directly for this particular venture in view of the many other companies and potential ventures that could also use county support." - Warren Sheaf, Nov. 28, 2007

Lake Bronson Dam to undergo minor repair

Lake Bronson - One of three metal gates on the Lake Bronson Dam was to be removed for inspection this past week.

"According to Lake Bronson State Park Manager Ken Anderson, contractor Industrial Builders of Fargo, N.D., will be bringing in a crane to remove the gate." The gate's wheels or rollers, which are used to raise and lower the gate, have seized up.

"A bulk head, Anderson said, would be installed in the gate's place to hold back water."

"Kittson County Engineer Kelly Bengtson said the road closure request he received asked for five days of no traffic. ... The gate will be gone for a month and then the road will be closed again for about another five days for reinstallation.'" - Kittson County Enterprise, Nov. 28, 2007, by Louise Money

Elementary teachers teach the gift of giving

Karlstad - "Once again, the elementary staff at Tri-County Schools is asking students to donate to local food shelves for their teachers and their classmates. Families are encouraged to spend approximately the same amount on food items that they would have spent on gifts for the class parties. Items may be brought to the school between Dec. 10 and 19." - North Star News of Karlstad, Nov. 29, 2007

Student suspended in TRF for threats

A Challenger Elementary School student received a one-day suspension after she allegedly wrote threats on a bathroom stall at the school Nov. 20.

"There was some graffiti on a stall in a restroom," said Thief River Falls Superintendent Irv Peterson, who noted it was a list of kids' names. Peterson said, on Nov. 28, that he thought the upper elementary school student listed the names under a "die list." Peterson said Thief River Falls police were called. The girl has received a one-day suspension, and there will be followup counseling in the school.

On Nov. 27, the Northern Watch learned about the incident from a concerned parent whose child was allegedly on the list. That parent was concerned because nothing had appeared in the media and because she thought a one-day suspension was too light of a punishment. Nothing had been released about the incident by police, and Northern Watch left a message for Thief River Falls Police Chief Kim Murphy on that day. That evening, at a Thief River Falls Committee of the Whole meeting, Murphy explained that the incident was under investigation.

After school officials confirmed that the incident had taken place, Murphy was contacted again. He indicated that he had talked to someone from the City Attorney's Office, and had been instructed that he "cannot give out anything." However, he said, "There was no criminal activity."

A short time later, Murphy called the Northern Watch and said that neither the school officials or police department felt there was a need for an evacuation or a lockdown. "There was no perceived threat," Murphy said. He said the

Turkey plant catches fire

Thief River Falls firefighters responded to a fire Tuesday night at Northern Pride in Thief River Falls. No injuries were reported, but damage was estimated to be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. The fire forced the end of this season's turkey processing. Processing was originally scheduled to be completed Thursday. Northern Pride General Manager Russ Christianson anticipates that turkey processing will begin again in spring 2008. The cause of the fire remains under investigation, but it is believed that it may have been heat- or electrical-related.

No injuries after fire at Northern Pride Turkey plant in TRF

No injuries were reported after a fire Tuesday night at Northern Pride in Thief River Falls. The fire caused hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage, leading to the closure of this season's turkey processing. Processing was originally scheduled to be completed Thursday.

Russ Christianson, general manager of Northern Pride, said the fire may have been heat- or electrical-related. "We really don't know yet," said Christianson on Thursday morning. "The [insurance] adjustor was in, but they didn't have an opinion."

Thief River Falls firefighters were on the scene from 11 p.m. Tuesday to 2:30 a.m. Wednesday. They also checked on the plant throughout the early morning hours to ensure that the fire hadn't reignited.

"They did an excellent job," said Christianson, who noted the fire department did an excellent job containing the fire.

Christianson said, on Wednesday morning, that about five or six employees were in the plant at the time of the fire. Employees noticed the fire and called 911. The fire occurred in the highest portion of the turkey processing plant – a second story electric control room and in an area where water is chilled for internal use in the plant.

Christianson expects that turkey processing will begin again in spring 2008 at Northern Pride. The company is currently working with another turkey processing plant, Turkey Valley Farms in Marshall, to process its remaining turkeys.

McIntosh Manor on and off list of worst

by David Hill
Editor

Had results from a compliance check completed the week of Nov. 16 been recorded at the federal level, McIntosh Manor would not have been on a national list of underperforming nursing home facilities.

This week, it was announced that McIntosh Manor in McIntosh was on a list of 54 nursing homes being told by the federal government that they're among the worst in their states.

According to an Associated Press story written by Kevin Freking, and appearing in the Nov. 28 edition of the Star Tribune, the homes have been identified as among the worst in their state in an effort to goad them into improving patient care.

Two homes were identified in Minnesota: McIntosh Manor in McIntosh and the Golden Valley Rehabilitation and Care Center in Golden Valley. The purpose of the list is to make sure that the people in these nursing homes get better quality care or that they get the opportunity to move somewhere else.

Nick Berg, administrator for McIntosh Manor, became administrator of the facility in April. Berg said this week that they were not pleased to be on the list. He added that he understood that the facility has had a less than perfect record during compliance checks, but that substantial improvements had been made at the facility. In fact, he said, during the week of Nov. 16, the Health Department completed a survey and had found the facility to be in compliance. Berg said a representative of the Health Department contacted him recently to let him know that McIntosh Manor would be on the list, because there wasn't enough

Two killed in Enbridge pipeline explosion

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Two Enbridge employees died Wednesday as the result of a crude oil pipeline explosion and fire near Clearbrook. According to an Enbridge news release, the pipeline explosion occurred at approximately 3:45 p.m., about three miles southeast of Enbridge's Clearbrook terminal.

Steve Arnovich, 35, and David Mussatti Jr., 27, both of Superior, Wis., were both killed in the explosion. No other injuries to the crew of 19 (a combination of Enbridge employees and local contractors) or to area residents were reported.

It is still unclear at this point as to what caused the explosion, but initial speculation is that the explosion and fire were caused by parked vehicles that were running near the ignition site.

Bill Stephens, spokesman for Enbridge said that all four oil lines running southeast from Clearbrook were shutdown following the pipeline explosion Wednesday. Enbridge issued a statement Thursday, confirming that Enbridge Energy Partners' Line Two, shipping light crude, was restarted at 3:30 a.m. Thursday and Line One, shipping light crude and natural gas liquids, was restarted at 4:15 a.m. Thursday.

Line 3, a heavy crude line, which was directly involved in the incident, remains shut down. Based on a preliminary estimate of the repair time it is expected that it may require two to three days to return Line 3 to service. Line 4, a heavy crude line, was restarted at 12:20 p.m. Thursday.

The 19-person Enbridge repair crew was in the process of repairing a pipeline leak when the explosion occurred.

"We had a temporary repair in place and they were in the process of making it a permanent repair when something ignited the hydrocarbon," Stephens said.

"We are all terribly saddened by this event," Stephens said on behalf

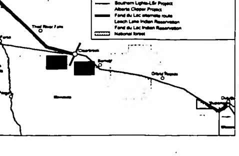
Explosion overshadows expansion plans

by Scott DCamp
Reporter



Joe Kezar has always had pleasant dealings with Enbridge Energy Partners in the past. Like many northwest Minnesota residents, Kezar has willingly sold right-of-way to Enbridge for pipelines in the past, rather than fight the system."

His most recent negotiations were eight years ago and he had hoped that Enbridge was done acquiring right-of-way to the south, since future expansion would threaten his home. Unfortunately, Enbridge wasn't, and Kezar and other landowners in northwest Minnesota will soon be negotiating right-of-way for two new pipelines to be installed along the existing Enbridge route that travels southeast from the Canadian border through part of northeast North Dakota through Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Clearwater, Beltrami, Hubbard, Cass, Itasca, Aitkin and St. Louis counties in Minnesota into Superior, Wis.

The negotiations aren't new for Kezar. This will be the fourth time in 25-plus years of owning his Sanders Township property that he has negotiated with Enbridge. Kezar describes himself as a "tree guy" and his concerns during each right-of-way negotiation have dealt with the probable loss of trees and the proximity of the right-of-way to his home. Kezar said under current plans, Enbridge will remove trees from an area that is a quarter mile wide by 60-70 feet deep.

Kezar told Enbridge officials during recent meetings that he built his home where it is, because of the woods. A large portion of his wooded area was cut the last time Enbridge installed pipelines along the route. To help remedy the problem, Enbridge covered the expense of moving several young spruce

This colored map details Enbridge's proposed expansion projects in Minnesota. The company plans to add two lines, the Southern Lights LSr and Alberta Clipper, to the main route through northwest Minnesota

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

If you got your deer this year, dear, you might be wondering what to do with it about now. Here are some ideas on how to prepare delicious meals from your wild game.

This spicy chili is like no chili you've ever eaten. It is great served over rice for a filling meal, or can be eaten as it is with crackers on the side. A creamy lettuce salad would taste great with it too - maybe cool it off:

VENISON CHILI
1 pound hot Italian sausage
1 large onion, diced
1 medium sweet red pepper, diced
2 pounds venison steak, cut into 1 1/2 inch cubes
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 (28 ounce) can crushed tomatoes
1 (14 1/2 ounce) can beef broth
1/4 cup tomato paste
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 teaspoons cumin
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon dried oregano
1/2 teaspoon crushed red pepper flakes
Salt and pepper to taste
1/4 cup fresh parsley, minced
Hot cooked rice

Cook sausage, onion and red pepper in Dutch oven. Drain and set aside. In same pan, brown venison in olive oil and drain. Leave venison in pan.

Add tomatoes, broth, tomato paste, brown sugar, cumin, chili powder, oregano, pepper flakes, salt, pepper and sausage mixture. Simmer, uncovered, for 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until venison is tender. Stir in parsley. Serve over rice. (Serves 6 to 8 people.)

This is a simple dish made with quick and easy mixes and seasonings. And nobody will guess it is made from venison. Try it with burger if you didn't get your deer this year:

VENISON TACO PIE
1 pound ground venison (or beef)
1 (11 ounce) can Mexicorn, drained
1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce
1 envelope taco seasoning mix
1 (7 1/2 ounce) can refrigerated buttermilk biscuits
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese (or American or the Mexican blends that are available)

In large skillet, cook venison until no longer pink. Drain and stir in corn, tomato sauce and taco seasoning. Set aside to keep warm.

For pie crust, press biscuits onto bottom and up sides of ungreased 9 inch pie pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 5 minutes. Spoon venison mixture into crust and sprinkle with cheese.

Bake for 20-25 minutes until filling is bubbly and biscuits are golden. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

Sometimes we forget about the old American stand-by, Swiss Steak. Try it with your fresh venison or use beef round steak for a treat tonight. I always make it with baked potatoes and squash - an easy oven meal:

VENISON SWISS STEAK
2 pounds venison steak or beef round steak
3/4 cup flour
2 cups sliced onions
2 tablespoons fat, if needed
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 clove garlic (or 1 teaspoon garlic salt or powder)
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 cup chili sauce or cooked tomatoes

Pound flour into steak. Fry onions in fat, then remove and brown steak on both sides in the fat. Place steak in roasting pan and cover with cooked onions. Add mixture of mustard, salt, pepper, garlic, water and chili sauce or tomatoes. Cover and cook over low heat for at least 2 hours. If baking, bake at 350 degrees for 2 hours or more. Cook longer if meat is tough or not fork tender at end of the 2 hours.

Maybe you'd rather make jerky with your venison. Here's an easy one that you can make right in your oven:

VENISON JERKY
2 pounds steak cut to finger size with fat and sinew removed.
1/2 cup complete cure salt (TenderQuick is one brand)
1 1/2 cups water
2 teaspoons liquid smoke

Marinate meat in salt, water and liquid smoke for 6 hours. Remove and drain.

Place on cookie sheet and dry in 250 degree oven for 2 or 3 hours. Spice with red or black pepper.

In Loving Memory Of Virginia "Ginny" Bjerken
Feb. 24, 1944 - Dec. 3, 2006

God saw she was getting tired, and a cure was not to be. So he put his arms around her and whispered, "Come with me." With tear-filled eyes we watched her suffer and fade away. Although we loved her deeply, we could not make her stay. A Golden heart stopped beating, hard-working hands put to rest. God broke our hearts to prove to us he only takes the best - Author Unknown

Politics at play in Ag bill

Area residents got an insider's tour of politics in the capitol when Congressman Collin Peterson visited Thief River Falls last week. Peterson provided area residents and producers with an update on the Ag bill - a not too pretty picture.

A long-time voice of common sense and reason, Peterson must have had to hold back on his real thoughts on the subject of the Ag bill, and the efforts that have resulted in the bill being stalled in the Senate. One can hardly imagine the amount of effort required to shepherd a bill like the Ag bill through the House. It's an important and complicated piece of legislation that addresses real problems and concerns, including increases in funding for the food stamp and nutrition programs. We can, however, imagine the frustration of seeing a similar bill in the Senate encumbered by at last count, 285 amendments, many of which have nothing to do with agriculture. In the same sort of way we also experience the frustration of hearing a president threatening to veto the bill, and collective whine of 2008 candidates who want to delay the debate because they are too frightened by the prospect of seeing a popular bill struck down. In the off-chance that they are successful in delaying the debate and vote on the bill, the impact and repercussions on agriculture and consumers will be significant. Peterson's comment was that consumers will really find out how much food costs to produce.

Is that what we really want?

Peterson demonstrated great restraint in not expressing what he probably really wanted to say, though we could probably read between the lines. We appreciate his restraint and we thank Peterson for standing up for interests of agriculture and consumers in northwest Minnesota.

Most of us aren't so naive to believe that a bill doesn't go through a bunch of hoops before it becomes law. We understand that the making of a bill requires a great deal of clout, compromise and some backroom deals. Nevertheless, Washington's grime has always remained at arm's length. That is, we hardly ever witness, participate in or experience directly what takes place in Washington, which is probably the way we like it. But now it seems, it's time to grab our shovels and clean out the barn.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LHS bands plan Winter Concert on Monday, Dec. 3

The Lincoln High School Bands will present their Winter Concert at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 3, in the LHS Auditorium. The concert will present a mixture of holiday music and current band music and will feature the Jazz Band, Concert Band and Wind Ensemble.

The holiday selections the bands will be performing include: "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Holiday Sleigh Ride," "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas," and some holiday jazz medleys.

The Jazz Band will also be performing some classic funk and swing pieces featuring solos by Richard Holand on trombone, Lorrisa Craigmile on bari sax and Alex Thomas on guitar.

The Concert Band, a group made up of ninth and tenth graders, will feature many soloists when they play their first piece, "Across the Great Divide," including Hailey Peterson on trumpet, Becca Kruta on flute, Molly Haugen on clarinet, Lorrisa Craigmile on oboe, Alex Thomas on bells and Michael Dyrud on french horn.

The Wind Ensemble will perform pieces that share a theme of overcoming darkness and adversity to arrive with hope for the future. The first piece, "Inferno," was inspired by the literary classic, "The Divine Comedy," and it tells the story of Dante's journey through the dark underworld. "Every Morning New" will follow this piece. It is an arrangement of the beloved hymn, "Great Is Thy Faithfulness." The Wind Ensemble will also play a tribute to our military with a piece titled, "Armed Forces Salute." This piece is a medley of "The Caisson Song," "Semper Paratus," "The Marine's Hymn," "The U.S. Air Force" and "Anchor's Aweigh." These pieces also feature solos by Dana Dyrud on flute, Lorrisa Craigmile on oboe, Cody Knott on timpani, Kathryn Walrath on trumpet and Amanda Lara on clarinet.

tracks. Both had a common vision of an integrated health care system, and a convergence was seen as something that could benefit both parties.

Area residents may be wondering what the convergence between Dakota Clinic and MeritCare will mean.

Olson said the convergence between MeritCare and Dakota Clinic does not mean patients will be automatically referred to other MeritCare facilities in communities outside of Thief River Falls. He said it is still their goal to keep as many patients at the clinic in Thief River Falls as possible. The clinic is also continuing to recruit physicians to provide expanded services demanded by patients of northwest Minnesota.

In the weeks to come, Olson said the clinic in Thief River Falls will run advertisements explaining the convergence. Current patients will be asked to contact their insurance companies and change their preferred provider from Dakota Clinic to MeritCare - Thief River Falls Southeast Clinic. The affiliation will take effect on Jan. 1, 2008.

Vang said Dakota Clinic physicians and MeritCare have a common commitment to work toward convergence. There's a lot of work to do, Vang said. "Clarity and substance will come with time."

But the convergence may also help advance plans at Northwest Medical Center. When MeritCare merged with Northwest Medical Center, one of the promises MeritCare officials made was to either improve outdated facilities in Thief River Falls or build a new hospital. Dakota Clinic has long been rumored as a possible site for a new hospital.

Vang said all options remain on the table.

Olson noted that Dakota Clinic only has the foundation to support upward construction on approximately one-half of its facility.

After Essentia and Dakota Clinic/Innovis stockholders voted to merge with Essentia, stories appeared in the media about the impact the merger would have on tax rolls, because it would mean the new clinic, known as Innovis Health, would have tax-free status.

While MeritCare is a not-for-profit healthcare provider, that doesn't mean the clinic in Thief River Falls will be taken off the property tax rolls. It is not exempt from paying property taxes. In Minnesota, the only exemptions are in statute

Love In a Lunch Pail

I like to eat; it's a fact. I like food most often found at a church potluck, which is indicative of my upbringing, both as it pertains to faith and to sustenance. There is something deeper about food, however, it's more about safety and comfort and having enough than just being full. These are feelings most people discover in their mother's kitchen and are created by the lady in charge, who at our house was my mother, Alice Nelson.

My mom always has been a great cook; she cooked three meals per day from her little kitchen at our farm near Viking for a family of seven, which included four boys. Mom made grade school treats, massive holiday suppers and hearty field lunches during harvest; I guess you could say she was a triple threat.

I don't know if kids bring treats to school on their birthdays anymore. I really doubt it. I would guess there is a rule against it because of someone with more time than common sense really wanted to "flex their muscles" at the local PTA meeting. As a child, I would have been a social failure if I hadn't provided Rice Krispie bars or brownies for everyone on my birthday. We lived close to town, so my mom would always haul them in, which made the day extra nice.

My mom really showed her character under the primitive conditions of the field lunch - meals prepared at home then delivered to hungry, dusty men busy at harvest. I remember riding out to the field in our old station wagon as a kid and how much fun it was to eat outdoors with all the men. As I grew older and became the baler operator, I remember how much I loved seeing our yellow Ford car come out with lunch. I was like one of Pavlov's dogs when mom brought out lunch. To this day, I still salivate at the sight of a yellow Ford Galaxy 500.

No one packed a lunch like my mom. Viking Elementary occasionally would take us on a trip, which required that we eat lunch on the road. I remember very few of the destinations, but the lunches were outstanding; fresh buns, summer sausage, cheese, some chips and a sweet. Mom packed lunch in a five quart ice cream pail that held everything in until I pulled off the lid and released a blitz of delicious smells with my nose as the quarterback.

Christmas was like a Broadway production; my mom worked for days prior to the big supper preparing cookies, colaches, lefse, flat bread and krumkake. Christmas Eve began at noon in the kitchen as painstaking preparation was required so that mom's stove could make everything ready at the same time. I still love the idea of several different dishes, all with different baking times, finishing at the same time to perfection in one oven, because it shows such care and expertise ... plus it smells so good. My mom combined foods from the cultures of her childhood and my father's childhood to create memories of my childhood that I cherish today.

In the end, my mom's cooking was more than food. I think the more you need something, the more you appreciate the person who satisfies that need. You can't live long without food so it's important, but I think, for someone like my mom, the food was just the method; what she really was providing was love.

Arctic names new general manager

Mary Ellen Walker has joined Arctic Cat as its general manager of parts, garments and accessories, and company-wide sales. Arctic Cat's parts, garments and accessories business accounts for more than $100 million in revenues, representing approximately 13 percent of the company's net sales. Walker will report directly to CEO Christopher Twomey.

"Mary Ellen's proven expertise in global business development and brand management make her a great fit with Arctic Cat," said Twomey. "As general manager of parts, garments and accessories and company-wide sales, Mary Ellen will play a key role in re-invigorating the growth of our business and further leveraging our efficiency. We are excited to have Mary Ellen on board and look forward to her contributions."

Walker brings more than 25 years of business experience from the 3M Company. Her career at 3M Company has spanned key assignments in general management, marketing, sales and global business development.

Most recently, Walker was general manager of 3M's building safety solutions division, where she successfully re-engineered a portfolio of businesses and grew revenues to nearly $200 million through increased market penetration, overseas expansion, repositioning key products and launching new products and programs. Prior to that, Walker served as business director of 3M's promotional markets for the company's global $100 million custom-printed Post-it® Notes business. She also led the global growth of the 3M insulation "Thinsulate" business for the apparel industry, expanding internationally and entering new markets, such as automotive and appliances.

"I'm excited by the opportunity to help Arctic Cat achieve its strategic goals and grow sales. The company has a strong brand, market leadership position and reputation for offering high-quality, innovative products."

Walker earned an MBA from McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada. She also received a bachelor's degree from the University of Western Ontario, London, Ontario, Canada.

Family caregivers concerns group to meet Dec. 3

A meeting for family members or friends who provide care and/or support to elderly persons will be held on Monday, Dec. 3, in the community room at the Good Samaritan Apartments in Warren, beginning at 10 a.m.

Many of the group's members have a loved one diagnosed with Alzheimer's Disease or other related disorders. Individuals with a loved one in the nursing home or at home are encouraged to attend.

Marshall Manor has a unit specializing in care and services for people with Alzheimer's or related disorders. It is the group's desire to provide a supportive environment for families of people with these disorders.

Two full days last week, the entire department took part in specialized training on such things as evacuations or lockdowns. He said that training was planned before police were called to CES for this incident.

Pastor releases first CD with concert tour

Mason Peters is a multi-talented musician and pastor. He will be releasing his first solo CD, Come Alive, while performing a three-city concert tour. Joining him on stage will be four professional musicians from Fargo, Phoenix, Ariz., and Nashville, Tenn. Come Alive features Mason's original compositions. The upbeat melodies and rich lyrics reflect Mason's sincere desire to encourage people to walk in the wholeness of the Gospel.

Mason is no stranger to either touring or recording. He has recorded albums with two previous groups and toured in Canada, the U.S. and five countries in Europe.

Music is not Mason's only gift. The congregation of the Pembina Evangelical Free Church attests to his exceptional speaking abilities. He is also a professional speaking coach for the nationally known Dynamic Communicators Workshop.

Mason and his wife, Vanessa, are originally from Canada and have three children.

The public is invited to experience the Mason Peters Come Alive CD Release Tour at the Newfolden Evangelical Free Church. Mason's band will be performing live at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 9. For information, log onto www.masonpeters.com or www.newfoldenefc.org

Banquet caps 2007 tennis season

A Nov. 19 awards banquet put the finishing touches to the 2007 Thief River Falls girls high school tennis season.

Kristine Sletten was presented with the Prowler Award; Katie Rook was selected as the most improved player; and Jaime LaCoursiere was named Rookie of the Year.

Class A academic all-state honors went to Mauri Gonsorowski and Laura Heschke. Carli Sandahl was recognized as a Class A state tournament qualifier.

Sletten and Gonsorowski were given 2007 captain's plaques. They will be succeeded as 2008 captains by Cheyenne Horien and Sandahl.

Head coach Corey Thorson announced that team statistical awards went to Sandahl, most singles points; Sletten, most doubles points; and Chelsea Daley, most combined singles/doubles points.

Roseau 4-2 season-opening hockey winner over TRF...

Prowlers compete with Rams

Roseau had twice as many shots on net and doubled Thief River Falls on the scoreboard, but the young, inexperienced Prowlers still stayed close to the defending Class AA state champions Tuesday in the 2007-08 boys high school hockey opener for both teams.

The Rams left the Ralph Engelstad Arena with a 4-2 win. To some, it might have been considered a moral victory. But while first-year Thief River Falls head coach Tim Bergland appreciated the effort by the underdog Prowlers, he still recognized it as a loss. "It's a fine line," he said, between satisfaction with effort and disappointment in defeat. "It's easy to lose games 3-2 or 4-3. It's winning games 3-2 or 4-3 that's tough to do."

Roseau started with a bang, with Ben Nelson putting the Rams on the board just 54 seconds into the season.

A power play goal by Aaron Ness made it 2-0 at 6:02.

Thief River Falls came back with a power play goal by Keaton Joppru – the first varsity goal for the junior forward – at 9:34, only to have Ness score again at 13:25 for a 3-1 Roseau advantage at the first intermission.

The two teams traded second period goals and skated through a scoreless third period. Nelson picked up goal No. 2 at 10:22 and the Prowlers' Spencer Johnson scored at 16:48.

"It was like two halves," said Bergland. "First half, they somewhat controlled play and in the second half, we started to take over. With our lack of varsity experience, it probably wasn't a surprise that we started slow. But we made some adjustments and played pretty well at the end."

Thief River Falls sophomore goalie Zane Gothberg made his varsity debut with a 32-save effort against the Rams. Roseau netminder Mike Lee stopped 16 shots.

Roseau won the junior varsity game 2-0.

Scoring

First period - Roseau, Ben Nelson (Mitch Martinson, Adam Knochenmus), :54; Roseau, Aaron Ness (Tyler Landman, Knochenmus), 6:02; TRF, Keaton Joppru (Matt Audette), 9:34; Roseau, Ness (Dustin Moser) 13:25.

Second period - Roseau, Nelson (Ness, Knochenmus), 10:22; TRF, Spencer Johnson (Lucas Olson, Aaron Langan), 16:48.

Goalie saves - TRF, Zane Gothberg 8-20-4-32; Roseau, Mike Lee 3-6-7-16.

Pioneers' win squares series with MSCTC-FF

Scores were similar, but results were reversed as MSCTC-Fergus Falls and Northland split an early-season Minnesota Community College Conference men's basketball series.

The Spartans won 62-55 in Fergus Falls Nov. 17. The Pioneers prevailed 66-51 in a Tuesday rematch at Northland.

A 16-point, 37-21 Northland halftime lead stood up for a 15-point victory as the Pioneers improved to 3-2.

The game's only double figure scorer was Northland's Marcus Gardiner with 22 points.

A 54 percent 28-for-52 shooting performance from the field won it for the Pioneers, who struggled through an 8-for-19 free throw performance. The Spartans went 15-for-18 at the line, but had a 33 percent 16-for-49 shooting figure from the floor.

Rebounds were even at 31-apiece. It was a 24-turnover night for the visitors. The Pioneers turned it over 14 times.

Northland went on the road this weekend for games against Minnesota West Friday and Ridgewater today (Saturday).

Scoring

	1	2	T
MSCTC-Fergus Falls	21	30	51
Northland	37	29	66

MSCTC-FF - Scott Siebe 6, Bill Bauman 8, Dionte Foster 2, Shawn Carlveau 8, Tom Barrett 9, Mike Herrick 7, Brandyn Fretz 2, Lance Lee 9.

Northland - Johnell Hallman 4, Matt Horejsi 5, Zach Larson 4, Reo Thomas 7, Jeremy Sich 6, Johan Philmon 8, Travis Lage 5, Luke Settergren 4, Dominic Kryston 2, Courtney VanBeest 4, Marcus Gardiner 22.

Prowlers have a tough early schedule

Trying to learn the game while facing top-notch competition is not an easy task. Just ask the Thief River Falls girls high school hockey team.

The Prowlers lost their fifth straight decision and fell to 1-6 Tuesday with a 9-0 defeat at the hands of Roseau.

"In our last five games, we've played some of the top teams in the state in Class A and Class AA," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Corey Poole, whose team was out-scored by Bemidji, Crookston, Park Center, Marshall and Roseau 36-1 over an 11-day span.

"We're so young, we've got a lot of fundamental skills we still need to improve on," pointed out Poole. "Right now, we're not where a high school hockey team should be. But we hope to improve and get better as the year goes along."

Thief River Falls goalie Jade Gothberg stopped 33 Roseau shots. The Prowlers put just nine shots on the Rams' net.

Scoring details were not made available.

NCTC women claim rematch from Spartans

An early-season home-and-home women's basketball series produced a home court win for both Northland Community and Technical College and Minnesota State Community and Technical College-Fergus Falls when the Pioneers won a 69-63 Tuesday match-up in Thief River Falls.

A Nov. 17 meeting in Fergus Falls went to the Spartans 82-58.

Northland trailed 27-24 at halftime in the rematch, but out-scored the visitors 45-36 over the final 20 minutes for the win.

Brooke Conely scored 22 points and Shawna Rogalla had 10 to lead the Northland offense.

The Pioneers won while making just 13 of 31 free throw attempts. The Spartans were 26-for-40 at the line on a night when the two teams combined to shoot 71 free throws.

Northland took a 3-2 record on a southern Minnesota weekend road trip that included a Friday night game against Minnesota West and a Saturday afternoon contest vs. Ridgewater.

Scoring

	1	2	T
MSCTC-Fergus Falls	27	36	63
Northland	24	45	69

MSCTC-FF - Ashley Peterson 10, Brittany Oustorff 12, Maggie Kolle 1, Deveny Moore 16, Krista Shakloski 5, Carolyn White 17.

Northland - Sarah Passa 7, Sara Rindahl 9, Trista Ralston 8, Alexandria Engelman 3, Brooke Conely 22, Stephanie Klamar 2, Amanda Beck 7, Shawna Rogalla 10, Justyne Larson 1.

Prowlers out-score Ponies

■ TRF girls start season with 72-68 victory

In a high-scoring opener, Thief River Falls came out a 72-68 girls high school basketball winner over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Tuesday.

Chelsea Sorteberg scored 18 points, Brittany Wiseth and Beth Tvedt both had 13 and Toni Sorteberg netted 11 for the visiting Prowlers, who led 36-35 at halftime.

The Ponies' Jessie Aakre led all scorers with 22 points. She was joined in double figures by Lisa Zutz with 14 points and Holly Ann Carlson with 10.

"A good start to the season," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "We did some things well. We executed well at times. We got down a number of times, but kept our composure and kept battling."

Shooting figures were nearly identical. Thief River Falls was 24-for-71 from the field (34 percent). Warren-Alvarado-Oslo went 24-for-72 (33 percent). The Ponies out-scored the Prowlers 21-12 from 3-point range, but the winners were 20-for-36 at the free throw line, where Warren-Alvarado-Oslo went 13-for-28.

Wiseth completed a double-double with 16 rebounds as the Prowlers beat the Ponies on the boards 50-44.

"We saw a few things we need to adjust, but most of them are fixable," noted Loe.

Scoring

	1	2	T
Thief River Falls	36	36	72
Warren-Alvarado-Oslo	35	33	68

TRF - Brittany Wiseth 13, Chelsea Sorteberg 18, Chelsey Knutson 1, Toni Sorteberg 11, Kaley Peterson 2, Beth Tvedt 13, Rachael Johnson 2, Kristine Sletten 6, Hannah Kainz 5, Cassie Gunderson 1.

W-A-O - Lisa Zutz 14, Kendra Aakre 8, Ann Polucek 3, Alexy Johnston 4, Jessie Aakre 22, Breanna Ranstrom 7, Kristie Novak 2, Holly Ann Carlson 10.

Offense is a TRF strong point

Most years, Thief River Falls girls high school basketball coach Jeff Loe is concerned about his team's ability to put points on the board. Shooting hasn't been one of the Prowlers' strong suits. That is expected to change in 2007-08.

"Our strength should be on the offensive end," said Loe. "We have a lot of people who have the ability to score. However, the challenge will be to stop our opponents from scoring."

Chelsea Sorteberg, a 5-6 junior guard, was the Prowlers' leading scorer a year ago when she averaged 10.4 points per game for an 8-17 team.

A big boost should come from 6-1 junior post player Brittany Wiseth, who missed all of last year due to a knee injury.

"Chelsea was our leading scorer last year, so we are obviously looking for her to have another great season," said Loe. "It will be nice to have Brittany this year. She has gained a lot of strength since her freshman year. Having missed all of last season, she should be chomping on the bit this year."

Seniors Kathryn Walrath and Hannah Kainz have varsity experience and are expected to be team leaders, according to Loe. "We have a lot of experience back, especially with our juniors," he said. "We have some great seniors who will have to provide leadership and be great role players."

Seniors Chelsey Knutson, Rachael Johnson, Kristine Sletten; juniors Toni Sorteberg, Beth Tvedt, Cassie Gunderson; and sophomore Hailey Peterson round out the Prowlers' varsity roster.

Junior varsity players include sophomores Corissa Kruse, Cheyenne Horien, Meagan Arahomson, Katrina Peterson, Kim Lara, Kim Bauer, Lacey Stennes, Becca Kruta, CeJae Peterson, Jessie Clark, Katie Rook, Chantel Kuznia and Samantha Buck, along with freshman Sarah Korpi.

"We should have a lot of depth this year," noted Loe. "We're looking forward to the season."

TRF girls lose two in REA Hockey Classic

Host Thief River Falls lost an 8-0 Friday night game to Park Center and dropped a 6-1 Saturday afternoon decision to Marshall during the Nov. 23-24 Ralph Engelstad Arena Classic girls high school hockey match-ups.

Crookston posted a pair of shutouts in the event, beating Marshall 7-0 to open Friday's doubleheader and blanking Park Center 5-0 to begin the Saturday matinee twinbill.

Thief River Falls was out-shot by Park Center 35-15, with the Prowlers falling behind 4-0 in the first period and trailing 6-0 after two periods.

The Prowlers had a 27-22 edge in shots-on-goal against Marshall, but scored just once – a game-opening first period goal by Haleigh Stegeman. It was a 1-1 tie at the first intermission. The Tigers went ahead 6-1 in the second period.

TRF vs. Park Center Scoring

First period - PC, Alyssa Whittenburg, 2:44; PC, Rachel Nyquist (Jess Pederson), 5:45; PC, Whittenburg, 6:39; PC, Kit Hollway, 12:32.

Goalie saves - Marshall, Sarah Schneekloth 9-9-8-26, TRF, Jade Gothberg 5-6-5-16.

Mustangs start with win against Patriots

For a team that graduated an awfully lot of firepower last year, Red Lake County Central did okay on offense Tuesday in a 58-34 season-opening girls high school basketball win over host Win-E-Mac.

Hannah Vettleson scored 21 points and Kayla Pelletier had a 15-point, 9-rebound debut for the Mustangs, who had a 27-16 halftime lead.

"For the first time out, you've got to be happy with a win," said Rick Koivisto, who is beginning his 31st year as the program's head coach – first at Plummer and then with the Plummer/Oklee cooperative.

Red Lake County Central led only 16-14 before Koivisto switched his defense. A press helped the Mustangs out-score the Patriots 42-20 the rest of the way.

The winners were 22-for-57 from the field (39 percent) and 6-for-13 at the free throw line. Win-E-Mac shot 50 per cent from the floor, but the Patriots were limited to just 28 field goal attempts. They were 2-for-5 on free throws. It was a 27-25 Red Lake County Central rebound edge and a 20-13 Win-E-Mac high figure in the turnover department.

"We hope to be competitive," offered Koivisto. "We'll try to utilize our quickness with a full-court game."

The Mustangs were 18-9 a year ago when they were led by seniors Courtney Halvorson and Brittany Gustafson, a pair of 1,000-point career scorers.

Jill Rewertz is the lone senior on this year's varsity roster that also includes juniors Faith Kruchowski, Brittany Waldal, Michelle McMullen, Pelletier; sophomores Cassandra Vettleson, Hannah Vettleson; freshmen Haylie Malwitz, Brianna Spong, Lacey Willett, Kali Borene, Lisa Bergeson; and eighth grader Michaela Casavan.

Halftime lead produces Freeze win

Northern Freeze started the 2007-08 girls high school basketball season in fine fashion Tuesday. The Marshall County Central/Tri-County Cooperative built a 41-16 halftime lead and beat host Roseau 73-41.

"For a first game, we're very pleased," said Northern Freeze coach Tom Mjelde. "You always have things to work on, but we played well in the first half and we got a chance to play a lot of kids in the second half. The girls hustled. I liked the way they moved the ball around."

Alycia Dahl scored 22 points, Kinzie Magner 16 and Sasha Magner 15 for the winners. The Rams did not have a double figure scorer.

Northern Freeze shot 49 percent from the field (29/59) and went 10-for-17 at the free throw line. Roseau shot 36 percent from the floor (18/50) and had a 4-for-12 free throw night.

Kinzie Magner grabbed 10 rebounds as the Freeze beat the Rams on the boards 33-24. Roseau topped the turnover charts 29-22.

Dahl and Sasha Magner are returning starters from a 15-11 team of a year ago.

"If we could get balanced scoring, we could be okay," offered Mjelde, whose varsity roster includes seniors Kayla Halvorson, Ashley Hestekind, Sasha Magner, Dahl; juniors Chelsey Davidson, Molly Magner, Becca Larson; sophomores Mariah Richard, Ashley Swenson, Lisa Waterworth, Kinzie Magner; and freshman Liza Hoglo.

NDSCS handles Northland 82-58 in men's match

Despite off-the-court problems that hit North Dakota State College of Science before the start of the 2007-08 men's basketball season, the Wildcats still have plenty of talent on hand. That was evident in an 82-58 win over Northland Community and Technical College when the two teams met Tuesday, Nov. 20, at Wahpeton, N.D.

The Pioneers, the National Junior College Athletic Association Division III national runner-up last year, trailed the NJCAA Division I Wildcats 41-27 at halftime.

Northland was 20-for-57 from the field (35 percent) and 14-for-24 at the free throw line. NDSCS went 31-for-66 from the floor (47 percent) and 15-for-21 at the line. The Wildcats finished with a 44-28 rebound advantage; the Pioneers topped the turnover charts 24-22.

Wildcats beat NCTC by 101-63 margin in women's basketball

North Dakota State College of Science built a 55-28 halftime lead and coasted to a 101-63 win over Northland Community and Technical College in a Tuesday (Nov. 20) women's basketball game at Wahpeton, N.D.

A 20-point night by Nikki Washek led a group of five Wildcats who were in double figures. The Pioneers were led by Tresta Ralston with 18 points and Brooke Conely with 13.

Pirates skate past TRF

Crookston out-shot Thief River Falls 40-18 and the host Pirates beat the Prowlers 7-1 in a Tuesday (Nov. 20) girls high school hockey game.

Molly Peterson, on an assist from Mauri Gonsorowski, scored the Prowlers' lone goal.

Thief River Falls goalie Jade Gothberg finished with 33 saves against the defending Section 8A champion Pirates.

Michael Benedict, who graduated from Lincoln High School this spring, received a belated award when it was announced during the Minnesota State High School Baseball Coaches Association fall clinic that he had been named to the 2007 Class AAA academic all-state baseball team. He received a plaque recognizing his accomplishment from Thief River Falls head high school baseball coach Shane Zutz. (Submitted photo).

Benedict receives honor

Although the 2007 high school baseball season was completed some six months ago, a belated honor was presented recently to Thief River Falls' Michael Benedict.

During the annual Minnesota State High School Baseball Coaches Association fall clinic, Benedict was named to the Class AAA academic all-state team.

Thief River Falls baseball coach Shane Zutz brought home a plaque, but getting the award to Benedict was put on hold until recently because the 2007 Lincoln High School graduate has been busy as a member of the Fargo-Moorhead Jets Junior A hockey team.

A four-year starter, Benedict is the Prowlers' first academic all-state baseball player since Ben Worker, according to Zutz.

"It's a great honor for Michael," said Zutz. "He truly deserved the award. Student-athletes can use him as a role model on how to balance the classroom, fine arts and athletics."

Wolverines drop 77-63 season-opener to Cats

Five Kittson County Central scorers reached double figures Tuesday in a 77-63 victory over visiting Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke that opened the 2007-08 girls high school basketball season for both teams.

The Bearcats' offense featured Whitney Langen with 17 points, Heather Langen 14, Krista Olson 11, Dana Blomquist 11 and Skyler Karboviak 10.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke had a one-two scoring punch in Brittney Forsberg with 27 points and Rebecca Polansky with 21.

Kittson County Central led 34-29 at halftime. It was a two-point difference with four minutes remaining in the game before the Bearcats put it away.

The Wolverines shot just 28 percent from the field (18/65). They were a busy, but not very accurate 25-for-47 at the foul line. It was a 42 percent shooting night from the floor and a 12-for-23 free throw performance for the Bearcats in a game that featured 52 fouls.

"Very sloppy – a typical first game," said Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Brent Philipp.

Twelve rebounds completed a double-double for Polansky as the Wolverines out-boarded the Bearcats 43-41. Kittson County Central topped the turnover charts 31-29.

Polansky and Alisha Verbout are returning starters for the Wolverines, who were 16-10 last winter. Forsberg and Adelle Prestebak give them two more seniors in the starting line-up. Juniors Jessica Lund and Hannah Saurdiff, along with sophomore Kylie Johnson, are vying for the fifth spot.

"We're much smaller than most teams," pointed out Philipp. "We hope to push the ball up the court and keep a fast-paced game, but still use our full-court press to slow our opponents down."

Explosion overshadows expansion plans

trees that Kezar had grown from seed in a different portion of his property, to the edge of the pipeline right-of-way. Now some of those trees have grown to more than 30 feet in height and under Enbridge's latest plans, those trees will need to be removed.

"They've always tried to be as accommodating as possible," Kezar said, "but it gets upsetting that they won't add on to the other (north) side of the route."

Each time Enbridge has added a pipeline along the northern Minnesota line, it has addedthe new line to the south – the same side where Kezar's hume is located. Right-of-way for the current project will actually overlap a small portion of Kezar's home and all of an outbuilding.

The proximity of the pipe routes is also a big concern after an Enbridge pipeline in Clearbrook exploded during repairs Wednesday. Two members of a 19-person crew were killed during the explosion and resulting fire.

Kezar said there was a major break in a line less than a mile from his home several years ago. "If that were to happen near me, they'd have to tear my whole house down to repair it," Kezar said.

Public hearings

The fourth of six public hearings regarding Enbridge Energy Partnership's applications for pipeline routing permits for the Southern Lights LSr, Alberta Clipper and Southern Lights Diluent projects was held at the Best Western in Thief River Falls Wednesday.

Administrative Law Judge Eric Lipman heard testimony from Enbridge employees Mark Sitek, member of major projects group at Enbridge; Paul Meneghini, environmental groups supervisor; Jerrid Anderson, manager of pipeline construction; and Michael Harris, right-of-way project manager. Also representing Enbridge was attorney Kevin Walli of the law firm, Fryberger Buchanan Smith & Frederick of St. Paul.

On the other side of the panel were Larry Hartmann, project manager, and Karen Hammel, attorney for the Minnesota Department of Commerce's Energy Permitting staff. Also available for questioning, but not participating from the Dept. of Commerce was Deborah Pile, public advisor for the pipeline route permitting.

The hearing began with testimony from Sitek, who described the Southern Lights LSr Project and Alberta Clipper Project in detail. The proposed LSr pipeline will travel from Cromer, Manitoba, Canada tn Clearbrook (136 miles) utilizing 20-inch pipeline for a capacity of 186,000 barrels of medium density crude oil per day.

The Alberta Clipper route is much larger in scale at 990 miles, from Hardisty, Alberta, Canada to Superior Wis., with 285 miles of pipeline to be constructed in Minnesota. Utilizing 36-inch pipe, it will be able to transport an estimated 450,000 barrels per day of heavy density crude oil.

A third route that was not discussed at the hearing, the 175-mile Southern Lights Diluent Project, will connect terminals in Superior, Wis., to Clearbrook.

Anderson later added to Sitek's description, noting that the Southern Lights LSr pipeline will be constructed in the summer of 2008, with the Alberta Clipper project following in 2009. He added that the capacity of the Southern Lights LSr could eventually be increased from 186,000 barrels per day to 300,000 by adding additional pumping stations, which have been proposed in Viking, Clearbrook and Deer River.

Meneghini explained to Lipman, Hammel and Hartmann that Enbridge worked with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resaurces to conduct environmental surveys. He said surveys focused on wetland or archeological impact and the potential impact on endangered plant and animal species. Meneghini added that a 500-foot route width has been chosen to lessen the environmental impact.

Harris explained that right-of-way will be acquired at a footprint-width of 140 feet, to allow for proper work space. Less space may be acquired in areas with obstructions. Right-of-way for road crossings will be acquired through the local townships and counties.

Bob Patton, a representative of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, was the first witness to volunteer to testify. He explained that Enbridge must meet an ag mitigation plan before a Certificate of Need or Pipeline Routing Permit will be gronted.

Kezar was the second witness to volunteer testimony. He calmly explained that the previous time Enbridge came through, he was led to believe it would be the last time. Wednesday he asked, "What's to say you won't come through again in five years. If you keep going to the south, you'll go through my house."

Anderson replied that Kezar's property is one of which that has site-specific plans. "These properties are very close," Anderson said.

Like Kezar, Mark Thune will be negotiating with Enbridge for right-of-way that will run through his property. The proposed pipeline right-of-way will come within 75 feet of his home that was built 10 years ago.

Thune's case is much different than others, however, because of his property's proximity to the Red Lake River. Thune's property will see minimal surface cutting, as Enbridge will be using horizontal directional drilling to cross under his property and the Red Lake River.

Earlier in the meeting, Anderson responded to questions about a Red Lake County home that is threatened by the proposed pipeline route, explaining that directional drilling is very expensive and its main use is to cross bodies of water. He added that portions that are installed using directional drilling, are much harder to maintain and there are many more variables to consider in estimating its cost. Enbridge is only using direction drilling in seven areas throughout the entire planned route.

Testifying on behalf of the Pennington County Board of Commissioners, Mike Flaagan, Pennington County Engineer, told the panel that Pennington County had a few concerns dealing with the proposed projects. First, he said commissioners were concerned that Pennington County would be spending tax dollars to repair roads that were damaged by Enbridge contractors during installation or maintenance.

Harris replied that Enbridge typically seeks permission from counties and townships to cross any road for access to the right-of-ways.

Flaagan replied that the county board is considering a stipulation in a contract that would require Enbridge to maintain the roads it uses during installation.

Flaagan next asked how many open cuts through county or township roads could be expected at any time and how long those cuts will be open. Anderson replied that there could be several at one time. Road cuts will be closed within three days, while cuts through private drives will be closed the day they are opened.

Flaagan replied that the county is also considering enforcing a limit on the number of open cuts and it may ask Enbridge for a performance bond or a one-year warranty on all road cuts.

Public comments regarding the Southern Lights LSr Project will be accepted until 4:30 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 14. Comments on the Alberta Clipper Project will be accepted until 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 15, 2008.

Written comments should be submitted to Administrative Law Judge Eric L. Lipman, Office of Administrative Hearings, P.O. Box 64620, St. Paul, MN 55164-0620; e-mailed to eric.lipman@state.mn.us; or Fax at 651-361-7936.

Two killed in Enbridge pipeline explosion of Enbridge. "We are focusing on the families and we are doing anything we can to help them through this."

Enbridge Energy Partners canceled the two remaining public hearings for Polk County (Gully) and Clearwater County (Clearbrook) that had been scheduled for Thursday, following the death of two Enbridge employees. As of presstime Friday, the meetings had not been rescheduled.

Enbridge Inc., and Enbridge Energy Partners L.P., officials were preparing to conduct their fourth public hearing for proposed construction of three pipelines in northwest Minnesota. Public hearings were held in Kittson and Marshall counties on Tuesday and Red Lake and Pennington counties on Wednesday. Stephens said there is no definite timetable for resuming discussion on the new pipelines.

"We're not focused on [the new pipelines] right now," Stephens said. "First of all, we're focused on the families that have went through this terrible loss. We're going to do a thorough investigation of those lines and be sure that it is safe to bring those lines back up before we do so."

McIntosh Manor on and off list of worst

time to record their results and remove them from the list. Berg said he was assured that McIntosh Manor would be removed from the list.

Berg noted that results of their past and present compliance checks were online and available to anyone. He said some of their past non-compliance issues involved care-related issues, such as repositioning patients and assisting them with toilet needs.

According to the AP story, typically, homes that get the special focus designation do show improvement. Federal data indicate that about half the special focus homes improve their quality of care significantly within 24-30 months.

The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services compiled the list and will publish it on its Web site.

The nursing homes to be cited come from 33 states and the District of Columbia, according to a list obtained by The Associated Press. There are about 16,400 nursing homes nationwide.

Every nursing home receiving federal payments undergoes inspections about once a year. In such inspections, surveyors assess whether the facility meets standards focused on safety and quality of care. Among the things inspectors look for are giving residents the proper medicine, assisting them with daily living activities such as bathing, and assisting them with their medical needs and diet, as well as the prevention of accidents and infections.

Kerry Weems, acting administrator at the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, said states pick from a list submitted by CMS when determining those that get the special focus designation. He said that because of regional differences, a home that makes the list in one state may actually provide better care than a home that's not listed in another state.

"I'm careful in saying they're not the worst performers, but they are chronic underperformers," Weems said.

Kittson Central School Board takes next step in school remodeling

Hallock - "A resolution providing for the sale of school building bonds is the next step in moving toward the construction and remodeling process associated with the Kittson Central School moving to one building in the next year.

"At their monthly meeting Nov. 20, board members approved selling and issuing bonds in the amount of $5,145,000. Springsted Inc., St. Paul, independent financial adviser, will receive the proposals for the bonds until 10 a.m. Jan. 10, 2008. Then, said Superintendent Bruce Jensen, 'They will be opened and tabulated. Consideration for award of the bonds will be by the board at a special meeting that day at 7 p.m.'" - Kittson County Enterprise, Dec. 5, 2007, by Louise Money

W/A/O Board meeting discussion to include sports co-op, rentals

Warren - "Several issues are expected to be discussed at the Warren/Alvarado/Oslo School Board meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, with final action on some topics likely to be deferred to later months." The meeting will be held in the W/A/O High School multipurpose room; use the east entrance.

"Approval of the district's 2007 (pay 2008) levy in the proposed amount of $692,248.16 is likely.

"Superintendent Bryan Thygeson said a proposed cooperative agreement with Stephen-Argyle Central School District, first discussed last month, is now being looked at as a possible co-op for baseball, softball and the winter sports of hockey and wrestling, in addition to track and field, the original impetus for the discussion. He said the district has been getting requests from parents who have their children in bantam hockey programs." - Warren Sheaf, Dec. 2, 2007

Speed study to be conducted in RLF

Red Lake Falls - "At its Nov. 26 meeting, the Red Lake Falls City Council "approved a resolution to request that the Minnesota Department of Transportation conduct a speed study on Highway 32 North between the 30-mph zone and the 50-mph zone.

"The reason for the study is because of the new addition to the city and it is being zoned as residential within the city limits. Therefore, the speed should be reduced to accommodate the zoning." - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Dec. 5, 2007, by Destiny Darmoning

Amish community moves into area

Fosston - "Recently, a community of 10 families from Kentucky have moved into the Fosston and Win-E-Mac areas. Though unusual, what makes this fact unique is that they are Amish. Where the average citizen would not think twice about getting into his or her vehicle and traveling a great distance, it is quite a different experience when the main source of transportation is a horse and buggy.

"The 13 Towns had the opportunity last week to meet two members of this community, Harry Trover and Ben Yoder to discuss their fear of transitioning to another part of the country." - The 13 Towns of Fosston, Dec. 4, 2007, by Don Kendall

Jesse J. Lien, 21, St. Hileire, wes killed Thursdey morning efter his 1990 Ford Crown Victorie collided with e 1999 Chevy Suburben driven by John M. Hemre, 42, Thief River Fells. Hemre suffered non-life-threetening injuries in the cresh, which occurred on Highwey 32 south of the city of Thief River Fells.

One dead, another injured in accident near TRF Thursday

One man was killed and another man was injured after a head-on collision Thursday morning on Highway 32 south of the city of Thief River Falls.

Jesse J. Lian, 21, St. Hilaire, was pronounced dead at the scene, according to the Minnesota State Patrol report. John M. Hamre, 42, Thief River Falls, suffered non-life-threatening injuries. Hamre was taken to MeritCare Thief River Falls Northwest Medical Center and then transferred to MeritCare Hospital in Fargo, N.D. Hamre was hospitalized as of Thursday afternoon, and his family has requested that his condition not be released, according to a MeritCare media relations staff member.

At the time of the accident, Hamre was driving a 1999 Chevy Suburban southbound on Highway 32 near the truck hypass, and Lian was driving a 1990 Ford Crown Victoria northbound. According to the report, Hamre was passing and didn't see Lian's car until close to the impact. The impact of the crash forced both vehicles into a ditch on the east side of the highway. Hamre's sport-utility-vehicle came to a rest on its top. The Thief River Falls Fire Department had to use the Jaws of Life to extricate Hamre from his vehicle. The report indicates that Lian wasn't wearing his seat belt, and Hamre was wearing his seat belt. Both vehicles' air bags were deployed as a result of the collision. Both vehicles were totalled.

The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 8:36 a.m. Thursday. Great Plains EMS, the fire department, the Pennington County Sheriff's Office and the Thief River Falls Police Department also responded to the scene.

Avery Dennison (IMS) to close

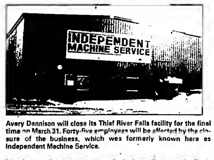
Company offers 45 employees opportunity to move to Ohio

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Avery Dennison will close its Thief River Falls facility on March 31. Forty-five jobs will be affected at the business, which was formerly known here as Independent Machine Service.

Production employees have been given the opportunity to relocate to the company's Miamisburg, Ohio, facility. The company's customer service and production functions are moving to that facility. Thief River Falls employees were notified about the closure on Nov. 27. The Thief River Falls business provided price marking, numbering, labeling, date coding, and barcode supplies.

On Monday, Todd Bottem, general manager for Avery Dennison in Thief River Falls and in Valencia, Calif., referred the Northern Watch to Jeanne Romano, manager of communications for Avery Dennison Retail Information Services Group. "Avery Dennison is committed to providing severance and outplacement assistance to all employees impacted by the consolidation to help them transition into new positions," wrote Romano in an e-mail. Romano noted that the company will be "better able to provide the most cost-efficient, effective service possible to our worldwide customers" with this move.



On Wednesday, Bottem said he doesn't know of any employees who are planning to move to Miamisburg. He indicated that Avery Dennison is also closing its Valencia facility in March. Bottem said the company has provided severance and outplacement assistance to the affected employees.

On Wednesday, Thief River Falls Community Development Director Mike Moore noted that the city has offered to provide help to Bottem. However, he declined to specifically indicate the type of help that the city had offered.

Bottem said the Minnesota WorkForce Center has talked with the employees. When asked if employees were considering buying the business, Bottem said, "That's not available."

In 1976, IMS was founded in Thief River Falls. In 2001, Paxar Corporation purchased the former IMS business in Thief River Falls. Avery Dennison acquired Paxar Corporation in June 2007. Avery Dennison decided to close the former IMS building as part of its "global restructuring plan following the acquisition of Paxar Corporation."

"We regret the impact this will have on our valued employees," Romano wrote.

Avery Dennison will close its Thief River Falls facility for the final time on March 31. Forty-five employees will be affected by the closure of the business, which wes formerly known here es Independent Mechine Service.

Oof-da Tacos celebrates 25th

"When you give your business to God; wonderful things happen"

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

This is the first part of a two-part series on Oof-da Tacos 25th anniversary.

Since being founded in 1982, Oof-da Tacos has done very little to change the way it does business. As a result, it has become one of the most popular traveling food vendors and a summertime fixture at community events throughout northwest Minnesota and eastern North Dakota.

Oof-da Tacos co-founder Sharon Ramberg credits her business success to never straying from the original products: fry bread tacos and elephant ears. She said other menu items have been added, but the originals remain and they are unchanged.

Oof-da Tacos celebrated its 25th anniversary this year. Based in Mentor, the traveling food vendor has three franchises operating out of Red Lake Falls, Erskine and Alexandria.

The business got its start in 1982, but its roots date back a year earlier, when Don and Sharon Ramberg operated a fry bread taco and elephant ear stand at a community event in Mentor. Sharon, a beautician by trade, came up with the idea for a fry bread taco shell while she and Don, a gunsmith and boot repairman, were attending a black powder shooting event in Sisseton, S.D. She ordered fry bread from a food stand at the shooting event.

The bread had some interesting yet odd qualities. It had decent [illegible] Sharon said, but ultimately was too tough and greasy. [illegible] couldn't eat it with a [illegible] she said.

The idea for creating a better fry bread recipe stuck with Sharon [illegible] she would later try making some at home for her family. The fry bread she created was paired first with beans and later, taco meat, and served at family and neighborhood gatherings.

Sharon's unique taco shell was well received among guests, but its commercial success would be a different question.

The Rambergs debut as food vendors

In 1981, the Rambergs were in charge of lining up food stands for a town celebration in Mentor. To the couple's dismay, there weren't any local vendors [illegible]

TRF wins Capital for a Day status

How about Governor for a Day?

Thief River Falls Mayor Steve Nordhagen accepted Thief River Falls' award as a future Capital for a Day in Minnesota, but startled a few people when he said he supposed that meant he gets to be Governor for a Day, too.

Wednesday, Minnesota Governor Tim Pawlenty and staff of the Sesquicentennial Commission, declared Thief River Falls as one of five Capitals for a Day to represent Minnesota in 2008.

"Minnesota is blessed with hundreds of unique and wonderful communities," Governor Pawlenty said. "Added together, they make our state great. During our sesquicentennial year, we'll celebrate what brings us together and look forward to another 150 years of the enterprising and innovative spirit that makes Minnesota special."

During two weeks of online voting in November, Minnesotans chose five honorary capitals for the state's Sesquicentennial year. One community in each of Minnesota's five "biomes," or unique geological areas, was chosen to be an honorary capital during 2008. Each "Capital for a Day" will have a designated day during Statehood Week, May 11-18, 2008, as their official day.

Representatives of the five communities were presented plaques and sesquicentennial flags during a ceremony at the capital in St. Paul on Wednesday. Thief River Falls was elected in the tallgrass aspen parklands biome of northwestern Minnesota.

Representing Thief River Falls were Mayor Steve Nordhagen and Faye Auchenpaugh, who nominated the city for this honor. Mayor Nordhagen noted that during the 11 months he had been mayor he had been involved in many exciting activities. He thanked Gov. Pawlenty for the honor of representing Minnesota, and joked saying that he supposed that meant he gets to be Governor for the Day, too.

Pawlenty and the audience laughed. For the benefit of the audience, Pawlenty noted that Thief River Falls is home to some very forward thinking businesses, specifically Arctic Cat and Digi-Key.

The other communities and the

New border requirements go into effect

As of Jan. 31, 2008, all adult travelers will be required to present proof of citizenship, such as a birth certificate and proof of identity, such as a driver's license, when entering the United States through land and sea ports of entry. The U.S. Department of Homeland Security and the U.S. Department of State issued the reminder this week.

According to the news release, this change is a necessary step to prepare travelers and ease the transition to the future requirements of the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative. WHTI proposes to establish documentation requirements for travelers entering the United States who were previously exempt, including citizens of the U.S., Canada and Bermuda. As recommended by the 9/11 Commission, Congress enacted WHTI in the Intelligence Reform and Terrorism Prevention Act of 2004. WHTI will result in both enhanced security and increased facilitation across the border once implemented. During this transition, DHS and the Department of State will be working to minimize the impact on legitimate trade and travel.

"Currently, U.S. Customs and Border Protection officers may accept oral declarations of citizenship from U.S. and Canadian citizens seeking entry into the United States through a land or sea border. However, as of Jan. 31, 2008:

• Oral declarations of citizenship alone will no longer be accepted;

• U.S. and Canadian citizens, ages 19 and older, will need to present a government-issued photo ID, such as a driver's license, along with proof of citizenship, such as a birth certificate or naturalization certificate;

• Children, ages 18 and under, will only be required to present proof of citizenship, such as a birth certificate.

• Passports and trusted traveler program cards - NEXUS, SENTRI and FAST - will continue to be accepted for cross-border travel.

All existing nonimmigrant visa and passport requirements will remain in effect and will not be altered by this change.

Holiday Train to visit region soon

TRF prepares for arrival on Dec. 14

After more than seven months of planning, the 2007 CPR Holiday Train is again raising awareness, money and food for food shelf programs in the U.S. Northeast and Midwest. The musical train of lights has become a spirited journey from the Steamtown National Historic Site at Scranton, Penn.

The CP Holiday Train will stop in Thief River Falls on Friday, Dec. 14.

Including Scranton, North America's longest-rolling fundraiser will visit 12 communities in the Northeast [illegible]

[illegible] Fame member Tracey Brown. Brown will be joined by Juno award winner Colin Linden and the critically acclaimed family duo Emms.

A second identically-decorated Holiday Train is making its way across Canada taking the same message of goodwill and food shelf support to communities in Canada until Dec. 18. Headlining this train are Wide Mouth Mason and Melanie Doane. In addition to the 40 U.S. stops, over 71 Canadian communities will experience the spirit and energy of the 2007 Holiday Train.

The online Holiday Train diary on CP's Web site will be updated daily and include unique, interesting and heart-warming stories from the train. New this year, the entertainers will contribute to this popular blog and share some candid moments about their on-train experiences, what projects they are working on and what's next for them.

The Holiday Train events continue [illegible] with crowds growing [illegible]

Sherry LaCoursiere

If I have room left in my freezer after hunting season, I like to start Christmas baking with raised breads. They keep well and are great for quick Christmas gifts as well as for unexpected guests.

The directions make you think this is lots of work, but it isn't - you'll find it is easy - and these are so festive. Let's try it this week:

BRAIDED ALMOND RING
3 1/2 to 4 cups flour
1/3 cup sugar
2 1/4 teaspoons (1 package) quick rise yeast
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup butter, cubed
1 egg
1 egg yolk (save that white)
Almond Filling:
1/3 cup almond paste
1/3 cup finely chopped almonds
1 egg white
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
Egg Wash
1 egg
1 tablespoon water
Glaze
2 tablespoons butter, softened
2 cups powdered sugar
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 to 3 tablespoons milk
1/4 cup slivered almonds

In bowl, combine 1 cup flour, sugar, yeast, lemon peel and salt.

In saucepan, heat milk, water and butter to 120 or 130 degrees. Add to dry ingredients and beat smooth with mixer. Add egg, egg yolk and 1/2 cup flour. Beat 2 minutes. Stir in enough remaining flour to form a soft dough. Turn onto floured surface and knead smooth (5 minutes). Cover and let rest 20-30 minutes. Punch dough down and divide into 3 pieces. Form into 24x4 inch rectangles.

In bowl, beat Almond Filling ingredients. Spread over dough to within 1 inch of edges. Roll up, starting on long side, and pinch seams to seal. Place ropes in well-greased Bundt pan. Pinch ends to seal. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 30 minutes.

Beat egg with water. Brush over braid and then bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes. Carefully remove to wire rack.

Combine first 5 glaze ingredients and drizzle over warm cake. Sprinkle with almonds.

This cake isn't overly sweet, but great for breakfast. You can toast it too, for a special treat:

CHRISTMAS BREAD
1 package active dry yeast
3/4 cup warm water (110 to 115 degrees)
3/4 cup evaporated milk
1/3 cup sugar
1/3 cup shortening
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
4 to 4 1/2 cups flour (divided)
1 cup chopped mixed candied fruit
1 cup powdered sugar
1 to 2 tablespoons milk
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
Additional candied fruit, if desired

Dissolve yeast in water. Add evaporated milk, sugar, shortening, salt, eggs and 2 cups of the flour. Beat smooth. Stir in fruit and enough remaining flour to form a soft dough (do not knead). Place in greased bowl, cover and place in warm place to double (1 1/4 hours).

Punch dough down and turn onto floured surface. Knead 3-4 minutes. Pat evenly in Bundt pan. Cover and let rise in warm place until nearly doubled, about 45 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees for 30-35 minutes, until golden brown.

Remove from pan to cool on wire rack.

Combine powdered sugar, milk and vanilla. Drizzle over bread. Garnish with candied fruit if desired.

Here's a fancy loaf of bread that tastes great too - and it looks so festive with its red and green cherries:

HOLIDAY BRAID
1 package active dry yeast
1 cup warm milk (110 to 115 degrees)
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1/2 cup butter
1 egg plus 1 egg yolk
1/2 cup chopped red and green candied cherries
1/4 cup raisins
1/4 cup chopped pecans
1 tablespoon water
Glaze
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 tablespoon milk
Additional candied cherries to trim

In small bowl, dissolve yeast in milk.

In a large bowl, combine flour, salt and lemon peel. Cut in butter until crumbly. Add yeast mixture and whole egg. Mix well. Stir in cherries, raisins and pecans. Turn onto floured board and knead smooth and elastic, about 6-8 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place for 1 hour (dough will not be double in size).

Punch dough down and divide into 4 pieces. Roll 3 of the pieces into 15 inch ropes. Braid ropes and place on greased baking sheet. Divide last piece of dough in half and roll each into a 15 inch rope. Twist the two ropes. Press an indentation down the center of the three braid rope and place the two braid rope into the indentation. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 30 minutes.

Beat egg yolk & water. Brush over loaf. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Cover loosely with foil and bake 20 to 25 minutes more. Cool on wire rack.

Combine powdered sugar and milk, drizzle over loaf, and decorate with cherries if desired.

You can make 4 lovely loaves of Christmas bread with this recipe. You'll find them so tasty you'll be making them all year through. I'm going to try making them in little round loaves on cookie sheets and maybe drizzle with a powdered sugar/milk glaze. I know somebody who might like one for a Christmas gift:

STOLLEN LOAVES
3 packages active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water (110 to 115 degrees)
1 cup butter, softened
1 cup sugar
2 cups warm milk
2 eggs
7 to 8 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups mixed candied fruit
1 cup raisins
1 cup golden raisins
1/2 cup sliced almonds
Powdered sugar

In small bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water.

In large bowl, cream butter and sugar. Gradually beat in milk. Stir in yeast mixture, then eggs, 4 cups flour and salt until smooth. Add enough remaining flour to form a soft dough. Stir in candied fruit, raisins and almonds.

Turn onto floured board and knead smooth and elastic, 6-8 minutes. Dough will be sticky. Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place until nearly doubled, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Turn onto lightly floured surface. Divide into 4 pieces. Shape each portion into a loaf and place in greased bread pans. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 1 hour.

Bake at 350 degrees for 35-45 minutes or until golden brown. Cool on wire racks. Dust with confectioner's sugar, if desired.

Thank You

We want to thank everyone for helping us celebrate our 50th Wedding Anniversary. Also, a very special "thank you" to our children and grandchildren. It was so nice to see so many relatives and friends. Special honor was also given to Marlyn's parents, who celebrated their 74th Wedding Anniversary. Thanks to the Back Behind the Barn Boys for their music, to Pastor Katie for her message, and to Bonnie Nelson for the delicious meal. Merry Christmas and God Bless.

It's not easy being green during the holidays

It's the darkest and generally coldest time of the year, and it's the season that holds many of our brightest and happiest memories. It's the season of light, and that means we use a lot of electricity.

Going green this Christmas is all the rage, but, as Kermit the frog said, "it's not easy being green." It's especially difficult when it's the holiday season, and it's the darkest and coldest time of the year. Our natural instinct is to turn on the lights and turn up the heat.

This holiday season, many news outlets are doing stories about going green, giving green presents, and reducing our "carbon footprint." When it comes to the season of light, there's one way we can all help.

According to one U.S. Department of Energy study, if everyone replaced their conventional holiday light strings with LEDs, at least two billion kilowatt-hours of electricity could be saved in a month.

The savings would be enough to power 200,000 homes for a year, according to Littleton, Colo., based Holiday Creations, which makes and distributes a popular line of LED light strings.

In a story titled "Holiday Lighting Efficiency," which appears at www.about.com: Saving Energy, the author brings the savings down to our level. "A typical strand of 50 lights utilizes 300 watts (.3 kilowatts). At the national average of 9.81 cents per kWh, that equals 3 cents per hour, per strand. Running these lights five hours a day for the entire season of 30 days, the total cost for one strand of holiday lights equals $4.50. Multiply this by however many strands of lights you are using and you can see that lighting costs add up.

"On the other hand, a strand of 50 LED lights uses 4 watts (.004 kilowatts). Using the same formula as above, the total cost to run a strand of LED holiday bulbs for the season would be less than six cents. So running 10 strands of these lights would cost less than $6 for the holiday season."

The author added that since energy saving bulbs generate less heat, the lifespan is much greater. LEDs can last up to 100,000 hours.

Maybe it's too late for this year, but next year maybe we could commit to being a little more green, reducing our carbon footprint, and in the process, improve conditions on our planet and save a little extra money.

Central Boiler distributes $1 million

On Friday, Nov. 30, Central Boiler, Greenbush, announced a bonus totaling more than $1 million to be distributed among 158 employees.

This was the 14th annual profit-sharing meeting of Central Boiler, a leading manufacturer of quality outdoor wood and corn furnaces, along with Central Fireplace, a division of Central Boiler. Central Fireplace manufactures direct vent gas fireplaces.

According to a news release from Central Boiler, each employee's bonus check was based on the length of their employment with the company, hours worked, company profit and overall safety record. The company traditionally rewards employees as a group for safe working habits. At the time of the bonus distribution, Central Boiler employees had worked seven years - 2,551 days - with no lost time due to injuries. The company's previous continuous safety record was 2,100 days.

Central Boiler also matched the contributions employees made to their 401K accounts from their bonus. The profit share and safety bonus, along with the employer contributions to the employee 401K accounts, totaled more than $1 million.

"When you take a step back and think about all this group has accomplished under one roof in Greenbush, Minnesota, it really is amazing," said Dennis Brazier, owner. "The great people that work here are what make this company what it is."

During the meeting, Brazier provided an overview of the accomplishments of the past year and shared the vision the company will undertake in 2008. "We are still the only manufacturer to have an outdoor wood furnace that meets the EPA program," he said. The EPA program was developed to promote the manufacture of newer, cleaner burning wood furnaces. Brazier also announced that Central Boiler currently has another furnace undergoing approval under the EPA program, and it meets the 2008 and the 2010 clean air regulations that some states have adopted.

Dennis and Terri Brazier, owners, also presented seven-year service awards to 33 employees in recognition of their dedication and commitment of excellence to Central Boiler.

Sign-up begins for dairy disaster aid program

As of Monday, Dec. 3, eligible dairy producers could sign up for the Dairy Disaster Assistance Program (DDAP-III) at local U.S. Department of Agriculture Farm Service Agency service centers.

DDAP-III will help dairy producers recover production losses resulting from a variety of adverse weather conditions in the last few years. The program provides $16 million in benefits to dairy producers for production losses that occurred between Jan. 1, 2005, and Feb. 28, 2007, because of qualifying natural disasters. It compensates producers for production losses that resulted from lost herds or dumped milk when dairy plants closed or the natural disaster damaged containment equipment. Additionally, power outages, fuel shortages and infrastructure damage may have temporarily interrupted the flow of dairy products to markets.

To be eligible for DDAP-III, dairy producers must have suffered losses in primary and contiguous counties declared or designated a natural disaster. Also, producers in counties receiving an FSA Administrator's Physical Loss Notice determination are eligible.

Under proposed rules, the USDA will calculate payments to eligible producers by multiplying the eligible pounds by the average price received for commercial milk production in the affected areas during the disaster for 2005 and 2006, and for the months of January and February 2007. If the total amount of funding (less any reserve established for disputed claims) is insufficient to compensate eligible producers for losses, the USDA will pay losses at two levels in an effort to more equitably distribute the limited funds and maximize the effectiveness of the program. The USDA provides more information on the proposed DDAP-III provisions in a fact sheet posted online at: http://disaster.fsa.usda.gov.

DDAP-III is authorized by the U.S. Troop Readiness, Veterans' Care, Katrina Recovery, and Iraq Accountability Appropriations Act, 2007, signed into law on May 25, 2007, by President George W. Bush. For more information on disaster programs administered by the FSA, visit: http://disaster.fsa.usda.gov.

Another threat found at Challenger Elementary

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Two weeks after a threat was found on a Challenger Elementary School bathroom stall, another threat was found. The threat was found at about noon Tuesday.

Thief River Falls Superintendent Irv Peterson said someone wrote "die" followed by a student's name on a girls' bathroom stall at the school. Peterson said he didn't know if he would call it a threat. As of Thursday morning, he said there weren't any suspects.

School administrators, the school social worker and the Thief River Falls Police Department are in the process of investigating the incident. Peterson said they're interviewing kids and also trying to explain to the kids the proper procedure for handling problems. He said they're telling the kids to talk to adults rather than trying to handle situations on their own.

Police Chief Kim Murphy declined to release information about the incident, saying, "It's a child protection case." He said the incident remains under investigation.

On Nov. 20, a similar threat was found on a bathroom stall at CES. In that instance, Peterson said, an upper elementary school student listed names under a "die list." The girl has since received a one-day suspension, and there was followup counseling at the school.

At the time when Murphy was contacted about the initial threat, Murphy said, "There was no criminal activity."

Letter to Dave

Dear Dave,

We are rippled this morning. Not rippled like the chip but rippled as in the electricity to our furnace is shut down because of high demand for power from our local cooperative. Although most of our heat is supplied from burning corn, sometimes it gets really cold and we need a little boost from the furnace. It's unfortunate, but the cold causes higher demand for electricity and so we then become, you know, rippled. This morning, I gathered all of our downstairs blankets and have almost totally cocooned myself while I write this letter; Magoo is on my lap, and so has been assigned punctuation detail.

I had my first book signing last week. More accurately, I was willing to sign books had anyone purchased them prior to the arrival of some very talented carolers, who drove me from my spot with harmonized Christmas mirth. My plans are to sign books this Saturday in our hometown, and if nothing else, I will be able to give Santa my wish list, which is sorted by UPC code so he can simply scan the codes then overnight my wishes to the closest bottle shop. Holiday microbrews are a seasonal gift that should not be squandered.

I wished someone "Merry Christmas" this week to which he responded "bah humbug" then waited for me to break into gales of laughter. I saved my gales of laughter for something funny. Then, I reminded him that along with the second amendment, cigarettes, partially hydrogenated oils and personal responsibility, we should enjoy the little things in life, like wishing each other "Merry Christmas" while we can, before the bloody do-gooders, the politically correct and federal government (an unholy triumvirate), take them all away in the final battle of their incremental war to make us like them. Yeah, you could say folks should be careful with their response to my holiday salutations.

The holiday season reminds us to be thankful for every day of the year. I thank God each night for his blessings, but I will always remember 2007 as a year for which I am especially thankful. Our nephew was standing along the trench near Clearbrook on the 28th when the pipeline leaked and then blew. I feel bad for the two men who died, but I am deeply thankful that Jamie lived. Men willing to weld cold pipe for hours in brutal cold are something for which we should all be thankful next time we turn up the thermostat on a cold night.

I believe that Lisa and I have already received our best Christmas gift from our little cat Laine. Laine grew up wild, but over time learned good manners and eventually worked her way into our house. Her final act of socialization was making friends with the litter box. It happened about 10 days ago; Lisa and I were watching television when Laine approached the litter box, tentatively mounted it, took aim and was successful. We both sat silently cheering her on; honestly, I believe that Laine's relief was our relief as she can now spend her overnights indoors without causing us any worry.

I hope Christmas in Carrington, N.D., is a warm and wonderful season, Dave.

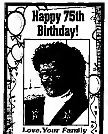
Your little bro

Santa Lucia Festival takes place in Karlstad

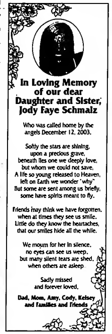
First Lutheran Church of Karlstad will be the host church for Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society's 21st Annual Santa Lucia Festival. The legendary Swedish event will be at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 15.

Pastor Gary Halverson will give a welcome from the host congregation and ASHS President June Mosbeck of Red Lake Falls will give greetings from the society. ASHS is honored to hold its festival in Karlstad, which was named after a major city in Sweden by its early forefathers.

Queen Lucia will be Kirsten Visness of Karlstad. She is the daughter of Stanley and Dorinda Visness. She will wear the lighted crown and the traditional white gown with red sash. Her attendants also will be dressed in white gowns and carry lighted candles. Star Boys will light candles and usher in the girls.



The Christmas story from the Book of Luke will be read in Swedish and in English. There will be many musical renditions, as well as congregational singing of favorite Christmas songs. The traditional Santa Lucia Legend will be read. Lyndon Johnson of Hallock, ASHS board member, is arranging the program and fellowship.



The offering will be used for scholarships at the Concordia College Language Camp. Following the Festival of Light, Swedish goodies, provided by the members, will be served. This time of fellowship is a highlight and everyone is cordially invited to enjoy goodies and coffee.

The Lucia tradition can be loosely traced to Saint Lucia of Syracuse, Sicily. Lucia was martyred for her Christian beliefs in 304 A.D. The tradition moved to early Sweden when a white-clad Lucia brought food during a famine. The name Lucia is from the Latin word for light. December 13 is the longest night of the year on the old Swedish calendar, so Lucia's arrival marks the coming of longer days. In Sweden, Lucia Day initiates the Christmas season and it is joyously celebrated.

Supplemental funds will be provided by Kittson County Thrivent Financial.

Amie Salvhus NJCAA is Honorable Mention All-America selection

Amie Salvhus

Northland Community and Technical College sophomore volleyball player Amie Salvhus has been named National Junior College Athletic Association Division III All-America Honorable Mention for the 2007 season, it was announced this week by school officials.

Salvhus, a McIntosh native who played high school volleyball at Win-E-Mac, was one of only six

TRF 6-0 winner over Lakers

Goals came from six different players Thursday in a 6-0 Thief River Falls girls high school hockey win over Detroit Lakes at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

Britney Schwab, Haleigh Stegeman, Megan Malwitz, Mauri Gonsorowski, Raina Pederson and Molly Peterson were the goal scorers in an eye-opening display of offensive balance as the Prowlers improved to 3-6.

"That's awesome," said Thief River Falls coach Corey Poole when he realized the diversity of his team's attack. "To have that many players scoring goals is great. You spread out the scoring like that and teams can't shut you down by concentrating on just one or two players."

The third win of the 2007-08 season for Thief River Falls goalie Jade Gothberg was also her third shutout. She faced only 11 shots – none in the third period when the Prowlers doubled a 3-0 lead with a 14-shot assault against Detroit Lakes netminder Janaye Johnson.

"We didn't give them many goal-scoring opportunities," noted Poole. "It was a good win for us. We did the things we've been working on in practice. We kept our heads up, looking for passes and scoring opportunities."

Schwab scored on a shot from the point at 3:58 and Stegeman put in a rebound at 14:38 for a 2-0 Thief River Falls first period lead.

A power play goal by Malwitz came just 40 seconds into the second period.

The Prowlers broke in open over the final 17 minutes when Gonsorowski put in her own power play rebound at 7:14; Pederson scored off a centering pass from Stegeman at 12:59; and Peterson's slap shot trickled through at 16:44.

It was a four-point night for Stegeman and Malwitz, who both picked up three assists in addition to their goals.

Detroit Lakes fell to 1-5.

Scoring

First period - TRF, Britney Schwab (Haleigh Stegeman), 3:58; TRF, Stegeman (Megan Malwitz), 14:38.

Second period - TRF, Malwitz (Stegeman), :40

Third period - TRF, Mauri Gonsorowski (Malwitz), 7:14; TRF, Raina Pederson (Stegeman, Malwitz), 12:59; TRF, Molly Peterson (Ashley Myklebust), 16:44

Goalie saves - TRF, Jade Gothberg 4-7-0–11; DL, Janaye Johnson 12-11-11–34.

NCTC Invitational girls high school basketball tourney...

Gators, Bearcats in finals

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River and Kittson County Central were semifinal winners Wednesday in the 2007 Northland Community and Technical College Invitational girls high school basketball tournament.

Both won easily as the Gators beat Stephen-Argyle 65-38 and the Bearcats handled Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 84-61.

Northern Freeze was a 66-44 consolation round afternoon winner over Red Lake County Central.

Those three games were moved from Tuesday to Wednesday due to the weather.

Play began with Monday quarterfinals. Trophy round finals were scheduled Thursday.

Both teams were consistent, but Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was consistent on a higher level in the championship round semifinal doubleheader opener against Stephen-Argyle. The Gators followed a 33-point first half with 32 second half points. The Storm had 19 points at halftime and scored 19 more after intermission.

NCTC Invitational

■ Quarterfinals - Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 55, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 38, Stephen-Argyle 54, Clearbrook-Gonvick 52, Kittson County Central 67, Red Lake County Central 38, Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 56, Northern Freeze 53

■ Semifinals - (championship round) Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 65, Stephen-Argyle 38, Kittson County Central 84, Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 61; (consolation round) East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 71, Clearbrook-Gonvick 68 (3ot); Northern Freeze 66, Red Lake County Central 44

■ Finals Thursday, Dec. 8 - (seventh place) Clearbrook-Gonvick vs. Red Lake County Central, (consolation) East Grand Forks Sacred Heart vs. Northern Freeze, (third place) Stephen-Argyle vs. Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, (championship) Badger/Greenbush-Middle River vs. Kittson County Central

A balanced Badger/Greenbush-Middle River offense featured Jessica Dvergsten with 12 points, Emily Bentow 11 and Hannah Berg 10. Stephen-Argyle was led by Bekah Henrickson with 11 points.

Trailing 34-30 at halftime, Kittson County Central out-scored Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 54-27 in the second half to win going away.

Haylie Holmgren and Whitney Langen led the Bearcats with 19 and 18 points, respectively. Dana Blomquist and Skyler Karboviak both had 15, with 24 of their combined 30 points coming in the second half. Alisha Verbout scored 18 points and Brittney Forsberg had 17 for the Wolverines.

Alycia Dahl scored 16 of her 18 points in the first half and Kinzie Magner scored all 12 of her points in the second half of the Northern Freeze win over Red Lake County Central. Sasha Magner added 11 points to the winner's offense, with Kayla Halvorson and Liza Hoglo both within a single point of joining their teammates in double figures.

Faith Kruchowski netted 18 points and Kayla Pelletier had 14 in the Mustangs' consolation round setback.

Snow interrupts tournament

Tuesday's four-game Northland Community and Technical College Invitational girls high school basketball schedule was limited to just a single contest as heavy snowfall forced officials to push the rest of the semifinal round back a day.

However, by the time the decision was made to reschedule, first-game consolation round opponents East Grand Forks Sacred Heart and Clearbrook-Gonvick were already on their way to Thief River Falls.

Apparently once they arrived, the teams were in no hurry to return home. They played three overtimes before the Eagles emerged a 71-68 winner.

Sacred Heart led 28-23 at halftime. It was 50-50 at the end of regulation time, tied 57-57 after one overtime and still deadlocked 64-64 through a second overtime.

Samantha McDonald scored 16 points to lead the winners, with Ashlyn Krejci and Morgan Kaiser both netting 10.

The Bears were led by Kate Aakre with 21 points. Karli Wayne 20 and Brooke Wraa 16.

Pioneers complete series sweep

An 18-point night by Shawna Rogalla and 16-point efforts by Sarah Passa and Tresta Ralston led Northland Community and Technical College to an 85-62 win over Providence College and Theological Seminary on a Wednesday women's basketball game in Canada.

It was the second meeting of the year between the two teams and a second win in the series for the Pioneers. But the rematch in Otterburne, Man., was more competitive than a 112-36 blow-out Nov. 13 in Thief River Falls.

Northland jumped out to a 10-1 lead and never looked back. The Freemen, who did not make a field goal until their 22nd possession, were still within 27-20 with five minutes left in the first half, but faced a 43-28 deficit at the break. It was 54-36 five minutes into the second half and 68-49 at the midway mark.

Jen Hostrup, a 5-8 Providence senior from Lancaster, hit six 3-point baskets to share game high scoring honors with Rogalla.

Northland was 35-for-85 from the field (41 percent) and 7 for 11 at the free throw line, where Providence had a 21-for-33 night.

The Pioneers improved to 4-4. The Freemen fell to 1-7.

Scoring

Providence - Nicole Braun 14, Angie Seitzer 4, Whitney Fried 7, Jill Riemer 8, Dana Riccio 6, Heidi Schellenberg 2, Lori Renwick 2, Jen Hostrup 18.

Detroit Lakes goalie Janaye Johnson covered up the puck as Thief River Falls forward Kaitlin Lund looked for a rebound in second period girls high school hockey action Thursday. The Prowlers out-shot the visiting Lakers 40-11 en route to a 6-0 win.

TRF boys start play Tuesday

■ High school basketball opener vs. Warroad

Thief River Falls boys will open their 2007-08 high school basketball season Tuesday when the Prowlers host Warroad. Tip-off is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. following a 6 o'clock junior varsity contest.

Chris McLean begins his seventh year as Thief River Falls head coach with a team centered around a half-dozen seniors. Three of them played extensively at the varsity level a year ago, including 6-3 Kasey Trontvel, 6-2 Dylan Johnson and 6-0 Jake Stuckey.

With eight seniors on the 2006-07 roster, 5-11 Thomas Loe and 5-10 Chase Haviland spent their junior seasons on the junior varsity.

The sixth senior on this year's squad, 6-0 Andrew Rook, missed last year due to a knee injury.

Trontvet was the Prowlers' second-leading scorer a year ago when he averaged 9.5 points per game. Johnson carried a 7.4 average.

"Those guys have been in the program a long time," said McLean about his upperclassmen. "We expect them to be our leaders."

Rest of the players on hand include juniors Seth Torstveit, Derek Lunde, Nick Beito, Jerome White; sophomores Zach Pederson, David Stenson, Zack Hockert, Jake Langevin, Josh Watne, Casey Swanson, Steven Peterson, Aaron Yaggie, Aaron St. George, Tanner Wang, Jared Eng, Brady Harbott, Riley Simenson; and freshmen Aaron BlackLance, Ben Olson, Trevor Bastian, Bryan Keefe, Micah Rodahl, Jonathan Milks, Karter Trontvet, Trey Steele, Brice Johnson, Ethan Johnson, Connor Hutton, Reed Helling, Jacob Beito, Beruk Alemayehu, Jake Wightman and Kameron Johnson.

After back-to-back 11-14 seasons, Thief River Falls jumped to 18-11 last winter. A key to reaching that level again, according to McLean, is the development of a strong bench. "Whenever we've been successful, we've had a deep bench," he explained. "That's what we're looking for right now – some depth. It's a good opportunity for kids to step up and show they can contribute."

Although his teams have built a reputation for playing tough on defense, it's the offense that has caught McLean's eye in early practice sessions. "I've been impressed with how well we've been shooting the ball," he said. Rebounding will determine if the Prowlers can run a hurry-up offense. "You can't fast break if you can't rebound. We're not a real tall team, but we've got good length, and the kids have a great work ethic."

An aggressive defense, even while playing zone, will still be a fundamental part of the Prowlers' game, acknowledged McLean.

DNR expands deer hunt in northwest Minnesota

Hunters may use any valid deer license to harvest deer from Dec. 29 to Jan. 13, 2008, in Permit Area 101 of northwestern Minnesota to help reduce herd density and assist wildlife management officials in their efforts to stop the potential spread of bovine tuberculosis (TB).

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources officials announced the late season hunt after three of the 1,100 hunter-harvested deer sampled in Permit Area 101, which is considered the bovine tuberculosis (TB) zone in far northwestern Minnesota, tested presumptive positive for the disease.

Michelle Carstensen, DNR wildlife health program coordinator, said the National Veterinary Services Lab in Ames, Iowa, confirmed the results. Complete test results will be available in several weeks.

"Although finding additional infected deer is obviously a concern, the good news is that the prevalence of the disease remains low and is confined to a small geographic region," Carstensen said. "The DNR will take every precaution to prevent bovine TB from spreading through the deer herd."

Details of the special late-season hunt to be conducted in deer Permit Area 101 only are:

■ Season dates will be Saturday, Dec. 29, to Sunday, Jan. 13, 2008.

■ Deer of either sex may be taken.

■ Hunters can use any 2007 license or permit from any zone.

■ A hunter must have a license and use the legal weapon for that license, for example, a hunter can not use a rifle if he or she does not have a valid 2007 firearms license.

■ New or replacement licenses can be obtained at any Electronic Licensing System agent, and hunters can buy additional disease management permits for $2.50.

■ Deer also can be tagged with any remaining unused tags from the 2007 season; for example, deer can be tagged with an unfilled firearm license, disease management permits, bonus permits or all-season tags.

■ All harvested deer must be registered at Olson Skime store in Skime; Riverfront Station in Wannaska; Thief Lake Wildlife Management Area headquarters during regular business hours; or Red Lake Wildlife Management Area headquarters during regular business hours.

After the late season hunt concludes, the DNR will conduct an aerial survey of the area to determine deer distribution and abundance. Once that information is collected, Carstensen said, the DNR will contract with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Wildlife Service for sharpshooters to reduce populations in localized areas of the core bovine TB area.

Bovine TB has been detected in eight cattle herds and 13 wild deer in Roseau and Beltrami counties. All of the infected deer have been found within a five-mile radius of Skime.

First Care hosts food drive

Get in the spirit of Christmas! During the month of December Kristie Sveningson, cardiac vascular rehab coordinator, and Meg Fredrickson, Wellness Center coordinator at First Care in Fosston, will collect non-perishable food items to donate to area food shelves. Drop the items off during the month of December.

On Wednesdays, Dec. 12 and 19 from 1 to 3 p.m., they will be in the Wellness Center at First Care to supervise people who would like to become more familiar with the equipment but would like some supervision. Blood pressure screening will also be available on those Wednesday afternoons. Bring in non-perishable items for the Food Shelf and get in the Christmas spirit while you exercise.

Donations sought for Reach Out for Warmth

'Tis the season for giving. Could there be a better gift than providing heat to a household in an emergency situation?

This winter, households are facing some of the highest heating costs they have ever experienced. Nearly everyone is worried about how they will be able to afford to heat their homes this winter—the elderly on a fixed income, the single-parent households and the two-parent households alike. There are households struggling due to a recent job loss, due to a death in the family, or due to fighting a life-threatening illness, and they're unable to pay their bills.

Northwest Community Action has seen an increase in the number of households applying for energy assistance. Last year, energy assistance funds were depleted by April. Predictions are funds may run out as early as January or February this year. To meet this challenge, NCA has focused its efforts on raising funds for the Reach Out for Warmth Program. ROFW is a special fund that helps families with limited resources who are facing an electric disconnect or are in a no-heat situation, and who are unable to purchase fuel to heat their homes. All ROFW payments are made directly to the electric or fuel vendor. NCA uses 100 percent of ROFW funds to assist families who live within its service area of Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Kittson and east Marshall counties. Any donations to ROFW are eligible for a two-to-one federal match. For example, a $200 donation would receive a $400 federal match, which would equal a total donation of $600 for ROFW.

The success of this program is totally dependent upon community support. This season, consider a "gift of warmth" to a family in need. Donors may make their checks payable to "Northwest Community Action," and write "ROFW" in the memo portion of the checks. Donations can be mailed to Northwest Community Action, P.O.Box 67, Badger, MN 56714. For more information, contact Yvonne Erickson, energy assistance director, at NCA at (218) 528-3258 or 1-800-568-5329. The donations will be real blessings for families facing a heating crisis this winter.

The Jim and Tami Sparby family of Grygla thanks local communities and businesses that have helped David Sparby (center) receive physical therapy. The family continues to collect aluminum cans to help pay for David's physical therapy in Baltimore. David became a quadriplegic after a farm accident in January 2006. Here, he is receiving horse therapy at home. (Submitted photo)

Sparbys thank area residents for their help

The Jim and Tami Sparby family of Grygla thanks the caring communities and businesses that have helped the family raise funds for David's physical therapy. David, a teenager, became a quadriplegic after an 800-pound hay bale fell on him in January 2006.

This past summer, the family began an aluminum can drive to raise funds for David's physical therapy at Kennedy Krieger Institute in Baltimore. (The aluminum can drive was featured in the May 26, 2007, edition of the Northern Watch. Kennels were placed at Hugo's and SuperOne Foods in Thief River Falls; Grygla Co-op; and Roseau Farm Service.)

KKI has a spinal cord unit that provides outpatient and inpatient physical and occupational therapy. The aluminum can drive enabled David to receive more therapy at KKI from Oct. 21 to Nov. 16. "It helped us an awful lot," Tami said. She noted that she has seen progress due to the stimulation therapy that David has received both at KKI and at home. Tami has also seen progress due to the horse therapy that David has received at home. While wearing a brace on his right arm, David can just about feed himself now, Tami said.

Throughout this winter, the family will continue to collect aluminum cans even though the Thief River Falls kennels have been removed for the winter. (As of right now, the kennels will remain at the Roseau and Grygla locations.) Interested people can bring their aluminum cans to Phillips Iron & Metal Inc. in Thief River Falls. They should notify Phillips Iron employees that the cans are for the Physical Therapy for David Sparby aluminum can drive. The family hopes to go back to KKI again in March or April 2008.

"The Not So-Silent Night" to be presented at Faith Lutheran Brethren

A Christmas Program "The Not-So-Silent Night," will be presented Sunday, Dec. 9 at 5:30 p.m. at Faith Lutheran Brethren Church. This humorous drama depicts the joy and meaning of Jesus' birth and also includes several Christmas songs. Everyone is invited to stay for barbeques and chips after the program. The church is located at 601 Dewey Ave. N., Thief River Falls.

LHS Choir plans "Season of Love" concert Dec. 10

Join the 165 Lincoln High School choir members, under the direction of Music Director Darcy Reese, and special guests, the WoodPicks, this Monday night as they perform their December holiday show.

"Season of Love" says it all. The newly renovated LHS auditorium has been transformed yet one more time into a beautiful, picture-perfect setting for the singers.

The 22 LHS vocal jazz singers start out the show with some great jazz charts that bring out the wonderful blending capabilities of these very talented young men and women.

The Lincoln High School Carolers, eight 10th graders and one ninth grader, will leave listeners with a warm glow in their hearts. Their beautiful holiday costumes will add even more color and charm to their warm voices.

The Concert Choir is made up of 71 auditioned juniors and seniors. These young singers will soon be leaving for Minneapolis, where they will be performing at various churches. Three of the performances will be with Robert Robinson and members of the Twin Cities Gospel Choir. They will also have a solo performance at the St. Paul Cathedral. The cathedral set will be performed at the Season of Love concert. The choir can't wait to sing in the cathedral because of its acoustics.

The Bel Canto Choir will follow the Concert Choir Monday night with two selections. The first song features a small ensemble of ninth and 10th grade students. The choir soon joins them, and together, they create a very beautiful choral sound.

The choir loves to feature special choir friends at their shows, so for the second year in a row, the choir is very excited to share the stage with the WoodPicks. The WoodPicks play for various "gigs" throughout the region. They specialize in Bluegrass, Americana music, and Country gospel. Enjoy the talents of Joe Kezar, Milo Ballingrud, Gene Lunsetter, Dustin Keller and Greg Dally.

Mrs. Reese always encourages past alumni to come back and perform with the choir for various shows that she writes, and this show is no exception. Two former alumni, Ben and Kris Adamson, will be returning to the stage to perform with their sister, Calli Adamson, and their niece, Hailey Bayne. Kris and Ben will be singing with the girls and accompanying them on the guitar and mandolin. This will take place during the "Sounds of the Season" portion of the show.

Dana Dyrud, a very disciplined pianist that also sings in the choir, will be performing the always beautiful "O Holy Night" on the beautiful Steinway piano. Dana will also be performing on her flute during the very well written arrangement of "Silent Night."

The choir enjoys performing with the audience. A set of carols will be next on the evening's program. The sound that the choir and audience makes together is a perfect tone for this "Season of Love" concert.

All 166 voices of the choir will burst into full voice as they perform the two closing pieces. "Worthy To Be Praised" is the last selection of the night, and the choir hopes the audience is eager to hear more of this style of choral singing. They hope the audience enjoys this Gospel style, as it will be one of four styles they will be studying from January to May 2008. They will be studying jazz, hymns, spirituals and gospel in preparation for their "Shakin' the Rafters II" show that will be performed May 18 and 19, 2008. Tickets go on sale for that concert in early April.

The choir is encouraging all concertgoers to bring two nonperishable food items to be donated to the Area Food Shelf. Last year, the choir collected 10 boxes of food items at the concert and then delivered them to the food shelf. They hope to double that number this year.

Plan now to attend the Lincoln High School Choir program at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 10, at Lincoln high School. There are still some tickets remaining that can be purchased at Kezar Music. Tickets for the first row will be sold at the door. Pre-sale tickets for these seats can be purchased at Kezar Music, but can only be sold to people who have special needs, such as a wheelchair. All unsold first-row tickets will be sold at the door starting at 7 p.m.

over the years to the point thousands greet the train at every stop to enjoy the festive show, but more importantly to support their local food shelf programs. Since its launch in 1999, about $3 million has been raised and close to 1.6 million pounds of food collected.

It's estimated each month across the U.S., hundreds of thousands of families have to turn to food shelves for help.

Some facts and stats about the CP Holiday Train Program:

• Each Holiday Train is about 1,000 feet in length with 14 decorated rail cars, including a modified box car that has been turned into a traveling stage for performers. The two trains are assembled and decorated by CP employees in Montreal, Chicago and Calgary.

• The musicians live on the train for the entire time of the U.S. Holiday Train, which crosses six states and a total of 40 communities.

• Each live performance takes place from a box car converted to a professional stage.

• Crowds donate money and nonperishable food, and the railroad presents a check at each stop to top off whatever is donated.

• Everything collected in a community stays in that community for local distribution.

regions they represent include: Bemidji representing the coniferous forest zone; Detroit Lakes representing the deciduous forest zone; New Ulm representing the prairie grasslands zone; and Winona representing the driftless area zone.

The five capitals will receive a road sign to post at an entrance to their community informing visitors of their honorary capital status that will be presented during Statehood Week (May 11-18) as part of each community's daylong celebration.

In the coming weeks and months, the Sesquicentennial Commission and staff will work with each community to make each celebration unique and reflective of the traditions and history of the unique natural region.

During a community's day, Sesquicentennial Commissioners, state officials and local dignitaries will visit the area for events and programs. An official recognition ceremony will begin a celebration in the community. Visitors will be given a tour of the area and some of the local historic landmarks. A civic roundtable based on the Sesquicentennial Commission's ongoing "Plan for our Future" community meetings will be a highlight of the day's activities.

In addition to a designated day, the Sesquicentennial Commission will dedicate a month during 2008 to each of Minnesota's natural areas, starting in February. During each month, the Sesquicentennial will focus its attention and energy in the selected area acting as a catalyst for events in the area that spotlight the sesquicentennial themes: arts and culture, health and wellness, education, innovation and Minnesota's natural resources and the great outdoors.

All 69 communities nominated to be "Capital for a Day" will get special attention during their area's month.

The Sesquicentennial Commission is also planning to create a road-trip map for a Sesquicentennial Spotlight Tour that Minnesotans and visitors can use to tour the state's natural regions. Each month there will be a new map laying out a tour of the month's natural area taking travelers through historic sites, into state parks and to communities nominated in the "Capital for a Day" program.

Lastly, on June 3 and 4, 2008, communities of 5000 people or fewer nominated to be "Capital for a Day" will be honored by the University of Minnesota Morris Center for Small Towns at the Small Town Symposium.

Beginning in January 2008, the Sesquicentennial will be a yearlong, statewide commemoration and a catalyst, to honor the past and connect all Minnesotans in creating a thriving, innovative future.

The Minnesota Statehood Sesquicentennial Commission, created by the Legislature in 2005, has selected four major theme areas for the 150th observances: Education, Innovation, Arts and Cultures, and Health and Wellness. In addition, they will be shining the spotlight on Minnesota's natural resources and our great outdoors heritage. A month during 2008 will be dedicated to each of Minnesota's natural areas, starting in February. During each month, the Sesquicentennial will focus its attention and energy in the selected area acting as a catalyst for events in the area that spotlight the sesquicentennial themes; arts and culture, health and wellness, education, innovation and Minnesota's natural resources and the great outdoors.

The Commission is joined in this effort by the Minnesota Historical Society, the University of Minnesota, and the Minnesota State College and University System as key players, along with Explore Minnesota Tourism and other state agencies and private and non-profit partners, in organizing Minnesota's 150th anniversary.

Oof-da Tacos celebrates 25th

that the stand would be a success. But Don was persistent. He volunteered to make the bread and help with service. Sharon eventually gave in, feeling that they had little choice due to the lack of area food vendors.

The fry bread tacos were an immediate hit upon their commercial debut, and the couple cleared $500 in two days. To celebrate, Don and Sharon took a honeymoon trip to Colorado that they were unable to afford when they took each other's hand in marriage two years earlier.

When they returned from their honeymoon, the Rambergs realized just how big a hit their taco stand had been.

"We got calls from people all over the area," Sharon said, adding that she had no interest in continuing the business venture.

The calls continued, however, and the Rambergs eventually decided that they could operate their stand at a couple of events the next summer. Don built a suitable trailer in the couple's backyard. Now all the business needed was a unique name.

"We sat down at the kitchen table and prayed about it," Sharon said. "I closed my eyes and that's when it came out. I thought, 'You sure do have a sense of humor, Lord.'"

Sharon says the name Oof-da Tacos, including the unique spelling and logo, came to her during prayer. She says the business was blessed from day one and she credits God for its success.

"When you give your business to God, wonderful things will happen," Sharon said.

After Don completed the trailer, Sharon's sister, Val Kolstead, offered her assistance by painting the unique Oof-da Tacos logo with the double Os doubling as eyes. The logo has remained the same since that time and is now a registered trademark.

The Rambergs planned to make only a few stops in 1982, but their minds were changed quickly. To gauge interest from area communities, Sharon created a resume. Resumes were sent out to various communities. Each resume was returned, with a request for Oof-da Tacos to sell food at each town's event. It would end up being the only time the business would need to seek locations to set up for business. All future bookings and new business came by phone from event promoters or by word of mouth.

The name Oof-da became very popular as well and at the suggestion of early patrons, the Rambergs got the name Oof-da Tacos trademarked. To this day, the name Oof-da and all sound-alike names are protected under the Oof-da Tacos trademark. Six copycat businesses have had to think twice before calling their taco stand names like Uff-da, Uffda or Uff-dah Tacos.

The menu

Oofda Tacos started out with fry bread tacos that came with cheese and taco sauce, and elephant ears that were completed with cinnamon and sugar. The taco shells and elephant ears still utilize the same recipes they did from day one and if Sharon has anything to say about it, they will never change.

Sharon recalls a chance meeting with a man who helped Colonel Sanders create the original Kentucky Fried Chicken recipe. The man was very complimentary of Oof-da Tacos, and asked Sharon if he could offer some advice to the young company. He said, "What you have and what you do, you do well. Never change your original products, but you can add to them."

The Rambergs heeded the man's advice and today, the only changes to the original two-item menu are additions in the form of nachos, nachos supreme, taco salad, and smoothies, and the inclusion of additional condiments like onions, black olives, tomatoes and sour cream.

Powdered sugar was added, for a time, as a topping for elephant ears. It was later replaced by frosting that is distributed by squeeze bottle.

"As people started asking for things, we started to incorporate them," Sharon said. "We try to learn from our customers."

The Rambergs operated an Oof-da Taco stand full time from 1982 until their retirement in 2001.

"To tell you the truth, I never felt like I worked a day in my life," Sharon said. "I still get called Mrs. Oof-da and Donnie is still called Mr. Oof-da. Some people thought it was our last name."

DNR seeks title to roads in WMA

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

The battle continues between Kittson County and the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources for 16 miles of roads in Beaches Lake Wildlife Management Area.

On Nov. 1, Kittson County learned about a quiet title action suit filed by the DNR and the Minnesota state attorney general.

"There's just a lot of questions about who has the authority to relegate vehicle traffic," said Dennis Simon, wildlife management section chief for the DNR, on Thursday.

The two sides have had ongoing discussions to resolve the matter for at least one year. However, a resolution hasn't yet been determined as to whether the roads are public roads.

Last week, Kittson County Engineer Kelly Bengtson, Kittson County Board Chairperson Dr. Joe Bouvette and Kittson County Commissioner Leon Olson went to the State Capitol to talk with chairpersons of various environmental and natural resources committees. "They do have concerns about ATVs driving on WMA land. That's not really what this is about," said Bengtson, who noted the county doesn't support public driving on WMA land. He indicated the county supports people driving on public roads adjacent to WMA land to see wildlife and enjoy the outdoors. Bengtson also indicated that the roads provide hunters with access to WMA land.

Peatland Township is an unorganized township. As a result, Kittson County is the road authority in that township. "People in Kittson County have used these roads for 100 years," said Bengtson, who noted no one has petitioned Kittson County to vacate or abandon those roads.

John Williams, assistant northwest regional wildlife manager with the DNR, indicated that it's not the intention of the DNR to limit highway-licensed vehicles. "ATV use is restricted by policy on the WMA lands – whether they're in Beaches Lake or Rochester," said Williams, who noted there have been policies related to off-highway vehicle use in WMAs since at least 1991. He indicated that various provisions have been granted in WMAs for such things as snowmobiles north of Highway 2 and deer retrieval in some areas north of Highway 1.

The DNR had posted signs in the Beaches Lake WMA that ATVs weren't allowed there. The County Board received questions about these signs and talked to the DNR. Several meetings were held between representatives from both the Kittson County Board and the DNR. The DNR had what it called a memorandum of understanding, said Bengtson, who noted that memorandum indicated that if there weren't easements for roads or ditches, the DNR would sell easements for main roads and ditches. Bengtson indicated that County Board representatives didn't support the memorandum because they felt that they already had easements for the existing roads and ditches.

Simon confirmed that the DNR and Kittson County did try to work

WAO Board eyes grant rules and sports co-op, sets levy

Warren - "In a fast-paced monthly meeting Monday night, the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo School Board set the 2007 (pay 2008) district levy, gave a nod to cooperative sports agreements with Stephen-Argyle Central and heard a report on the auditor's review of past practices in the use of grant monies received by the district.

"The issue of potential problems with the handling of some grant monies first arose at the board's November meeting. At that meeting, the board went into executive session for fact-finding on the matter and, afterward, adopted a resolution directing the superintendent to evaluate and audit positions receiving grant monies to determine whether grant and compensation levels for the positions are appropriate.

"Monday night, Supt. Bryan Thygeson reported the district's auditor, Brady Martz, has completed its fact-finding regarding potential problems with the handling of grant monies and that all information has been turned over to Marshall County Attorney Michael Williams and the Minnesota state auditor.

"As a result of the audit fact-finding and discussions with government officials responsible for grants received by the district, it is known the WAO District will have to refund some grant monies and the amount to be refunded will be in the thousands of dollars, he said." - Warren Sheaf, Dec. 12, 2007

Input meeting held on Fosston Schools superintendent search

Fosston - "Representatives from the community and Fosston school employees had the opportunity last week to give their input on the district's search for a new superintendent. The educational consulting firm ADM Group LLP conducted a series of interviews Dec. 5 and 6.

"ADM representative Keith Klein talked with various groups throughout the two-day period. Discussions were also held individually with each school board member. He asked each group to list the city's strengths and weaknesses, along with the challenges the Fosston School District is facing, plus what characteristics would be desired in the next superintendent. According to Klein, the responses were generally similar across the board." - The 13 Towns of Fosston, Dec. 11, 2007, by Dan Kindall

Commissioners give county employees Christmas Eve off with pay

Hallock - "Kittson County commissioners approved a request from the Kittson County Highway Department for Monday, Dec. 24 off, with pay, at their meeting Dec. 7.

"The motion was for all county employees to be given the day off of work with regular pay, thus closing the courthouse for business that day.

"Commissioners agreed that this is their way of saying thank you to all the county employees for a job well done." - Kittson County Enterprise, Dec. 12, 2007, by Louise Money

Sale of Hillcrest Nursing Home being negotiated

RiverView Health has announced that it is negotiating the sale of Hillcrest Nursing Home with Jim and Kathy Birchem, owners of ElderCare, which operates over 30 elder care facilities in Minnesota, including Oakland Park Communities in Thief River Falls. Hillcrest Nursing Home is a 55-bed skilled nursing facility located in Red Lake Falls.

RiverView Health, a nonprofit community health system headquartered in Crookston, also owns a nursing home in Crookston, a critical access hospital, a homecare agency, a chemical dependency treatment center and seven medical clinics.

"This decision did not come easily or quickly for RiverView, as we are committed to providing quality, comprehensive services throughout this area," stated Debra Boardman, president and chief executive officer at RiverView Health. "Because Hillcrest has been so successful in providing superior resident care, we are committed to ensuring that Red Lake Falls continues to have access to quality nursing home care. We worked hard to retain the Red Lake Falls facility under RiverView's umbrella. When we acknowledged that we needed to explore other solutions, we looked for a potential buyer that would be committed to retaining that quality of care," she added.

The potential buyers, the Birchems, are owners of ElderCare of Minnesota, a senior residential service provider headquartered in Little Falls.

"We were impressed with their strong reputation and their philosophy of care delivery," said Carrie Michalski, vice president of Senior Services at RiverView Health. "We believe, like RiverView, the Birchems are committed to providing the best loving care that can be provided to seniors, right in their own hometowns," Michalski stated.

Negotiations between the parties will occur in December, with February 1 as the target date for completion of the sale. "Our board will consider the final offer in January," Boardman said. "If they approve it, the transition to new ownership will be completed by the end of January."

RiverView Health, like other nursing home owners in Minnesota, has experienced operating losses in its skilled facilities for several years.

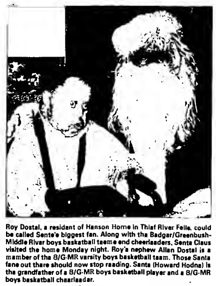
Team effort brings cheer

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Roy Dostal wheeled himself to an area near the door Monday night, waiting for his visitors to arrive at Hanson Home in Thief River Falls. Soon, the school bus arrived with members of the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River junior varsity and varsity boys basketball teams, and the boys basketball cheerleaders. But there was one guest that made the event even more special.



For the second year in a row, the teams visited Hanson Home. It's turned into a yearly tradition that Coach Kent Christian hopes to continue for years to come. He noted that the teams and cheerleaders probably enjoy it more than the residents.

"I think it's fun. They get a kick out of it," said Tyler Aune, a senior who has now visited Hanson Home twice with his team.

The teams were in Thief River Falls for the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament. After the varsity team defeated Ada-Borup 57-44, everyone made their way to Hanson Home.

The tradition began last year after Roy broke his leg. His nephew Allan Dostal is a member of the varsity team, and Allan's parents, Frank and Corinne, asked if the teams would be able to visit Hanson Home since Roy wasn't able to attend the game. Coach Christian agreed. This year, the coach decided to visit again. "It's a really nice gesture on the coach's part to do it," Frank said.

"I don't know how to put it into words," said Frank's son Allan.

Roy Dostal, a resident of Hanson Home in Thief River Falls, could be called Santa's biggest fan. Along with the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River boys basketball teams and cheerleaders, Santa Claus visited the home Monday night. Roy's nephew Allan Dostal is a member of the B/G-MR varsity boys basketball team. Those Santa fans out there should now stop reading. Santa (Howard Hodna) is the grandfather of a B/G-MR boys basketball player and a B/G-MR boys basketball cheerleader.

Roy is a sports fan. Some of the other five Hanson Home residents are also sports fans – of Thief River Falls Prowler basketball and hockey. That didn't seem to matter Monday night. They welcomed the Gators into their home and gave tours of their rooms. A Hanson Home staff member created a "Gator Boys Rock" sign, which the residents signed for the teams.

While Roy enjoys sports and especially Allan's basketball team, he also has other interests. "Fourth of July and Santa Claus is him," Frank said about his brother.

Roy shares a room at Hanson Home. His side is currently decked out with lots of Santa Claus memorabilia. There's a large photo of him with Santa in the background. There are many Santa knickknacks, making it easy for a visitor to tell that this man likes Santa – a lot. Roy has so much Santa gear that some of it has to be placed elsewhere in the home.

As part of Monday night's festivities, a special visitor appeared at Hanson Home. Roy was surprised by the visitor. Donning a red suit, the man parked his sleigh on top of the Hanson Home roof. He safely got out of the sleigh. Instead of a chimney, he made his way through a door. Roy caught a glimpse of him. It was Santa! [illegible] Roy stomped his feet in excitement. But Santa forgot something [illegible]

Duane Kjono is Goodridge school Teacher of the Year

by David Hill
Editor

The success of others is more rewarding to Duane Kjono than personal success. But the man who places the success of others above himself, is being honored by Goodridge School District 561 as its Teacher of the Year.

Kjono, who is a little embarrassed by the award, said the most rewarding aspect of his career is seeing kids go on and do well - "see them be successful down the road," he said. But Kjono noted that there are small successes or victories in the classrooms - "even the little wins are important."

He said he enjoys working in Goodridge where he can be there for the children and providing the extra time and help they need. It's more personal, he said. The approach seems to work, he said, because the kids are friendly with him, too.

Duane Kjono

Kjono is a graduate of Northland College in Thief River Falls and Moorhead State University. Goodridge was his first job out of college 23 years ago.

During the 23 years he has been teaching at Goodridge School, he has seen many changes at the school and in education. Recently, the

Murphys, Parenteaus find success with Oof-da Tacos franchise

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

This is the second part of a two-part series on Oof-da Tacos 25th anniversary.

Ben and Kathy Murphy of Red Lake Falls became Oof-da Tacos' first franchise licensee in 1985. By then the traveling taco stand was doing well, but outside interest in the business still took Sharon Ramberg by surprise.

"We couldn't believe it. It was a surprise," said Sharon, co-founder of Oof-da Tacos. "You have to take [illegible]"

Since that time, Oof-da Tacos has added two additional franchises, respectively owned by Greg and Donna Parenteau of Erskine and LeRoy Berget of Alexandria.

"It's been a blessing all these years," Sharon said of the success of each respective franchise. "They're all doing very well and we're very proud of everyone."

DNR issues ice warning for aerated lakes

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources warns ice anglers, snowmobilers, skiers and other outdoor enthusiasts to use caution when going onto any lake covered or partially covered with ice, especially those that have aeration systems operating on them.

"Open water areas created by aeration systems can shift or change shapes depending on weather conditions," said Marilyn Danks, DNR aquatic biologist. "Leaks may develop in air lines creating other areas of weak ice or open water."

Approximately 280 Minnesota lakes will have aeration systems operating on them this winter. Private hatchery operators also use aeration systems, usually on small lakes without public accesses.

Aeration systems help prevent winterkill of fish populations by adding oxygen to the lake, but they also create areas of open water and thin ice, which are significant hazards. Aeration systems are generally operated from the time the lakes freeze until the ice breaks up in the spring.

A permit is required from the DNR to install and operate an aeration system. Permit holders must publish public notices, post warning signs and inspect the systems at least once every seven days. Liability insurance is generally required of private parties operating aeration systems in protected waters. Watch for notices in local newspapers identifying aerated lakes. For further information, contact an area or regional fisheries manager.

Two types of signs are used to post aerated lakes, "Thin Ice" and Warning" signs.

"Warning" signs at all commonly used access points to the lake. This sign warns people approaching the lake that an aeration sysem is in operation and to use extreme caution.

"Thin Ice" signs are used to mark the perimeter of the thin ice and open water area. These signs are diamond shaped with an orange border and white background with the warning "Thin Ice" in bold print. It is the permittees' responsibility to post and maintain "Thin Ice" signs at 100-foot intervals.

Some municipalities may have ordinances, which prohibit entering into the thin ice marked area and/or prohibit the night use of motorized vehicles on lakes with aeration systems in operation. These local regulations are often posted at accesses where they apply.

Aeration systems are inspected for safety and compliance with regulations by permittees and DNR personnel.

For more information, call a regional fisheries office or the DNR Information Center toll free 1-888-MINNDNR (646-6367).

Northern pike slot limit will remain unchanged on Lake of the Woods

A slot limit for northern pike remains in place on Lake of the Woods, a portion of the Rainy River and other connecting waters on the Minnesota-Canadian border, according to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

Rule changes effective Dec. 15 do not apply to these waters, which have special regulations in place, said DNR Fisheries Program Consultant Al Stevens. Before venturing out, anglers need to review northern pike regulations now in effect at http://mndnr.gov/fish/northern/index.html.

Regulations now in effect on Lake of the Woods, a portion of the Rainy River and other connecting waters allow a continuous season on northern pike but require that anglers can only keep fish that are shorter than 30 inches or longer than 40 inches. Anglers on these waters may not possess more than three northern pike at any time, and only one of those fish can be longer than 40 inches.

In Loving Memory of Harland Knutson
who passed away on December 17, 2002

God saw you were getting tired and a cure was not meant to be.
So He put his arms around you and whispered "Come with Me."

With tearful eyes I watched you as I saw you pass away.
Although I loved you deeply,
I could not make you stay.

Your golden heart stopped beating, hard-working hands at rest.
God broke my heart to prove to me he only takes the best.

Thank you God for life,
love and happiness.

Sherry LaCoursiere – email: lacours@mncable.net

Today's recipes are for Christmas cookies. If you are like me and haven't started baking yet, these are for you. I'm going to give you some that are my family's favorites, hopefully not the same ones I gave you last year.

These plain sugar cookies have such a nice flavor -, I think because of the brown sugar. They are not the big, fat ones that you frost, but the little crispy ones that you can munch on all day. I usually just roll them into logs and then in colored and white sugar for a little colored edging and then pop them into the fridge until I am ready to bake them. They are great for those times you need a quick treat:

BROWNED BUTTER COOKIES

1 cup butter
2/3 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt

Mix butter and brown sugar in bowl. Add egg and vanilla. In another smaller bowl, mix flour and salt and add to butter mixture. Roll into about 3 (2 1/2 inches in diameter) logs. Roll logs in white sugar and/or colored sugar (or in sprinkles or nuts). Wrap individually and chill until ready to bake.

Bake at 375 degrees for about 8 minutes, just barely browning. Cool on rack.

I still love these cookies. They are like little balls of fruitcake. I always made mine with the mixed fruit because that's my favorite. I got the recipe from Rose Vaudrla many, many years ago. She was a good cook:

HOLIDAY FRUIT CAKE COOKIES

1 cup shortening (not butter)
2 eggs
2 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup sour milk or water
3 1/2 cups flour
2 cups dates, cut up
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cup pecans
2 cups halved candied cherries or mixed fruit

Mix dates with the sour cream. If dates are at all dry, heat them in the sour milk a minute in the micro to soften. Put soda into date mixture and stir.

Mix shortening and sugar. Add eggs and beat. Whisk flour, soda and salt in bowl and add to shortening mixture. Mix in date mixture and then nuts and fruit.

Chill dough about an hour, then drop on parchment covered,cookie sheets about 2 inches apart. Bake at 350 degrees until lightly browned. Don't bake too hard. Store in airtight container.

If you like those peanut butter cookies with the chocolate drops in the middle, try this recipe this year. I've found it is a little different, maybe softer, than the other recipe I've used. They have cute little kisses now that are in the chocolate chip section of the store so you don't have to peel that silver paper off any more. Of course I used the larger chocolate stars in mine anyway - more chocolate:

PEANUT BUTTER CLOUD KISSES

1 cup butter
1 cup peanut butter (use the good, real peanut butter for these - no diet stuff)
1 cup sugar
1 cup powdered sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour (I usually end up with a lot more flour in mine (even up to 4 cups) - just add until it is an easy-to-handle dough)
2 teaspoons soda
1/2 teaspoon salt

Mix butter, peanut butter and sugars. Add eggs and vanilla. Mix flour and dry ingredients in bowl and add to butter mixture.

Form into balls and dip the top part in sugar. Place on greased sheet and bake 5 minutes. Place chocolate kiss on top of each cookie and return to the oven for an additional 8 minutes or so, until lightly browned. Do not bake too long or they will get dry.

These are some tasty cookies. One of my cousins makes them every year - she's famous for them:

FROSTED CASHEW COOKIES

1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/3 cup sour cream
1 3/4 cup chopped cashews
1 3/4 cup flour (maybe more)
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon soda

Mix sugar and butter. Add egg, vanilla and sour cream. Mix flour and dry ingredients (not nuts) and add to butter mixture. Mix in cashews. Drop on parchment lined sheets and bake until lightly browned, about 8-10 minutes. Cool on racks.

Frosting

1/2 cup butter
3 tablespoons cream
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups powdered sugar

Brown butter in saucepan on stove. Watch steadily to make sure it doesn't burn. Remove from heat and add cream and vanills. Add powdered sugar and frost cookies.

Arctic Cat employee survives accident thanks to coworkers

Perry Lundeen of Trail is thankful for his coworkers at Arctic Cat. "I would've never gotten out of there by myself," he said.

On the morning of Dec. 5, Lundeen, an Arctic Cat dispatcher/truck driver, was loading Prowler four-wheelers at the Thief River Falls plant. His chest and back then became pinned between some decking and a Prowler in a trailer.

Several coworkers realized what had happened and soon helped free Lundeen. By the time Arctic Cat's trained EMTs arrived at the scene, Lundeen had been freed and was walking around. Lundeen, a man of few words, said that he was "hurting a little bit" at that time.

The Arctic Cat EMTs convinced Lundeen to go to a doctor. He was hospitalized for one day. Lundeen suffered some bruising and chest pain after the accident. He has been off of work since the accident.

The day after getting out of the hospital, Lundeen returned to Arctic Cat to thank his coworkers who provided help – some of whom he doesn't even know. He said, "If I wouldn't have been helped right away, I probably wouldn't be here."

Roseau Community Church plans Christmas program

The annual Christmas program of the Roseau Community Church in Roseau is scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 16, beginning at 7 p.m. There will be singing and recitations by the children and youth of the church. Lunch will be served after the program. The public is invited to attend. For more information, call 218-424-7647.

Thief River Falls residents reminded to clear their sidewalks

Snow has fallen, and Thief River Falls residents are reminded to make sure that their sidewalks have been cleared of snow. Under current city ordinance, residents have 24 hours after a snowfall to clear their sidewalks.

At the Thief River Falls Committee of the Whole meeting Tuesday, Public Works Director Ron Lindberg said that the city has hired a contractor to remove snow from 17 private sidewalks in the city. Homeowners or renters at those locations haven't shoveled their sidewalks. At the end of the season, they will receive a bill for the removal of the snow.

On Tuesday, Lindberg noted that there are hundreds of city residents who haven't cleared their sidewalks of the last one to two inches of snow. He reminded residents that it is to everyone's benefit to clear snow from sidewalks.

About $30,000 in damage reported at TRF complex Tuesday

Approximately 1,000 gallons of water flowed out of a Thief River Falls apartment complex sprinkler for about 10 minutes Tuesday afternoon, causing an estimated $30,000 in damage. No injuries were reported.

The Thief River Falls Fire Department responded to the scene at 2:01 p.m. Tuesday. Upon arriving at the scene, firefighters were able to turn off the sprinkler. According to the department, an empty hanger had been hung on a sprinkler in Apartment 202 of Summerfield Place Townhouses, which is located along Westview Avenue in Thief River Falls. The hanger hooked the tube that seals the sprinkler, causing water to gush out of the sprinkler. The apartment is rented by Kasey Dahlen. An apartment below Dahlen's apartment also sustained water damage. Firefighters were on the scene for about an hour.

Rural Reflections

Mother Walseth's Winter Wonderland

I've made a holiday tradition of writing new lyrics for Christmas classics. The major focus of these songs is usually my mother in-law, Jeanette Walseth. Over time, I have compared Jeanette's oversight of our efforts to hang string after string of Christmas lights to the oppression of the USSR by Stalin. I once sent her to a fictional, environmental jail because her Christmas lights used too much electricity; this year, however, I decided she should play the hero. It's funny, but she has played both hero and villain in these songs, which seem influenced in direct proportion to how hard I am worked hanging the lights. Anyway, Jeanette really loves to decorate for Christmas, and fortunately remembers a Christmas that is slowly being erased from our culture and replaced by a sterile, homogenized lie. I should mention that no governmental officials were hurt in the production of this column; I don't know if I can say the same about their feelings. I guess you have to break some eggs to make a cake.

Mother Walseth's Winter Wonderland
(to the tune of "Winter Wonderland")

It's the time, of the season
Lights are strung, beyond all reason
A Beautiful sight.
It's Christmas done right
Mother Walseth's Winter Wonderland

I got to help, hanging light braids
On the roof, I am so afraid
Accomplished the task
Now cold ones at last
Mother Walseth's Winter Wonderland

Then one day inquiries from the city
"I think you need a permit for this task"
We can't decide on this issue quickly
The committee of the whole we'll have to ask

Later on, at the Depot
Sat our lights, that were repo'd
A fight we must make,
For Christmas' sake,
Else no Mother Walseth Wonderland

Mother Walseth stood before the council
Just like she was Atticus Finch
She said Christmas must be like in old times
Family, friends and faith and not the Grinch

Lights are back, it looks like Christmas
We've done our deed, and now it's dismiss
Christmas is safe, at least 'til '08
Mother Walseth's Winter Wonderland

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. How to melt that inner Scrooge

A Dec. 11 story written by Dave Roepke, a reporter at the Fargo Forum, serves as inspiration for this editorial. Having visited a few stores lately, and feeling rather pressured to meet certain holiday deadlines and buy, buy, buy, I was feeling more like Scrooge than Santa. The sum of my feelings could be summed up with one word - "Bah!" So, the headline on Roepke's story, "14 ways to melt your inner Scrooge," caught my attention.

Getting in the mood - "a heady nostalgia cocktail stiff enough to make grown adults pine for snow pants und a willingness to visit their extended families" - as Roepke aptly stated, would take a miracle or a very stiff drink, indeed.

"Aha," I thought, "I'm not the only one who is struggling to get into the Christmas spirit."

It left me wondering what would it take to melt my inner Scrooge? "How do you jump-start your holly jolly," as Roepke put it, "and throw the ho-ho-ho-ing into high gear?"

Eggnog could help.

An advent service might do the trick, too.

But after some consideration, I came up with some helpful suggestions:

• Drop some money in the Salvation Army kettle; or, donate a non-perishable food item or cash to the Area Food Shelf. Give a gift to the Christmas for Pennington County Project or your local gift-giving program. Donate to the local humane society. No gift feels better giving, than the gift given freely and without strings, especially when that gift is one of hope and charity.

• Attend your community's annual Christmas Eve supper. In Thief River Falls, the sit-down dinner event will begin at 5 p.m. Christmas Eve at the Evergreen Eating Emporium.

• Take a tour of Christmas lights and decorations around town. Residents seem to have a lot of Christmas spirit this year.

• Attend u concert. Must of the concerts have already been held, but muny churches are still scheduling events. Join in singing some Christmas carols, even if your sixth grade choir director invited you to join the band.

• Write u letter to your parents or children. When was the last time you actually wrote a letter - a real handwritten letter, not an e-mail or a text message? Letters mean so much more, probably because they take much more time and thought.

• Visit u relative or friend in a hospital or nursing home.

• Send u gift or letter to a soldier serving our country.

• Go cross-country skiing, snowmobiling or snowshoeing - get some exercise and then replenish your energy with u cup of hot chocolate topped with a double shot of whipped cream.

• Go sledding. The hill behind the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls attracts a lot of sledders - young and uld.

• Read a "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens. Rent one of the classic holiday films, such as "It's a Wonderful Life," "Scrooge" or "The Bishop's Wife." Or, if your taste leans more toward sugar-coated films, view "The Grinch Who Stole Christmas," National Lampoon's "Christmas Vacation" or "Christmas Story."

Who wouldn't feel wurm and fuzzy watching some of these films or nostalgic when Peter Billingsley as Ralphie in the movie "Christmas Story" asks for a Red Ryder BB gun and is told "you'll shoot your eye out, kid."

So what can you do to take the pressure off and find that inner child that cares nothing for the commercialism that has taken over our holiday season? Take some time for yourself. Slow down; sit down; look for the good in the world around you and listen to some Christmas music. Not surprisingly, these things cost very little.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

An area resident submitted the following poem. It was sent to her daughter from LCDR Jeff Giles, after the death of a soldier.

A Different "Night Before Christmas"

The embers glowed softly, and in their dim light, I gazed ruund the room and I cherished the sight.

My wife was asleep, her head on my chest, my daughter beside me, angelic in rest.

Outside the snow fell, a blanket of white, transforming the yard to a winter delight.

The sparkling lights in the tree I believe, completed the magic that was Christmas eve.

My eyelids were heavy, my breathing was deep, secure and surrounded by love I would sleep.

In perfect contentment, or so it would seem, so I slumbered, perhaps I started to dream.

The sound wasn't loud, and it wasn't too near, but I opened my eyes when it tickled my ear.

Perhaps just a cough, I didn't quite know, then the sure sound of footsteps outside in the snow.

My soul gave a tremble, I struggled to hear, and I crept to the door just to see who was near.

Standing out in the cold and the dark of the night, a lone figure stood, his face weary and tight.

A soldier, I puzzled, some 20 years old, perhaps a Marine huddled here in the cold.

Alone in the dark, he looked up and smiled, standing watch over me, and my wife and my child.

"What are you doing?" I asked without fear, "Come in this moment, it's freezing out here!"

Put down your pack, brush the snow from your sleeve, you should be at home on a cold Christmas Eve!"

For barely a moment I saw his eyes shift, away from the cold and snow blown in drifts.

To the window that danced with a warm fire's light then he sighed and he said, "It's really all right, I'm out here by choice. I'm here every night."

"It's my duty to stand at the front of the line, that separates you from the darkest of times.

No one had to ask or beg or implore me, I'm proud to stand here like my fathers before me.

My Gramps died at 'Pearl' on a day in December," Then he sighed, "That's a Christmas 'Gram always remembered.

My Dad stood his watch in the jungles of 'Nam', and now it is my turn and so, here I am.

I've not seen my own son in more than a while, but my wife sends me pictures; he's sure got her smile.

Then he bent and he carefully pulled from his bag, the red, white, and blue ... an American flag.

I can live through the cold and the being alone, away from my family, my house and my home.

I can stand at my post through the rain and the sleet, I can sleep in a foxhole with little to eat.

I can carry the weight of killing another, or lay down my life with my sister and brother

Who stand at the front against any and all, to ensure for all time that this flag will not fall."

"So go back inside," he said, "harbor no fright, your family is waiting and I'll be all right."

"But isn't there something I can do, at the least, give you money," I asked, "or prepare you a feast?

It seems all too little for all that you've done, for being away from your wife and your son."

Then his eye welled a tear that held no regret, "Just tell us you love us, and never forget

To fight for our rights back at home while we're gone, to stand your own watch, no matter how long.

For when we come home, either standing or dead, to know you remember we fought and we bled.

Is payment enough, and with that we will trust, that we mattered to you as you mattered to us."

Clipper Windpower recruiter visits NCTC aviation students

Sean Hodgson, commissioning technician for Clipper Windpower Inc. of Denver, visited Northland Community and Technical College's Airport Campus on Dec. 3. Hodgson, a 2004 graduate of the aviation maintenance technology program at NCTC, spoke to aviation and construction electricity students regarding possible employment with his company.

The wind energy business is in its infancy and at this point is performing at about 1 percent of what it is believed to be able to do as a source of producing energy to supply the United States. The future need for technicians in this field is growing rapidly. Hodgson acquired this position because of his experience in working in the aviation field on turbine engines and the circuitry on aircraft. He was at NCTC to encourage students to consider jobs in this field. He stated that the wages and benefits were very good.

Wind turbine technology is one of a number of programs NCTC is researching as a future offering in this area.

NCTC architectural technology and design students redesign bookstore

The Northland Community and Technical College architectural technology and design class taught by Jeremy Hanson recently submitted individual design plans for redesigning the cash register/work space area at the NCTC bookstore on the Thief River Falls campus. Four students received awards for their design plans: Rick Cole of Warroad and Meagan Cota of Red Lake Falls each received $75; Megan Larter of Roseau and Jason Breidenbach of Grand Forks, N.D., each received an honorable mention and $25.

The need was to redesign the cash register/work space area to fit specific staff needs. The students worked on designs as a class project, and they all did presentations to the architectural technology and design staff and bookstore staff in November.

The immediate needs of the bookstore were to get a plan for the cash register/work space area. The outcome was that the project expanded to find out what other changes in the bookstore would be beneficial from a student's perspective. The plan is to use the design ideas submitted by Cole and Cota, with the immediate changes for the cash register/work space area and then updating as budgets allow.

"The students did a wonderful job. Students came in and asked us what our needs were and then developed their design plans with them in mind," said Bookstore Manager Rosie Gustafson. "You could tell that the students were serious about the project by the number of times they interviewed us. The students all did a great job on the presentations and it was obvious they have a gift for detail. This project was a great opportunity for the students to use their skills. They will be able to use these skills next spring as they begin applying for jobs."

"I think this was a fun project for the students because it challenged them to go above and beyond what they already knew about the Revit 3D software," said Hanson. "The students had to use their creativity to come up with a design that satisfied the needs of the customer, in this case the NCTC Bookstore. Because it was a true to life situation, it will be rewarding to them to see their ideas become a reality."

The architectural technology and design program at NCTC is designed for the student who would like to proceed directly to the workplace. The first year of the program involves the study of residential construction practices and Computer Aided Drawing, using AutoCAD software. The second year is concerned primarily with commercial and industrial construction practices. Projects are drawn using both the drawing board and the computer. With constant changes in CAD technology, it is vital to keep pace. The Architectural Technology Department is equipped with 50 state-of-the-art computers on the NT network, two D-size inkjet color plotters, laser printers, color inkjet printer, scanner, digital camera and capability for video clipping input and output. Graduates of the program receive skills that enable them to work with architects, engineers, design firms, contractors, lumber yards, building suppliers, government agencies, and many other related areas.

TRF will switch football conferences in 2009...

Prowlers join Heart O' Lakes

Thief River Falls' on-again, off-again relationship with the high school football Heart O' Lakes Conference has finally been resolved. The Prowlers, it was announced this week, will become a league member in 2009.

The vote by current conference schools to accept the Thief River Falls application to join the league was approved Wednesday.

It was the third time in three years the Prowlers had applied for Heart O' Lakes membership. Their application was initially rejected. A second request was accepted, but Thief River Falls later rescinded to remain in the North Country Conference.

However, an uncertain future for the North Country Conference prompted the Prowlers to again approach the Heart O' Lakes officials.

There are currently 12 football schools in the Heart O' Lakes Conference playing in two divisions. Crookston, East Grand Forks, Park Rapids Area, Perham, Roseau and Warroad are in the HOL North; Breckenridge, Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton, Pelican Rapids, Pequat Lakes, Wadena-Deer Creek and West Central Area are in the HOL Classic.

Staples-Motley will join the Classic line-up in 2008; Thief River Falls will be placed in the HOL North a year later.

Thief River Falls' first league affiliation since the demise in the 1970's of the old Northwest Athletic Conference that included Bemidji, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Roseau and Fergus Falls, came in 2001 when the Prowlers hooked up with the Sea-Range Conference. That group included Duluth East, Grand Rapids, Duluth Denfeld, Duluth Central, Hibbing, Cloquet and Virginia.

Virginia left and it became the North Country Conference in 2002.

Cloquet later departed. Detroit Lakes joined in 2006, but Hibbing announced that 2007 would be the Bluejackets' final year in the league, and officials expect Duluth's conference membership to shrink from three to two teams in the near future.

The 2008 season will be the Prowlers' final year in the North Country Conference, where they have won two outright titles and shared first place on two other occasions.

In addition to the six conference contests, Thief River Falls' 2008 schedule will include games against Crookston, Park Rapids Area and Grand Forks (N.D.) Red River. The Panthers and Roughriders will replace 2007 opponents Hibbing and Richfield.

TRF swimmers feature limited home schedule

Although the 2007-08 Thief River Falls boys high school swim season lasts three months, the Prowlers' home portion of that schedule is bunched into an 11-day mid-December span.

The Franklin Middle School pool, where the Prowlers swim, will be used for just three meets this winter. And it's a back-to-back-to-back home slate that began with a 114-55 Tuesday dual loss at the hands of Bemidji. Perham will visit Tuesday, Dec. 18, and Detroit Lakes comes to town Friday, Dec. 21.

Thief River Falls' January and February meets will all be on the road.

Jill Buck and Todd Haase are serving as Thief River Falls co-head coaches this year. They succeed Lacy Knott, who has done double duty as coach of the girls program in the fall and the boys in the winter for the past five years. Knott resigned her job with the boys following the completion of the 2007 girls season.

"We have a great group of guys who are very hard workers and very dedicated to the sport," said Buck. "They have made it very easy for Todd and I to take over as coaches, and for that, we thank them."

Brian Kays is the lone senior on the roster that also includes juniors Cody Reese, Tyler Olson, Brandon Widing, Danny Molstad, Billy Lewis; sophomores Shane Illif, Allen Abercrombie, Stephen Bates, Ryan Olson, Erik Brateng, Travis Carlson, Anish Patel, Alex Thomas; freshmen Michael Grant, Derek Naslund, Kenton Johnson, Cody Walter, Ben Beito, Tevin Douglas; eighth grader Victor Marshall; seventh graders Glen Thoemke, Amit Patel, Shashank Holakere, Ein Cliburn, Brett Drevlow; and sixth grader Lyle Laakso.

Reese supplied the Prowlers with their only first place finish against the Lumberjacks when he won the 50-yard freestyle.

"We want each swimmer to get their personal-best times and to meet their personal goals," offered Buck. "Our team goals this year is for our 200 freestyle and 400 freestyle relay teams to make it to state."

The Prowlers opened the season with an appearance at the Dec. 8 Fergus Falls Invitational, where the host Otters collected 503 points, Fargo South 419, Perham 224, Thief River Falls 196, Detroit Lakes 182, Park Rapids Area 110 and Morris Area 65.

"I am hoping for strong team unity this year," said Buck. "If they can achieve this, they can accomplish anything."

Thief River Falls out-scored Bemidji 75-14 in the junior varsity portion of the meet.

Casey Engelstad receives Player of the Week honors

Northland Community and Technical College sophomore Casey Engelstad of Thief River Falls was named Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division basketball Player of the Week following Dec. 3-8 action.

Engelstad averaged 17 points, 12 rebounds and 2.5 assists per game in helping the Pioneers go 2-1 with wins over Providence and Minneapolis and a loss to defending NJCAA Division III national champion Anoka-Ramsey.

Sidelined by a concussion before returning to the line-up last week, Engelstad is averaging 11.3 points and 8.9 rebounds for the year for the 6-4 Pioneers.

TRF JV boys win 57-46 debut against Warroad

Brady Harbott hit a half-dozen 3-point shots in a 22-point performance that sparked Thief River Falls' 57-46 boys junior varsity high school basketball win over Warroad Tuesday.

Jacob Langevin added nine points and Aaron Yaggie had eight in the Prowlers' season-opener.

Thief River Falls led 34-21 at halftime.

Prowlers beat Bagley 61-56

Chelsea Sorteberg scored 16 points, while Brittany Wiseth and Cassie Gunderson both netted 11 as Thief River Falls posted a 61-56 girls high school basketball win at Bagley Tuesday.

It was a double-double for Wiseth who grabbed an eye-opening 18 rebounds.

Kayla Skersick scored 18 points and Jessica Benson had 12 for the Flyers, who led 29-28 at halftime.

It was the fewest points the 3-2 Prowlers have given up this season.

"We defended better than we have in the past – so that's a highlight," offered Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe.

The Prowlers were 21-for-58 from the field (36 percent) and 14-for-27 at the free throw line. The Flyers went 24-for-71 from the floor (34 percent) and 8-for-17 at the line.

Thief River Falls out-rebounded Bagley 38-31, but had trouble hanging on to the ball at times. "We had way too many un-forced turnovers," noted Loe.

Scoring

	1	2	T
Thief River Falls	28	33	61
Bagley	29	27	56

TRF - Brittany Wiseth 14, Chelsea Sorteberg 16, Toni Sorteberg 7, Beth Tvedt 5, Rachael Johnson 2, Kristine Stetten 3, Cassie Gunderson 14.

TRF offense quiet in season opener

■ Prowlers lose to Warroad boys 46-35

It was a slow start to the 2007-08 season for the Thief River Falls offense Tuesday in a 46-35 home court boys high school basketball loss at the hands of Warroad.

The Prowlers hit just three first half field goals, yet still trailed only 16-15 at intermission.

Warroad clinched it at the free throw line. The visitors were 13-for-25 at the line in the second half, compared to the Prowlers' 2-for-4 figure after intermission.

Kasey Trontvet led the Thief River Falls offense with 11 points – all coming in the first half.

Warroad's scoring featured Jack Phetsanghane with 13 points and Matt Adams and Mitch Wilmer with 11 each.

Thief River Falls struggled through a 26 percent 12-for-46 shooting night, including a 2-for-24 showing from 3-point range.

Warroad put up just 27 shots, but made 13 of them (48 percent) and cashed in on 19 of 36 free throw opportunities while the Prowlers went 9-for-13 at the line.

Northland makes trip to Mayville State for a rematch with Comets

Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team snapped a three-game losing streak by out-scoring the Mayville State (N.D.) University junior varsity 97-90 Wednesday.

Reokenski Thomas scored 22 points, Mario Johnson had a 21-point, 11-assist double-double and Marcus Gardiner turned in a 12-point, 14-rebound double-double as the visiting Pioneers climbed back to .500 at 5-5. Northland also got double-figure production from Jeremy Sich with 10 points and Tomas Loberg with 10 rebounds.

It was the second win of the year over the Comets for the Pioneers, who opened the season with a 71-57 home court victory over Mayville.

Northland was 39-for-74 from the field (52 percent) and 16-for-24 at the free throw line. Mayville went 32-for-82 from the floor (39 percent) and 15-for-21 at the line. The Pioneers out-rebounded the Comets 51-44 and topped the turnover charts 18-14.

Bryce Laxdal scored a game-high 27 points for the Comets, who had six double-figure scorers.

Northland is at the Hibbing Invitational this weekend before heading into the holiday break.

TRF hockey JV evens record with three wins

A third straight win – a 9-1 Monday victory at Red Lake Falls – evened the Thief River Falls boys junior varsity high school hockey record at 3-3.

Kyle Thompsan and Aaron Schneider scored two goals each, while single goals came from Spencer Wiseth, Cody Knott, Marcus Daniels, Dillon Barry and Drew Erickson.

Ryan Sagstuen was in goal for the Prowlers, who out-shot the Eagles 22-19.

Thief River Falls opened the year with losses to Roseau 2-0, Totino-Grace 4-1 and Blaine 2-0. Daniels had the Prowlers' only goal in those first three starts.

The Prowlers broke into the win column with a 4-3 Dec. 7 victory over The Blake School. Brady Meunier, Wiseth, Erickson and Barry scored goals that night.

Lindquist, Wiseth, Thompson and Barry scored in next-day 4-2 win over St. Paul Johnson.

Greg Bottem and Bob Huot are the Thief River Falls junior varsity coaches.

A 47-20 Warroad rebound advantage also took a toll on the Prowlers. Turnovers were even at 16-apiece.

"I thought our kids played with a lot of intensity," said Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "We just didn't shoot it very well, and the disparity in the rebound numbers really was the difference in the game."

Gators, Falcons are NCTC semi winners

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River and Fertile-Beltrami found themselves matched up in another championship encounter with Tuesday wins in the semifinals of the 17th annual Northland Community and Technical College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament.

The Gators beat Stephen-Argyle 60-49 and the Falcons out-defended Tri-County 37-22 to reach the Thursday title game. They last met in the 2007 Section 8A tournament finals when Badger/Greenbush-Middle River won 68-65 in overtime.

Ada-Borup handled Goodridge 60-34 and Grygla-Gatzke defeated Red Lake County 65-57 in Tuesday's consolation semifinals.

Tyler Aune scored 19 points, Zac Creviston 15 and Jordan Creviston 10 in the Gators' win over the Storm. Stephen-Argyle had no answer to the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River depth with just Kyle Gratzke (16) in double figures. The Gators led 28-20 at halftime.

There wasn't a lot of offense in the Fertile-Beltrami victory over Tri-County that closed out Day 2 of the tournament. Dustin Krise scored 15 points and Cody Coauette had 11 for the Falcons, who led 22-13 at halftime and gave up just nine second half points. An 8-point game by Jacob Grandstrand was the best the Wildcats could do.

Ada-Borup had a 32-11 intermission advantage and coasted by Goodridge to start the afternoon consolation bracket doubleheader. Blake Bueng scored 15 points and Tyler Narum had 13 to lead the Cougars. Otto Rubischko finished with a team-high 13 points for the Huskies.

Grygla-Gatzke trailed Red Lake County 30-27 at halftime, but the Eagles out-scored the Rebels 38-27 over the final 18 minutes for the win. Jordan Brateng led the winners with 17 points, while Chris Klamar netted 14 and Bret Johnson had 12. The Red Lake County offense was led by Jeff Weiss with 25 points and Steven Morinville 12.

Nordics drop 55-52 opener to Bearcats

Kittson County Central turned a 25-22 halftime deficit into a 55-52 win over Marshall County Central in a Tuesday boys high school basketball game played at Newfolden.

It was the 2007-08 opener for the Nordics, and despite the setback, Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen was more than satisfied with his team's showing. "You never like to lose, but I was extremely happy with the effort the kids put forth," he said. "It's a great game to build on."

A 10-point game by Colby Owens led a balanced Marshall County Central offense that included nine points for Jordan Anderson and Jesses Nelson, and eight points from Kyle Haven and Sean Pyle.

It was a double-double for Owens, whose 12 rebounds helped give the Nordics a 26-14 advantage on the boards.

Third-year starter Evan Maki is currently sidelined by an injury suffered during the football season and four Nordics were seeing their first varsity time, pointed out Rantanen, who said his team should be "very competitive" once all the pieces fall into place.

Steven Johnson scored 20 points and Jordan Peterson had 12 for the Bearcats.

Both teams shot well on a limited number of attempts. Marshall County Central was 22-for-36 (57 percent); Kittson County Central went 18-for-36 (50 percent). The Nordics were a quiet 3-for-6 at the free throw line, where the Bearcats had a 12-for-18 night.

Marshall County Central topped the turnover charts 25-19.

Kittson County Central led just 53-52 with 30 seconds left. A free throw, a turnover and another free throw in the final half-minute iced it.

Thief River Falls is 61-42 winner in freshmen play

Eleven Thief River Falls players put their names in the scoring column Tuesday during a 61-42 freshman boys basketball win over Warroad.

Connor Hutton led the Prowlers with 13 points. Jacob Beito and Micah Rodahl both had eight for the winners, who led 29-19 at halftime.

Mustangs beat Bears second time

Faith Kruchowski led a Red Lake County Central fast break offense with a 36-point performance Tuesday that helped the Mustangs beat Clearbrook-Gonvick 65-41 in girls high school basketball at Oklee.

It was back-to-back victories over the Bears for the Mustangs, who won a 62-31 Northland Community and Technical College Invitational match up the previous Thursday.

Kayla Pelletier had a 12-point, 15-rebound double-double for the winners, who had a 28-15 halftime advantage.

Karli Waine led the Bears with 15 points.

Red Lake County Central launched 80 shots, hitting 26 of them (33 percent). The Mustangs were 8-for-13 at the free throw line. Clearbrook-Gonvick went 13-for-44 from the field (30 percent) and 12-for-20 at the line.

The 4-3 Mustangs finished with a 40-39 rebound edge. The Bears topped the turnover charts 25-15.

DNR seeks title to roads

out some traffic matters by easement but that the matter couldn't be resolved.

At one point in time, there were "no ATV" signs posted by the DNR on the roads in question as well as "minimum maintenance" township road signs posted by Kittson County. "Both sides took their signs down," said Bengtson, who noted both sides are now waiting for the issues to be resolved.

Kittson County has filed a counterclaim to the suit. In its counterclaim, the county asks that if a judge rules in favor of Kittson County, the judge awards attorney fees to the county. Bengtson said the DNR has now been given time to respond to the counterclaim.

Kittson County Attorney Roger Malm is handling that case with assistance from two St. Cloud attorneys.

This is the second suit filed against the county this year. In July, the Minnesota Center for Environmental Advocacy filed a suit against the county to restore areas where the county contends it was doing routine maintenance in legal ditches. Bengtson said the Kittson County Board felt that suit was related to the dispute between the DNR and the county. He indicated Kittson and Roseau counties have ditch authority in that area and are allowed to do maintenance without permits for agricultural lands where landowners have requested ditch maintenance.

Mike Carroll, northwest regional director with the DNR, said the DNR isn't involved in that suit. However, he said the DNR is reviewing the cleanup process for ditches in and adjacent to Beaches Lake WMA.

If MCEA and Kittson County can't reach an agreement with regard to the MCEA suit, that matter is set to go to court Nov. 8, 2008. The Minnesota Counties Insurance Trust is covering the county's legal expenses related to that case, Bengtson said. Malm is handling that case with assistance from an attorney in St. Paul.

back to the sleigh. Before Santa could walk back into the home, Roy's sister-in-law Corinne started to make her way inside. Santa was behind her. Roy could see Santa and said, "Corinne, get out of the way."

Santa handed out candy to Roy and his friends. He also posed for numerous pictures with Roy, Roy's friends, the teams and the cheerleaders. Before all of that, he played guitar and everyone sang "Jingle Bells" together. Roy's voice could be distinctly heard as he rang a bell.

focus in education has been on collecting data and adjusting teaching methods to individual needs. It works for some. There are some real hard workers out there, he explained, who don't always do well on tests. Some of it's good, he said. "I don't know if I have any answers but I keep trying," he said.

Kjono is the social studies teacher at Goodridge for grades 7 through 12. He's also the football coach, and coach for the American Legion baseball program in Thief River Falls. He's also the driving instructor for the "Behind the Wheel" program in Goodridge and Thief River Falls.

Kjono believes extra-curricular activities are important. Those activities help build friendships, dedication, team work and develops important leadership qualities.

Kjono gets to spend a lot of his time with students. It's not something he minds. He said he enjoys being with the kids and visiting with them.

They share time with Kjono's family. Kjono and his wife Marcia have three boys: Dane and Drew who are both in college, and Trey, who is a 10th grader in Thief River Falls.

Kjono said he stresses the importance of education with his children and stresses the importance of education with all of the children at Goodridge School. He said that when he talks to them about it he reminds them that persistence pays off in the long haul. He also informs them that there's a big difference between a small rural school and a college. That difference, he said, can be tough. He reminds them though, that perseverance and persistence will pay off.

Even though he encourages students to attend college, he acknowledges that college is not for everyone. He encourages students to find out what makes them happy and then pursue their goals with the same persistence and perseverance.

It is illegal to dump snow on county highways

The Marshall County Highway Department officials are informing residents that it is illegal to put snow (by plowing, blowing, shoveling or any other means) onto county highways. This act can subject a person to a civil liability if this road hazard causes a traffic accident.

Civil liabilities may extend to both the property owner and the person performing the snow removal. Marshall County asks that all citizens obey these rules, as they are designed to keep highways functioning safely and efficient during the winter months.

Sale of Hillcrest Nursing Home being negotiated

Hillcrest Nursing Home lost $2 million over the past five years and preliminary financials show another $525,000 loss this last fiscal year.

"We made major changes in 2005 to reduce our expenses and increase revenues where possible," said Michalski. "But those changes were negated by stagnant payment rates and rising costs of wages, benefits, utilities and supplies."

Reimbursement for long-term care facilities in Minnesota has declined over the last several years and profit margins for skilled nursing facilities have dropped. Today, the majority of the state's skilled nursing homes are losing money and 26 percent are at risk for closure, according to the Minnesota Health and Housing Alliance. With the growth of alternatives such as assisted living, healthier seniors have avoided nursing home stays. Hillcrest's daily census is at an average of 42, compared to 60 just 10 years ago.

Severts is student teaching at Grygla Elementary

Cody Severts of Middle River is participating in the fall 2007 student teaching program through Bemidji State University. Severts, a senior majoring in elementary education, is teaching fourth grade at Grygla Elementary.

The student teaching program provides education majors with an opportunity to earn classroom experience they need to become an educator. The program is designed to place students in a public school under the supervision of an experienced teacher.

Olin, Stumpf tour Challenger Preschool

Rep. Dave Olin, Sen. LeRoy Stumpf and S.D. 564 Board of Education Vice Chair Troy Bates toured Challenger Preschool Tuesday to get a first-hand look at the programs and curriculum offered to students.

The visitors toured classrooms, interacted with students and visited with teachers in the Head Start, At Promise and School Readiness programs. They also met with Roxanne Zerwas, Early Childhood Family Advocate and a representative of the McKnight Foundation, one of the Early Childhood Initiative sponsors.

Murphys, Parenteaus find success with Oof-da Tacos franchise came to town," Ben said. The Murphys had heard of the Rambergs' traveling taco stand and thought it could be successful as a seasonal concession stand in Red Lake Falls.

The Murphys started leasing an Oof-da Tacos trailer from the Rambergs in 1984. They were later grandfathered a franchise.

For many years, the Murphys operated just one Oof-da Tacos stand, at Voyageurs View on the Red Lake River. Their business was threatened by drought in the late 1980s. The dry weather lowered the water level of the Red Lake River, devastated recreational tubing in the area and consequently, the Murphy's business suffered.

"When the tubing got slow, the traffic wasn't there in town anymore," Ben said.

To counter the lack of in-town business, the Murphys purchased a better, more road-worthy trailer from the Rambergs and Ben left his job as an iron worker to operate a traveling Oof-da Taco stand full-time.

The Murphys' traveling stand operated in the same manner as the Rambergs' stand. They booked several locations in advance and appeared at town festivals and other celebrations.

After a few wet years, the river reached its pre-drought level and recreational tubing returned to the Red Lake River. The Murphys were faced with a difficult decision. They could return to the their roots at Voyageurs View, or they could remain on the road, which had brought them plenty of return business. They decided to do both.

Today, Kathy operates the Voyageurs View Oof-da Tacos stand and Ben operates a traveling stand. The two stands operate seasonally and employ between four and five people per season.

Mark and Greg Parenteau

Oof-da Tacos has been a family business for the Parenteau family for the past 20 years. Greg's father, Mark, became a partner with the Rambergs in Oof-da Tacos, when he bought a 50 percent share of the business in 1987.

Around that time, Don Ramberg was diagnosed with Rheumatoid Arthritis and he needed to reduce his workload. Mark and Don had known each other through Don's gun repair business. Don was repairing one of Mark's guns when the two struck up a conversation about Oof-da Tacos. The end result was a partnership that would last close to 10 years.

Oof-da Tacos operated as a partnership, but the Rambergs and Mark Parenteau had separate territories. By 1995, Mark Parenteau was getting tired of the day-to-day work and was ready to retire. Around that same time, his son was ready to take over.

Greg Parenteau got his start at Oof-da Tacos in 1995. That summer, after years of using his restaurant management degree at Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurants in Colorado, Montana and Wyoming, and at Red Lobster locations in Colorado, California and Nevada, he was finally able to accept his father's invitation to work side-by-side on the Oof-da Tacos stand.

"For years, he would tell me how great the business was and how busy he was," Greg said of his father. "I wondered how he could make enough money in a seasonal business."

A year later, Mark Parenteau sold his interest in the company back to the Rambergs, while Greg took over his father's territories and started the third and final Oof-da Tacos franchise.

Greg maximized his franchise's exposure by adding a second Oof-da Tacos trailer in 2000 and a third stand in 2004. That means he's on schedule to purchase a fourth stand in 2008.

"If I added a fourth trailer, my wife would leave me," Greg jokingly said of his wife, Donna. "We have a good partnership, because she takes care of all the book work," Greg added, noting that he operates one of the three Oof-da Tacos stands.

Greg and Donna also employ two full-time managers to run the other two stands; and several students to help with the three traveling Oof-da Tacos stands.

"It's a good first job or transitional job," Greg said. "You don't have to go to the same place every day."

Greg said booking the Minnesota State Fair continues to be one of his goals for Oof-da Tacos. Each year he attends the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs to sell board members on the idea of booking Oof-da Tacos as a food vendor.

"People in southern Minnesota don't understand what we have up north," Greg said.

Winter weather brings more than colder temperatures, snowstorms and holiday celebrations. It also brings a significantly higher number of residential fires and accidental carbon monoxide poisonings, tragedies that can be prevented if appropriate safety precautions are in place.

According to the National Fire Protection Association, home fires are most prevalent in December and January and the number of CO-related injuries and deaths increase in winter months, when furnaces, space heaters and other fuel burning appliances are in use.

"There are several reasons for the increase in fires and CO accidents in winter months," said Debbie Hanson, director of external affairs for BRK Brands/First Alert. "Candles and holiday decorations such as Christmas trees and lights, along with increased use of kitchen appliances for holiday cooking, all contribute to the higher incidence of home fires. Storm-related power outages and the improper use of supplemental or alternative heating sources play a big role in the number of CO poisonings. The consequences are often tragic and our goal is to help folks protect themselves during this critical time of year."

Winter fire safety tips

Hanson noted there are simple steps people can take that will greatly reduce the risk of fire-related injury and property loss, which is especially important in cold weather months. These steps include:

- Installing smoke alarms with both photoelectric and ionization sensing technologies on every level of your home and in all sleeping areas for maximum protection.
- Testing smoke alarms at least once a week.
- Changing the batteries in smoke alarms every six months or when the low battery signal is heard.
- Creating and practicing a home escape plan at least twice a year, making sure everyone is involved – from kids to grandparents.
- Keeping a fire extinguisher or fire extinguishing spray in your kitchen and near other areas where a fire could occur, such as in a workshop, garage or near a fireplace.

Winter carbon monoxide safety tips

Often referred to as the silent killer because you can't see, smell or taste it, CO is the leading cause of accidental poisoning in the U.S. It is a byproduct of combustion produced by cars, stoves, water heaters, fireplaces, gas grills and a number of other appliances. The following safety tips will help residents avoid CO and other dangers associated with power outages and changes in seasonal temperatures:

- Never run a generator indoors or in a poorly ventilated area, such as a garage or porch, and use the appropriate-size power cords to carry the electric load.
- Install one battery-operated CO alarm (or AC-powered alarm with battery backup) on every level of the home and one in each sleeping area.
- Ensure that CO alarms have working batteries installed.
- Never burn charcoal or other outdoor cooking appliances indoors or in the garage.
- Inspect and clean any soot and debris, such as bird nests and paper, out of the chimneys, flues and stacks.

CO is difficult to detect without the help of CO alarms. Outward physical symptoms of CO poisoning include headaches, dizziness, weakness, nausea, vomiting, chest pain and confusion.

Five area schools recognized

Five area high schools received bronze awards from U.S. News and World Report magazine

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Five local high schools were recently selected as bronze-award schools among 18,790 public high schools in 40 states.

Goodridge, Grygla, Lancaster and Stephen/Argyle Central high schools received the recognition from the magazine U.S. News & World Report. The designations were published in the Nov. 30, 2007, edition of the magazine. They pertain to the 2005-06 school year.

"I just think it speaks very highly of the quality of education in northwest Minnesota," said Brad Homstad, Lancaster School principal/superintendent, about the number of northwest Minnesota schools on the list.

Goodridge School Principal Tim Lutz said that the designation was totally unexpected. "I was truly pleased about that," he said.

The magazine used three steps to determine the best high schools. "The first two steps ensured that the schools serve all of their students well, using state proficiency standards as the measuring benchmarks. For those schools that made it past the first two steps, a third step assessed the degree to which schools prepared students for college-level work," it noted.

Depending upon the ranking, schools received gold, silver or bronze awards. "The top 100 high schools nationwide with the highest college readiness index scores were ranked numerically (ties were broken using the average number of Advanced Placement exams passed per test taker) and awarded gold medals. The next 405 top-performing high schools nationwide, based on their college readiness index, earned silver medals. An additional 1,086 high schools in 40 states that passed the first two steps were awarded bronze medals," the magazine indicated.

"Our students have performed very well on the state-required tests for a number of years," said Homstad, who added that he thinks the students are also very well prepared for college.

High schools in 10 states and in Washington, D.C., weren't able to be included on the list for one of two reasons. Some states and Washington, D.C., didn't make their 2005-06 test data available to the magazine, and some states provided insufficient 2005-06 test data.

County Board approves 2008 net levy with 4.88% increase

Warren - "The Marshall County Board of Commissioners gave its final approval to a 2008 county tax levy of $4,255,767 at its meeting Tuesday. Next year's levy shows an increase of 4.88 percent over this year's levy of $4,057,706.

"The setting of the levy also involved the approval of the county's 2008 budget, which totals $16,249,801. Component parts of this budget total are: Revenue Department, $5,303,959; Road and Bridge Fund, $7,562,468, and social services, $3,382,801. The $12 million difference between the county budget and tax levy is made up through county fees, state-paid aids and grants for various programs, particularly in the areas of social services and highways." - Warren Sheaf, Dec. 19, 2007

Middle River Rescue Squad needs help

Middle River - "Tri-County EMS will start an Emergency Medical Technician class Thursday, Jan. 3. Class will be held from 6 to 10 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays. The classes will start in Karlstad with the possibility of some location changes as the class progresses.

"The first two classes will be AHA Healthcare Provider CPR, which is a prerequisite to the EMT class. These classes will be Thursday, Jan. 3 and Monday, Jan. 7 from 6 to 10 p.m. at the Tri-County EMS business office in Karlstad.

"To date, there are no people from Middle River who have shown an interest in attending the class. One of the problems the squad is facing, said Squad Leader Steve Holm, is that Middle River is low on the number of EMTs."

"One can hear the crisis in his voice as he speaks about the problem. 'Once it's gone, it's gone! It's tough to get it back,' Holm said." Fifteen committed people are needed to start an ambulance service. Middle River already has such a service, but it has only eight EMTs who can take calls. "Three other EMTs live out of range, one of whom has volunteered to serve as a first responder." Steve said those three individuals can help a little bit, but they can't help too often due to the time it takes them to reach the ambulance garage. - The Tribune of Greenbush, Dec. 19, 2007, by Barb Geer

School Board honors 12 elementary students

Fosston - "The Fosston School Board honored 12 Magelssen Elementary School students during its regular meeting last Thursday night. The fifth and sixth graders competed in two separate teams during the Minnesota Thinking Cap Quiz Bowl on Nov. 8.

"Each were given the district's "We are Proud" award. Board member Marlys Balstad handed out the certificates to both teams, which were divided by grade. The fifth grade team consisted of Tim Korinta, Cole Nelson, Tara Viken, Aaron Arneson, Elizabeth Olson and Katrina Nesvold. Those on the sixth grade team included Abigail Laubenstein, Mary-Helen Bennson, Matthew Voxland, Jonathon Olson, Leandra Dalen and Ari Borud.

"Both groups will compete this spring in the National Quiz Bowl competition." - The 13 Towns of Fosston, Dec. 18, 2007, by Don Kendall

Goodridge School conducts drills

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Emergency drills were held Dec. 14 at Goodridge School. The drills included a lockdown drill as well as a tabletop tornado drill.

Elementary school and high school students participated in the lockdown drill. The scenario for that drill: An estranged, angry, non-custodial parent is trying to take his child out of the high school. Under that scenario, participants theorized that the parent would bypass the office and start looking for his child.

"To me, that's one of the most realistic situations that could happen nowadays," said Goodridge School Principal Tim Lutz. He noted that he has had situations in the past – not at Goodridge – where the school has been notified that one parent has custodial rights of a child and the other parent is not allowed to leave school with the child.

In the drill, the "parent" (actually a consultant who works with the school) went to a classroom to find his "child." Wearing an "intruder" sign, he went to a high school classroom. A teacher told him that he should go to the office and then called the office. The teacher had no idea that the "parent" was coming to her classroom. The lockdown was then initiated throughout both the elementary and high school portions of Goodridge School.

The Pennington County Sheriff's Office, Goodridge Fire & Rescue, and Goodridge Mayor Bob Howard participated in the lockdown drill. Those groups witnessed the drill and evaluated how it went. They were stationed throughout Goodridge School to see how quickly rooms were locked down, to see if anyone would open the doors for them and to see if the doors were actually locked, Lutz said. They also checked window coverings to see if they could see through the windows at the school. If they could, a shooter could see through the windows as well.

Lutz said the lockdown drill went well. He indicated there were a "couple little things" that could be improved. For example, one student

Shining lights

The Lucia tradition can be loosely traced to Saint Lucia of Syracusa, Sicily. Lucia was martyred for her Christian beliefs in 304 A.D. The tradition moved to early Sweden when a white-clad Lucia brought food during a famine. The name Lucia is from the Latin word for light. December 13 is the longest night of the year on the old Swedish calendar, so Lucia's arrival marks the coming of longer days. In Sweden, Lucia Day initiates the Christmas season.

Reports and pictures of the celebration in Karlstad were shared with a newspaper in Karlstad's sister city in Sweden, which is also named Karlstad.

TRF airport master plan takes off

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Two consulting firms are currently in the process of completing the master plan for the Thief River Falls Regional Airport. At its meeting Tuesday, the Thief River Falls City Council heard an update about the firms' progress.

Neal Westlund with Reynolds, Smith & Hills presented the council with a draft of the airport master plan. The guide covers a 20-year time frame of potential future development at the airport. The plan estimates that it will cost $33,874,000 to complete several airport projects and related requirements within the next 10 years.

Westlund noted that the airport master plan has three main goals – to "improve passenger service at the airport, support the Thief River Falls area economy by accommodating cargo growth, and develop a city-owned multipurpose conventional hangar." Ulteig Engineers and RS&H worked together to develop the airport master plan.

Public Works Director Ron Lindberg said the firms worked closely with UPS and other businesses to create the plan. He said freight service and passenger service are equally important at the airport.

It is anticipated that the airport master plan will be finalized once the airport layout plan has been approved. The Minnesota Department of Transportation Office of Aeronautics is currently reviewing the airport layout plan, which is a comprehensive stack of drawings that have to be approved by the state as well as the Federal Aviation Administration. Westlund expects that the state's portion of the review process will be completed at the end of January. The FAA will then review the airport layout plan. That review is anticipated to take approximately six months.

Assuming that the airport's schedule remains the same, the two firms anticipate between 6,000 and 10,000 air carrier and commuter passengers at the airport each year. Joe Jackson, an RS&H employee, said that number is believed to be closer to 6,000. Currently, Westlund said, the airport has between 4,000 and 5,000 air carrier and commuter passengers each year.

Westlund said that he was hesitant to put years behind various developments at the airport. He indicated that airport developments are driven by demand, which then influences state and federal funding for particular projects.

Among the potential developments are:

Short-term development (zero to five years)

- A 1,000-foot extension of Runway 31
- Construction of a city-owned

The spirit of giving shared

Little Brothers and Sisters experience the spirit of giving

Local clubs and businesses hosted a Christmas shopping trip for the Little Brothers and Little Sisters of Pennington County on Wednesday, Dec. 19, and the Smiley 4-H Club sponsored a gift-wrapping party. Thirty youth, with help from their adult mentor or a community volunteer, shopped and wrapped gifts for their family.

Following the shopping excursion at Wal-Mart, participants met at the United Methodist Church where they wrapped gifts, made cards, played games, and enjoyed a light lunch. Smiley 4-H club hosted this part with contributions from Thrifty White Drug, Super One Foods and McDonald's.

"I thought it was really nice that the Little Brothers Little Sisters program asked us to help out. The kids were all really great and really fun to talk to," said Bethany Economos, president of the Smiley 4-H Club which sponsored the Gift Wrapping Party" at the United Methodist Church in Thief River Falls.

While there, Economos said, the little brothers and sisters were able to wrap the presents they had purchased for friends and family, make greeting cards, and play games. They were also joined by their big brothers and sisters.

"This is such a gratifying event because of the support of so many groups in our community," stated Sue Dupree, director of the Little Brothers Little Sisters program of Pennington County. "Our youth learn the value of giving and also economical shopping."

Dupree said one volunteer was surprised at what thrifty choices their little brother who bought gifts for nine family members made while staying within the $25 limit.

"We couldn't have done this without the generosity of Wal-Mart Foundation, Smiley 4-H, [illegible] United Methodist Church." A special thank you goes to the volunteers who all said yes when asked to shop with a child," said Dupree.

The Little Brothers Little Sisters program of Pennington County helps children reach their potential through supported, one-to-one relationships with mentors that have a measurable impact on youth.

The Little Brothers Little Sisters program is currently in its 21st year in Pennington County. Children participating in the program come from single parent, low income homes or homes with other family issues. The commitment of a mentor involves about two to four hours each week. Hundreds of area children have participated in the program.

This event truly demonstrates the spirit of giving at Christmas," said Dupree.

For more information about the program, contact Sue Dupree, [illegible]

Warroad Care Center names new CFO

As construction progress continues at the site of the new, Warroad Senior Living Center, the current care center has seen a change as well. Though the 25-acre campus southwest of Warroad is not expected to open for several months, internal preparations have begun to insure a smooth transition into the new facility.

The Warroad Care Center has developed the position of chief financial officer and recently hired Carla Wolf, a certified public accountant with extensive experience in the health industry.

Administrator Rod Kutter said adding a CFO to the current staff was necessary "because of all the different lines of business we are in, our financial statements are becoming more and more complex, we have all kinds of reports that are mandated by the State Health Department and the Attorney General's Office, and the new facility will compound that."

Ronda Doyle, secretary/treasurer of the Warroad Care Center Board of Directors added, "We needed someone who could get in and figure out our new-accounting system and take on the complexity of the new facility in a detailed and thorough manner."

Wolf, who hails from the Twin Cities area, brings with her a general understanding of the industry, an extensive background in accounting and prior experience in the healthcare field. She spent the past 15 years filling various accounting roles in the health insurance industry, most recently as a senior financial consultant for a Major Health Insurance Company in Eden Prairie. She is currently pursuing a master's degree in health care management with a little over a year left to complete.

"I'm excited to be here," Wolf said. "I'm happy to be going back to working in a smaller organization that provides a wide variety of duties and am anxious to learn about the senior living healthcare industry. I have really enjoyed the friendliness of the people I have met so far."

A small-town girl at heart, Wolf grew up in St. Michael-Albertville with her parents and three siblings, including a sister who lives in Warroad. "My sister, Sara, who people up here know as Sara Jeanne, has lived here for 13 years. She loves it, and I am really enjoying being close to her and her family."

Wolf is an avid card-maker. She loves scrapbooking, reading and spending time outside.

Kutter is pleased with Wolf's performance since hiring her in November. "She came in at a difficult time. Our year had just ended. The auditors are coming the first part of January, and she's doing well getting reconciliations done and preparing operational statements," said Kutter. "She fits in with the management group very well. People have enjoyed working with her and are excited about what she brings as far as expertise."

Carla Wolf

The Warroad Care Center Board is excited about the information that Wolf will be able to provide as it works on setting prices for the new facility to ensure financial viability and long-term growth.

The Warroad Senior Living Center is expected to open in summer 2008. For more information, visit www.warroadseniorlivingcenter.com.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Today we'll have some especially pretty, tasty cookies and candy for the holidays. I'm sure they're delicious because they are all from the Thief River Falls St. Pauli Church Book of Favorite Recipes and those ladies are good cooks.

What a pretty "cookie" to serve at Christmas - and I bet it tastes as good as it looks:

CHRISTMAS CHERRY TARTS
Cay Donlin

1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 egg
1/3 cup sugar
2/3 cup graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Mix graham cracker crumbs and butter. Spray tart pans with nonstick spray and press crumb mixture into pans and up sides (makes about 24 tart shells).

Beat cream cheese, vanilla, egg and sugar until well blended. Fill each tart. Bake 10 minutes. Chill thoroughly and then run a thin knife around tart and pop out of pan. Top each with cherry pie filling. These freeze well.

These are pretty and tasty, too:

ELLEN TORKELSON'S PINK MERINGUE CLOUDS
Pat Swanson

Cookies
2 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
3/4 cup sugar
2/3 cup shortening
2 egg yolks
1/4 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
4-5 drops red food coloring

Meringue
2 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chocolate chips
1 cup peppermint candy

Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add 3/4 cup sugar gradually to shortening, creaming well. Blend in unbeaten egg yolks, milk, vanilla and food coloring (if desired). Add dry ingredients and blend.

To make meringue, beat egg whites with salt until soft peaks form. Gradually add 1/2 cup sugar and continue beating until it stands in stiff, glossy peaks. Fold in vanilla, chocolate chips and coarsely crushed peppermint candy.

To make cookies, shape dough in balls, using rounded teaspoons for each cookie. Place on ungreased (or parchment lined) cookie sheets and flatten to about 1/4 inch thickness (use bottom of glass covered with damp cloth).

Top each cookie with rounded teaspoon of meringue. Bake at 325 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Makes 3 1/2 dozen.

You know, my aunt makes these treats all of the time and I still haven't tasted one. Everyone says they are delicious:

CARAMEL MALLOWS
Kari Torkelson

24 large marshmallows
28 caramels
2 tablespoons water
Crispy rice cereal (if desired)

Put marshmallows on cookie sheet and freeze. Melt caramels with water. Dip frozen marshmallows in caramel to coat. Roll in crushed crispy rice cereal, if desired, or eat as is.

This is always a good treat to tuck into those baskets you bring to people at holiday time. Fix big bags because everyone wants "More, More!" If you like, mix in some nuts for a special treat:

CARAMEL CORN
Susanne M. Johnson and Kathy Alberg

24 cups popped corn
1 cup margarine or butter
2 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup white corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons soda

Mix butter, brown sugar, syrup and salt. Bring mixture to 245 degrees on candy thermometer and cook 5 minutes. Add soda and pour on popped corn. Place in large roaster-type pan and bake for 1 hour at 200 degrees. Break into pieces when cool.

It was hard to pick just one rolled cookie, but I chose this one. These are the ones you can roll and sugar or frost. These sound really good, and I think I need to make them tonight. They are the old-fashioned type of "Christmas cookie" that Grandma made every year:

PAT'S SUGAR COOKIES
Pat Feuerstein

1 1/2 cups powdered sugar, sifted
1 cup butter
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond flavoring
2 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cream of tartar

Cream sugar and butter. Mix in egg and flavorings. Measure flour by dip-level-pour method or by sifting. Blend dry ingredients together and stir into butter mixture. Refrigerate 2-3 hours.

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Divide dough in half. Roll out on lightly floured board (pastry cloth is what is suggested, but I don't have one of those) to 3/16 inch thick. Cut with cookie cutter. Sprinkle with sugar and place on lightly greased (or parchment lined) cookie sheet. Bake 7-8 minutes until delicately golden. Makes 5 dozen cookies.

One more delicious bar, naturally, from that good cook Judy Mostrom, who has the best bread recipes ever in the St. Pauli book. I've made these bars for years and everyone loves them. Cut them small because everybody will be after seconds and thirds:

MARSHMALLOW GRAHAM BARS
Judy Mostrom

2 beaten eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
15 crushed graham crackers
1/2 cup walnuts or pecans
1/2 cup coconut
2 1/2 cups miniature marshmallows

Cook eggs, sugar and butter on stove or in micro until boiling. Cool and add vanilla, crushed graham crackers, nuts, coconut and marshmallows. Stir well and press into greased 9x13 inch pan (line pan with foil to pull out and remove easily. Store in fridge.

NCTC offers farm transition workshop

Northland Community and Technical College Farm Business Management has joined with the University of Minnesota Extension Service to present "Farm Transition & Estate Planning: Build Your Exit Strategy" on Tuesday, Jan. 8. This full-day workshop is filled with practical information and strategies to help farm families begin the process of transferring the farm business to the next generation.

The workshop begins at 9 a.m. in room 201 at NCTC's Thief River Falls campus. The workshop is free, but space is limited.

In "Farm Transition & Estate Planning: Build Your Exit Strategy," participants get a greater understanding of transfer strategies and tax issues related to the transfer process, and discuss methods for treatment of heirs in the transfer process, as well as how to go about developing a written transfer plan. As part of the workshop, participants will be given time to complete worksheets related to the application of different transfer strategies. They will also list personal, family, and farm business goals. The result is the beginning of a farm business transfer plan.

Estate planning is a crucial part of the transition process as well. The workshop also includes a discussion of wills and trusts, life insurance, power-of-attorney, long-term health care issues and more. This information will help to complete the transfer plan.

To pre-register for the workshop, contact Greg at (218) 681-0801 or e-mail greg.dvergsten@northlandcollege.edu prior to Friday, Jan. 4.

The workshop is sponsored by NCTC FBM, American State Bank of Grygla, Northern State Bank of Thief River Falls, Border State Bank of Thief River Falls, Wells Fargo of Thief River Falls and Security State Bank of Oklee in cooperation with the University of Minnesota Extension Service.

Individuals with a disability who need a reasonable accommodation to participate in this event should contact Dean Dalen at (218) 681-0835 or 1-800-959-6282, or TTY (218) 681-0990 at the Thief River Falls campus.

"Staying Resilient" session set for January 3

Change is everywhere today. Major change is occurring in almost every aspect of people's personal and work lives. People often feel overwhelmed because they feel like what they always depended upon to be true, no longer is.

Marshall County Extension Home Study Groups invite the public to join them for their leader training for "Staying Resilient in Times of Change." The session will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 3 in the basement meeting room at the Marshall County Courthouse in Warren. Participants will have the opportunity to assess their own abilities for dealing with change and discuss strategies that are helpful for various circumstances.

"Fun in the Kitchen" session set for Jan. 7

Making bread in a bag? Making an omelet in a bag? Have you heard of such a thing?

Join Marshall County Extension Home Study Group members as they learn how this can be done Monday, Jan. 7 at 9 a.m. at Nazareth Lutheran Church in Holt. They will also share ideas for seasoning mixes, homemade salad dressings and more.

Pre-registration is required for this "Fun in the Kitchen" session. To register, call the Extension Office in Warren at 1-800-745-5232 by Jan. 2. Participants will need to bring a bread loaf pan and $2 to cover the cost of supplies. Everyone will go home with a loaf of bread to bake and will have the chance to prepare an omelet on site.

Wallin named to Art Institutes' dean's list

Warroad resident Jennilee Wallin, has been placed on the dean's list for work in the graphic design program during the 2007 summer quarter at The Art Institutes International Minnesota, a creative design and culinary arts college located in downtown Minneapolis.

Students appearing on the honors lists for The Art Institutes International Minnesota must complete 12 credits or more and meet the following corresponding designation: 4.0 GPA, president's list; 3.7 - 3.9 GPA, dean's list; and 3.5 - 3.6 GPA, honor's list.

Feragen graduates from basic training

Army National Guard Pfc. Michael L. Feragen has graduated from basic combat training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

During the nine weeks of training, the soldier studied the Army mission, history, tradition and core values, physical fitness, and received instruction and practice in basic combat skills, military weapons, chemical warfare and bayonet training, drill and ceremony, marching, rifle marksmanship, armed and unarmed combat, map reading, field tactics, military courtesy, military justice system, basic first aid, foot marches, and field training exercises.

He is the son of Connie Feragen of Warroad. Feragen is a 2001 graduate of Warroad High School.

Warroad man returns from deployment

Air Force Airman First Class Jerry L. Sysourath has returned to the U.S. after a deployment in support of Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom.

Operation Iraqi Freedom is the official name given to military operations involving members of the U.S. Armed Forces and coalition forces participating in efforts to free and secure Iraq. Mission objectives focus on force protection, peacekeeping, stabilization, security and counter-insurgency operations as the Iraqi transitional governing bodies assume full sovereign powers to govern the peoples of Iraq.

Members from all branches of the U.S. military and multinational forces are also assisting in rebuilding Iraq's economic and governmental infrastructure, and training and preparing Iraqi military and security forces to assume full authority and responsibility in defending and preserving Iraq's sovereignty and independence as a democracy.

Sysourath, an aerospace propulsion journeyman with two years of military service, is assigned to the 43rd Maintenance Squadron, Pope Air Force Base, Fayetteville, N.C.

He is the son of Mee Sysourath of Warroad. The airman is a 2005 graduate of Warroad High School.

New American Bible Saint Joseph Edition Luke 2:1-20

In those days Caesar Augustus published a decree ordering a census of the whole world. This first census took place while Quirinius was governor of Syria. Everyone went to register, each to his own town. And so Joseph went from the town of Nazareth in Galilee to Judea, to David's town of Bethlehem - because he was of the house and lineage of David - to register with Mary, his espoused wife, who was with child.

While they were there the days of her confinement were completed. She gave birth to her first born son and wrapped him in swaddling clothes and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the place where travelers lodged.

There were shepherds in that region, living in the fields and keeping night watch by turns over their flocks. The angel of the Lord appeared to them as the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were very much afraid. The angel said to them: "you have nothing to fear! I come to proclaim good news to you - tidings of great joy to be shared by the whole people. This day in David's city a savior has been born to you, the Messiah and Lord. Let this be a sign to you: in a manger you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes."

Suddenly, there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God and saying:

"Glory to God in high heaven, peace on earth to those on whom his favor rests."

When the angels had returned to heaven, the shepherds said to one another: "Let us go over to Bethlehem and see this event, which the Lord has made known to us."

They went in haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the baby lying in the manger; once they saw, they understood what had been told them concerning this child. All who heard of it were astonished at the report given them by the shepherds.

Mary treasured all these things and reflected on them in her heart. The shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen, in accord with what had been told them.

Shop at local stores

As we're so often reminded - 'tis the season to shop. Not much time remains until Christmas. This year, instead of driving a couple of hours on slippery roads, take the rush and crush out of holiday shopping and shop locally.

There are other benefits to shopping locally, as our local Chamber of Commerce reminds us. Locally owned businesses return about 80 percent of each dollar spent back to the community; and every dollar spent at a locally owned business will return five times that amount within the community through taxes, wages, purchases and supplies.

Residents frequently receive the best service in their own community rather than at a store in a community where they're just another customer. Remember where you went the last time something broke - to a local repair shop or retail outlet, where they know you and where they are willing to help. Why not shop where you get service, too?

And, where did you go the last time your organization was seeking donations for hockey, band, baseball or the myriad of other activities in this community? You went to the local merchant, not to a merchant in a distant city.

The next time you go shopping, shop local first.

IT PAYS TO SHOP Close To Home!

Three NCTC students win poster contest

Architectural Design Instructor Ranona Noyes' Photoshop 1 class at Northland Community and Technical College recently designed posters for the Nursing Education Building located on the White Earth Reservation in Mahnomen. Three students were recognized for their poster designs: Val Mattison of Thief River Falls, Ben Dahl of Plummer and Christine Knutson of Warren.

Sue Field, director of associate's degree nursing at NCTC, was in need of artwork for the walls at the new Nursing Education Building, which opened in spring 2007. She asked Noyes if her class would be interested in entering a competition to develop a poster that portrayed the Anishinaabe values of the American Indian culture that is currently incorporated into the White Earth Reservation nursing program. These values include humility, truth, courage, honesty, respect, love and wisdom. Each one of the values has an Ojibwe name and also an animal that correlates to each value.

"The students researched the Native American culture and came up with exceptional work," said Field. "In fact, they were all so excellent that we ended up with three first place poster winners. They are beautiful."

Field added, "We will be hanging the three posters at our Mahnomen Nursing Education Building. We also had one of the posters duplicated with each of the seven values displayed on individual posters. We will end up bringing 10 posters down to the Nursing Education Building. We also plan to have the students design additional posters for our Nursing Department, located on the Thief River Falls campus, in the spring since they turned out so wonderful."

Minnesota state agencies seek visual art and literary work for Fifth Annual Art of Recovery

Minnesotans who have been victims of crime, and use art to express that experience are invited to submit entries to be considered for Art of Recovery, an art exhibition to be held April 11 to June 30, 2008. The exhibition, cosponsored by the Minnesota Department of Public Safety Office of Justice Programs and Minnesota State Arts Board, will be displayed at the Arts Board gallery. It will commemorate National Crime Victim Rights Week, April 13 to 19, and will be a part of the spring Saint Paul Art Crawl on April 25 to 27.

Any Minnesotan who has been a victim of crime and has expressed their experiences through artistic media is invited to submit work. Submissions may include literature (poetry, short stories, or essays) or visual arts (drawing, printmaking, painting, watercolor, sculpture, ceramics, pottery, fabric and apparel, photographs, video or mixed media). Individuals who have participated in previous Art of Recovery exhibits may enter. However, work previously shown or presented in Art of Recovery exhibitions will not be accepted.

The complete call for entries is available online at www.arts.state.mn.us.

Persons interested should submit six to nine slides or photographs of their work and an artist's statement not to exceed 500 words. The statement should address how the submission(s) reflect the artist's experience and/or recovery from a crime. Entries should be received by the Arts Board no later than 4:30 p.m. on Friday, January 18, 2008. Send submissions to:

Art of Recovery
c/o Minnesota State Arts Board
Park Square Court, Suite 200
400 Sibley Street
Saint Paul, MN 55101-1928

Artwork selected for the exhibition must be delivered to the Arts Board in finished form, ready for display. Individuals who live in the seven-county metropolitan area will be responsible for dropping off artwork at the Arts Board office and retrieving it following the exhibit. Individuals outside the seven-county metropolitan area will be responsible for sending or shipping their artwork to the Arts Board. Artwork will be returned, postage-paid, by the Minnesota State Arts Board.

Questions about the exhibit or how to submit work may be directed to Alicia Nichols, Minnesota Department of Public Safety Office of Justice Programs, at 1-888-622-8799, TTY 651-205-4827, or alicia.nichols@state.mn.us; or Sue Gens, Minnesota State Arts Board, 1-800-866-2787 or sue.gens@arts.state.mn.us.

The DPS OJP provides leadership and resources to reduce crime in Minnesota, improve the functioning of the criminal justice system and assist crime victims.

The MSAB is a state agency dedicated to ensuring that all Minnesotans have the opportunity to participate in the arts. It provides financial support and services for artists, organizations, and arts education activities throughout the state.

No injuries reported after accident on Highway 11

No injuries were reported after a two-vehicle accident Dec. 15 on Highway 11, two-and-half blocks west of Highway 310, in Roseau.

At the time of the accident, Patricia A. Sattler, 59, East Grand Forks, was driving a 2005 Dodge Caravan. She was stopped on the frontage road entering Highway 11 and was facing south. According to the Minnesota State Patrol report, vehicles were stopped in the right-turn lane to get onto the frontage road and obstructed Sattler's view. The report indicated that Sattler drove onto Highway 11 to be able to see and then pulled into the path of a 2008 Chevy Cobalt driven by Tyson J. Gravelle, 22, Roseau. Gravelle was westbound on Highway 11.

The vehicles collided. Both drivers were wearing their seat belts. Both vehicles sustained moderate damage. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 11:34 a.m. Dec. 15.

19th Annual Roseau Christmas Bird Count planned for Dec. 29

The 19th Annual Roseau Christmas Bird Count is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 29. This local count is part of the 108th National Audubon Society Annual Christmas Bird Count – covering much of the Western Hemisphere from Alaska to Brazil.

Roseau's CBC will begin with a 7 a.m. organizational meeting at the Roseau Diner, Highway 11 West. The survey area is a 15-mile-diameter circle (approximately 177 square miles), centered on Highway 310, just north of the Roseau County Fairgrounds. This area's geographic and vegetative diversity provides habitat for many bird species, including some very unique ones.

Interested persons are invited to drive, walk or ski within the CBC circle; report local birding hot spots; or make observations in their neighborhoods, during all or any part of Count Day. Participants need not be expert birders.

Birders will regroup at the Roseau Diner for noon lunch (and brag time about sightings). At sunset, birders will gather at the Betty and Bud Johnson home, two miles north of Roseau, for a potluck supper and tally of the day's count.

Anyone sighting birds within the Count Circle on December 29, or anytime during Count Week (Dec. 26 through Jan. 1), may call the Johnson home, (218) 463-2181, to report their observations.

Other area Christmas Bird Counts have been scheduled between Dec. 14 and Jan. 5, in Crookston, Warren, Grand Forks, N.D., Baudette, and Beltrami Island Forest.

For more information, call the Johnsons at 218-463-2181.

MINNESOTA POLLUTION CONTROL AGENCY
PUBLIC NOTICE ON DRAFT/PROPOSED
AIR EMISSION FACILITY PERMIT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Commissioner of the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) proposes to issue Air Emission Permit No. 11300014-005, to Arctic Cat Inc., for their facility located at 601 Brooks Avenue South, Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota.

The permit action is for modification and operation of the facility. The permit action is a major amendment, therefore, the draft/proposed permit has been placed on public notice. The MPCA is seeking the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) concurrent review of this draft/proposed permit and the EPA's 45-day review period will begin with the 30-day public review period.

Arctic Cat is proposing to install and operate a liquid spray paint process that includes an oven and four spray booths at the existing facility.

A summary of the Potential to Emit (PTE) in tons per year is as follows:

Pollutant	PM	PM_{10}	NO_x	VOCs	CO	Lead	HAP	HAPs
Limited PTE from new emission units	240.0	240.0	None	240.0	None	None	9.0	23.0
Total Facility PTE	240.0	240.0	240.0	240.0	240.0	0.0	9.0	23.0

PM = Particulate Matter; PM_{10} = PM smaller than 10 microns
NO_x = Nitrogen Oxides; VOCs = Volatile Organic Compounds
CO = Carbon Monoxide; HAP = Hazardous Air Pollutant
Note: Sulfur Dioxide emissions from operations at the facility are minimal and not shown

The Permittee is not required to file a pollution prevention progress report pursuant to Minn. Stat. § 115D.08.

The preliminary determination to issue the air emission permit is tentative. There are four formal procedures for public participation in the MPCA's consideration of the permit application. Interested persons may (1) submit written comments on the proposed permit; (2) request that the MPCA hold a public information meeting; (3) request the MPCA hold a contested case hearing; and/or (4) submit a petition to the Commissioner requesting that the MPCA Board consider the permit matter.

The decision whether to issue the permit and, if so, under what terms, will be presented to the MPCA Board for decision if: (1) the Commissioner grants the petition requesting the matter be presented to the MPCA Board, (2) an MPCA Board member requests to hear the matter prior to the time the Commissioner makes a final decision on the permit; or (3) a request for a contested case hearing is pending. Otherwise, the Commissioner will make the decision.

Persons who submit comments or petitions to the MPCA must state (1) their interest in the permit application or the draft permit; (2) the action they wish the MPCA to take, including specific references to the section of the draft permit they believe should be changed; and (3) the reasons supporting their position, stated with sufficient specificity as to allow the MPCA to investigate the merits of the position.

As described in Minn. R. 7000.1800, persons who submit requests for a contested case hearing must also state the issues they propose to address in a contested case hearing, the specific relief requested or resolution of the matter, and the reasons (which may be in the form of proposed findings) supporting an MPCA decision to hold a contested case hearing. Failure to comply with these rules exactly may result in a denial of the request. The decision whether to hold a contested case hearing will be made under Minn. R. 7000.1900. Most public libraries throughout the state have copies of the current Minnesota Rules. They are also available on the Internet at www.revisor.leg.state.mn.us.

The public comment period commences December 23, 2007, and terminates January 22, 2008. Comments must be received in writing at the MPCA by 4:30 p.m. on January 22, 2008. Evidence of timely receipt includes a date/time stamp imprinted on the first page of the written comments by the first floor information and reception area of the MPCA or by the Industrial Division support staff, or receipt by fax.

Comments, requests and petitions should be sent to:

Dyrdahl wins Gonvick 100 presented by Ski-Doo

Bagley racer Bryan Dyrdahl won the FXR Pro 600 class at the United States Cross-Country (USCC) circuit's Gonvick 100 in Gonvick. Dyrdahl rode his Ski-Doo to a field-best time of 1 hour, two minutes, 38 seconds. Gabe Bunke of Moorhead, rode his Polaris to second place in a time of 1 hour, 4 minutes, 15 seconds. Third place went to Polaris rider Eric Gausen of Warroad, in a time of 1 hour, 4 minutes, 22 seconds.

The Gonvick 100 was the first race of the USCC circuit's nine-race schedule. The race course was a 15-mile lap. The lap consisted of 11.5 miles of ditch, two miles of hay field and 1.5 miles of racing on a frozen lake.

Race results are as follows:

Marvin Windows employees work toward weight loss

Nearly 800 Marvin Window and Doors employees – more than a quarter of the company's Minnesota workforce – took part in a unique, health-building contest at its Warroad and Eagan facilities. Modeled after popular weight-loss television shows, Marvin employees worked in teams to lose weight sensibly and build more healthful lifestyles over a three-month period. The contest is part of the company's commitment to making Minnesota the "Fittest State in the Nation."

The program, which began in September, resulted in a cumulative weight loss of more than 7,700 pounds, or about 10 pounds per participant. Ninety-six teams weighed in monthly as part of the program, which culminated in a final weigh-in on Dec. 14. Teams losing the largest percentage of weight each month earned small incentives.

The weight-loss contest is part of Marvin's overall employee wellness strategy, called "Health Around You." Run by a team of employee volunteers called the "Health Builders," Health Around You takes a holistic approach to wellness. Employees are encouraged to eat healthfully, exercise more and make thoughtful choices about lifestyle decisions that affect their health. As part of each weigh-in, the teams heard from health experts who offered tips and helped motivate employees.

Inspired by its involvement with initiatives such as the Fittest State in the Nation, Marvin Windows and Doors supports health and wellness programs like the employee weight-loss contest because healthy employees are more likely to be happy and productive.

"Helping our employees become fit and healthy is the right thing to do, not only for our business, but for our employees' overall lives," says Susan Marvin, president of Marvin Windows and Doors.

Fittest State in the Nation is a statewide initiative initiated by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Minnesota, and led by Minnesota business and policy leaders to improve the health of all Minnesotans by supporting and creating science-based programs that promote increased physical activity and healthy eating. Making Minnesota the fittest state in the nation will reduce cancer deaths, cardiovascular disease, diabetes and other costly chronic diseases.

Marvin's Health Around You weight-loss initiative is only one aspect of the company's ongoing commitment to employee wellness. Additional wellness programs will begin in the weeks and months to come. The high-level of participation in the weight-loss program demonstrates tremendous potential for success of Marvin's wellness goals.

"My participation in the 'Health Around You' program is not about a short-term commitment" said Carla Roberts, Marvin employee and program participant. "It's about making long-term, healthy lifestyle decisions."

Home for Christmas

Christmas creates a need to be home. People need home during the holidays to connect with their family as well as themselves because these two things are closely tied together. I think home means not only where you were raised, but what's really important in your life. My wife always tells me to simplify; life, relationships and priorities all benefit from simplification and clear your path to a way home.

I have been buzzing the last few weeks. I stay busy with our home, work, cattle, writing and an endless list of hobbies, such as vintage snowmobiles, guns, microbrew beer and pretty much anything old. I think I lead a fun life, but after a bit, the enjoyment turns to almost a distraction, too. This week, our cat Laine had to go to the veterinarian to be spayed. Wednesday morning was tense for Lisa and I and we both worried about our little cat. Thursday morning, I picked Laine up to bring her home. Laine is very quiet, but this morning, she was lonely and scared and meowed a great deal. I could reach a finger through her cage and rub her chin which made her settle down into her pillow. At the moment when I reached out and gave comfort, all the other busyness in life slipped away and I knew what was important; I was home in my heart.

This summer, we took a trip with friends out to Idaho. I rarely leave home overnight, but this trip was so good and so different that I truly enjoyed myself. I carried only good memories on our trip home, but the pull was so intense that I was very much like a horse who sees its barn. Montana is the wild west when it comes to speed limit and I took advantage of every bit of that freedom. We arrived home a full day ahead of schedule, which shows that no matter how good things are, I will always crave the place where my memories and my emotions live; I was home, literally.

At Christmas, it seems people derail themselves. They find depression instead of comfort, and anxiety instead of peace. Today, the focus of Christmas is the perfect gift, the perfect meal, the perfect party or even where it all takes place. Christmas occurred in a manger and if we focus on the simple event that started this holiday and relegate its contrived traditions to second place, then the only thing we'll lose is the depression and anxiety. The traditions are fine because they tend to bring people together, but they should be the means and not the end.

Maybe the most complicated thing about Christmas is to remember that it's not complicated; don't focus on the external traditions of Christmas, but rather use them as a tool to gather your family for sincere celebration. The road to what is most important during the holidays, or in life, has no forks or off ramps; simply follow your nose (and your heart) and you'll soon be home for Christmas.

multipurpose hangar
- Land acquisition
- Expansion of the air cargo aircraft parking apron
- Rehabilitation of the airport terminal at its current location. Westlund said the building is sized properly, but it is fairly old.

The short-term plans include changing the signs for Runway 3/21 (the crosswind runway) to Runway 4/22. An environmental assessment is also planned due to the future changes at the airport.

Under the airport master plan, the short-term development and related items are estimated to cost $31,068,000. That amount includes federal, state, local and third-party funding. Local funding is estimated to be $1,556,000 of that amount.

Intermediate-term development (six to 10 years)

- Expansion of the airport maintenance/snow removal equipment/rescue and firefighting building
- Construction of an airport perimeter road for security purposes
- A residence relocation
- Additional T-hangars

The intermediate-term plans also include National Environmental Policy Act documentation, as well as updates to the airport layout and master plans. Those plans will have to be updated to show changes that have occurred at the airport.

The intermediate-term development and related items are estimated to cost $2,806,000. That estimate includes federal, state, local and third-party funding. Local funding is estimated to be $524,000.

Long-term development (beyond 10 years)

- A 1,500-foot extension of Runway 31
- Land acquisition
- Relocation of Pennington County State Aid Highway 17
- An air cargo aircraft parking apron
- An air cargo package sorting facility
- A general aviation aircraft parking apron
- Conventional/corporate hangars
- Expansion of the Fixed Base Operator facility

Ulteig Engineers and RS&H held a public workshop about the airport master plan following the council meeting Tuesday.

On Thursday, officials from nine local cities, including Thief River Falls, discussed their six-year Airport Capital Improvement Plans with Mn/DOT. The city of Thief River Falls approved its 2009-14 Airport CIP at the council meeting Tuesday. That plan includes three items in State/Federal Fiscal Year 2009 – changing the signs for Runway 3/21 to Runway 4/22, an environmental assessment, and land acquisition.

ran out of the building because the student didn't think there was anywhere left to hide in a classroom. The student was then locked out of the building.

In addition to the drill, the school and the response teams had a tabletop session going through various scenarios related to the lockdown drill. Those scenarios included what would happen if the intruder had a weapon and what would happen if the intruder came into the building through a particular door.

The groups participated in a tabletop tornado drill as well. Goodridge Fire Chief Dale Hanson said they talked about what would happen if a tornado struck the school. Hanson said they discussed such things as how to cordon off the school, setting up triage, how long it would take law enforcement and the ambulance service to get to the school, where the kids would go, and how the groups would get information to the kids' parents.

Each school year, the school district is required to complete five fire drills and five lockdown drills, Lutz said. By state law, it is also required to complete one tornado drill each school year.

"We try to keep [the drills] as low key as possible," said Lutz, who noted the school doesn't want to create more harm than good.

Who's your secret Santa?

by Bethany Economos
High School Intern

During all the chaos of Christmas, it is sometimes hard to get presents for everyone. This is where 'Secret Santas' come in. 'Secret Santas' come in handy during parties or when the 'Santa' has a large family and can't afford to buy gifts for everyone.

Some classes at the high school, the high school staff, along with many workplaces in town are taking part in this tradition.

There are many different variations of Secret Santa. The typical Secret Santa is to put the names of all of the participating members onto a piece of paper, and then each of the names will be put into a hat. Each person will then pick a piece of paper from the hat. Each person can also include a short wishlist of things that the Secret Santa can get them, but the participants are given a limit on how much they can spend. To make everything fair, all of the gifts have to cost roughly the same amount. Then the gifts are exchanged anonymously, so that the identity of the Secret Santa remains a mystery.

Another form of Secret Santa is to give gifts over a period of days. The gifts can be homemade so that they do not cost too much. They can be placed on the participant's desk or there can be a place that is specified where the Secret Santa will place the gift. After a week or so of suspense, the Secret Santa can give one last gift along with something that will reveal their identity.

Another variation of Secret Santa is the Thieving Secret Santa, or the Yankee Swap. According to Wikipedia, in the Yankee Swap participants "bring one gift each which is potentially suitable or interesting to any of the other participants." The gifts are placed in the middle of the room, and the first participant takes a gift and unwraps it. The next participant can either steal a previously opened gift or take one from the center. If they take the first person's gift, then the first person has to pick a new one. This goes on until all of the gifts are picked.

Connie Stock's Creative Writing/Literary Arts class recently participated in a Secret Santa gift exchange. Each student had a limit of $10. The students drew names from a hat and brought gifts throughout the week for the person who's name they received. On Thursday the 20th during class, the students got to guess who their Secret Santa was based on what they got as a gift. Some people got chocolates, teddy bears, and even coloring books. Only a couple of people could guess who their Secret Santa was. Many of the gifts were perfect for the person who got it. It was a fun thing for the class to take part in, and a great way to celebrate the upcoming Christmas Break.

While this was happening, the teachers were also involved in a Secret Santa gift exchange. Some teachers tried to guess who their Secret Santa was throughout the week, but changed their guess with every gift they received. Eventually, they too found out who their Secret Santa was, with a few surprises.

The fun part of Secret Santa gift exchanges is the suspense and secrecy. No one knows who their Secret Santa is, and they want to keep who they are getting presents for a secret. All over town, there are Secret Santa exchanges going on; a tradition that doesn't seem to be ending any time soon.

Disaster assistance extension included in omnibus bill

Congress passed the fiscal year (FY) 2008 omnibus appropriations bill, which includes an extension of the eligibility date for disaster assistance, from Feb. 28, 2007 through Dec. 31, 2007.

"Disasters occur throughout the year, and farmers never know when Mother Nature is going to strike," said Doug Peterson, Minnesota Farmers Union President. "This extension will help farmers throughout Minnesota, and the rest of the country, and I commend Congress for passing it as part of the fiscal year 2008 omnibus appropriations bill."

Earlier this year, Congress approved an emergency agricultural disaster package as part of the FY2007 Emergency Supplemental Appropriations bill. The eligibility cut-off date was Feb. 28, 2007. However, disasters occur throughout the year. A severe snow storm in March, and a recent ice storm across the mid-section of the country are just a couple disasters that have economically devastated many producers.

The recently passed Senate farm bill includes a fully funded standing disaster assistance program. A permanent disaster assistance program is a top priority for Minnesota Farmers Union.

The Prowlers' Stephen Bates swam the 200-yard freestyle during Thief River Falls' Tuesday boys high school swim meet against Perham at the Franklin Middle School pool. The Prowlers won 97-73.

Prowlers snap string of 30 straight dual meet losses...

TRF swimmers end streak

Members of the Thief River Falls boys high school swim team had a little extra bounce in their step Tuesday when they left the Franklin Middle School pool with a 97-73 dual meet win over Perham.

There was reason to celebrate. It was the Prowlers' first victory since the 2003-04 season, snapping a string of 30 straight dual meet losses.

The Prowlers finished 1-8 in 2003-04, losing their final seven starts. They were 0-7, 0-8 and 0-7 over the next three years. The 2007-08 dual meet schedule opened last week with a 114-55 setback at the hands of Bemidji.

Thief River Falls first place finishes came from Brian Kays, 200-yard individual medley; Cody Reese, 50 freestyle; Kenton Johnson, 100 backstroke; and the 200 freestyle relay team of Kays, Ryan Olson, Tyler Olson and Reese.

"The kids were very excited," said Todd Haase, who is the Prowlers' co-head coach with Jill Buck. "The kids on this team have never seen a win. They were absolutely giddy."

The win was particularly gratifying for Kays, the lone senior on the squad. "Brian said one of his goals this year was to finally win a meet," mentioned Haase.

Effort produced results, according to Haase. "The kids have been so positive," he said. "They work so hard in practice. They earned it."

There was just one glitch Tuesday: the computer used to record the results during the meet wasn't working. The final score was recorded, and Thief River Falls place finishers were added later. But Perham individual results were not available.

TRF Places

200 medley relay - 2. TRF (Brandon Widing, Ryan Olson, Anish Patel, Travis Carlson), 2:03.24; 3. TRF (Cody Wolter, Danny Molstad, Kenton Johnson, Eric Brateng), 2:12.06.

Pirates pick up win over TRF

■ Crookston girls skate past Prowlers 4-1

Thirty-seven saves by Thief River Falls goalie Jade Gothberg kept it close, but the Prowlers didn't have the firepower to stay with defending Section 8A champion Crookston Tuesday, losing a 4-1 girls high school hockey match-up at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

"They (Pirates) are a good team," said Thief River Falls coach Corey Poole. "I thought Jade played well tonight. She kept us in it."

In a section where Crookston, Roseau and Warroad are all state-ranked powers, the youthful Prowlers are trying to elevate their game to skate with the leaders. A month ago, Thief River Falls lost a 7-1 game at Crookston.

"I'd like to think we're closing the gap on the power-house teams," said Poole. "It's a tough section. But I think we're starting to do the little things better, and that will make us a better hockey team down the road."

The Pirates turned a 1-0 first period edge into a 3-0 second period advantage. Gothberg was at her best with a half-dozen highlight-film saves in the third period when the Prowlers were out-shot 18-1.

"Jade is playing with more confidence in her game," offered Poole. "We were out of gas at the end. We play two, two-and-a-half lines and we get tired."

Merlee Wheelhouse slipped through the middle to score on an uncontested backhand at 7:19 of the first period and Tayler Brockemeier jumped on a loose puck in front of Gothberg for a 2-0 game at 4:44 of the second period.

Sophie Lien scored off a scramble at 7:05 before Thief River Falls' Ashley Myklebust pushed the puck across the goal line at 13:25 to make it a 3-1 game at the second intermission.

Continued third period pressure on Gothberg finally resulted in a fourth goal when Lien scored for a second time by putting a clean wrist

It was a one-on-one situation as Crookston forward Marlee Wheelhouse (12) carried the puck through the neutral zone against Thief River Falls defenseman Molly Peterson during Tuesday's Section 8A girls high school hockey game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena. The Pirates beat the Prowlers 4-1.

Prowlers get past Park Rapids girls

It wasn't particularly well-played, but it was nevertheless a win, and for that Thief River Falls girls high school basketball coach Jeff Loe was thankful. The Prowlers may not have been at their best Tuesday, but they were good enough to beat visiting Park Rapids Area 61-48.

"One of those games where we were happy to get the win, but not real happy with the performance," said Loe. "We had too many unforced turnovers and missed too many shots in the paint. But we'll take the 'w'."

Thief River Falls led 36-22 at halftime, enough of an advantage to beat the Panthers, who out-scored them 26-25 in the second half.

Brittany Wiseth had a 13-point, 20-rebound double-double for the winners. Chelsea Sorteberg contributed 12 points. Hannah Wolff and Heather Trethbar led the Panthers with 17 and 11 points, respectively.

Thief River Falls was 24-for-62 from the field (39 percent) and 13-for-17 at the free throw line. Park Rapids Area went 16-for-69 from the floor (23 percent) and 14-for-22 at the line.

Behind Wiseth, the Prowlers out-rebounded the Panthers 50-31.

Thief River Falls improved to 5-2 with the win.

Ninth grade win by 54-18

All ten girls on the roster put their names in the scoring column Tuesday as the Thief River Falls ninth grade girls basketball team posted a 54-18 win over Park Rapids Area.

Crookston forward Tayler Brockemeier (23) shot the puck over Thief River Falls goalie Jade Gothberg and into the back of the net for the Pirates' second goal in Tuesday's girls high school hockey match-up.

Warroad 5-2 winner over Thief River Falls

Limited to just 10 shots on goal, Thief River Falls handed over a 5-2 Section 8A boys high school hockey decision to Warroad Tuesday at The Gardens.

It was the seventh loss in eight starts for the Prowlers who saw a 1-1 first period tie turn into a 3-1 second period deficit.

"We played average," reported Thief River Falls coach Tim Bergland. "We didn't generate many chances. I know we're young, but we've got to find a way to come up with an offense."

Brock Nelson scored a pair of goals, while Bryce Ravndalen, Tyler Larson, John Helquist had one each for the winners.

Matt Lindquist scored in the first period and Matt Audette had a second period goal for the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls goalie Zane Gothberg stopped 27 Warroad shots.

The Prowlers will be idle until hosting the Dec. 27-29 REA Classic.

Scoring

First period - Warroad, Brock Nelson (Eric Milbridge), 1:35; TRF, Matt Lindquist (Derek Kayser), 14:54

Second period - Bryce Ravndalen (Dane Shaugabay, Tyler Larson) :18; Warroad Larson (Ravndalen), 15:15

Third period - Warroad, John Helquist (Andy Pelland), 9:29; TRF, Matt Audette (Lucas Dillon, Aaron Langan), 11:27; Warroad, Nelson, 13:23

Butterfly leg of Thief River Falls' 200-yard medley relay team was handled by Anish Patel as the Prowlers took on Perham in a Tuesday boys high school swim duel.

Slow start costly to MCC in 44-40 loss to Warroad

Marshall County Central tried to rebound from a 24-14 intermission deficit, but the second half comeback fell short in a 44-40 Tuesday boys high school basketball loss to Warroad at Newfolden.

"Warroad is pretty athletic and tall," pointed out Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "We usually have the size advantage. This was the first time we faced an opponent who was bigger than we are in the middle. Our post people had hard time adjusting."

John Johnson and Matt Adams led the winners with 13 and 10 points, respectively. The Nordics got a game-high 24 points from Evan Maki.

Marshall County Central shot 37 percent from the field (14/39) and had a 5-for-10 free throw game. Warroad shot 41 percent from the floor (16/39) and went 9-for-10 at the line.

It was a 30-27 Marshall County Central rebound edge. Warroad topped the turnover figures 25-21.

The Nordics are 1-2.

Rebels knock off Eagles 80-70

Red Lake County built a 46-31 halftime lead and went on to out-score Grygla-Gatzke 80-70 Tuesday in boys high school basketball.

Three consecutive 3-point baskets by Steve Morinville turned a small Red Lake County edge into a double-figure spread in the final five minutes of the opening half, forcing the host Eagles to play catch-up ball the rest of the night.

The Rebels' balanced offense featured Jeff Weiss with 21 points, Morinville 16, Ian Mercil 14 and Brett Gerardy 11.

Bret Johnson, a 5-11 sophomore, had a 34-point night for the short-handed Eagles. Delray Cullen, a 5-11 junior, completed a double-double with 13 points and 12 rebounds.

"Bret had a nice game and Delray played very well," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson. "The kids did a nice job getting the ball to the open guy."

Red Lake County was 28-for-63 from the field (44 percent); Grygla-Gatzke went 20-for-70 (29 percent).

The two teams combined to shoot 79 free throws, with Grygla-Gatzke hitting 25 of 45 attempts and Red Lake County Central going 19-for-34. The 2-3 Eagles finished with a 40-27 rebound advantage. Turnovers were even at 21-apiece.

Northern Freeze has one-two punch

A one-two punch provided by Alisha Dahl and Kinzie Magner carried Northern Freeze past Roseau 78-37 Tuesday in a girls high school basketball game played at Karlstad.

It was a double-double for both Dahl, who had 28 points and 12 rebounds, and Magner, who finished with 21 points and 10 rebounds, as the winners snapped a brief two-game losing streak and improved to 5-3.

"It's nice to get back in the win column," said Northern Freeze coach Tom Mjelde.

Northern Freeze put together a 51 percent 31-for-61 shooting performance from the field and made 14 of 19 free throw attempts. It was a 34 percent 14-for-41 shooting night for the Rams, who were 8-for-10 at the line.

Roseau lost the rebound battle 42-19 and topped the turnover chart 24-15.

"We cut our turnovers down and our shooting percentage went up," pointed out Mjelde.

OPEN SUNDAYS

The Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society held its annual Santa Lucia Festival Saturday, Dec. 15, at First Lutheran Church in Karlstad. Lyndon Johnson of Hallock, dressed in authentic Swedish attire, played his mandolin.

Pastor Gary Halvorson (right) of First Lutheran Church in Karlstad read the English Christmas Gospel and Lyndon Johnson read the Swedish version at the annual Santa Lucia Festival, which was sponsored by the Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society. This event took place last Saturday, Dec. 15, at First Lutheran Church in Karlstad.

Warroad man dies after snowmobile accident

A Warroad man died after his snowmobile struck a car Dec. 14 in the city of Warroad.

Aaron Allen Robinson, 19, was transported to LifeCare Medical Center in Roseau, where he was later pronounced dead, according to the Warroad Police Department. The driver of the car, a 16-year-old Warroad girl, wasn't injured in the accident. A passenger in the girl's car suffered minor injuries. Police Chief Robert Cudaback declined to release the driver's name, stating that she is a juvenile and that the department doesn't yet know whether any criminal charges will be filed.

At the time of the accident, Robinson was driving a 2002 Polaris snowmobile north on Dale Avenue in Warroad and was heading toward the river. According to a press release from the police department, he failed to yield to oncoming traffic before crossing Hallberg Street. The snowmobile then collided with the passenger side of a 2005 Chevy Impala driven by the Warroad teen. The press release indicated that Robinson was wearing a helmet at the time of the accident.

The car sustained a considerable amount of damage, Cudaback said. The snowmobile was totalled.

The Warroad Police Department was dispatched to the scene at 10.08 p.m. Dec. 14. The accident remains under investigation pending medical results. The press release indicated that Robinson's speed appears to be a major contributing factor of the crash.

The Santa Lucia processional took place last Saturday, Dec. 15, at First Lutheran Church in Karlstad. This was the 21st Annual Santa Lucia Festival sponsored by the Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society. Kirsten Visness of Karlstad portrayed Santa Lucia. She was followed by attendants Lauran and Kalsey Johnson, both of Kennedy; and Marissa Stain of Karlstad.

BP8000 BALE PROCESSORS
Best way to turn round bales into feeding rows, reduce labor.
Best way to make sure ALL YOUR CATTLE get an equal opportunity at feeding time.
When you feed your cows in a different location each day, you can increase land productivity, reduce manure-handling problems and give your herd a cleaner, open range feeding environment. Plus, processed bales don't waste the energy of your cattle — energy that converts into producing better weight gains.
Vermeer
Stop in and see Cecil or Mark for all your equipment needs.
Cecil Mark
It's about ... Vermeer BP8000 Processors ... hay. Lots of hay ... consider the savings of just ... bales a week. (That's more than 150 bales a year) Now, ... that times your cost per bale, and you soon realize the savings in hay alone could pay for the processor in just a few short years.
...and time!
The Vermeer BP8000 Bale Processor processes a 2,000 lb. bale in less than two minutes, while carrying an extra bale on the forks.
BOTTOM LINE. You're feeding and bedding 4,000 lbs. of hay ... in minutes! And, in the winter months – especially during the critical calving season – that's the kind of performance you need to minimize mortality rates and protect your herd from frostbite.

Doug Anderson gets a special birthday gift

Little Falls - "Gov. Tim Pawlenty was at the Morrison County Government Center to wish Doug Anderson a happy birthday and to announce the appointment of the local attorney to the 7th Judicial District judgeship.

"Anderson was born in Hallock in the northwest corner of the state. He was raised on a grain farm near Kennedy, graduated from Kennedy High School and then went on to the University of Minnesota, Duluth, where he majored in political science and minored in English and history. He graduated from the school summa cum laude in 1972.

"With his bachelor's degree in hand, Anderson went on to the University of Minnesota Law School, where he earned his juris doctorate degree in 1975. Passing the bar exam later that year, he accepted a position, in October, with the Rosenmeier and Simonett Law Firm in Little Falls.

"Since that time, John Simonett was named to the State Supreme Court in 1980 and Gordon Rosenmeier died in January 1989. The law firm, however, retained the Rosenmeier name in its title – The Law Firm of Rosenmeier, Anderson and Vogel."

"There are 10 counties in the 7th District, reaching from St. Cloud to Moorhead. The district has about 30 judges – two based in Morrison County." - a reprinted Morrison County Record article that appeared in the Dec. 26, 2007, edition of the Kittson County Enterprise

Warren building permits at $3.66 million in 2007

Warren - "Thanks to the completion of an $18 million flood protection system for Warren and the resulting removal of virtually all of Warren from the 100-year floodplain at mid-year, building permits issued by the city in 2007 nearly doubled from the year before, to $3,662,971.86. The information is included in a Dec. 19 report.

"Easily the most significant factor in the building permit total was the $2,071,000 value of the CHS agronomy services hub at the Northwest Grain Elevator site on the south side of Warren. The facility, when complete, will be jointly operated by CHS-owned Northwest Grain and other companies based at Grand Forks, N.D.; Crookston and Badger." - Warren Sheaf, Dec. 26, 2007

Kittson Central certifies 2008 property tax levy

Hallock - "At their monthly meeting Dec. 19, Kittson Central School Board members voted unanimously to certify the 2007 levy, payable in 2008.

"The total levy is just a little over $1 million, only about $411,000 more than what was projected in September. 'What was about $140,000 under general debt service is now about $411,000 more because of the building project,' explained Superintendent Bruce Jensen. It's an estimated amount that will appear each year for 20 years. - Kittson County Enterprise, Dec. 26, 2007, by Louise Money

Adopt me

Rocky, a one-year-old Treeing Walker Coonhound, is one of many dogs available for adoption at the Pennington County Humane Society shelter on Highway 59, south of Thief River Falls. For the past 10 years, the PCHS has been striving to find permanent homes for dogs like Rocky who were surrendered to the humane society by the Thief River Falls city pound.

Pennington County Humane Society celebrates anniversary

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

You are with a group of friends having a picnic on a riverbank. Suddenly, you hear crying coming from the river. You and a friend head down to the river and discover that the crying is coming from an abandoned baby, floating in the river. You quickly rescue the child, only to find another. Then a third baby is found and rescued. More appear and your friend begins to head up-stream.

"Where are you going?" you ask.

Your friend yells back, "I'm going to find out who's throwing these babies in the river and make them stop."

This story is based on a fable appearing in the forward of the non-fiction book "One at a Time: A Week in an American Animal Shelter," written by Diane Leigh and Marilee Geyer. It is believed to be totally false and no babies were harmed by it. But, for animal shelters around the country, it is the perfect analogy to describe this country's problem of pet overpopulation. Too many pets who should have been sterilized (spayed or neutered) are able to breed, producing offspring for which no home is available; and too many pets are not safely confined, becoming lost without proper identification.

For the past 10 years, the Pennington County Humane Society and its members have dedicated themselves to educating pet owners and potential pet owners on proper pet care and pet population control, while providing temporary shelter for stray and unwanted pets. The PCHS was incorporated 10 years ago, in December 1997.

"I think it's a big deal to get to the 10-year mark," said former president and current board member Vicki Heckman, noting that the humane society opened its checking account with $42. "We don't get a pile of money from any one place. We do what we do, by obtaining donations and memberships."

"We accomplished a lot in the past 10 years," Heckman added. "When we first started, all we had were some chain-link kennels with insulated dog houses and heated water dishes. Now we have a pole barn that's been insulated and heated, with air exchange."

History

Before the PCHS existed, lost or abandoned animals were picked up and placed at the city pound. The lost animal could be claimed by its owner within the mandatory 10-day stray holding period. (The state holding period is only five days.) If it was unclaimed during that period,

Homemade sled brings joy to CES students

by April Scheinoha

Christmas came a little early for some Challenger Elementary School students in Thief River Falls.

"The sled is awesome," said fifth grader Nate Halsa.

"I like it," said fourth grader Avory Erickson. "It's fun."

Earlier this winter, Kenny Beauchane realized Nate, Avory and their friends were having a hard time getting around at recess. "It was hard for the kids to go out in the wheelchairs in the snow and stuff," said Kenny, a CES paraprofessional.

The Erskine resident took matters into his own hands. Years ago, he created four sleds. Using that pattern, he went to work and began crafting a sled for the kids. Over a couple of days, he crafted the sled out of plywood and then painted it blue. To complete it, he painted a gold Prowler paw on the side of it.

Before long, most of the kids had tried out the sled. Almost all of them had gone sledding until one fateful day. It was too cold to go outside for recess. One student, who hadn't yet had his turn on the sled, wasn't happy that his friends had been able to experience the thrills of the sled and he had not. CES staff soon made arrangements and took him outside for a short period of time, so he could try out the sled. He loved it. "That's the rewarding part," Kenny said.

Soon, the kids were sledding at every recess. Other CES students take turns pushing the sled. "[The other kids] have just as much fun as

It's obvious how much Challenger Elementary School fifth grader Nate Halsa enjoys the sled that paraprofessional Kenny Beauchane made for Nate and his friends. Kenny realized that the kids were having a hard time getting through the snow with their wheelchairs, so he made them a sled. (Submitted photo)

Arctic Cat headquarters in Plymouth

Signing of lease affirms anticipated move of headquarters office

Arctic Cat announced Thursday that it has signed a lease for its previously disclosed corporate headquarters move to the Minneapolis area. The move is expected to occur in spring 2008. Only certain corporate executives, general managers, and sales and marketing personnel will be relocated. The company's core manufacturing operations will remain in Thief River Falls and will not be affected.

Arctic Cat's corporate headquarters will be located at 505 Waterford Park, 10th Floor, Suite 1000, 505 South Highway 169, Plymouth, MN 55441. Arctic Cat plans to eventually occupy approximately 11,000 square feet of space. The financial terms of the lease were not disclosed.

"Relocating our corporate headquarters will bring our executives closer to the company's daily business partners and enhance our long-term efficiency," said Christopher Twomey, Arctic Cat chairman and chief executive officer.

Red Lake Co. Relay For Life receives award

Red Lake County Relay For Life is second highest fundraising county per capita

American Cancer Society volunteers in Red Lake County were recently presented a Relay For Life Nationwide Award for being the second highest fundraising county in the country with a $18.97 per capita ratio during 2007. The ACS Relay for Life of Red Lake County raised $81,015.33.

Two teams at the Red Lake County Relay for Life also received national fundraising awards: the Flaming Flamingoes, whose captain is Ruth Schultz, and Views Crew River of Hope, whose captain is Heather Altendorf. The award was given for raising more than $10,000 each. Sixty-three teams across the country received this award.

"Red Lake County businesses, students, media and other organizations have been extremely supportive of the American Cancer Society's mission to eliminate cancer as a major health problem," said ACS Minnesota Vice President Maribeth Swenty-Woodford. "It's clear that the entire community is engaged and committed in the fight against cancer."

Red Lake County volunteers organized a series of Look Good Feel Better sessions to help women cancer patients coping with the appearance-related effects of cancer treatments through the use of make-up, wigs, scarves and other accessories. In addition, Reach to Recovery volunteers, who are breast cancer survivors themselves, provided much needed help and support to newly diagnosed women in the area.

To help support these programs and services, the ACS Relay for Life of Red Lake County experienced tremendous growth in recent years, with a $9,458 increase over last year.

Relay for Life is the ACS' premiere fundraising event. Nearly 5,000 relays are conducted every year throughout the country, including about 140 in Minnesota.

Marvin Windows shares $13.1 million with employees

Over $13 million distributed during 51st annual profit sharing meeting

Marvin Windows and Doors, the premier manufacturer of made-to-order wood and clad wood windows and doors, held its 51st annual profit-sharing meeting on Saturday, Dec. 22. During the meeting, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Jake Marvin announced a profit-sharing of $13,107,962.88 to be distributed among 3,479 employees based at the company's Warroad, Grafton, N.D. and Baker, Ore. facilities.

The annual profit-sharing meeting included an executive overview of the company's business plan, vision for the future, and strategies to lead the company into 2007. Jake Marvin, along with company President Susan Marvin, shared progress reports and business activities.

Company President Susan Marvin summarized the company's accomplishments saying, "Despite a challenging housing market we had a very good year. We enjoyed good remodeling business, good luxury home sales and landed some exciting commercial projects. Our customers have come to rely on our consistent quality and delivery, and are enthusiastic about our innovative products and services. It was especially exciting to be recognized by J.D. Power and Associates as Ranking Highest in Builder and Remodeler Satisfaction among Residential Window and Patio Door Manufacturers this year."

Chairman and CEO Jake Marvin looked to the future saying, "We no longer see the vision of The Marvin Companies as limited to exterior windows and doors. We believe we can leverage our core competencies - what we do particularly well - and be successful in developing new opportunities in related building products categories and even beyond. In order to do so, we must develop the organizational capability to identify, evaluate and execute new business initiatives. We may choose to build these new businesses from the ground up, or we may acquire them from others to better serve our customers. Over time, we'll do both."

About Marvin Windows and Doors

Marvin Windows and Doors brings its Built Around You™ philosophy to life with every customer and every solution. A premier manufacturer of made-to-order wood and clad wood windows and doors, Marvin offers the industry's most extensive selection of shapes, styles, sizes and options to fit the diverse needs of builders and match the personalities of homeowners. Marvin's tradition of delivering the finest craftsmanship in windows and doors began in Warroad, a small town just six miles from the Canadian border, where the privately held, family-owned and operated company is still headquartered today.

Marvin Windows and Doors ranks "Highest in Builder and Remodeler Satisfaction among Residential Window and Patio Door Manufacturers," according to a 2007 J.D. Power and Associates Study

Having a little get-together to celebrate the new year? How about having something different - a little spicy and fresh after all the rich Christmas meals. Try these dishes on your guests.

Your guests will love this tasty meal after all the rich dishes of the Christmas holidays:

SPICY JAMBALAYA

1 (4.4 ounce) package chicken-flavored rice and sauce mix
1/2 pound boneless, skinless chicken breasts, cubed
1/4 pound bulk Italian sausage or other smoked sausage (even venison would be good)
2 garlic cloves, minced
2 tablespoons butter
1 medium green pepper, chopped
1 celery rib, sliced thin
1 small onion, chopped
1 medium tomato, chopped
1/2 teaspoon each of the following: ground cumin, dried oregano, salt, pepper (yes, pepper too)
1/8 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
1/4 pound uncooked, medium shrimp, peeled deveined and chopped

Prepare rice mix according to package directions.

In large skillet, cook chicken, sausage and garlic in butter for 5 minutes. Add green pepper, celery and onion and cook and stir until meat is no longer pink and vegetables are tender.

Stir in tomato and seasonings and heat through. Add shrimp and cook and stir 3-4 minutes just until shrimp turn pink. Serve with prepared rice. Recipe serves 4.

Don't fuss too much. No one will know these delicious tidbits were made with refrigerated biscuits - and they're such a complement to your main dish. Try using other herbs, too:

DILL BISCUITS

1/4 cup butter, melted
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon dill weed
1 (10 ounce) tube refrigerated buttermilk biscuits

Combine butter, onion and dill in a bowl. Cut biscuits in half lengthwise and toss in butter mixture. Arrange in a single layer in ungreased 9 inch square baking pan. Bake at 450 degrees for 8-10 minutes. Serves 6.

Don't just drink eggnog. Make a beautiful fruit salad with it to cool off your spicy meal:

EGGNOG SALAD

1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup water
1 (16 ounce) can sliced pears
1 (6 ounce) package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup sour cream
3/4 cup eggnog
1 can (11 ounces) mandarin oranges, drained
Decorate with orange slices, maraschino cherries and mint leaves, if desired

In small bowl, combine gelatin and water. Set aside. Drain pears, reserving liquid. Set aside. Add enough water to the pear liquid to make 2 cups. Pour into a saucepan and heat to a boil. Remove from heat and stir in gelatin mixture and lemon flavored gelatin until completely dissolved. Cool about 15 minutes.

Stir in sour cream and eggnog until well blended. Chill until partially set and then cut up oranges and pears into chunks and add to eggnog mixture. Pour into oiled 6 cup mold or decorative dish. Chill until firm. Garnish as desired. Serves 10-12 people.

If you've never tasted this holiday punch, this is a good time. It's a refreshing drink for everyone in the family, too:

WASSAIL PUNCH

2 quarts apple cider
2 cups orange juice
2 cups pineapple juice
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
12 whole cloves
4 cinnamon sticks (3-4 inches long)
Orange slices and cloves for decorating

In large kettle, bring first 7 ingredients to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 10-15 minutes. Remove cinnamon and cloves and serve warm. If serving in a bowl, stud orange slices with cloves and float in the bowl. Makes 3 1/2 quarts.

St. Hilaire Lions to host benefit dinner Jan. 13

The St. Hilaire Lions Club will host a benefit dinner Sunday, Jan. 13 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the St. Hilaire Activity Center.

Spaghetti with meatballs, garlic toast, bars and beverages will be served. Admission is $6 for adults and $3 for children under the age of 12. This benefit will be used for community projects in 2008, including the club's Christmas party for St. Hilaire area children.

The club held its 2007 Christmas party Dec. 22. A hot dog lunch was served, and bingo was played until each child had received two gifts from the St. Hilaire Lions Club. All of the kids received candy bags from the club and the St. Hilaire Community Club. Santa Claus arrived with his sleigh and a team of mules to help distribute the gifts. Later, Santa took all of the children for rides in his sleigh around town.

Over the limit, under arrest

Traveling the width and breadth of South Dakota for a Christmas vacation, one could hardly miss the emphasis they are placing on impaired driving enforcement. The signs aren't your typical placards, but large digital monoliths that remind drivers if they are over the limit, they'll be under arrest. In addition to the signs, the presence of law enforcement is obvious. South Dakota isn't alone in its efforts to step up enforcement. Minnesota recently announced that more than 400 Minnesota law enforcement agencies would be giving Minnesotans the gift of safe roads during a statewide enforcement effort to combat impaired driving.

DWI enforcement is a year-round effort, but news of the enhanced effort makes headlines now because New Year's Eve is typically a time when citizens are encouraged to be in a "celebratory mood" and it is approaching fast. Efforts like this work. People are caught and those who have, will remember it for as long as they live.

Last year, a similar December DWI enforcement effort netted 3,361 DWI arrests. Nevertheless, nearly 40 percent of all traffic deaths for the month - 18 killed - involved alcohol-related crashes.

As National Highway Traffic Safety Administration Administrator Nicole R. Nason said in a recent press release, "The consequences of driving drunk are serious and real. Not only do you risk killing yourself or someone else, but the trauma and financial costs of a crash or an arrest for driving drunk can be overwhelming."

We must come to the conclusion that driving while intoxicated is a serious crime that puts lives at risk, and treat it as such. If you're in a mood to celebrate this holiday, do so responsibly. That means don't drink and drive.

Poverty rate in the U.S. is 12.5 percent

In 2005, the poverty rate in the United States was 12.5 percent, meaning 37 million Americans were living below the poverty line. That's an increase of six million since the turn of the century. For a family of five in 2005, the poverty line established by the federal government was $23,613. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, the states with the highest poverty rate were Mississippi (21.3 percent) and Louisiana (19.8 percent), which indicates the larger poverty epidemic is in the southeastern United States. That area had five states among the 10 most impoverished. The District of Columbia had the third highest poverty rate (19 percent), and also had the highest rate of children living in poverty (32.2 percent). As for cities with the highest poverty rate, the Census Bureau reports that, in cities with a minimum population of 250,000, Cleveland, Ohio, had the highest poverty rate (32.4 percent), followed by Detroit (31.4) and Miami (28.3).

Budget forecasts demonstrate need for better budgeting

by Rep. Bernie Lieder

Earlier this month, the Minnesota Department of Revenue issued its annual November Budget Forecast. The forecast indicated a revenue downturn of more than $700 million, a sharp decline from what was expected last June.

Since the forecast was released, I've had several people ask me how the state's budget situation could change so rapidly in less than a year. If you remember, last February, the governor was talking about how the state had plenty of money and pointed to a $2.2 billion budget surplus. Several members of his party estimated the budget surplus at over $3 billion.

I tried to stress at the time that the huge budget surplus the governor talked about was really just smoke and mirrors. The numbers used by the governor included inflation on the revenue side, but ignored it on the spending side. Once inflation was factored in, over $1 billion of the projected surplus vanished into thin air.

Now, inflation isn't the only reason our budget situation has been turned on its head. Higher oil prices, the housing slump and lackluster job growth all contributed. We could see some of these things on the horizon last spring, which is why we made sure there was adequate funding in the state's budget reserves in the final budget package.

Those reserves will help soften the impact on the state's budget for the coming year as we try to balance the budget. However, I also worry that the reserves will mask the serious challenges we are facing with our budget, particularly when it comes to long-term investment in the state's most valuable assets.

Two recent articles in the Minneapolis Star Tribune did a good job of explaining these challenges. The first was by a former colleague of mine in the House, Dave Bishop, a Republican who represented the Rochester area for two decades. He was an old-school conservative who fought against unnecessary spending and waste, but he also understood that smart public investments in the right things - good schools, broad access to higher education, affordable health care and an efficient transportation system - end up costing us less in the long run.

Bishop pointed specifically at the Taxpayers League, saying its opposition to acknowledging inflation in the budget process is really an attempt "to starve government services. To eliminate the effect of inflation on all funding for schools, for local government aid, and for roads and bridges."

Bishop said the result has been "galloping property taxes, excess levy referendums for school costs that can't keep up with inflation. Also deteriorating roads, declining support for higher education - in fact, a total of declining quality of our life in Minnesota."

The second article was written by John S. Adams, a professor of geography and associate dean at the Humphrey Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Minnesota. Adams made the argument that "as a state, we are failing to maintain our asset base, are failing to invest sufficiently to ensure a competitive future and are drawing down assets to maintain cash flow for consumption. We're not only coasting; we're sliding downhill compared with the competition."

Adams compared the way the state manages assets versus the way a business does. "A business evaluates its performance at the end of its fiscal year using two financial statements: a profit-and-loss statement and a balance sheet," he wrote. "If it's been a good year (and if statements are honest), we will learn that annual operations have strengthened the balance sheet. Assets will have increased, while current and long-term liabilities will have diminished as a percentage of assets."

Adams said the state's principal assets include:

• Human capital: Public health, education, training, values, knowledge and expertise of the Baby Boom generation, and so on.

• The built environment: Transportation, communications facilities, housing, factories, and facilities for work and recreation.

• Natural environments: Clean rivers and streams, fresh air, soil and ground water, forests and wildlife.

• Institutions: Universities, colleges, schools, religions, political parties, media, foundations, etc.

Adams said we need to understand how the lack of attention to dwindling state assets is "affecting everything from kids' readiness for school to highways and bridges to shoreline management protecting our lakes to universities that can compete in the 21st-century world. Either we acknowledge that these costs are real, or else we resort to fictitious accounting, drawing down state assets to sustain current cash flows and turning a blind eye to the damage wrought to our state's balance sheet."

I agree. We've spent too much of the last decade blindly hoping that we can sustain the things that made Minnesota such a great place to live without having to pay for them. We can't. As the November Forecast demonstrated, the cracks are beginning to show.

Minnesota population growth rate rebounds

The population of Minnesota increased by 43,035 persons or 0.8 percent between July 2006 and July 2007, a slightly larger increase than seen in the preceding year, and the largest percentage and numeric increase since the first year of the decade.

According to new estimates by the U.S. Census Bureau, Minnesota's population on July 1, 2007, was 5,197,621. Since the 2000 Census, Minnesota has grown by 278,129 people or 5.7 percent, ranking 19th among states in the number of people added, and 25th in percent of growth.

"A broadly based increase in the number of births, the highest since 1964, and relatively stable migration contributed to the increased population growth reflected in the new population estimate," said Minnesota State Demographer Tom Gillaspy.

The faster growth in Minnesota is due largely to an increase in the number of births. Between July 2006 and July 2007, Minnesota recorded 74,139 births and 36,771 deaths, for a natural increase of 37,368. Another factor in Minnesota's growth has been migration from abroad.

Vernon and Audrey Rogalla have been honored by the Goodridge Area Historical Society for their contributions to the history of the Goodridge community.

Rogallas receive Goodridge award

Vernon and Audrey Rogalla have been honored by the Goodridge Area Historical Society for their contributions to the history of the Goodridge community. The celebration was conducted during the Annual Goodridge Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony on Thursday, Dec. 6, in Tvedt Park.

Vernon and Audrey became members of the Goodridge community when they married in 1955 and purchased two quarters of land. During the many years since, they added two more quarters of land to their farm.

Between 1958 and 1968, they became parents of four boys and three girls: Alan, who serves as the Pennington County attorney; Denise, who resides in Vermont, where she is a dental assistant; Roger, who farms on the family farm and is a rural postal carrier; Bernadette, who resides in the Twin Cities area and works for an insurance company; Robert, who resides in Milaca, and works as an electrical lineman; Leon, who is a teacher in St. Paul; and Mary, who owns a dental practice in Bagley. All the children attended school in Thief River Falls.

Vernon and Audrey now have 13 grandchildren.

The Rogallas are active members of St. Ann's Catholic Church. Audrey has been the organist since about 1967, and Vernon is a member of the Men's Club and participates in liturgy duties.

During their first 20 years in the Goodridge community, Vernon worked off the land and farmed at the same time. Then, Vernon and his son Roger operated a farrowing - 150 hog - operation for about 30 years. Roger then became the route mail carrier and the Rogallas eventually closed down the farrowing operation. Audrey took a job at Goodridge School as a secretary/administrative assistant, that lasted about 25 years. She retired in 2000 and then took the job of Grand Plain Township clerk. Audrey still finds time to help out at the Goodridge School office as needed.

Ever since Vernon was a youngster, he enjoyed playing his accordion - learning the tunes by ear. Over the years, Vernon and Audrey have provided a lot of dance music in the area, much of it on a volunteer basis at nursing homes in Warren and Thief River Falls.

Both Audrey and Vernon continue to enjoy farming, gardening and maintaining their yard. Audrey also is a member of a garden club, which she enjoys.

Vernon and Audrey continue to farm their land. In August 2007, it was announced that Vernon and Audrey, and their son Roger had been named the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District Beautification winners.

Vernon has been member of the Goodridge Lions Club, and Audrey a member of the Goodridge Lions Tamers for many years. In 2006, Vernon was awarded the Melvin Jones Award for his service to the Lions Club, and Audrey was awarded the Helen Keller Achievement Award. Vernon also has served on the Cenex Board for 25 years.

Vernon and Audrey are enjoying their retirement years, keeping very busy with community activities, music and family affairs. They say they also have many wonderful neighbors who have welcomed them to the Mavie community.

NCTC's Automotive Service Technology program receives NATEF recertification

Instructor Norman Halsa announced this week that the Automotive Service Technology program at Northland Community and Technical College has been approved for National Automobile Technicians Excellence Foundation recertification through 2012.

NATEF is the educational arm of the Automotive Service Excellence organization, which insures that automotive-based programs operate to industry standards. NATEF certification is the prerequisite standard for credit transfers from high school automotive technician programs to related baccalaureate degree majors.

Associate of Applied Science degrees in automotive service technology and diplomas of occupational proficiency in automotive service technology are offered at NCTC's campuses in Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks. The programs are designed primarily for students who would like to further their education in automotive service. The customized curriculum allows for more liberal arts classes, which are a part of the Minnesota Transfer Curriculum.

Students receive training in the many service and diagnostic procedures necessary to maintain this country on wheels. Students are trained in modern laboratories equipped with current service and testing equipment.

Graduates have a variety of opportunities that range from driveability technician, alignment and suspension specialist, transmission specialist, service advisors and managers. Opportunities for advancement may include factory and dealer representatives, management, and self-employment.

Freshly Shoveled

I love the look of a well-shoveled sidewalk. There's nothing that improves the "curb appeal" of a home during winter in Minnesota more than snow that knows its place. The act of removing snow welcomes people during the holidays, provides a little exercise (consult your doctor), and creates the illusion that you are in control of your own environment. It's a simple act, and one I want to talk about this week.

First, if you are unable to remove snow because of age or other disability, feel no shame that you are unable to participate in this activity.

Snow removal means more to me than just clean sidewalks; it means I can live in the country. If I don't keep our driveway and sidewalk clean, then Lisa and I cannot get to work, and then we can't live where we do. Letting the snow know where it stands also makes me feel accomplished; piles of snow plowed nice and high, tells visitors that I know how to work and how to keep things organized, and that this farm is well run. I hate seeing sidewalks that are only one shovel width clear or left with patches of snow everywhere; the narrow ones are like walking a tightrope and small patches of snow need only a little traffic to turn into patches of ice.

Failing to prepare is preparing for failure; the opposite is just as true. I keep close tabs on the weather, so that when a storm approaches I drive my pickup to work. When I arrive home, I can plow our driveway first. That accomplished, I shovel our sidewalk, then move snow about four feet away from each building so that I can push it with the snowplow. After the yard is finished, I take one more lap down the driveway to add some width, and the same on the way back. This is the final act for my pickup. After that time, it gets a bag of oats, gets a quick rub down and is then driven into the garage for the night.

The last thing I do is clear our main sidewalk. If the snow is deep, I use the snowblower first and then scrape the sidewalk clean with a shovel. If it's not bad, I just shovel. My usual weapon of choice for clearing sidewalks or garage ramps is a grain shovel, and there is one in every building on our farm. The grain shovel is an unheralded hero when it comes to snow removal, and never gets the recognition that fancier shovels receive. A grain scoop has the capacity you need for fluffy snow, the strength you need for hard snow, and a cutting edge sharp enough that I can clean sidewalks down to the concrete. With this task completed, my time is now my own.

On many different levels, I've tried to understand my need to remove snow, but I think there is something even deeper to this act: peace and a calm mind. I like the freedom that comes with the knowledge that, unimpeded by snowfall, I can come and go as I please. The peace, however, is something different. The simple, taxing act of shoveling and the rhythmic rowing of cleaning the sidewalk edges is almost like meditation. It occupies my body and mind just enough so that I forget myself and my concerns. My focus narrows to the point where I concentrate on my breath and the next step. Cold, breathless and tired, I feel at peace, without a care in the world, at least until the next snowfall.

Clearbrook-Gonvick guard Chris Kjolhaug took the ball to the basket past Thief River Falls defender Dylen Johnson Thursday in the quarterfinals of the 25th annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament hosted by the Prowlers. Thief River Falls won 67-47.

TRF Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic...

Quarterfinals in the books

Wins went to teams with three names in Thursday's opening raund quarterfinals of the 25th annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament.

Kittson County Central, Marshall County Central, Warren-Alvarado and host Thief River Falls all moved into Friday's championship round semifinals as the Bearcats beat Crookston 77-63, the Nordics defeated Red Lake 78-69, the Ponies handled East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 100-47 and the Prowlers stopped Clearbrook-Gonvick 67-47.

Five Kittson County Central scorers hit double figures in a tournament-opening win over Crookston.

Jordan Peterson scored 18 points, Dustin Dalbey 15, Trevor Austin 10, Eric Ogorek 10 and Steven Johnson 10 for the Bearcats, who were up 39-37 at halftime.

Matt Crawford and Jake Thompson led Crookston with 18 and 17 points, respectively, while Baba Maija contributed 10. The Pirates hurt themselves with a 6-for-15 performance at the free thraw line, where the Bearcats were 16-for-26.

Top Day 1 individual effort by Sam Kingbird of Red Lake was offset by Marshall County Central's balance in the second game of the afternoon bracket.

Tournament Results

■ Quarterfinals Thursday, Dec. 27 - Kittson County Central 77, Crookston 63; Marshall County Central 78, Red Lake 69; Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 100, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 47; Thief River Falls 67, Clearbrook-Gonvick 47.

■ Semifinals Friday, Dec. 28 - (consolation round) Clearbrook-Gonvick vs. East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, 2:15 p.m.; Crookston vs. Red Lake, 4 p.m.; (championship round) Kittson County Central vs. Marshall County Central, 6 p.m.; Warren-Alvarado-Oslo vs. Thief River Falls, 7:45 p.m.

■ Finals Saturday, Dec. 29 - seventh place, 2:15 p.m.; consolation, 4 p.m.; third place, 6 p.m.; championship, 7:45 p.m.

Kingbird knocked down ten 3-pointers in a 37-point game. Twenty-eight of those points came in the second half when he tried to rally his team fram a 49-28 intermission deficit. Rob Pemberton joined him in double figures with 16 points.

Only four Marshall County Central players put their names in the scoring column, but they all hit double figures as Evan Maki netted 28, Colby Owens 19, Jordan Anderson 18 and Jesse Nelson 13.

Red Lake turned a 52-28 deficit at the outset of the second half into a 64-60 game with five minutes left before the comeback ran out of steam.

"We played a great first half, but the second half was sloppy," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "I was happy with the way the kids responded down the stretch."

Marshall County Central was 30-for-68 fram the field (44 percent). A 24-for-66 shooting peformance by Red Lake (36 percent) included 45 attempts from 3-point range.

An 11-fur-21 free throw game prevented the Nordics from putting the game away earlier. Red Lake was 6-for-9 at the line.

The Nordics finished with a 40-29 rebound advantage. Red Lake had more turnovers, 18-14.

Evan Mattson and Casey Larson combined for 35 first half points to help provide Warren-Alvarado-Oslo with a 52-18 intermission cushion against out-manned East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

Mattson scored 20 of his game-high 26 points in the first half, while Larson picked up 15 of his 21 before the break. Ryan Oas joined them in double figures with 10 points.

Sacred Heart was led by Kevin Hatcher and Cole Johnson with 15 and 12 points, respectively.

Thief River Falls jumped out to a 9-0 lead and never looked back in the evening session nightcap vs. Clearbrook-Gonvick.

The Bears regrouped and were within 19-13 on a free throw by John Bruggeman with 10:56 remaining in the first half. But they were out-scored 17-10 to the break in falling behind 36-23.

It was 40-28 when Nick Spray hit a long jumper four minutes into the second half. A time-out call by Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean followed, and judging by the way he addressed his team, he was obviously not happy with their play.

"We were getting beat up the floor," he explained afterwards. "There's no reason for this team to get beat like that. It's just an effort issue."

The Prowlers got the time-out message. They out scored the Bears 12-2 over the next four minutes to put the game on ice.

Outside of that stretch early in the second half, McLean was happy with the Prowlers' play on the defensive end. "We didn't get a lot done on offense, but we did some good things defensively," he said. "We worked really hard on that end."

Dylan Johnson scored 22 points and Jacob Stuckey had 12 to lead the Prowlers, who were 31-for-66 from the field (47 percent) and just 5-for-14 at the free throw line.

Clearbrook-Gonvick did not have a double figure scorer. The Bears went 17-for-52 from the floor (33 percent) and 12-for-20 at the Jacob Stuckey of Thief River Falls pulled a rebound away from John Bruggeman of Clearbrook-Gonvick in the second half of the Prowlers' 67-47 Thursday Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament match-up. The Prowlers' Chase Haviland looked on.

Lauren Daniels signs letter of intent to play for Northland in 2008

Lauren Daniels of Thief River Falls has signed a national letter of intent to play volleyball at Northland Community and Technical College in 2008.

Daniels, a 2007 Lincoln High School graduate, is a 5-9 middle-right side hitter.

"Lauren is going to start school at Northland this spring," reported Northland coach Lisa Handley. "She attended school at UND and decided that she wanted to return to the sport she loves, so she decided to finish getting her generals at Northland while playing volleyball for us. I am very excited to have Lauren here. I recruited her right out of high school. Even though she didn't play for us this fall, having her in school this spring will allow her to start working on her strength and get a jump-start on next season by playing spring volleyball with the team."

Junior varsity games are part of Russ Smith event

Zach Hockert scored 17 points, Josh Waine 14 and Riley Simenson 11 as Thief River Falls beat Clearbrook-Gonvick 76-42 in Thursday's junior varsity portion of the 2007 Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament.

The Prowlers led 35-13 at halftime.

REA Classic has a Thursday start

■ TRF hosts boys high school hockey match-ups

Three Thursday games kicked off the 2007 Thief River Falls Ralph Engelstad Arena Classic boys high school hockey match-ups.

Virginia/Orr/Mt. Iran-Buhl doubled Crookston 6-3 in the opener; Hermantown edged East Grand Forks 3-2 in Game 2; and the host Prowlers downed St. Louis Park 4-1 in the nightcap.

Trailing 1-0 after one period, Virginia/Orr/Mt. Iron-Buhl scored five second period goals for it's REA Classic-opening win over Crookston.

Chris Stoks and Garrett Hendrickson both scored twice in the Blue Devils' second period outburst. Andrew Judick and Chris Westin also scored fur the winners.

Jarrett Butenhuff and Brady Langlois were the Crookston goal-scorers.

The Pirates out-shot the Blue Devils 38-18, but were stymied by sophomore goalie Casey Myhre.

A 2-0 first period head start carried Hermantown past East Grand Forks in Game 2.

Green Wave goalie Alex Christianson kept his team in the contest with 44 saves, but Adam Krause and Mike Boese scored at 12:48 and 15:35 of the opening period and Kurt Peterson pmvided the Hawks with a 3-0 cushion just 1:44 into the final period.

East Grand Forks chopped the difference to a single goal when John Grabanski beat Hermantown goalie Ben Tessier at 8:42 and Jake Useldinger scored at 11:14, but the Green Wave couldn't come up with the equalizer.

Thief River Falls spotted St. Louis Park an early lead before finishing first-day action with a win.

The Orioles had a quick 1-0 lead when Benji Shandley scored just 46 seconds into the game.

However, Josh Skalsky tied it a 7:53 and Jesse Castle put the Prowlers ahead at 12:41 of the opening period.

Thief River Falls doubled its offensive output with goals edrly in the third period by Derek Kayser at 1:19 and Aamn Langan at 3:28.

It was just the second win in nine starts for the Prowlers, who got a 26-save performance from goalie Shane Gothberg. St. Louis Park goalie Nick Smith stopped 20 shots.

BP8000 BALE PROCESSORS
Best way to turn round bales into feeding rows, reduce labor.
Best way to make sure ALL YOUR CATTLE get an equal opportunity at feeding time.
Best way to stretch short hay supplies.
When you feed your cows in a different location each day, you can increase land productivity, reduce manure-handling problems and give your herd a cleaner, open range feeding environment. Plus, processed bales don't waste the energy of your cattle ... energy that converts into producing better weight gains.
Vermeer
Stop in and see Cecil or Mark for all your equipment needs.
It's about money. Vermeer BP8000 Processors save hay. Lots of hay. For example, consider the savings of just three bales a week. (That's more than 150 bales a year!) Now, multiply that times your cost per bale, and you soon realize the savings in hay alone could pay for the processor in just a few short years.
...and time! The Vermeer BP8000 Bale Processor processes a 2,000 lb. bale in less than two minutes, while carrying an extra bale on the rear. BOTTOM LINE: You're feeding and bedding 4,000 lbs of hay ... in minutes! And, in the winter months – especially during the critical calving season – that's the kind of performance you need to minimize mortality rates and protect your herd from frostbite.

Humane Society celebrates anniversary

it was typically destroyed as no other options existed.

The PCHS got its start in December 1997, when a group of animal lovers decided that they needed to create additional options for lost and abandoned pets.

"It was just a group of 10 to 15 people that came together as a result of a series of phone calls," said current PCHS President Scott Bentson. "We felt the town was big enough and the motivation was high enough from the people of that group to form this humane society. From there, it just sort of took off."

A board of directors was formed, by-laws were written, and an application for non-profit status was completed. The PCHS was incorporated with the mission to "promote respect for animal life, to prevent animal homelessness and abuse, and provide community education regarding the humane and ethical treatment of animals."

Members of the newly created PCHS searched for space to operate their endeavor. At first, animals were only placed in foster care, as there were no locations within the city of Thief River Falls that would be suitable for an animal shelter.

Hearing of the PCHSs' need, Judi Bruggeman, an animal lover herself, offered to lease a portion of her property to the PCHS. PCHS members gladly accepted the terms of Bruggeman's lease offer of $1 per year, for 20 years.

"We were saving animals' lives and that was the goal," Bruggeman said. The PCHS started leasing space on Bruggeman's property in 1999.

With the addition of indoor kennel space, the PCHS has reduced its use of foster care. Now foster care is only used on a special needs basis, for animals that wouldn't do well in a kennel setting.

Dawn Williamson

Dawn Williamson, Bruggeman's daughter, is the PCHS' manager and only paid employee. She is considered by fellow humane society members as the PCHS' driving force.

"She is totally committed to the mission of the humane society and her dedication and devotion to the animals that she takes care of is beyond reproach." Heckman said. "She works tirelessly, many times putting in 12-, to 14-hour days, and it's never been about making a living. She is there strictly to take care of the animals and find forever homes."

Williamson maintains both the dog and cat shelters, visits the city pound on a daily basis and claims unclaimed animals as needed, prepares newspaper and Web site advertisements on behalf of pets, and shows pets for potential adoptions.

Williamson got her start with the PCHS eight years ago as a volunteer, caring for animals in the PCHS's foster care system. It was around that same time, that her mother, Bruggeman, offered to lease the use of her land to the humane society. Williamson's role with the PCHS quickly evolved from volunteer foster guardian to humane society manager.

During her eight years with the PCHS, Williamson has seen the humane society grow, from a network of animal lovers working to prevent animal homelessness and abuse, to a fully-functioning non-profit organization with the same goal.

"It's definitely grown faster than anyone thought it would," Williamson said. "We definitely have a lot of loyal supporters who keep us going."

Looking back on the previous 10 years, Williamson said she is pleased with the progress that the PCHS has made, but she stresses that the humane society's work is far from complete. There is still a problem of too many cats and dogs being born into an already overpopulated world, when sterilization is available and too many pets are not properly confined.

"I'm disappointed in some of the people in our community," Williamson said. "It's a responsibility problem – not thinking it through ahead of time and not spaying or neutering pets."

Battling pet overpopulation

The PCHS is currently fighting the same battle as every other animal shelter around the country. It is estimated that over 50,000 puppies and kittens are born each day in the U.S., and there will not be enough homes for each of them.

Statistically, a female dog and her puppies are capable of multiplying to more than 67,000 in six years, while a female cat and her kittens can multiply to more than 400,000 over the course of seven years. That means a handful of unaltered puppies and kittens can become an overpopulated problem in a relatively short time period.

The PCHS is committed to finding homes for all unwanted pets. Unfortunately, there aren't enough potential homes for that to be a reality; and the humane society is only licensed to hold 27 dogs and 50 cats. Once either total is reached, "the humane society cannot accept any more animals that would count toward that total.

Williamson said the city of Thief River Falls has been overly cooperative during times when the shelter is full. The state of Minnesota mandates that all lost pets be held for a five-day period, so that their proper owners may locate them. In Thief River Falls, the city pound holds animals much longer than the minimum, up to 10 days, to give animals every opportunity to be claimed by their rightful owners.

"Our local law enforcement has been terrific to work with," Williamson said. "I know there are other things they could be doing or would prefer doing besides animal control."

Williamson said pound animals are given first priority for placement through the PCHS, because unclaimed animals would otherwise be put down, due to a lack of space in the city pound. The remaining portion of the PCHS' animal population comes from guardians who can no longer care for their pets and willingly or unwillingly choose to turn them over to the humane society.

Adopting an animal from the PCHS is relatively simple, but potential adopters should be prepared to handle the responsibilities of owning a pet before they begin the adoption process. Once a potential pet adopter determines that pet adoption is right for him or her, it is time to choose the right animal.

Potential pet adopters need to be at least 21 years of age or older and they must own their own property or have written approval from their landlord to adopt a pet. Potential adopters who meet the minimum criteria must also complete a short application and pay a $60 adoption fee (per pet), that includes sterilization (spaying or neutering), heartworm and leukemia tests, up-to-date shots, and the implementation of an identification microchip between the shoulder blades.

The PCHS makes every attempt to find homes for its animals, but the clock is ticking for each animal that is surrendered to the humane society. Dogs and cats are pack animals who thrive on socialization. Over a period of time that varies from animal to animal, dogs and cats may develop kennel stress, a form of depression that develops from the shock of being taken from the street, to the pound, to an animal shelter or directly from their previous guardian to an animal shelter. Over time, animals become withdrawn and depressed, and in extreme cases, an animal may become overly aggressive. Once an animal develops kennel stress, the humane society staff must make a difficult decision.

"If they do get kennel stress, we have to do what is best for the animal," Williamson said.

Doing what is best for the animal in cases of kennel stress typically means euthanization – an unfortunate reality. Only a small portion of pets placed at the PCHS are euthanized for kennel stress or untreatable illness, which is a far cry from the nationwide figure of more than 50 percent.

"There's a certain amount of heartbreak, but a lot of reward also," Bentson said. "Personally, I feel very proud of the organization because it does a good job with the animals, making that transition into a new home. It's rewarding to see animals make that transition."

Help is always welcome

Bentson said there are many ways area residents can help the PCHS in its mission. Financial support is always needed and appreciated. One way to support the PCHS is by becoming a member. Annual dues are $25. Donations are also appreciated, and all money raised through donations and dues goes toward operating costs and facility upgrades.

Donations do not have to be monetary. Various pet related items like dog and cat food, cat litter and other items are also accepted and appreciated. Volunteering is another way to help the PCHS. Volunteers are needed for big events, like Woof Stock, and every day for providing interaction with animals.

"It's a fun thing to do and families can sometimes do it together," Bentson said. "There are a zillion ways that people can help. Of course, the biggest way people can help is by adopting a pet."

The PCHS will officially celebrate its 10th anniversary during the Third Annual Woof Stock in March.

Dawn Williamson pets Rocky, a one-year-old Treeing Walkar Coonhound. Williamson is the managar of the Pannington County Humana Society. Sha has worked many 12-hour days to find permanant homes for pets who ware surrendared to tha PCHS.

these guys do," said CES paraprofessional Kathy Klinker.

Kenny and his wife, Pat, also make sure that the special education students have fun in other ways. Every May, the kids take a trip to Kenny and Pat's handicapped-accessible home. Once there, they ride on a pontoon boat. They fish. They swim. They blow bubbles. They play in the sand.

Kathy said, "Kenny just does so many wonderful things for the kids."

Roseau man dies after accident Wednesday

A Roseau man died after a one-vehicle rollover Wednesday night eight miles west of Warroad.

Dean S. Skogstad, 40, was ejected from the car and was pronounced dead at the scene, according to the Minnesota State Patrol report. His passenger, Dann M. Raftevold, 36, Roseau, was treated and released from LifeCare Medical Center in Roseau.

At the time of the accident, Skogstad was driving a 1994 Buick Park Avenue westbound on Highway 11. The car then went off of the road and rolled. The report indicated that Skogstad wasn't wearing a seat belt and that it was unknown whether Raftevold was wearing a seat belt.

The car was totalled. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 6:35 p.m. Wednesday. The Roseau County Sheriff's Office and Roseau Police Department provided assistance.
